THE ABIDING CHARM OF GENERAL COLLECTING.

By PERCY C. BISHOP.

It is common ground among philatelists that a follower of our hobby should at least commence as a general collector. I think that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred he had better continue as a general collector.

The first stages in the formation of a general collection constitutes a species of apprenticeship leading to the higher art of scientific specialism; they form a sort of preparatory course preceding the more advanced stages of philatelic education; they are "the three R's" before Greek and the Higher Mathematics.

Mind you, I speak only of the initial stages of General Collecting. Later—when, let us say, the first 2,000 varieties have been gathered together—the generalist's troubles begin. Be sure he has his troubles and perplexities no less than the late Edward Nankivell's "Great Mogul," who specialises and "bloats."

Up to the "2,000" point the newcomer in philately wends his joyous way along a rose-strewn path, all fear and danger scorning. What, indeed, has he to fear? Fakes and forgeries are scarcely likely to lurk in his first packet of a thousand varieties, price 12s 6d or thereabouts. Fournier, of Geneva, would go bankrupt if he had to "job" his "fac-similes" at that sort of price. And, in other ways, if our neophyte will but observe the common-sense rule of buying stamps only from those dealers who are known to be persons of good repute, his progress is easy and secure. During, say, his first three or four months he is out to fill spaces, and the more he fills the better he feels.

Well, that is collecting pure and simple. It is not what we understand by that ridiculous but now so remediable word "Philately." If I may suggest an approximate definition—an exact definition being perhaps impossible—Philately begins at the precise moment when the collector gives his box of hinges a rest and begins to study his stamps. And that probably occurs when he has hinged and mounted something like 2,000 stamps—"all different" as the schoolboy collector calls them, feeling a vague distrust of the word "varieties."

It is then that the collector begins to sit up and observe things, and he does it because he has to. He finds himself, quite suddenly, "up against" a proposition in Real Philately. Perhaps there are engraved stamps to be sorted out from lithographed labels of the same design; maybe there is "wove" paper to be distinguished from "laid" or, more modernly, "chalky" paper to be differentiated from that which is chalkless. Perforations may perturb him, or watermarks vex his soul; and in self defence he must read these things up and provide himself with a fair working knowledge of postage stamp characteristics and peculiarities. This is the point at which he discovers that an album, some stamps, a box of hinges and a catalogue, though these may make an all-sufficient outfit for a stamp collector, do not supply all the needs of a philatelist.

It is a ticklish moment; it is really almost a crisis. The collector, especially if he be a bit of a "slacker," may decide that philately is "too much fag," and he may shut down on it in favour of something easier, something involving rather less "swat." In that case Philately, perhaps, is well rid of him, for a man who boggles at small difficulties is hardly likely to be of much use or ornament to the hobby. To anyone having the true collecting spirit difficulties are no deterrent; they are a spur and a stimulus. The true collector, then, will win through, and will bid fair to become a true philatelist; but ere that happens a second and a more serious peril may beset him. He may be tempted—I know from experience that he often is tempted, to abandon too soon the comparatively simple delights of General Collecting for the more hazardous joys of specialism. Perhaps he secures an unusually fine lot of stamps of this or that country or colony; among them, possibly he discovers an unlisted shade or some minor variety that has so far escaped the vigilance of the cataloguer. It is enough. Says he: "I will specialise this country," and in his enthusiasm for his new love, the old general collection, the collection that has taught him his craft and made him what he is, is laid aside and forgotten.

In two cases out of three this is a calamity. More often than not it is a

"SECONDS"

During my recent special sale of United States stamps, hundreds of defective stamps were found and cast aside. Some are only slightly torn; others have straight edges or are off center. These have been made into special packets, as follows.—
No. 1, 45 var., cat. $2.50 up, 25 cents
No. 2, 35 var., cat. $5.00 up, 50 cents
POSTPAID—Packet No. 1 contains stamps listing under 10 cents and No. 2 those over 10 cents. A wide range of varieties is included so more than one packet can be ordered and only a few duplicates may be found. However, the range of variety cannot be guaranteed.

departure leading to disillusionment and bitter disappointment. I have seen and I know.

Consider what the young generalist—turned—specialist is doing. He is suddenly turning his back upon a comparatively easy pursuit to take up a thing which at once brings him into rivalry with those who are more experienced, wealthier, and in every way better equipped than himself for the task he has set his hand to. "Ah, but it is a friendly rivalry," you say; and so it is—a most friendly rivalry; but still a rivalry. For the essence of Specialism is excellence. The aim of the Specialist, and a very legitimate aim, is to make his collection of some particular country or colony, or group of colonies, the very best collection of its kind. A thing worth striving for, indeed, but how may a young philatelist, a person of limited leisure and probably moderate means, hope to attain it? Look around upon the men who have built up the world's finest specialised collections. You will find that they are men of leisure and wealth; in most cases they are men of ripe years and matured judgment. It is seldom, indeed, that a "great gold medal" or a championship cup (unless it is, frankly, a medal or a cup for junior collectors) is carried off by a philatelist who is young either in years or in philatelic experience.

Disillusioned, discouraged by delays and difficulties, perhaps debarred from completing even the "standard" varieties of his chosen country by sheer lack of money, the too hasty Specialist possibly turns for consolation to his neglected general collection. But, meanwhile he has lost much valuable time; and so he is appalled by the amount of leeway he has to make up. He has missed, perhaps, some hundreds of new issues, the prices of which in many cases have risen against him, as prices will. He feels, then, that he has made a failure of Philately—that between the two stools of Generalism and Specialism he has come to the ground. Believe me I do not overdraw the picture; I have known many cases of young philatelists who have been lost to the hobby in precisely the manner described.

Why, then, hanker after Specialism? Why not be content with the abiding charm of General Collecting?

To my mind the advantages of General Collecting, in the case of those who can devote only average leisure and a limited purse to their hobby, are obvious and incontrovertible. They are so patent as to scarcely need to be indicated. In the first place there is "variety," and variety, proverbially, is charming. A specialised collection is a tedious thing to nearly everybody save its owner. It bores other philatelists, save those who are interested in just that particular country; it is the "abomination of desolation" to non-philatelists, who can never understand why any sane men should fill page after page with rows and rows of, apparently, the same stamp.

You may say the non-philatelist doesn't matter; but doesn't he? We all have non-philatelists among our friends and relatives. Some of them, perhaps, we hope to convert to Philately; all of them we certainly desire, for our own variety's sake, to imbue with some feeling of respect and sympathy for our chosen hobby. Well, we shall never make converts with only a specialised collection to show; it is too tedious, too "samey;" it will bore the good curate or the maiden aunt to tears.

Bring out a general collection, and see what a different effect is produced. People sit up and take an interest in what you show them and tell them. The generalist's album glows with life and colour; it shows the world's geography, the world's modern history. A page of "Seebecks," poorly as we philatelists may esteem them, will palpitate with life and meaning when viewed by non-philatelic eyes, because they are stamps with stories, little cameos of history, adventure and romance.

And as the general collection is a thing of greater variety and interest to the onlooker, so it offers a larger field to the energy and enthusiasm of the philatelist himself. The generalist is never without employment, if the stamps of one country are "shy" those of another are abundant. He is always at it, always garnering his harvest, always striving to catch up arrears and to set his philatelic house in order.

The specialist, on the other hand, is a man ploughing a lonely furrow—I remember hearing Mr. Oldfield say that very thing of him at a dinner of the Royal Philatelic Society. He is a man working apart from ninety per cent. of his fellows. He bores them with his talk of his pet country, just as they bore him with their cackle about their own. Much of the falling off in the attendances at certain societies' meeting during recent years has been due to the prevalence of specialism. The promise of an intensely "specialistic" paper or display attracts to the meeting just those members who are interested in that particular page in the catalogue; its only effect on the other members is to remind them that they have some other appointment elsewhere.

But of course, specialism has its uses. Specialism has done much for Philately—how much I may attempt to explain in an article that may fittingly follow this one. But too much specialism, or too premature specialism, is in my judgment a sheer calamity. For the vast majority of philatelists I hold that specialism is a good thing only when it is pursued as a "side line" to General Collecting.—Stamp Collecting.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Don't forget to say "Saw your ad in MEKEEL'S." It will "help some" as Brody says.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Hugo Kuenstler (11), Frank L. Jackson, John Balaz (6).

—W. R. Ricketts has sent us three instalments of his Index of Philatelic Literature, comprising pages 91 to 120. This Index has reached only the letter "C".

—The Collectors' Blue Book comes to us as a Vol. 1 No. 1 from 625 Pearl St., Camden, N. J. It is a magazine of sixteen pages with cover. The business manager is Thomas Burnett and the publisher is R. J. Wythe, Jr. While there is a distinctly philatelic flavor about the publication, the features for 1914 include a wide variety of articles dealing with various forms of collecting.

—N. J. Cadorette of Fitchburg, Mass., advises us in renewing his subscription that he has just been elected as a member of the common council for the fifth consecutive time.

—The Economist Stamp Co. advertised a stamp two weeks ago that the firm could not supply, due to a typographical error. The stamp advertised as a $5 1912, U. S. at $3.50 should have been of the vintage of 1902. We regret the error.

RETURN OF STANLEY GIBBONS.

Our readers will be interested in noting the return of an old advertiser, the firm of Stanley Gibbons resuming its old position on page 1 with this issue. We expect that this firm will have many interesting announcements to make during the winter and we need not urge a careful reading of its offerings. We would request our subscribers answering any advertisement to write "Saw you advt. in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

BRANCHING OUT.

Another store on the ground floor has been opened by Edward Michael, Chicago, in the "loop" section of that city. Mr. Michael's capable and courteous assistant, Emanuel Donchin, has been placed in charge of the new store, which is numbered 321 S. Clark Street and is a half block from the postoffice. The second store will be operated under the name of Reliance Stamp & Coin Company.

AN ARGUMENT FOR NET PRICES.

By ARTHUR I. SMITH.

The catalogue question, which has been the subject of so much discussion lately, is one of the least of the troubles of the dealer who handles 1c net approvals. In making them up one naturally buys a clean, high-grade line of stamps, although at a price at which he can sell at a penny and still realize a profit. A dealer soon becomes familiar with those common stamps which catalogue only one-cent each, and should any show up among his imports and purchases he can easily weed them out. The balance, regardless of their pedigree according to Scott, go into the neat little books without any scrutiny as to watermark, perforation, or other minor varieties.

Hence it is possible to make valuable finds now and then, if one cares to spend the time for a close examination of doubtful specimens.

The time spent in locating each stamp in the catalogue and writing down its price is eliminated by the net dealer. What does he care if it is valued at two cents or ten cents, just so he can sell it for one cent at a profit? Naturally, the rarer and more valuable stamps are handled on a catalogue basis. That is the easiest and most business-like way for both dealer and collector, and, in the case of the stamps of our own country, net prices will be found more or less impractical; but, for the many thousand varieties of good stamps, the kind valued by Scott at from two cents to five cents each, a uniform net valuation is entirely fair to the buyer and will kill most of one's worries as to the catalogue question.

WASHINGTON STATE CELEBRATES.

The Washington State Philatelic Society held a jollification late in December but the printed matter at hand does not indicate either the exact date or the purpose of it. One thing is certain, a good banquet was spread, with a philatelic flavor that must have made it very enjoyable. The post prandial exercises were in charge of Carl H. Reeves, toastmaster, and the Hon. Edgar Battle, postmaster of the city of Seattle, in which city the banquet was held, was one of the speakers. The Society is evidently in a very flourishing condition.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.

Herbert H. A. Fox and Harry A. Smith, who have been associated together under the firm name of Herbert H. A. Fox & Co. have dissolved the partnership and Mr. Fox will continue the business under his own name. The firm has dealt in British Colonials and many of our readers have profited by the offers made from week to week. We wish Mr. Fox a large measure of prosperity and the WEEKLY will do its share in providing it.

Old German States
A series of 4 red books pricing around $650.00 has just been remade. While these books contain no rarities there are many nice copies of the medium priced stamps included —prices are really low throughout.
(Prices in the new Senf & "Normalkatalog" are far in excess of Scott's or Gibbons quotations and further advances are looked for.)

French Colonies
A series of 8 books pricing $800.00 or more. These stamps are always popular, sell quickly and prices show a steady advance yearly.

Portuguese Colonies
Also a series of 8 books pricing upwards $1000.00. These are arranged by Gibbons list —but prices—except for some of the rarest perforation varieties, are at normal rates.

Shall be pleased to submit any of above to serious collectors who are buyers, and who appreciate fine copies of genuine stamps at Right Prices.

TOO LATE MR. ADVERTISER!

If your adv. reached us Monday it was too late for this week. Bear in mind that this winter we shall positively insist on Saturday receipt of copy so as to permit an early mailing of every issue.

EDITORIAL.

Now Complete—We have received a copy of the catalogue of the International Philatelic Exhibition, New York, with a printed list of awards, etc., on four pages uniform with those of the catalogue. When these extra pages are tipped in the catalogue, it becomes a complete record of the stamp side of the great exhibition in the one work.

It Comes Out—We read in a contemporary that "John N. Luff is one of the distinctive philatelists of America." We admire the caution displayed by the writer who evidently is not a disciple of the fervid school of journalism. Yes, Mr. Luff is one and we add, the only. He is more than a "distinctive philatelist"; he is an instinctive one and at the same time he is a philatelist cultivated to the highest degree. He loves stamps, lives with them and moreover, spends much money for them. He has collections going all the time and he possesses that genius that allows him to understand intuitively almost, what usually is acquired only with much application. Philatelia's star was in the ascendancy when John N. Luff was born. It will irk Mr. Luff sorely to be called America's greatest philatelist but we cannot shirk our duty by refusing to answer a question that comes to this pillar of profundity from readers wanting information on this very point.

They Are Here—"The boys are at it again," said a big dealer, "and they are rallying around philately in an inspiring way; but," he continued, "what a difference between the boy trade of today and that of ten years ago." He adds that then, the packet was the great favorite with the boys who pledged their allegiance to it but now the set and the single stamps are high in the affections of the boys. The set has always enjoyed a fair degree of popularity with the young collectors but it was not to be compared with that with which the packet was regarded. Now, it seems, the set is gaining on the packet which will have to be looking to its laurels soon if the present conditions continue. The demand for single stamps by the boys indicates that they are making rapid progress in philately and that they are quicker to learn and strike out for themselves now than a decade ago.

They Look Scarce—A reader in a ruminative mood says that there are certain stamps that to him everlastingly seem rare by reason of their appearance alone, when in reality they are not at all valuable from the standing given them in the catalogue. To him these stamps retain their "rare" look irregardless of the number of times he sees them. His choice is the half anna blue, 1854, India. Our correspondent thinks that it would be interesting to know if other collectors are affected in the same way. "Are they?" he asks; and we flash back, "Yes," and offer our contribution of the Peru, No. 19, five centavos, 1871-73, as our idea, from its appearance, of the apex or rarity.

Strange Case—Some folks have a queer idea of causes for congratulation. We have heard of as many different varieties of optimists as there are varieties in Nicaraguan surcharges but here is a new one. Mr. F. E. Goodwin, our free and fearless writer, whose interesting series on the stamps of the United States is nearing its close in the WEEKLY, has an article in the American Paint & Oil Dealer for December, with the sub-heading: "How the Income Tax Is a Blessing in Disguise to Careless Business Men."

Not Ordinary—A cover before us for inspection that has several points of distinction is one that bears a five-cent, 1847, and the Blood's local, the large rectangular black and blue of 1848, both struck with the cancellation in red, twice impressed: "Philada. Railroad." The cover which is addressed to Rhode Island shows no other marking.

Nautical Intelligence—From Mr. M. C. Bradley of Boston, comes the correction: "Robert Fulton's steamboat was the 'Clermont,' not the 'Clairmont,' as the 1914 catalogue has it, on page 12, (No. 337). Perhaps the compiler lives in Montclair, New Jersey." We suppose that the marine editor of the catalogue was responsible for the error during one of his recent bad spells. Think of how the catalogue will delude the poor student who picks out, "Clermont," on the pennant on the stamp; he will be in the seventh heaven of delight until his "error" dreams will go a-glimmering.

No Doubt About It—An officer in a large stamp corporation says that the feature of the market at present that pleases him most is the firm demand for the cheaper stamps, speaking relatively. A few words of explanation of the term, cheap, are necessary; it refers to those stamps that are priced up to two dollars as he named the maximum. The argument is that a call for stamps of this description, when augmented and sustained for some time will soon make such inroads on the visible supply of some of the varieties that they will be promoted into the division of higher prices. The result is satisfaction for the investor by reason of the increased valuations; and the dealer, of course having made a fair amount from the sales is a poor stick if he does not feel a gratification in the collector's paper profits. The lesson to be conveyed is that stamps that are low in price possess greater possibilities than the rarities for remunerative investment, when once the cheap stamps do move upwards in price. Advances in a stamp low in the catalogue mean a higher percentage of profit, as a rule, than those of the rarities, generally speaking. The delightful uncertainty of it all, it need not be remarked, is in the selection of the right cheap stamps with promising futures and then in such number as to count.

How It Was—We remember how in 1893, a philatelist of speculative bent plunged, as it seemed nearly all collectors of the times did, in the Columbian stamps which had set the tongue of the philatelic world wagging. This speculator did not buy quantities of the denominations that others bought to the limit of their resources but we can hear him yet telling why he was laying aside thousands of the one-cent stamped envelope of the Columbian issue which cost but a fraction over a cent each, instead of higher values. He said, "When I sell my envelopes even at five cents each, I shall receive the equivalent proportionately of about seventy-five dollars for a set of adhesives with a face value of $16.34." There were other considerations entering into the case, it must be admitted, but the basic contention was that a hundred one-cent stamps doubling in price meant as much as a dollar stamp getting to two dollars. The theory was good even though he in practice lost more or less, as a countless number of fellow-speculators did.

A NOVEL FEATURE.

Are you buying anything advertised in this issue of the WEEKLY? If so, send us a post card to that effect, giving the amount of the purchase and from whom the purchase was made. One or more prize awards await those who purchase the largest amounts from any one dealer's advertising, and no address will be given out for publication. This is something novel surely!

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The long-heralded International Stamp and Coin Collectors and Dealers Address Book for 1914 lies upon our desk for review. Its price is one dollar and it is compiled and published by Edw. W. Heusinger, San Antonio, Texas. Within its may pages we find the names and addresses of all known collectors of and dealers in postage and revenue stamps, postal cards, philatelic literature, coins, medals and paper money, in the world. There is also a directory of current philatelic and numismatic periodicals and collectors and dealers Associations. From this description of its contents it can readily be seen that this book is a very valuable volume and collectors desiring sale and exchange relations, especially in foreign lands, will find this book invaluable. Mr. Heusinger has rendered philately a distinct service in the volume he has published.

A NOTABLE PHILATELIST.

HON. E. R. ACKERMAN.

We present herewith a picture of one of the best known American philatelists, Hon. E. R. Ackerman of Plainfield, N. J. Mr. Ackerman was a prominent figure in connection with the New York Exhibition and his stamps have figured with honor in many of the great exhibitions of recent years. He is a member of the New Jersey Senate.

PARCEL POST DESIGNS.

Several publications have been going quite deeply into the subject of the various designs found on the issued parcel post series. Somewhere the desire was expressed that a full list of the origin of each design might some day be compiled and undoubtedly the following notes will go a long way toward solving the problem. It will be seen that the designs were made up from various sources and some of them are of simple and quite unromantic origin.

We will take up each denomination in order:

1c—A view taken in the interior of the city post office at Washington.

2c—The P. O. D. supplied a photograph of a mail carrier and the Bureau artist added the background in accordance with his own ideas.

3c—A photograph of a mail car taken at the new Union Station at Washington.

4c—The mail wagon is a model in the P. O. D. at Washington, a horse was hitched to it and a photograph taken; the surrounding landscape was supplied by the artist.

5c—From a photograph supplied by the P. O. D.

15c—From a photograph taken at Washington and supplied by the P. O. D. to the Bureau.

20c—The aeroplane was a photograph taken at College Park near Washington purposely for this stamp. Many experiments were made before a good view was obtained. The background was made up later by the artist.

25c—The rolling mill is located in South Chicago where Director Ralph was at one time employed. The view was furnished by him.

75c—This view depicts no special place. The Department of Agriculture furnished a view of a group of cows. Dairy buildings were added to the scene to obtain the desired picture.

50c—A photograph furnished by the Department of Agriculture.

$1.00—Another photograph furnished by the Department of Agriculture.

It was found necessary to make changes in four denominations after the engravings had been completed and two differing die proofs of each are in existence. These are as follows:

3c—The first design was a much more attractive one than the one finally accepted, easily the poorest one of the series. It was a totally different picture, showing a delivery wagon backed up to an open mail car with a messenger on each handling parcels.

20c—Both designs were very similar. The first showed no mail pouch and the aviator's feet were dangling in mid-air instead of being placed on a foot rest.

50c—In the first view the buildings are much larger and more in the foreground.

$1.00—The first proof was the only one used. Later the sky lines were entirely removed, but the picture was far less effective than at first. A supply of stamps had been printed and there was a rumor that the design would be changed to a view with a plain sky, but no action was taken.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

BRITISH GUIANA.—The New England Stamp Co. has also shown us the 1c and 5c values in the new King George set.

Adhesives.

1c green.
5c ultramarine.

ARGENTINE.—M. P. Hynes sends us used specimens of the 2c and 5c Laborer stamps, overprinted "M. J. I.," for official use of the Ministry of Justice and Instruction. The 5c of which Mr. Hynes sends an unsevered pair, is on the new paper, with honeycomb watermark.

BRAZIL.—Hermann Focke reports having seen the proofs of the new official issue with head of President da Fonseca, "which was despatched to Rio de Janeiro a short time ago, but did not have the time nor the nerve to ask for permission to copy the various values and colors. What took me was the highest value of 1,000$.00 (1000 Milreis) or $325. in our money, while the lowest is 10 reis (⅓c)."

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—J. A. Galbraith shows us the 3d King George stamp for the Caymans, on the new yellow surfaced paper. The Daily Express says that the 1sh and 10sh values have been seen on green surface tinted paper, the first to be recorded on this paper.

Adhesives.

3d violet on yellow.
1sh black on green.
10sh green and carmine on green.

CUBA.—The Stamp Lover reports the 1 peso, Scott's A33, in a single color.

Adhesive.

DENMARK.—The Postage Stamp chronicles the 2k value, completing the King Christian X set.

Adhesive.

2k deep gray.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Frank M. Mason sends us unused specimens of what he calls the first and second printings of the 2d, 3d and 6d King George. As noted in No. 1199, Stamp Collecting calls the new shade of the 3d "deep violet," while Ewen's Weekly says it is "blue violet." According to our light it is "purple," so there you are. Certainly the change from the original shade is striking, much more so than the 6d. The latter shows a deepening of the shade, making the printing appear sharper and clearer than the earlier printing, which had a grayish shade. The same applies to the 2d, which is now issued in a bright red orange. The English papers say these are Somerset House prints.

Adhesives.

2d red orange.
6d deep lilac.

HAYTI.—Hermann Focke writes as follows: "I have had some correspondence with Mr. Dunning regarding the stamps of Hayti, issue 1906 in new colours, which according to advices received from my friends in Hayti were unobtainable as late as November last, but am now in a position to state—with apologies to Mr. Dunning—that these stamps were printed as early as 1909 and sent to Port-au-Prince in October of that year, but why they should not have been issued to the public in general, is not clear to me. The issue consisted of: 100,000 each of 1 centime de piastre apple green, 3c orange, 4c green drab, 7c pink, 8c olive, 10c terra cotta, 15c primrose, 50c light yellow, and 1p brick red. I believe most of these have been previously recorded, but it may be worth the while and space to report the series complete."

JAPAN.—Arthur Russell shows us a cover with a strip of five of the new 2c green and one of the 5c purple stamps. Incidentally remarks that the new designs, are great improvement over previous issues.

Offices in China.—Lewis A. McArthur reports having seen the new 10s of Japan, overprinted for use in China, in black, same sized characters as on previous issues.

MEXICO.—Sonora.—H. R. Howard sends us a cover franked with one of the Sonora stamps, and two of the Constitucionalista Transitorio stamps, which have hitherto been supposed to be a special issue for the state of Mr. Howard says: "Am sending on cover specimens of Constitucionalista stamps in use in all Mexican states under General Carrangas' control. Hermosillo, Sonora, is the capitol of the Constitucionalista government, as this state was the leader in the rebellion against Huerta. I understand these stamps are replacing the Sonora stamps as fast as latter are being sold out. The 5c value appeared in Sonora several weeks ago."

NICARAGUA.—From this country we may expect a new issue in the Cordoba currency which in proof has already been accepted writes Hermann Focke. It will consist of two designs of oblong shape, with the Cathedral and the National palace at Managua as a vignette, very similar in appearance to the Hayti stamps of 1906.

ST. VINCENT.—J. A. Galbraith has shown us a new value in the King George set, as described in No. 1157.

Adhesive.

5d olive green.

WITH THE BOY PHILATELIST.

Edited by BERTRAM W. H. POOLE, Box 231, Altadena, Calif.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

THE STAMPS OF THE GERMAN EMPIRE.

Hanover.

THE THIRD ISSUE.

On April 15th, 1853, a new stamp bearing the facial value of 3 pfennig was issued for use on newspapers and other printed matter. The design consists of an upright vertically lined oval containing a large numeral "3" with "PFENNIGE" curved below, "HANNOVER" in a straight line above, and a crown at the top. Above the upper part of the oval is a cartouche with scroll ends inscribed "EIN DRITTEL SILBERGROSCHEN," i. e. ⅓sgr, or less than 1c in United States currency. The whole is enclosed within a single lined rectangle.

This stamp was also engraved by Herr Fickenscher, and typographed at Senator Culemann's establishment. Although produced by the same process as that employed for the preceding issues, this value does not provide many minor varieties. The only ones we have noticed consist of small colored dots or lines in one or other of the angles.

This value was printed on white wove paper watermarked in a similar manner to that of the 1851 series. The gum is red and this variety is always imperforate.

Reference List.

1853. Wmk. crossed branches of oak. Imperf.

7. 3pf pale rose, Scott's No. 7.

THE FOURTH ISSUE.

Many objections were raised to the use of colored papers for the Hanoverian stamps, and in 1855 it was decided to try the experiment of printing the stamps on white paper that had previously been covered with a colored network of fine lines. This was done by means of stereotype plates, the network covering the whole of the sheets and having an ornamental border on the margins. The network was so arranged that the pattern is horizontal. At first a fairly close mesh was used, but this was not considered satisfactory as it gave the stamps a blurred or blotchy appearance. Although all values were overprinted with this fine mesh only the 1/10th was actually placed in use. The other values are, therefore, simply essays or stamps prepared for use and never issued. The 1/10th with the fine mesh is said to have been placed on sale late in 1855 and the other values with the larger network were issued on January 1st, 1856. The color of the network corresponded with the color of the paper which had been used previously for the several values. The 3pf was printed in rose as before, and in this case the mesh was black or grey. The 1/10th with the larger network was issued directly, the supply with small mesh was exhausted and, unused, this is perhaps the rarest individual Hanoverian variety.

The stamps were all printed on unwatermarked paper. They were imperforate and had red gum like the preceding issues.

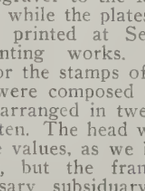
Reference List.

1855-56. No watermark. Imperf.

(a) Fine network.

8. 1/10th black with orange network, Scott's No. 15 or 15a.

(b) Coarse network.



9. 3pf rose with black network, Scott's No. 8 or 9.
10. 1ggr black with green network, Scott's No. 10.
11. 1/30th black with rose network, Scott's No. 11.
12. 1/15th black with blue network, Scott's No. 12.
13. 1/10th black with orange network, Scott's No. 13 or 13a.

THE FIFTH ISSUE.

The currency was revised on October 1st, 1858, the thaler, which had previously been divided into 24 gutengroschen of 12 pfennig each, being now composed of 30 silbergroschen of 10 pfennig each. At the same time the 1 gutengroschen was withdrawn from circulation and the rate of postage for inland single letters was altered to 1 groschen.

A few months later, February 15th, 1859, to be exact, a series of stamps with values conforming to the new currency appeared in place of those with values expressed in fractions of a thaler.

The new stamps were of the values of 1, 2, and 3 groschen and the design shows a profile portrait of King George V, with head to left, on a ground of solid color enclosed in a circle of pearls. Above the medallion is the value "1 (2 or 3) GROSCHEN" and below is "HANNOVER." The whole is enclosed within a rectangular frame, the ground between the portrait and frame being composed of fine vertical lines. There are tiny ornaments in each of the corners.

One original die served for all three values so far as the portrait was concerned this being engraved by Herr Brehmer, engraver to the Mint, from a photograph; while the plates were made and stamps printed at Senator Culemann's printing works. The plates, like those for the stamps of the preceding issues, were composed of 120 type-metal casts arranged in twelve horizontal rows of ten. The head was the same for all three values, as we have already pointed out, but the frames for the three necessary subsidiary dies were separately engraved, as may easily be proved if the lettering of the inscriptions is carefully examined. It is interesting to note that in the case of the 1 groschen all the pearls of the circle are quite distinct; in the 2gr several of those at top of the circle run into one another, and there is always a large colored dot between the letters "SC" of "GROSCHEN"; while in the 3gr there is always a small colored line across the pearled circle below and to the left of the "O" of "Groschen."

At the same time the 3pf, in the design already described, was issued without the colored network. This stamp, and also the 1gr and 2gr, may be found in a number of different shades.

On March 1st, 1861, a 10 groschen stamp was added to the set. This bore a similar portrait of the King but the numerals of value are much larger than those of the previously issued stamps of similar type. This denomination was only on sale at the chief post-offices and was intended for use on heavy packages and registered letters. Judging by its present rarity its use must have been very restricted.

On November 10th, 1861, the color of the 3gr was changed from yellow to brown, in order to make the color of this value conform to that which had been adopted by the other members of the German-Austrian Postal Union for this particular denomination.

All the stamps of this series were printed on plain white wove, unwatermarked, paper and they were issued imperforate. The gum, which up to this time had been red, was changed to rose, varying considerably in depth of tone.

Reference List.

1859-61. Rose gum. No wmk. Imperf.

14. 3pf rose, Scott's No. 16.
15. 1gr rose, Scott's Nos. 19, 19a, or 19b.
16. 2gr blue, Scott's No. 20 or 21.
17. 3gr yellow, Scott's No. 22 or 22a.
18. 3gr brown, Scott's No. 23.
19. 10gr olive-green, Scott's No. 24.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF GAMBIA.

By R. E. R. DALWIGK.

Introductory.

Gambia forms one of a series of small British Colonies, whose postal issues are generally regarded as being particularly well adapted to the requirements of the moderate specialist, or of those about to enter upon the more or less devious paths of philatelic specialism.

Considered philatelically it is certainly a most interesting and attractive country for the would-be specialist and fully deserving of the large amount of attention that it has received at the hands of the stamp-collecting fraternity.

Its ten small series of postage stamps are all as straightforward and comprehensible as those of any country known to philatelists and are possessed of much that will recommend them to the average collector. The first four series of stamps issued by this Colony are of a design which in point of beauty and perfect simplicity is practically without rival amongst the postage stamps of the world, and are frequently cited as most nearly approaching the ideal in postage stamp issues both from an artistic and utilitarian viewpoint. They contain just a sufficient number of varieties to add a spice of true philatelic interest to what might otherwise become a mere accumulation of handsome designed postal labels.

Before proceeding further we should like to express our indebtedness to Mr. D. B. Armstrong for a large quantity of notes, etc., which he has kindly placed in our hands for the compilation of this article.

Geographical and Historical.

The Gambia, the eldest—although it has long since ceased to be the most important—of the British possessions on the West African coast, is situated on the banks of the Gambia River, on the extreme western corner of the continent, extending from the Atlantic to the trading port of Yarbatanda (Barraconda Falls); a distance of about 250 miles. The French colony of Senegal forms the northern and eastern boundary, whilst French Guinea lies to the south-west.

The Colony now includes the settlement of St. Mary, British Combo, Albréda, McCarthy's Island and the Ceded Mile.

The territory of Gambia consists of a strip of land on each side of the river,

HONDURAS

In 1912 President Bonilla issued a one cent postage stamp to celebrate his election to the Presidency. It is listed on page 404 of Scott's catalogue but seems to be a very difficult stamp to find. Scott and Gibbons fail to price it, the French catalogue values it at Five Dollars. But 3000 were ever printed and we have just a few copies, the result of a year's exciting chase.

Price Four Dollars Each

The gum on these stamps was so thick and crackly that we carefully deposited the entire stock in the wash basin and removed it. Those, therefore, that worship at the shrine of gum must add this item also to their impossibles. Foolish people.

Several weeks since we advertised books of obsolete King Edward stamps and were much surprised to learn of number of stamps missing in many collections.
To test the efficiency of OUR service we sent these books to a number of customers on our Current and Coming list and were much pleased at the FEW stamps retained by them, showing that our service had been thorough, and that we had saved our clients quite a bit of money. If it is your misfortune to have a "service" that does not serve let us send a selection of obsolete 20th Century then get your name on our list, that this will not be necessary again and we may not

During my recent special sale of United States stamps, hundreds of defective stamps were found and cast aside. Some are only slightly torn; others have straight edges or are off center. These have been made into special packets, as follows.—

No. 2, 35 var., cat. $5.00 up, 50 cents

POSTPAID—Packet No. 1 contains stamps listing under 10 cents and No. 2 those over 10 cents. A wide range of varieties is included so more than one packet can be ordered and only a few duplicates may be found. However, the range of variety cannot be guaranteed.

extending some 6 miles inland on both sides, and having a total area of about 3,700 square miles. The capital, Bathurst, is situated on the island of St. Mary, a small sandbank three and a half miles long and one and a half wide. The population of Bathurst is roughly 8,900, whilst the entire Crown Colony numbers 163,800 souls all told, of whom only about 200 persons are of European origin. In addition to Bathurst there are only three other towns of any importance—Albreda, Fort James, and Georgetown.

The Gambia was discovered in 1447 by a Portuguese navigator named Nanez Tristan, and in 1686 some British traders built a fort at the mouth of the river, which was christened Fort James.

Under the Treaty of Versailles (1763) the Gambia became a recognized British possession, and was granted its own government in 1843, (having been under the control of the Governor of Sierra Leone since 1807), whilst from 1888 onwards it has been a Crown Colony, the government being vested in a Resident Governor appointed by the Crown and assisted in the administration of the country by local Legislative and Executive Councils. A company of the West African Frontier Force is permanently stationed in the Colony, and there is also a local force of military police.

The chief products are rubber, beeswax and hides, all of which form the Colony's chief exports.

The Early Postal Arrangements.

Little is known regarding the early postal arrangements of this Colony, but for several years previous to the issue of separate stamps, letters destined for the outer world appear to have been sent down to Sierra Leone by boat, accompanied by sufficient money to defray the cost of postage at the prevailing rates, where, until the entry of that country into the Postal Union, there was a British Postal Agency at Freetown for dealing with overseas correspondence, whence the letters, franked with English stamps would be forwarded to their destination. Owing perhaps to the smallness of the white population and also the fact that Gambia was at that time a dependency of Sierra Leone, no British Post Office was established at Bathurst, although previous to the entry of the British West African possessions into the Postal Union, such agencies existed both in Sierra Leone and the Gold Coast.

The British Post Office at Freetown, Sierra Leone, is believed to have been opened between the years of 1860 and 1865, and before that time all outgoing mail from the Colonies would be conveyed to England and elsewhere by a system then in universal vogue and authorized by the British Post Office, known as "ship letters." This was an arrangement by which the captains of merchant vessels calling at any port where there was no regular post office, were permited to receive letters on board their ships for conveyance to the first port at which they subsequently touched where proper postage stamps and postal service were available.

These "ship letters" had in each case to be accompanied with the amount of postage necessary to carry the letter to the place to which it was addressed, plus the sum of one penny per letter which the master of the vessel was entitled to demand in recompense for his trouble. This system of letter conveyance was in operation right up to the end of 1879, and in a few cases we believe even later.

There are neither railways nor telegraphs in the Colony, and communication between the various towns is maintained by means of a flotilla of small steamers and launches on the Gambia.

THE TRAIL OF A POSTAGE STAMP.

By J. B. Chittenden.

Read at the I. P. E. Banquet.

Let the man after money risk his soul,
And pile up dollars roll on roll;
Let the lover of etchings rave and rant
Of beauty he finds in old Rembrant;
Let the bookworm bore through ancient lore;
And science search from shore to shore;
The man for me is the graceless scamp,
Off on the trail of a postage stamp.

Cancelled, discarded, faded and torn;
Cast in a barrel, lost and worn;
Back in the old desk, off with the junk,
For fifty years in grandma's trunk;
Up in the attic in dusty bags,
On the closet floor with dirty rags;
Boxed in cellars, dark and damp;
Off on the trail of a postage stamp.

Discovered, recovered, cleaned and framed,
Heralded, glorified, named and famed,
From country to country thy praises will ring,
Sold once for a penny, now prized by a king;
So low was thy fortune, so high is thy rank,
All due to the work of the postage stamp crank;
With patience to guide him and science for lamp,
Off on the trail of a postage stamp.

Worn out, neglected, deprived of the light,
Like the old postage stamp we are lost in the night.
All service forgotten with scarce concealed scorn,
Our treasure is turned into cash on the morn.
Our one hope: some angel collector of such,
"Faithful in small things, deserving of much,"
May land us at last in a glorified camp,
Off on the trail of a postage stamp.

BALKAN STAMPS.

The Frankfurter Zeitung says: The various phases of the Balkan war also found their expression in the postal administration of the belligerent states. Thus at the beginning of the war the Aegean Islands issued special stamps, e. g. Icaria, Mytilene, Samos and Lemnos. Greece surcharged the stamps used in the conquered territories and lately the prospective state of Albania has already undertaken to issue its own stamps. At first Turkish stamps were used there, surcharged with a highly primitive Albanian eagle, but lately a regular stamp has been prepared bearing the inscription "Postat e Severries se Perkoheshme." This stamp was issued in values of 20 para and 1 piastre, i. e. the post office people manufactured their own stamps by printing this stamp on a piece of paper and affixed this to a letter that was mailed. During the last stage Greece has furnished stamp collectors quite a number of provisionals which are among the rarest that have been issued. In the port of Kawalla which they occupied for a time, the Bulgarians had issued their stamps since the beginning of the century. When the Greeks took the place they found a small remnant of these stamps and quickly provided them with a Greek surcharge. Of some of these provisionals only 10 were made, which explains their rarity. When the Greek fleet lay before Dedeagatsh, letters were accepted by the ships for transmission. In the absence of stamps, little square pieces of paper were officially provided with a Greek inscription and the value. When these supplies were exhausted, Bulgarian stamps were surcharged and used as in Kawalla. Very rare stamps are also the provisionals issued in Gumuldshina at 10 and 25 lepta. This town had originally been taken by the Bulgarians, but was then occupied by the Greeks. At the peace of Bukarest it reverted to the Bulgarians who, however, could not occupy it at once, so that the Greek garrison remained there a while longer. During this time Turkish stamps found on hand were provided with a surcharge in several lines in the Greek language and also the Greek coat-of-arms was added. As these stamps, too, were issued only in small quantities, their rarity can be understood. Finally, Bulgaria took occasion to issue a series of war stamps by overprinting the values of 1 to 25 stotinki with a surcharge stating the occasion for their issuing. These were issued in larger quantities. Strange to say, Montenegro has not yet been heard from, so far as the issue of a set of victory stamps is concerned.—(Translation by Rev. Louis Voss.)

EDITORIAL.

Forbidden—The following letter has been received from the Monopol Stamp Company of New York City: "We beg to call your attention to the latest postal ruling, issued last week, prohibiting all firms who used precanceled stamps to sell their used precanceled and other stamps. We think that the order is a great blow to stamp collecting in general as collectors and dealers will be unable to get United States stamps in quantity; and therefore, we ask you to call the attention of philatelists to the restriction. As we think that the department is treating dealers and collectors unjustly, we believe that a petition to annul the ruling should be prepared. The penalty imposed by the authorities for violation of the order is the revocation of the privilege of using precanceled stamps by the offending firm, for instance. We feel that philatelists should coöperate to protect these firms and consequently, their own interests, which suffer through this unjustifiable regulation. Hoping that you will think it your duty to give the case your special attention, we are," etc.

Our Suspicions—The foregoing letter is one that will cause some of the dealers and collectors vexation and vituperation, to speak alliteratively. We have not seen a copy of the ruling aforesaid and so cannot quote it literally but the letter of the Monopol Stamp Company reflects the position of the department, we have no doubt. There are several reasons for this belief, the first being that we are sure that our correspondents have told a plain, unvarnished tale and a second is that the action of the authorities was hastened, if not altogether inspired, by statements that have appeared in the stamp press. We have some slight forced conviction that observations such as "What is to prevent the re-use of precanceled stamps?" and similar ones have been taken seriously by the department, which now in its zeal to discourage any possible irregularity issues an edict that is much too radical and a hardship on all stamp collectors. Moreover, it is so sweeping and we cannot believe that the department feels that it can defend its extreme stand that other than used precanceled stamps may not be sold, after the prohibition of the sale of precanceled stamps. If firms that do not use precanceled stamps may sell used stamps in quantity while firms that use precanceled stamps may not, the result is discriminatory legislation of "provoking" kind.

What Would Happen—That the authorities may consider their attitude rather arbitrary in the precanceled interdiction is suspected from the penalty that is imposed on violators of the order; the punishment, revocation of precanceled privileges, is mostly sentimental rather than material, and while the firm's time is served and saved by the use of precanceled stamps, the department's time is conserved to a greater degree. We cannot say that the penalty is a particularly harrowing one. In the meantime, some of the stamp firms that have been handling precanceled and other used parcel post, etc., stamps and advertising the stamps in quantity have found themselves in a quandary by the sudden drought that has stricken the source of supply. Such firms are in an embarrassing position and will have more or less trouble in explaining the circumstances to customers. By exercising a bit of imagination, it may be seen how a curtailment of the higher values of United States stamps may come about through the observance of the law. As for remedial measures, we do not take much stock in a petition asking that the action of the department be rescinded. Our impression is that a more effective plan would be to write letters to the department, temperate in tone and brief and clear in expression, calling attention to the injustice of the restriction which at best makes a mountain of trouble for collectors to attain a mole-hill of result for the department; and asking that the burden be raised.

To Be Listed—Recently, Mr. Ray Sanborn, Yale University Library, New Haven, Conn., submitted three copies of catalogue number 2969a, 1896, two cent ultramarine, sixth issue, playing card stamp, in perforated, instead of rouletted condition, to the publishers of the standard catalogue; and by them Mr. Sanborn was informed that they had "made a notation of this variety to be included in the next catalogue." We may add that the watermark on these stamps was as unmistakable as the perforations. The publishers of the catalogue say that it is only through the assistance of friends and correspondents that they are able to note and list varieties which may have escaped their attention.

Little Enough—On some of the sheets of the six-cent Guy lithographed, Newfoundland, type with "colonization z" normal, there is on the 78th stamp of several sheets that we have examined, a thin irregular line of color beginning at the left of "The" in the lower label and extending crookedly down to the "c" of colonization. The interest that attaches to this little imperfection is due to its regular position on the plate.

Big Doings—The purchase of the stock of Mr. W. H. Peckitt of London by Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., London, was a transaction of such magnitude that it has been engaging the thoughts of dealers and collectors alike since the news of the transaction was announced in our advertising columns. The story of the deal in all its details is a most interesting one, we have no doubt. In the retirement of Mr. Peckitt, commercial philately has lost one of its captains. Mr. Peckitt's philatelic acumen has long been celebrated by those who were on terms of intimacy with the trade. The reputation of Mr. Peckitt's firm is scarcely done justice by the remark that it was unblemished as, indeed, Mr. Peckitt seemed always one of the leaders in adopting methods for the more considerate treatment of the buyer. Mr. Peckitt's trade relations with American collectors were extensive and often have we heard of the attentions shown American visitors to Mr. Peckitt's place of business. It is a satisfaction to know that Mr. Peckitt's great business has been acquired by a firm that will maintain its best traditions; and we congratulate Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., London, on having made the magnificent venture successfully.

Acknowledgments—This year we seem to have received more than the usual number of seasonable greetings in the form of cards, calendars, and other remembrances; and to all those who so pleasantly conveyed words of cheer, we make our best bow. We ask that those who addressed us will accept these lines as an acknowledgment of their kindness. We may add that we were impressed by the exact manner in which most of the foreign correspondents timed the arrival of their greetings which came according to their calculations during the holiday week. The post of the world is a great institution.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

We have received from Bright & Son the 10th edition of their very comprehensive catalog, which by the way is a very substantial book. It will be noted that there has been a general rise in prices, especially in the early issues, nearly all countries figuring in the same. Chalky papers of British Colonials are listed in full, also British stamps used abroad. We note a very fine list of Crete, also of Greece, including all the recent war provisionals and most of which are priced. In the book are 930 pages, an increase of 64 over the last edition.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—If you can favor us with a copy of the WEEKLY dated July 22, 1911, we shall be glad to favor you with a couple foreign exchanges,—English if no other kind is indicated. We desire some extra copies of this number for our files.

—It is reported that a Welsh collector has purchased all of the famous collection, the property of Lord Crawford, with the exception of his U. S. stamps. This news is cabled to N. Y. papers.

—Edw. Stern of the Economist Stamp Co., who made a holiday trip to the Bermudas during the Christmas season, sends us a card as a souvenir extending the compliments of the season.

—J. J. Prendergast sends us a sample of what is apparently a new advertising cancellation. It reads as follows in a pleasing design:—"Help the Hamilton Mountain Sanatorium for Consumptives."

—We are indebted to Sam T. Vary for back numbers of the WEEKLY sent us.

—A newspaper clipping states that "Elliot B. Hunt has $150.00 with which to buy Christmas presents as a result of discovering three stamps in an old garret and selling the same for $50 each." We congratulate Mr. Hunt upon his good luck.

—I. W. Risdon the past week renewed his subscription to the WEEKLY for six years and he is now paid up in advance for twelve years. He has completely outdistanced any competitor for a long-term subscription.

—We are advised that a copy of the International Philatelic Exhibition catalog together with a list of the awards will be sent for 10c to anyone applying to John A. Klemann, 118 Nassau St., N. Y. City.

—The Stamp Drummer opens Vol. IV. with a newsy number brimful of business. It is issued by the Philadelphia Stamp Co. and a sample copy can be had for the asking.

—The Berkeley (Cal.) Philatelic Society held a Christmas observance on the evening of December 28, when a fine spread was served and a Christmas tree provided many remembrances for the society members. We are obliged to the committee for a copy of the menu served upon this occasion.

—Mrs. L. W. Kellogg has purchased the stock of T. S. Clark and an announcement to that effect will be found elsewhere in this issue. Mr. Clark will be remembered as a former dealer in the WEEKLY and we congratulate Mrs. Kellogg upon her enterprise and good fortune.

L. W. CHARLAT.

One of the best known N. Y. dealers.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from The Hyde Park Stamp Co. (2), Ralph H. Graham (12), F. C. De-Puy (4).

—When you order stamps say "Saw your advt. in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY." We want all the credit that belongs to us.

—W. F. Slusser, Key West Barracks, Fla., advises us that he has a claim against D. P. Campbell, Kellogg, Idaho, and the same remains unsettled. Other complaints submitted to Mr. Slusser will be given attention.

—We are also informed by R. S. Green of Cincinnati, O., that Frank L. Cook, Pendleton, Ind., applying for stamps on approval gave as a reference a certain person and a letter addressed to him was returned marked "Party unknown." A subsequent letter to Cook was returned with the notation that Cook had left town and address was unknown. It pays to insist on references and to carefully investigate them.

—Members of the A. P. S. and a wide circle of collectors generally, will hear with great regret of the death of Ingaz Stauffer, which occurred December 31. Mr. Stauffer had for many years been interested in philately, both as a dealer and collector, and there will be many to mourn the loss.

—"Saw your advt. in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY." Say so when it is so!

PHILIPPINES, 1903-4

The Philippines 4-cent, 1904, has been counterfeited, both used and unused, and no doubt other values have also been faked. If you have bought any of them at much discount from catalogue, you are probably stung. It might pay you to find out, and, if you bought fakes, return them and get your money back. Then:

I have for sale fine specimens, used or new same price:

1903-4, 3 cents, purple	$1.50
4 cents, orange-brown	3.00
4 cents, dark brown	2.00
6 cents, copper red	1.50

The government did not print half enough of the 4 cent orange brown to supply the subscribers to this paper, and most of them were badly centered. Mine are all good specimens, and were surcharged by the government.

In case you can pick up any of the above at any sort of discount from catalogue, do so, and send them to me. I will pay over catalogue, any number, new or used, cash by return mail.

I also offer: (Fine specimens)

1906 sets, 2c to 1 peso, all values, used	$1.00
1909 sets, double-line watermark, 2c to 1 peso, except 6c and 8c, which are in the 1906 set	1.50
1912 sets, 2c to 1 peso, single-line watermark, all except the 4c, which has not been issued yet	.75

Please remit in U. S. or German bills. Your money back any time.

I Will Not Supply Any Unused Current Stamps.

I am collecting stamps of all countries with dated cancellations that show when and where stamps were used. No officials, dues or provisionals wanted. If you have any that you care to trade or sell, send them along; will buy or trade. Not limited to catalogue price, and no discounts asked for.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. We are indebted to George H. Beans for information regarding the new 97 cent stamp books, which contain 48 two cent stamps.

ANGOLA.—The New England Stamp Co. informs us that 24 provisionals have been made for this Colony exactly like those recently chronicled for Cape Verde and Guinea, except the necessary change in the name of the Colony.

BAVARIA.—Mr. Schachne has shown us the complete set of the Orphan Asylum cards, issued for the benefit of the Imperial German Fencing Academy. He has also received some novelties in the regular issues as noted below.

Post Cards for the Orphan Asylum: 3pf brown on white; 4 varieties. 5pf green on white; 4 varieties. 3x5pf green on cream; 2 varieties. 3x5pf green on light brown; 2 varieties.

Post Cards, Regular Issue: No value, black on buff; dated 13. 10x10pf carmine on buff; dated 13. 5pf green, perforated; dated 13. 10pf carmine, perforated; dated 13.

BELGIUM.—The Postage Stamp is informed that the 20c value has appeared with the larger portrait of the King.

BRAZIL.—It will be noted that the items in Nos. 1200 and 1201, in regard to the new Brazilian official stamps, did not agree either as to the portrait or the high values. Hermann Focke now writes to correct his former statement. The portrait is that of Marshal Hermes as stated in Maury's Collectionneur, but the highest value is 1000$000 reis and not 10,000 reis. Mr. Focke sends us the following list of values and colors, but as the latter were taken from printers proofs under artificial light, some variation may be found later.

CRETE.—Stamp Collecting illustrates the stamp issued by the Greek Government, to commemorate the union of Crete with Greece. The stamp is of large size, like the 5d of 1905 and 1d of 1907, and shows a picture of the hoisting of the Greek flag at Suda Bay. Curiously enough the word "Crete" does not appear on the stamp. The total number printed was 300,000, and by order of the Director General of Posts no person was allowed to buy more than 100 at a time, but such was the demand for the stamps that on the first day of issue over 100,000 were sold, and fresh orders were given to reduce the maximum number supplied to any one person to 20 copies only. The Post Office at Canea was besieged by crowds of people buying the stamps, with the result that the supply was sold out in three days.

Adhesive.

25 lepta blue and black.

HONDURAS.—The Postage Stamp says that the orange lithographed stamp of last year with portrait of General Bonilla of which 3,000 were issued, was never sold to the public. The patriots of Tegucigalpa bought up the entire issue in one day at two pesos (4sh) each, though the face value is only 1c. A German paper claims it should not be listed. It has as good a claim as the Belgium Charity stamps or the Italian "Big Boys" of last year; all were sold at a premium. In the case of the Honduras stamp, the persons buying it did so out of patriotic reasons, the General being a prime favourite. The proceeds were used to erect a monument.

A. W. Dunning has shown us the one peso value of the current lithographed series, the design being the same as the 5c, 6c and 50c previously chronicled.

Adhesive.

1p olive green.

MAURITIUS.—The Postage Stamp reports "specimen" copies of the Georgian 12c have been distributed. The 25c is the only value of the Georgian set that has yet appeared. Champion's Bulletin gives the quantities of the Edwardian high values printed thus: 50 cents, 60,000; 1 rupee, 61,080; 2 rupees 50 cents, 10,200; 5 rupees, 30,000; and 10 rupees, 2,400. Our French contemporary asserts that they were first issued in December, 1909, and then withdrawn pending the exhaustion of the large Arms type stamps. This event has not yet taken place, and the question is, what will become of the Edwardian stamps? Will they be re-issued in due course, or will the Georgians appear and the stock of the Edwardians be destroyed?

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—According to the Daily Express, "specimen" copies of the Georgian 25, 30 and 45 cents, and 1, 2 and 100 dollars stamps have been circulated. The 45 cents, and 1 and 2 dollars are on the new surfaced-colored

STANLEY GIBBONS LIMITED OF LONDON have requested us to cancel the advertisement apparently offering to send on approval from London to collectors in the United States stamps from the Peckitt stock, which advertisement appeared in the issue of this paper on December 27th last.

We understand the advertisement was ordered inserted in various papers in which Mr. W. H. Peckitt had been accustomed to advertise, but that its insertion was not intended to be made in papers in this country.

A ST. LOUIS "R. J. WAGNER"?

M. Ohlman calls our attention to an incident that is deserving of publicity and we give the same as a warning to stamp dealers. A person signing himself Robt. J. Wagner and indicating membership in the S. P. A. with "former residence, Fostoria, O.," entered a number of bids in the 5th Ohlman sale, from St. Louis, Mo. The lots were addressed to "Robt. J. Wagner, Clerk P. O. Money Order Dept., St. Louis, Mo." only to be returned marked "Opened by, but not for, E. C. Wagner, Clerk M. O. Div." The lots were subsequently sent to Robt. J. Wagner of Fostoria and were returned, he stating that he knew nothing of the transaction. Watch out!

WITH THE BOY PHILATELIST.

Edited by BERTRAM W. H. POOLE, Box 231, Altadena, Calif.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

THE STAMPS OF THE GERMAN EMPIRE.

Hanover.

THE SIXTH ISSUE.

A new stamp having the facial value of ½ groschen was issued on April 1st, 1860. The design of this is quite different from that of any of the other values and consists of a posthorn surmounted by a crown, with "HANNOVER" in thick block capitals at the top, and "½ Groschen" at the base. The whole is enclosed within a rectangular frame with indented corners, outside each of which is a small colored dot.

The die was, presumably, engraved by Herr Brehmer, and the stamps were printed typographically by Senator Culemann. As is so frequently the case with electrotyped stamps, this value shows many small defects in the shape of broken lines and letters, and the appearance of tiny dots in various parts of the design.

This stamp was printed on white, wove, unwatermarked paper, and was issued with rose gum, imperforate. A later printing appeared with white gum.

Reference List.

1860. No wmk. Imperf.
20. ½gr rose gum, Scott's No. 18a.
21. ½gr white gum, Scott's No. 18.

THE SEVENTH ISSUE.

On December 1st, 1863, the color of the 3pf stamp was altered in color from rose to green, and at the same time the inscription on the scroll was changed from "EIN DRITTEL SILBERGROSCHEN" to "DREI ZEHNTEL SILBERGROSCHEN." The former, meaning ⅓sgr, was hardly the correct equivalent of 3 pfennig, as expressed in the centre of the stamp, while the modified inscription, meaning three-tenths sgr, was exactly right.

Apparently the original die was altered by Herr Brehmer, and the stamps were printed by Senator Culemann as before.

The paper was white wove and unwatermarked, the gum was of a rose color, and the stamp was issued imperforate.

Reference List.

1863. Rose gum. No wmk. Imperf.
22. 3pf green, Scott's No. 17.

THE EIGHTH ISSUE.

In 1864 perforation was introduced, the system adopted being a form of roulette known as perces en arc. The cuts were curved and close together, and gauged 16. The stamps so treated were the 3pf of the seventh issue, and ½gr of the sixth issue and the 1, 2 and 3gr of the fifth issue. The 10gr had up to this date been in so little demand that none of them were rouletted.

The stamps were the same as before in all other respects, but before the end of 1864 the color of the gum was changed to yellowish or white and so continued until late in 1866, when, Hanover having been absorbed by Prussia as explained in our introductory notes, the stamps were no longer available for postal purposes. The 2gr with rose gum is not known rouletted.

Reference List.

1864. No. wmk. Rose on white gum. Perces en arc. 16.
23. 3pf green, Scott's No. 25 or 25a.
24. ½gr black, Scott's No. 26 or 26a.
25. 1gr rose, Scott's No. 27 or 27a.
26. 2gr blue, Scott's No. 28.
27. 3gr brown, Scott's No. 29 or 29a.

REPRINTS.

The 1ggr of 1850 was reprinted in 1864 but as the reprints are on unwatermarked greyish paper they should be easily identified.

The 1/10th of 1851 was reprinted in 1889 but this can also be distinguished with ease as the paper was unwatermarked and the gum white.

All five values of the 1855-56 issue were reprinted in 1864 and here the best test is the gum, which is yellowish white. The network on the reprints only extends over blocks of four stamps. The 1/10th was again reprinted in 1889 on similar paper and with white gum. On this reprint the network was applied stamp by stamp. The 3pf of 1889 was reprinted in 1889 though this is not a true reprint but rather an "official imitation." A new plate was made from a retouched die in which the ribbon ends of the scroll point downwards instead of outwards. The 3gr of the same issue was reprinted in 1891 in both colors but these reprints can be at once identified by the white gum. The ½gr was reprinted in 1883, the paper being yellowish and the gum white. The only value of the rouletted series to be reprinted was the 3gr but as the gauge is 13½ instead of 16 it is not likely to prove misleading.

WIDE PUBLICITY.

It is most gratifying to note the broadening interest in our subject, science or hobby,—whichever you will. The great International Exhibition so recently concluded in New York, drew perhaps more attention to philately than any other one thing for years. Thousands passed through the Exhibition halls daily during the week of the great show. The newspapers paid tribute to the subject, and during the past month several magazine articles of considerable magnitude have appeared. Notable among these was the fine article in the December Bookman by Mr. Gardner Teall entitled "Plots in Postage Stamps." This article shows a keen appreciation of stamp collecting from an elevated standpoint, and is profusely illustrated. Mr. Teall states in the course of his article: "What stories stamps tell! What note books of modern history they are, little memory joggers we could ill afford to be without! It is a pity that we relegate stamp collecting to the limbo of merely a school boy's hobby. Sanely and sensibly and delightfully, the collecting of stamps can be pursued." This of course intended for the lay reader. Hearst's Magazine for December also has an article and a full page of illustrations of stamps.—Stamp Drummer.

GIBBONS

The house of Peckitt was and is not. That important English firm has passed into the hands of Stanley Gibbons Ltd. of London, and the bargain sale prices for new issues are no more. This transfer of one large business to another does not affect the American house of Stanley Gibbons Inc. We are an independent firm owned and managed by Americans and financed with American capital but at the same time intimately connected with the London house, which does not trade in this country. Of late years we have gradually but surely begun to realize that dollars are not the one and only thing in this little stamp world of ours. Philatelic study, reliable lists, a strong firm never ceasing effort to root out and expose faking and catch advertisements, great care to details and ever ready and valuable advice and service are things that appeal to us. As far as prices go we follow no catalogue and accept no standard but our own. Especially is this true of Twentieth Century stamps: here we find in almost all catalogues a vast discrepancy between the real value and the quoted value, and in many countries minor varieties by the dozen omitted. To correct errors takes time, but we have commenced by producing certain works that will set collectors straight. No, there is no money in producing these lists — philatelic printing is always difficult to the typesetter and costly to the publisher — but that cuts no figure if we get results. Here is a list of really reliable publications, a positive necessity to the active collector:—

The Stamps of the United States

written by our general manager. Not with any idea of advancing new theories nor with a mass of half digested material. A book that many collectors have written to him and thanked him for. Certainly this book warns collectors of the fakers and their work but what care we of that?

A REVIEW OF THE YEAR 1913.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

A GREAT YEAR FOR PHILATELY.

The year 1913 now ended has been a great one for philately, happily great in many respects, but, unfortunately, not less notable in its measure of sorrow. The year opened in the flush of the busiest season the stamp trade has ever known, not only in England but in America. England was reaping the harvest of the Exhibition of the autumn of 1912, a fertile harvest indeed, and one which was still increased by the prospect of the two great International Exhibitions to be held during the year 1913. In the United States, where the prosperity of Philately has been obviously on the ascendant for several years, collectors increased the pace as the time approached nearer and nearer for the New York event of October, 1913.

NEW ISSUES OF THE YEAR.

The issues of new stamps during the year, on the whole, have been of a character well calculated to enhance the interest of our albums, and to bring many new adherents to our cult. In the early days of the year the Romanoff stamps of Russia appeared, giving us a series of unrivalled historical interest, and of a most attractive appearance. An additional glamour soon encircled them with rumours of withdrawal on religious, sentimental, political or fancy reasons. New Year's Day, 1913, saw the advent of the United States Parcel Post, with the fine series of stamp pictures, somewhat spoilt by the monotone of their colour. The Parcel Post goes on, but the special stamps are already abandoned. On January 1st also the United States stamps in connection with the Panama Pacific Exposition were issued. The second day of the year brought the much discussed and abused Kangaroo stamps of Australia, which were, during the year, to supersede all the separate issues for all the Australian States. This supercession is an event of the greatest philatelic significance, and the same year has witnessed the passing of another group of stamp-issuing countries, in the coming of the new Union of South Africa stamps. These and the multifarious products of the Wars in the Near East and rebellions in the West, have served to swell the total of the new issues for 1913, but I can remember no year within a decade or so when the new issues have been of so real and genuine an interest.

THE GEORGIAN GREAT BRITAIN STAMPS.

In our own homeland we have seen the completion of the scheme for the Georgian stamps, the whole of the denominations of the set having now been in use for some months. Incidentally, they have brought back something of the ancient glory of our "line-engraving" in the recess-plate-printed high values. They have introduced more than a little of the excitement of the hunt for errors, and for those variations which delight the student, if at times they may bore the sciolist.

BRITISH COLONIALS.

In the stamps of the British Colonies the process of change necessitated by the accession of His Majesty King George, has been developed to a considerable extent, though it is still far from completion. A spice of novelty has been introduced in the use of surface-coloured paper in place of paper coloured right through, for many of those stamps formerly printed on coloured paper to conform to the Crown Agents' Colour Scheme. The first of these stamps printed on the new paper was noted in the Postage Stamp last August.

THE LITERARY OUTPUT.

The year has not been marked by a prolific output of important monographs, the chief being the second volume of the Royal Society's work on New South Wales, and Mr. Chapman's ponderous tome on the Eagle and Maximilian Stamps of Mexico. A work which we have not yet seen, but which promises to be of the greatest interest and value, is the publication by the Philatelic Society of New Zealand on the stamps of that Dominion; this was probably published in New Zealand a few weeks since. Of general handbooks there have been several of genuine interest and service to the beginner, and one which is happily of a class not frequently met with from British publishing houses of high standing. This latter has proved of interest, however, in that it has provided the critics with much mirth, and many a copy has been purchased by serious philatelists who find it more unaffectedly droll than Punch and Ally Sloper.

THE CRAWFORD LIBRARY.

Perhaps the most important event of the year is one the full effect of which will not be apparent for many a day. I refer to the acquisition by the nation of the world's greatest library of philatelic literature, bequeathed to the British nation by the late Earl of Crawford. This wonderful specialized library was transferred to the British Museum some months back, but it will necessarily require many more months ere it can be made completely accessible to the philatelist for study and reference.

TWO GREAT EXHIBITIONS.

The year has been notable for two great International Exhibitions, the first at Paris in June, and the second at New York in October. At each of these Exhibitions British competitors were much in evidence, and secured many of the highest awards. A curiosity was provided in the awards at Paris when a general collection carried off the Grand Prix. In New York, Mr. Henry J. Duveen secured the Grand Prix for his group of specialised collections. The details of these two great Exhibitions have been fully reported in the Postage Stamp within the past few months, and no useful purpose would be served by further discussion in this general review of the year.

THE TRADE.

A number of important specialised collections have been sold during the year, including the Bartlett collection of Prince Edward Island, several specialised collections formed by the late Rev. W. N. Usher, Mr. Harland's St. Helena, Mr. Ahrens' Uruguay, Mr. A. Ashby's Ceylon, and many more. In fact there never has been a year in which so many specialised collections of varying degrees of importance have changed hands. But the outstanding event in the trade is that which marks the close of the year and the close of the long and honourable association with the trade of Mr. W. H. Peckitt, whose business has been purchased in its entirety by Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd.

THE OBITUARY.

A notable year in every respect, 1913 was also a great year for the grim Reaper. During the first few weeks the philatelic world was mourning the loss of no fewer than three philatelists of the greatest eminence. The Earl of Crawford died on January 31st, M. Pierre Mahé died two days later, and on February 17 Mr. Stanley Gibbons passed away. More recently, the Royal Philatelic Society, which has suffered several very real losses this year, lost its Hon. Secretary, the late Mr. J. A. Tilleard, who was the curator of His Majesty's stamp collections. Of other losses there are many, but the chief names in the obituary list for 1913 are those I have mentioned, and the Rev. W. N. Usher, Mr. W. T. Willett, Mr. I. A.-Mekeel, M. Jean Verjizl and Mr. B. C. Emerson.—Postage Stamp.

THE CRAWFORD COLLECTION OF "GREAT BRITAIN" BOUGHT BY A SPECIALIST.

It is reported that the Crawford collection of British stamps has been bought by Messrs. Edwin Healey & Co., on behalf of R. B. Sparrow, of Talybont-on-Usk, Brecknock, at a price stated to be close upon £20,000.

The collection is an admirable example of the historical school of collecting, in which the late Earl was the acknowledged leader. It traces the whole history of the postage stamp in Great Britain from the inception of the first ideas for the prepayment of postage by stamped wrappers and adhesive labels. In regard to the early essays and suggestions the collection is particularly rich, and is written up with much detail evolved by the late Earl from long and elaborate research, in which his literary faculties and his scientific training were used with an admirable appreciation of the factors which were required to raise the level of the philatelic among the other historical sciences.

This collection, compared generally with the other great historical collection of United States formed by his lordship, was stronger in the actually issued stamps, and in addition to containing practically all the great rarities, the "abnormals," and the rare "officials" and "telegraphs," there are sheets and part-sheets of the early line-engraved stamps, which are not to be equalled in any other collection of Great Britain stamps ever brought together. There are nearly complete sheets of the 1d black (175), 1d black V. R. (219), 2d blue "no lines." Mr. Sparrow was already the possessor of a mangnificent display of Great Britain stamps, and of the proofs and essays, and the news of his new acquisition will create the greatest interest in his visit to London on Saturday (January 17th) when he is to give a display of "Proofs and Essays of Great Britain" at the meeting of the Junior Philatelic Society, in the Salisbury Hotel, Salisbury Square, Fleet Street.—Postage Stamp.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,
PERCIVAL PARRISH, PRESIDENT
1204 CHESTNUT STREET PHILADELPHIA, PA.

THE NEW AUSTRALIAN.

We are indebted to F. W. Reid for a copy of the new stamp with head of King George, and a very handsome stamp it is, a marked improvement over the kangaroo-map stamp. Mr. Reid gives us some interesting particulars concerning the reception accorded the new stamp and we quote as follows from his letter:—

"The new Australian 1 penny is just out (Dec. 12) and there has been great excitement the past two days. The entrance to the General Post Office looked like an overflow meeting of the two philatelic clubs here in Sydney.

It is the rule to serve only six to a customer and it is being enforced to such an extent that dealers are not able to supply the trade abroad at anything near the usual rate. Collectors and dealers are getting all they can by sending employees and friends as well as small boys off the streets, to get a 6d worth, and paying premiums for the service.

Only one million of these stamps for the whole six states have been printed. The next lot will be from the same die but printed by the cheaper electro process and on watermarked paper."

The stamp submitted by Mr. Reid is line-engraved, unwatermarked, and perforated 11. It is printed in a fine shade of carmine and the plates thus far seen are numbered 1, 2, 3, and 4.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Saturday evening, January 3, the home of Hon. E. R. Ackerman, Plainfield, N. J., was entered by burglars and jewels stolen to the value of $15,000. The burglars obtained two pearl necklaces and several diamond and pearl rings.

—A local branch of the National Philatelic Society was organized in Boston, Janaury 7, by the local members, who met at the Hayward and established the Boston Philatelic Exchange Club. The following officers were elected:—President, Wm. C. Polk; Vice-president, M. B. Clark; Secretary, W. B. Savary; Treasurer, H. J. Storer and Auctioneer, I. W. Risdon. The meetings of the new club will be held on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Harry E. Klotzbach (2), Herman W. Boers (6), C. M. Breder, D. E. Lantz, Justin Miller (2).

—Any dealer or collector desiring a convenient and safe coin mailer will do well to correspond with W. H. Price, whose advertisement appears elsewhere in this issue. A sample has been received and we consider it a very satisfactory article.

—R. J. Wagner, Fostoria, O., would like to know the present address of Carl A. Bliss, Kansas City, Mo., who will not reply to letters asking return of stamps sent on approval. He gives Hussman Co. and New England Co. as references.

—We want the WEEKLY for July 22, 1911, and will send a couple of our foreign exchanges to anyone desiring the same.

—The new 7c U. S. will have head of Washington and the 9c, 12c, 20c, 30c head of Franklin. Designs will be uniform with present set.

—L. V. Lindsey reports a sad experience with Frank L. Cook, Pendleton, Indiana. Stamps were sent but a subsequent letter came back marked "moved, address unknown." Trouble caused by non-investigation of references.

—Say so when it is so:—"Saw your advt. in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY!"

—A little advt. in our Trade Column will reach 7100 collectors and the price only 20c per line.

—M. Bedard, Montreal, Can., would like to know the present address of F. Aretz, 316 Euclid Avenue, Toronto, Ont., recently Pittsburgh, Pa.

C. B. BOSTWICK MISSING.

The relatives of C. B. Bostwick of N. Y. City are very much concerned at Mr. Bostwick's sudden disappearance from home Sunday morning, Jan. 4. On that date he left his residence, 19 W. 31 St., with the intention of going to his office and he has not been seen since.

Mr. Bostwick was an enthusiastic stamp collector and an authority on the issues of the Cayman Islands. At present he has been specializing in Siam stamps. For several months he has suffered from neuritis, and it is the opinion of the family and his physician that this with other worries has resulted in his mind becoming temporarily deranged.

If any trace of Mr. Bostwick is found, the police headquarters of N. Y. City should be notified at once. We trust that the WEEKLY may be instrumental in restoring our long time friend and subscriber to his family.

TOO LATE MR. ADVERTISER!

If your adv. reached us Monday it was too late for this week. Bear in mind that this winter we shall positively insist on Saturday receipt of copy so as to permit an early mailing of every issue.

EDITORIAL.

Our Letter-Box—It has long been one of the pet suspicions of the reading public that many of the questions asked in the columns of the public prints originate in the mind of the editor and in reality were never received from inquiring readers. The argument of the skeptics is that the editor wants to air his knowledge by asking himself questions that he may conveniently answer or that he merely wishes to fill space. Of course, no one would be so ungenerous as to suspect the WEEKLY of this sort of thing but if by a miracle a doubter should appear, we can say that some of the questions that come to us are all too real. Here is one that proves our contention: "Not leaving the city limits, which would cost more? To send a ton of bricks by parcel post or freight, one brick at a time?" This is our busy season; and so we respectfully suggest to Mr. Lichtenberg that he consult a brick manufacturer, a freight agent and a parcel post schedule and relieve us from the necessity of doing so.

Once More—A subscriber in New York City writes us appropriately enough on the letter-head of a doctor: "I am a collector of stamps as you probably know. I have tried to stop saving stamps many times but always come back to them. Can you explain to me why this is? Hoping to see an answer in the next issue of your WEEKLY, I remain, A Subscriber." As a diagnostician, we feel that we cannot compete with that ardent champion of philately, Dr. John Milton Holt; and so we shall not attempt any laborious explanation that will not ring true to the medical ear, anyway. However, to quote another doctor of philately, we remember that B. A. Cottlow, M. D., said, at a banquet of the Chicago Philatelic Society in 1895 or so, that philately is an intermittent fever that is never wholly eradicated from the system that it once attacks.

Bureau Report—The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has issued a report for the fiscal year that ended June 30th, 1913, and, as usual, it contains not a few statistics of interest to stamp collectors. The report will make a useful addition to the files of the collector of United States stamps in particular and it is well worth writing for.

Fiction—In a short story by Donald Murray, entitled "Glib Mr. Jackson," we read: "I had the best of burglar alarms, somthing new in the way of window fasteners and the place was connected with a police station and a fire engine house. I needed to be secure. I had a collection of coins and stamps worth $15,000, and any burglar who once got in could have taken the whole away in a common gripsack. The newspapers were always speaking of the collection, and I realized that sooner or later some enterprising man would seek to lay hands on it without the formality of a sale." Sure enough, the burglar comes in the person of a pseudo life insurance man who had called ostensibly on business but in reality to map out plans for a midnight incursion. Here is the finale: "The police took his gun and a score of skeleton keys, and after a few days he was convicted of burglary and got a sentence of seven years. I was rather sorry about it. Before leaving for prison he informed me that he broke into the house for the sole purpose of taking a clock 100 years old, and that as for my collection, he wouldn't have given me fifteen cents for the whole outfit." The collection was worth $15,000 and the culprit would not have given fifteen cents for it? He must have been a stamp dealer.

Irresponsible—Our friend, Mr. C. M. Breder sends us an editorial that appeared in the issue of January 3rd, 1914, with "irregardless" underlined in the sentence: "To him these stamps retain their 'rare' look irregardless of the number of times he sees them." He asks: "What do you mean by 'irregardless'?" We do not know. We started to type "irrespective," then switched to "regardless" and the result was "irregardless."

Coming—We expect to have interesting information regarding the stamps of new denominations of the current set, which, as readers know, is to be augmented by the 7, 9, 12, 20 and 30 cent values. The added denominations are made necessary, as has been explained, by the popularity of the parcels post with the public; and next week, we hope to supply some of the details that are being eagerly awaited by readers.

New Deal—We learn from the Philatelic Gazette for December that the high-class monthly in question is now under different management, the J. M. Bartels Company having disposed of its interests in the publication. Mr. John A. Klemann, as business manager, will henceforth publish the Gazette whose policy, we understand, will undergo no radical changes. We regret that Mr. L. G. Quackenbush is to relinquish his editorial control as we shall miss his engaging observations and his facile literary work. It is hoped that Mr. Quackenbush's signal ability will not be lost to philately through the mutuations of time, even though there is an insistent demand for his services in other fields.

An Old Envelope—From Mr. H. H. Jacoby of St. Louis, we have received a copy of a used Elihu Burritt "Ocean Postage" envelope which was sent from England to Germany. Elihu Burritt, the "Learned Blacksmith" of Connecticut advocated many reforms in his day but none did he espouse more vigorously than that of "ocean penny postage" for Great Britain. Mr. Jacoby's used envelope was one of a number of varieties issued to further Mr. Burritt's campaign in Great Britain, about 1850, to achieve the boon. The design of the envelope is after the Mulready and on the bannerettes is the rallying cry: "From Thee the World Expects Britain! an Ocean Penny Postage, To Make her Children One Fraternity." Ocean Penny Postage was this, in Burritt's words: "That the single service of transporting a letter, weighing under half-an-ounce, from any port in the United Kingdom to any port beyond the sea, at which the British mail-packets may touch, shall be performed by the British Government for one penny; or one penny for its mere conveyance from Folkestone to Boulonge, Liverpool to Boston, etc., and vice versa. Thus the entire charge upon a letter transmitted from any town in the United Kingdom to any port beyond the sea, would be two pence:—one penny for the inland rate, and the other for the ocean rate."

The Coign of Vantage—"I saw a man who looked like the Philadelphia mint give a twenty dollar bill in payment for a ten cent packet at the stamp shop. What was this the height of?" asks a small-bore philosopher. We suppose that it is the summit of self-sufficiency or something on that order.

TITLED PHILATELISTS.

It is by no means generally known that Queen Maud of Norway, who, with her husband, King Haakon, was recently on a visit to England is numbered amongst the stamp collecting members of the British Royal family.

The heir presumptive to the dukedom of Argyle is another distinguished recruit to the philatelic ranks.—Stamp Collecting.

CHAPTER LV.

Louisiana Purchase.

In the year 1904 a "World's Fair" was opened in St. Louis. This event commemorated the centennial (100th anniversary) of the purchase by the United States of a great territory through the Mississippi Valley and middle west, from France. This was called the Louisiana Purchase, and from this the stamps take their name. The series are sometimes also called "St. Louis stamps" on account of the advertising given to the city and its exposition.

This series, oblong in shape, resembling in form the Columbians, consisted of five denominations—1 cent, 2 cents, 3 cents, 5 cents, and 10 cents. The first deliveries to postoffices by the United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing were on April 22, 1904.

1 Cent—portrait of Livingston—issued April 22, 1904. Shades—bluish green, green, light bluish green. Number issued 79,780,021.

2 Cents—portrait of Jefferson—issued April 22, 1904. Shades—several of carmine. A striking shade, reddish orange, is scarce. Nearly a complete sheet was first uncovered and later, several other small lots were found. It has been asserted that this shade is a changeling, due to exposure to the light, but I am deeply inclined to doubt this opinion.

Variety—imperforate horizontally.

Total number of stamps issued—192,733,221.

3 Cents—portrait of Monroe—issued April 22, 1904. Shades violet, deep violet. Number issued—4,543,421.

5 Cents—portrait of McKinley, issued April 22, 1904. Shades—deep blue, dark blue, indigo. Number issued—6,927,521.

10 Cents—design, map of the United States, with portion containing the Louisiana Purchase in shaded engraving. Issued April 22, 1904. Shades—red brown, deep red brown. Number issued, 4,012,021.

NOTE.—The writer has not been able to secure a satisfactory classification of shades of the above and of other stamps, for the reason that collectors (myself with them) have varying ideas as to the correct naming of the very slight differences. To avoid any discussion as to whether a stamp may be called reddish lake or deep carmine, etc., I will, in the future, simply give the total number of shades resting in my own collection, except in the case of an unusual shade which may be called a rarity.

CHAPTER LVI.

Jamestown.

The Jamestown exposition, held near Norfolk, Virginia, in 1907, was considered ample provocation for the issue of a new series of commemorative postage stamps of three denominations—1 cent, 2 cents and 5 cents. The stamps are oblong in shape, somewhat smaller than the Columbians and Louisiana Purchase, with ornamental engraving. The data is—

1 Cent—portrait of Capt. John Smith—issued April 25, 1907. Shades of green, four. Number issued, 77,729,641.

2 Cents—design, "Founding of Jamestown"—issued April 25, 1907. Shades of carmine, five.

5 Cents—portrait of Pocahontas—issued April 25, 1907. Shades of dark blue, three. Number issued, 7,981,441.

ST. LOUIS CELEBRATES.

The annual banquet and installation of officers of the St. Louis Stamp Collectors' Society was held on Tuesday evening, January 6, 1914. A feature of this event was the invitation of ladies to attend, which was accepted by a number of the fair sex. During the progress of the banquet it was unanimously voted that any member might propose the name of his wife, sister or affianced lady, for honorary membership, which should be granted.

The officers who were installed were: President, T. C. Mann; vice president, R. H. Eilers; secretary-treasurer, Frank E. Goodwin.

President Mann announced the following appointments: Entertainment committee, Chester Myers, chairman; Wm. J. H. Anschuetz, R. H. Eilers; Obituary committee (of which the president is ex-officio) F. R. Cornwall, W. H. Marston; Auction manager, S. M. Schoemann; Exchange and sales superintendent, F. D. Collins; Librarian, R. H. Sisson.

Chester Myers exhibited his collection of precancels which was awarded a prize at the International Exhibition in New York, together with the medal awarded to it.

H. A. Diamant showed a wonderful collection of Canal Zone stamps, specialized.

F. N. Chase displayed his splendid collection of the stamps of France.

R. W. Boissalear exhibited a very complete collection of used United States adhesives.

Regular meetings of the stamp society are held each first and third Tuesday evenings in each month at the rooms of F. R. Cornwall, Chemical building, Eighth and Pine streets.

We have become so accustomed to the visits of the Philatelic Gazette under the Bartels management that it will seem like the loss of a friend to have it appear from another quarter, certainly so until we have become used to the new order of things. The J. M. Bartels Co. announces that hereafter the Gazette will be published by the Philatelic Publishing Co., Mr. Bartels connection with the publication being that simply of a staff writer. HERBERT BOWEN RETIRES.

Herbert Bowen, a veteran attorney of Detroit and a philatelist of long standing, was honored with a luncheon tendered by the law firm of which he was a member on a recent date. Twenty-eight attorneys were present, all of whom had received their early training in the office of the firm. The occasion was a token of esteem to Mr. Bowen's retirement from law practise.

Mr. Bowen is a well-known member of the Detroit collecting fraternity and has served as a member of the board of directors of the A. P. S. His collection is a large and valuable one and he has been very popular in the city where he resides.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

AUSTRALIA.—F. W. Reid sends us various values of the Kangaroo stamps, with official perforations. Included in the lot are the 2d, 3d, 6d, 1sh and 2sh values perforated large "OS" for Commonwealth use, and the 1d, 2d, 3d, 4d and 6d values, perforated small "OS—NSW" for use in New South Wales. Mr. Reid writes that the current New Zealand officials, are being sold unused at face. These include Scott's Nos. 521, 528, 532, 533, 535, 538, 540, and 541, and also the old 5sh green, Scott's No. 257, overprinted "Official." No. 541 is catalogued at $40 used by Gibbons and has been sold at high prices for mint copies recently.

The following was taken from the Melbourne Argus of November 19, 1913:

"When the first issue of new Australian stamps bearing the King's Head instead of a kangaroo, are placed on sale, no person will be permitted to purchase more than six at any one time. The reason for this restriction is that the postal authorities anticipate a rush by philatelists for the first specimens of the new design, and as it is intended to print only a million at the beginning, every effort is to be made to distribute this limited supply as widely as possible. The preliminary million, which are at present being struck off steel plates, will be ready for sale on Monday, November 24, and the Postmaster-General has directed that they are to be made available in each State on a population basis, which will mean that the Victorian quota will be about 300,000. It has already been explained that about 450,000,000 penny stamps are used every year in the Commonwealth, but owing to the pressure on the printing branch of the Federal Note Department it will be quite impossible to overtake the ordinary business demand for the new design of stamps for many months."

From another source, we gather that the design for the new 6d stamp is taken from the second prize design submitted in the recent competition. The new "hookaburra" shilling stamp is from a drawing by Mr. Blamire Young, who prepared a number of specimens for the previous Postmaster General. The King's Head will appear only on the 1d, 2d and 2½d values.

BELGIUM.—L'Echo de la Timbrologie is informed that Belgium is to shortly issue a railway postal packet stamp of 55 centimes.

EGYPT.—The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly reports that a special printing of the official overprint on the 5m stamp, without the Arabic inscription and in a slightly thicker type. Only enough were printed to last until the issue of the new permanent series.

GREAT BRITAIN.—W. F. Gregory sends us specimens of the different shades and printings of the current King George 2d stamps, as noted in No. 1201.

GREECE.—Lemaire's Journal reports that the 3l and 20l values have been added to the lithographed set, the 1, 2, 5, 10 and 25l values having previously been chronicled.

HUNGARY.—We find that we have omitted to formally chronicle the new printings of the 12f, 50f and 60f on colored paper.

Adhesives.

12f violet on yellow.
50f rose on azure.
60f green on salmon.

MOZAMBIQUE.—According to the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly reports the issue of 24 provisionals, like those previously chronicled for Angola, Guinea, Cape Verde and St. Thomas & Prince.

NETHERLANDS.—According to Postzegelnieuws the 1½c postage stamp and 1½c letter card will be hereafter printed in dark blue. The 50c value of the current postage set is to be changed to gray and lilac.

NICARAGUA.—A. W. Dunning has shown us another provisional in the Cordoba series. This is a double provisional like the ½c noted in No. 1196. The 15c on 35c Mountains has been again used, the first overprinted value being obliterated by a heavy black line, and "1ct. Cordoba" printed just above the "Correos—1913."

Provisional Adhesive.

1c on 15c on 35c green and chestnut.

PORTUGUESE COLONIES.—While the surcharged provisionals for various colonies are still coming, it appears that the Portuguese Government has commenced to put on sale at Lisbon the new stamps of the Ceres Type of the following Colonies: Angola, Cape Verde, Congo, Guinea, Inhambane, Lourenzo Marques, Mozambique, Quelimane, St. Thomas & Prince, Tete, Portuguese India and Timor. The design for all of these is that used for Macau and chronicled some time since. For the first ten colonies the series will be composed of stamps of ¼, ½, 1, 1½, 2, 2½, 5, 7½, 8, 10, 15, 20, 30, 40, and 50 centavos and 1 escudo; for Portuguese India, 1, 1½, 2, 2½, 3, 4½, 5, 6, 9 and 10 reis, 1, 2, 3, 4, 8 and 12 tangas and 1, 2 and 3 rupias; for Timor, ½, 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 10, 12, 16, 20, 40, 58 and 76 avos, 1 and 3 patacas. This statement is translated from Lemaire's Journal.

TURKEY.—Apparently emulating Chas Lathrop Pack in his study of the Brazilian Liberty heads, other collectors are studying their common stamps. The latest to submit the results of study is Mrs. Louise W. Kellogg, who has been studying the 1 piastre stamp of the regular issue of 1909 to some purpose. Three specimens are submitted with Mrs. Kellogg's letter, showing such marked differences as to warrant notice. In the ordinary stamp the lines of the background are of equal thickness; and the background of numeral is mottled. In the second specimen, the background to the numeral shows a slightly lined appearance. In the third variety, these lines are distinct. Also the parallel lines to upper right and left of the central space, vary, regularly, in thickness—every other one being broken and faint, and the entire stamp frame has the appearance of heavy lining.

WITH THE BOY PHILATELIST.

Edited by BERTRAM W. H. POOLE, Box 231, Altadena, Calif.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

I find quite a number of letters from correspondents on various subjects awaiting attention and before proceeding with Mecklenberg-Schwerin, in the series of Stamps of the German Empire, it will be as well to deal with these. A Canadian reader writes as follows:—

1.—I have a 4d South Australian stamp on part of original cover postmarked "Melbourne, Victoria." Can you suggest how this came about? This depends on the stamp. If one of the earlier issues it was probably cancelled at Melbourne because it had escaped cancellation at the town of mailing. If one of the recent issues used during the last 12 months or so it is due to the fact that just pending the issue of a uniform series for the whole of Australia the various States' issues were available for postage in any state and not only in the one whose name they bear.

2.—A few days ago I came across an envelope on which was charged 4c postage due, but the Post-Office clerk, instead of affixing the usual Postage Due stamps, just put on two ordinary 2c postage stamps. Is this envelope worth keeping? Yes, the cover is certainly worth keeping. The ordinary stamps were used owing, most probably, to the fact that the clerk had no Postage Due stamps on hand.

3.—I noticed on a ½ anna Patiala surcharged stamp that the top part of the letter "T" in the word "STATE" was missing. Is this to be considered as a variety or as a poor copy? This is a minor variety of practically no philatelic importance. All sorts of similar varieties may be found on the Indian stamps overprinted for use in the Native states.

4.—I have an unused 2c Canadian stamp which is only perforated about three-quarters of the way down. Can this be classed as a variety? It is a variety, certainly, but of very minor interest. It was probably caused by careless feeding of a sheet of stamps into the perforating machine.

5.—In some manner I got hold of a stamp which does not appear in Scott's catalogue. It appears to be printed in violet on blue green paper. In the foreground of the picture is a lake with what appears to be ships sailing on it, while the background is composed of mountains, among which is a train. The whole is surmounted by a star and crescent. The inscription along the four sides reads as follows:—"Dbsr. Local Post, Kustendje and Ozernawada, 20 Paras." Can you classify this stamp for me? This label is not included in Scott's catalogue because it is merely a local stamp. I haven't a local catalogue by me at the moment but from the inscription, value and star and crescent in the design it is obviously a Turkish local.

6.—I am only just a beginner but I feel I should like to turn my attention to some special country, the stamps of which are both moderate in price and interesting. I find this a very difficult task and if you can give me any advice on the subject I shall be grateful.—It is a good plan for the beginner to concentrate on one country at a time and when he has obtained all the varieties of that country he can afford to turn his attention to another one. As a start the smaller countries are best and such countries as Sarawak, Seychelles, Crete, Bulgaria, Denmark, Norway, Egypt, Congo Free State, etc., are fairly easy to complete and, omitting errors, have few high priced varieties among them.

A reader writing from Ridgefield Park, N. J., writes as follows:—"Please tell me what is meant by 'grille' and how to distinguish an embossed stamp."

A grille is a pattern of small embossed dots usually arranged in the shape of a square or rectangle and occasionally covering the whole of the stamp. Grilles are found upon certain of the stamps of the United States and Peru. The postal authorities had this grille (or "grid" as it is sometimes called) applied to make the removal of a cancellation from a used stamp impossible. The embossing or grille had the effect of weakening the substance of the paper and made it highly absorbent. Thus when the stamps were cancelled a fair amount of the postmarking ink was absorbed by the paper and any attempt at cleaning off the cancellation simply resulted in the destruction of the stamp.

Embossed stamps are those in which some portion or the whole of the design is in relief, or raised, as in the case of the United States envelope stamps now in use. Stamps are embossed in much the same way as letter headings, seals, etc., and the embossing may be perfectly plain on colored paper, or the raised portions may be in white with the rest of the design in color.

A Los Angeles reader writes:—I am stumped over two stamps I recently found in an old collection and would appreciate any information you could give me:—(a) Measures 27x20 mm. Color, yellow orange. The Central design shows a three masted steamship under steam. In the four corners are the numerals "5" on shields. Between the shields is the inscription "Cinco Republica Cents Del Paraguay," reading from left over to right. Poorly lithographed, cancelled by bars enclosed in a circle. (b) Peru, Scott's No. 22, perf. 13½, poorly lithographed, the color being much duller than usual.

The label described as (a) is a bogus one purporting to have been issued in Paraguay while (b) is a common counterfeit.

SHORT REPLIES.

E. A. S. (Milwaukee)—One could hardly believe in the bona-fides of your stamp as a part-perf. unless found in a pair.

R. D. K. (Philadelphia)—It is purely a matter of opinion. Some envelope collectors prefer them entire and others prefer the stamps cut out with a nice wide margin around. Personally we think it is a question of whether one collects stamped stationery or envelope stamps. If the former then it is imperative the envelopes be kept entire, but if the latter then one wants only the stamp and as much of the surrounding "stationery" as is necessary to set it off properly.

THE STAMP CURE.

BY ARTHUR IRWIN SMITH

Mrs. Andrews stood in the doorway, white-faced and with fingers tightly pressed in her palms. Something had happened, but she did not know yet what it could be. Johnny Phillips was running wildly up the road which led to her house. As he drew nearer her heart skipped several beats and she felt weak and trembling, for the child was excitedly calling to her: "Fix the bed, Mrs. Andrews, quick!"

"What is the matter?" she gasped.

"James—James—he fell—" Johnny panted.

"Is James killed?" Mrs. Andrews screamed.

"He's hurt. We boys called some men. They're bringin' him now. He fell outen the chestnut tree."

Resisting the impulse to run from the house to where her son was, she mechanically arranged the bed, then stood tensely waiting in the doorway.

It seemed like hours to her before the men reached the house with their unconcious burden. To her relief, the doctor alighted from his motor-car almost at the same time, and quickly began an examination.

His inscrutable countenance gave her no hope and the suspense was almost greater than she could bear. James was her all, for she had seen husband, parents, and sisters buried. How could she give him up? Already he was beginning to be such a comfort and help. He was nearly fifteen years old and one of the most studious boys in the school. Every one predicted great things of her boy. How often had she cautioned him not to be so daring, but always he had showed no fear when he was in dangerous places.

"Well," grunted the doctor, "I do not think he is hurt internally, but he has a bad fracture of the left leg. When I get that fixed up, he'll be all right."

Mrs. Andrews swayed and grasped the foot of the bed. "Thank God, it's no worse than that," she breathed.

Before leaving, the doctor admonished her to keep James perfectly quiet. He might become a cripple for life, if the limb was disturbed. It is easier to tell anyone not to allow certain things, than it is to enforce the command. Mrs. Andrews found it hard to carry out the doctor's admonition.

James was a boy that possessed a great store of energy and he had always managed to dispose of a part of it each day. He became impatient and restless, and his mother was unable to keep him quiet. He had read all the books they had, and she could find nothing to read to him which was really of interest.

His teacher, Miss Clarke, came to see him just at a time when he was most impatient. While she talked he was quiet, but his mother knew that as soon as she was gone he would begin to worry because he could not go to school as the other children were doing.

"I should have known better than to climb up an old brittle chestnut tree," he moaned as Miss Clarke left.

"Yes; but you must try to be brave and lie still," she replied from the doorway. "To-morrow I will bring you something which will help you pass off the time, provided you will promise to be good."

James smiled as he promised. He tried to keep his promise, too, and discovered that he suffered much less when he was not worrying so much over his confinement.

The next day Miss Clarke came with a package, and for an hour she helped him sort its contents. The doctor came in while they were so busy, and stood puzzled over the transformation of his patient. The boy's eyes were shining as he held the tiny bits of paper up for his inspection.

"What are you about?" he cried.

"Miss Clarke has brought me some new stamps. There are so many here that I wanted to see. I only had a few and I had studied them until I knew all about them. Now I can have such fun with these. I'll get mother to hunt up the places they came from in the Geography and read to me about them. Then I'll put them in my album. Oh, I'll have plenty to do now."

He certainly did find something to pass away the time. His mother allowed him to order a lot of stamps, and when he was entirely well and strong again his collection was a beautiful one, the best selected and most carefully arranged of any in the district.

The St. Nicholas Stamp Department

The collectors reached by St. Nicholas are those to whom dealers wish especially to appeal—the boys who are well informed as to stamp values, are able to make good collections, to keep them up, and to add rarities when these are bargains.

The Editor of the Department is thoroughly competent, keeps his information up to date, answers questions, and stimulates business in every legitimate way. The illustrations are well presented, and so discussed as to give them added value. This Department occupies a page opposite to dealers' announcements, and the quality of these announcements will be at once apparent to any one acquainted with the trade.

It is a dealer's advantage to reach the most appreciative customers, and these are precisely of the class that read St. Nicholas.

Besides those already interested, there are thousands of young readers who, by a little well-directed effort, might be started upon the road as collectors.

LATEST NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

REPORT 3rd ASST. P. M. G. DOCKERY.

Coiled Stamps.—The coils of 500 and 1,000 stamps continue to grow in popular demand. The issues increased by 306,826 in 1913 over 1912, or 66 per cent. The current 5-cent stamp has been added to the list of stamps in coils, perforated and coiled sidewise.

Stamp Books.—The revenue upon the stamp books issued during the year, derived from the 1 cent charged for each book above the value of the stamps contained therein, aggregated $269,581.10. Cost of manufacture was $77,056.34, leaving $192,524.76 to defray cost of distribution.

The stamp books have proved so popular with the public and so advantageous to the department that it has been regarded advisable to improve them. Accordingly a better quality of paper board has been adopted for the covers and the cover designs have been made more attractive.

Action has also been taken to issue two new stamp books, one containing twenty-four 1c and twenty-four 2c stamps, to sell for 73 cents, and the other containing ninety-six 1c stamps, to sell for 97 cents. The twenty-four 1c: 2c book was placed on sale October 25, 1913, and the ninety-six 1c book will be issued shortly.

Commemorative Stamps.—The series of four postage stamps described in the last annual report of this office, issued to commemorate the opening of the Panama Canal and the discovery of the Pacific Ocean, was placed on sale January 1, 1913, except the 2c denomination, which was first issued January 18, 1913.

A model of the Pedro Miguel Locks was used as the subject of the 2-cent denomination, and the title was first erroneously engraved "Gatun Locks," but the mistake was discovered before any of the stamps were issued, and all of those which had been printed were destroyed by burning. The title was re-engraved as "Panama Canal," and the stamps are being issued with that title.

The first print of the 10-cent denomination was found to be of too light a shade, and in response to a request of this department dated April 9, 1913, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing adopted a darker shade of ink. These darker stamps were first issued by the department August 25, 1913.

Window Envelopes.—Window envelopes are envelopes having an opening or a transparent panel in the front, through which the address upon the inclosure is disclosed. These envelopes have met much opposition on the part of post-office and railway-mail employees because of difficulty experienced in deciphering addresses, leading to demands that the envelopes be barred from the mails. They possess merit, however, chiefly in that addressing is eliminated, and the advantages to the business public undoubtedly outweigh their disadvantage to the postal service. Much of the objection to window envelopes arises from improper folding of inclosures and illegible addressing, and believing that these difficulties could be minimized by regulation, Order No. 7303 was issued by the Postmaster General July 10, 1913, prescribing the position of the window in the envelope, prohibiting the use of colored windows and requiring them to be as transparent as possible, requiring the use of return cards, and directing that if inclosures are not folded to fit the envelope properly, or if the address is illegible, the envelope shall be laid aside for treatment after disposition shall have been made of other mail. These regulations should result in a marked improvement in the manner of using window envelopes, and have already led to improvement of the envelopes themselves by manufacturers.

New Postal Cards.—The new No. 4 1-cent card mentioned in the annual report for 1912 was not issued, but in its place the Postmaster General has approved the preparation of a design containing the portrait of Thomas Jefferson, and the engraving is now under way. The card will be printed in green ink.

The No. 5 1-cent card is now printed in green ink instead of red, which considerably improves it and conforms to the color scheme recommended by the Universal Postal Union Convention. It was first placed on sale July 29, 1913.

Saint Thomas y Principe

had recourse, lately, to a provisional issue down in those little islands as the supply of stamps from Lisbon had not arrived. The authorities took the 1902 and 1903 emissions issued under the Monarchy and printed them "Republica" in an old fashioned serif type.

A 1-cent official postal card has been adopted for postal savings correspondence. It is described as follows: The size is 3 by 5 inches; color of card, cream; color of ink, black. The stamp is a circle about seven-eighths inch in diameter. A large white numeral 1 appears in the center upon a background of lathe work. Under the numeral is the word "cent" in white capital letters. In a black border are the words, in white capital letters, "U. S. postal savings" and "official mail." To the left of the stamp are the words "post card," in Gothic capitals.

Discontinuance of Registry Stamp.—Under date of November 1, 1911, announcement was made of the preparation of a distinctive registry stamp of 10-cent denomination to be used for the prepayment of the registry fee on registered matter, domestic or foreign. This stamp was offered for sale to the public beginning December 1, 1911, but ordinary stamps were permitted to continue to be used to prepay the registry fee when the distinctive registry stamp was not available. The idea of the introduction of this stamp was to more readily detect registered matter in the mails after the discontinuance of the use of registered-package envelopes. The misuse of this stamp, however, led to annoying complications in the service which were believed to offset any advantage that the stamp may have been intended to convey, and under date of May 28, 1913, the issue of this distinctive registry stamp was discontinued, provision being made for its acceptance until the supply was exhausted in the prepayment of the registry fee at mailing offices as heretofore, and in addition thereto for its acceptance at offices of delivery in the payment of any deficiency in postage on registered mail only which might be due.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

KEEPING OF STAMP ACCOUNTS.

By FRANK L. APPLEGATE.

Some two months ago a request appeared in the WEEKLY bearing the signature of Catano Fratus, asking the readers to write descriptions of different methods of keeping records of stamp collections. I have waited with considerable curiosity to see what elucidations would be called forth by this request, but so far none of our contemporaries have come forward with the desired information.

I am now prompted to give a brief exposition of my book keeping methods, not with the idea of impressing them upon others as the most desirable system, but in the hope that interest in the subject may be stimulated thereby, and a full discussion called forth resulting in placing the best methods before our readers. I have made a study of stamp accounting ever since I first began collecting in my boyhood days twenty years or so ago, when I carefully tabulated the results of each month's collecting in a blank book made for that purpose, one for each year, when all I had to collect were copy after copy of the common stamps then current.

I presume most collectors make a practice of marking in some way the stamps to be found in their collection in the Standard Catalogue. This is a simple and convenient way of keeping track of one's stamps furnishing a ready reference list, always at hand, when the collection itself may not be. During the formation of my first collection which I disposed of several years ago this was my practice.

A straight line was drawn under each item clear from the catalogue number to the price, used or unused, as the case might be. Of course this entailed a complete revision every time a new edition of the catalogue came out, which was duly made. At the same time all gains and losses in catalogue value were carefully tabulated and the net gain carried to the footing of an annual statement which my books always showed.

The basis of this annual statement, in fact of my whole system was my Record of Correspondence and Acquisition which I have always kept, and which has now reached the fourteenth volume and contains a complete running record of all correspondence and philatelic transactions from the beginning of my collecting career until the present. For this I buy the common blank record books with about eight by eleven inch pages, bound in half leather, ruled with red date line only and containing 150 to 300 numbered pages. In this are copied all letters received as well as all acquisitions to my collection in red ink. All correspondence emanating from my pen are in black. After recording the date in the date column, the name and address of my correspondent comes just opposite, then the body of the letter, no space being taken up with the merely formal part, nor of course with my own name. The letter A (for abbreviated) following the name and address privileges me to cut the letter either "to" or "from" to its main propositions.

At the end of any correspondence or record of any transaction in which new matter is added to my collection such additions are duly listed and then summed up in one line as follows:

Jan. 2.

==4 varieties U.S. Parcel Post Stamps.

The special mark under the date attracting attention and making it easier to check up results.

Of course this recording of all correspondence is cumbersome, but I have followed it with tenacity and it has long passed into a fixed habit with me. It only requires a few minutes of application each day if correspondence is pretty regular, or less, according to circumstances. This system could be used much more advantageously by any one familiar with shorthand, or could be adapted to a typewriter system by using loose leaf books. It is so much more neat and compact than the usual method of filing correspondence, and copying letters into a press copy book.

On the last pages of each volume is an alphabetical index of names and addresses giving the pages upon which such names are to be found, duly made up upon the completion of the volume, thus enabling me at any time to follow up a line of correspondence extending back for years.

At the end of each month I check up the results of my acquisitions and carry them to the annual statement. This is ruled in across two adjoining pages toward the back of the book, rulings running both ways of the page with proper headings at top and left sides. The page is divided vertically into as many columns as there are different classes of stamps to be recorded separately, with a column at the end for totals.

The first line across immediately below the column headings bears numbers in each column corresponding to the number of stamps in each class contained in the collection on December 31. The other lines on the page are ruled in pairs, one pair for each month of the year; the first line of each pair giving the numbers collected during the month and the second the totals formed by adding to the line above.

Thus the last line of the page shows the totals of each class on hand the last of the year culminating in the grand total of all varieties in the collection at the foot of the last column.

One who wishes to keep an accurate record of his collecting activities without copying all his correspondence could keep a list of his acquisitions as they come in making up his statement each month and carrying to the annual statement just the same.

Formerly I carried the current catalogue value totals along under each item in my statement, correcting them to correspond with the new quotations in a special line added for that purpose after the total line mentioned before. I no longer do this. I have grown to regard the changing catalogue value of my collection of relatively small importance, and have adopted an entirely different method from marking the catalogue. Another reason for this is that I collect a good many lines such as U. S. Beer stamps and the different kinds of State Revenues and stamped paper which do not appear in the standard catalogue.

I now keep another book big enough to allow a line for each possible variety to be collected in all the various lines in which I am interested. The book I am using is about four by six inches in size, bound in red leather and ruled both with date column and columns for dollars and cents in red.

At the top of each page I enter in red ink the appropriate heading as:

U. S. Doc. Rev. 1900, Hyphen-hole Perf.

In the first or date column I place the catalogue number, if any; in the second or main column I write first the denomination, preceded in the case of unused by the *; second, name of the person from whom the specimen was acquired and the date of acquisition in figures. In the next, or dollars column, space is reserved for two columns of figures. On the left the exchange price in case the specimen was acquired in that way as many of my stamps are. This will naturally, though not necessarily correspond to the catalogue price. If the stamp in question is acquired by direct purchase the net price appears on the right side of the column. The last, or cent column, is reserved for reference to the volume and page of my record book wherein further details of the transaction may be found. Thus about half way down the page the heading of which was just given is found reading across the page.

*3033 25c W. F. Greany 11/17/12 .50
.13 XII—101

If I wish to refresh my memory in regard to Mr. Greany's address or any other data relative to the transaction, all I have to do is to refer to page 101 of Vol. XII of my Record of Correspondence and Acquisition. Now a word as to the appearance of the two values 50 and 13 in the same line above. I keep a further exact account of the cost of all stamps not acquired through direct purchase, tracing every transaction back to the stamp, or stamps for which cash was paid, and proportioning the cost among the different stamps involved in the deal.

Of course, when I have a running exchange account with some correspondent, as I frequently have, this matter becomes quite complex—and correspondingly interesting. These values appear in the same column as net cash prices, to the right of the exchange value.

Thus I have a concise tabulation of my collection, in permanent form, always in easy reach, which does away with both marking my catalogue and making notes in my albums.

Most of the notes from which the cost of specimens is made up are found in the Record of Correspondence and Acquisition, but I find a small ledger convenient for keeping track of running accounts, etc.

KLEIN'S "CLEARANCE" SALE.

The type last week made it a "clearance sale" instead of an auction sale and Mr. Klein very naturally objects especially since his copy was very plainly written. The printer is compelled to assume the blame and he does this in all meekness.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Postage Due—From Mr. Gordon Dalrymple, we have received the following letter: "A friend of mine in Seattle, Washington, has sent me, on part of covers, two copies of the regular issue U. S. postage used for postage due purposes. The specimens are stamped with a rubber stamp 'Due—Cents.' I am advised that the postman told him that the supply of regular postage due stamps having become exhausted at the Seattle office, this method of surcharging was resorted to. I did not write you before, as I thought that I would see some reference to the stamps in the paper but now conclude that the facts are not in possession of collectors in general. Would the stamps so used have any additional value?" We have a vague recollection of having heard of these stamps through a clipping that we intended to publish if we did not. There was a time when novelties of this kind would have created something of a sensation among philatelists who gave special attention to United States stamps but now, to such amplitude has the field grown, such emergency issues are given only passing notice. It is only fair to say that such varieties have an added value but it is one that is scarcely reducible to dollars and cents.

Auckland's Advertisements—In the Australian Stamp Journal for December, Mr. Smyth has a description of his experience in purchasing the Auckland exhibition stamps on December 1st, when the stamps were placed on sale concurrently with the opening of the exhibition. We gather that these stamps may be bought only at the Exhibition; and then only in lots no greater than five shillings' worth to one person. This is an amusing restriction and but poor ingenuity is required to evade it; and with characteristic candor Mr. Smyth tells how he bought his fill of these exclusive stamps. We wished particularly to call attention to Mr. Smyth's declaration of principles in regard to exhibition stamps: "These stamps were altogether unnecessary for postal purposes. They were issued merely to advertise the Exhibition and I think this method of doing so at the expense of collectors should be stopped." In this country, too, there are not a few who think that special issues are detrimental to the best interests of philately but it is curious that the opposition to these stamps seems to diminish with each succeeding commemorative issue by the United States.

His Autograph—A reader who noticed the remarks about H. St. George Offutt, an officer first in the national post office department and later in the postal service of the confederate states, has handed us for examination an envelope, the three-cent, 1857, red on buff, covered with the letter-press frank: "Confederate States of America. Post Office Department. Official Business." Just above the fifth and last line of the frank, "Chief of the Contract Bureau," is the inscription in ink, "H. St. Geo. Offutt." The envelope bears the Richmond postmark of April 8, 1863, and the impression, "Free". If we remember correctly, the finance and the contract bureaus were the only departments to have the franked envelopes, overprinted on stamped envelopes of the federal government.

New to Us—A very interesting example of postal performance on a bank note of the confederate states has been shown us by Mr. W. H. McDonald, Chicago. The bill is of the denomination of one hundred dollars and is a promise of the confederacy to pay that amount according to the usual formula, together "with interest at two cents per day." The note was signed at Richmond, August 16th, 1862; and it must have been sent to the paymaster at Charleston, S. C. When it was placed in circulation there, it had to be dated in some way, as, of course, interest would not be computed for the time it was in the possession of the paymaster. So, the Charleston postmark was applied to the note which bears a plain impression, "Charleston, S. C., Sep. 9, 1862," on the reverse side.

For Our Collection—Mr. Henry R. Cowan sends for the "edification of the snake and freak editor, two documents which though not of philatelic value, ought to be worth something as showing how Uncle Sam conducted his postal business in the olden time." Mr. Cowan's contribution is in the shape of two bills for postage submitted by a postmaster in the year 1838. The printed bill reads: "Dr., Brown & Clark to L. Buffin, P. M., to Letter Postage from Oct. 1 to Jan. 1, 1838, $4.47¾; to Newspaper Postage, .39; Box, 1838, .25; Total, $5.11¾. Received Payment, Samuel Buffin, Orono." Orono is a post office in Maine. This old bill is a companion piece of one that we have of the year 1797.

He Was Impressed—Recently "Buffalo Bill" was in Chicago where many attentions were shown him. He was entertained by a collector there, among others, and in the course of the evening, Mr. Cody, in reciting reminiscences, dwelt upon the pony express days. It happened that the collector had just acquired three envelopes, two of the ten cent and one six cent stamped envelopes of the 1853 issue, each bearing one or a pair of the Wells, Fargo pony express stamps. "Buffalo Bill" was intensely interested in the stamps when at an opportune moment they were handed to him; and said that he had not seen a copy since the time he was a pony express rider. "Who knows," he said, "but what I carried one of these very letters." "Buffalo Bill" was the most noted of the pony express riders, he having been employed by the western freighters, Messrs. Russell, Majors and Waddell, the firm that established the Central Overland California and Pike's Peak Express, known as the original "Pony Express," in 1860. "Buffalo Bill's" adventures as an express rider were thrilling and it may be added, innumerable. The name, "Buffalo Bill," by which Mr. Cody is universally known, was bestowed on Mr. Cody when he was filling a contract to furnish buffalo meat for the workmen engaged in building the Union Pacific Railroad.

Just For Fun—B. M. Randall, M. D., Graceville, Minnesota, writes: "Apropos of the freak cancellation, you say in a recent editorial that 'the government does not loan its dignity or approval to frivolity of that kind.' What would the government think of the enclosed return notice?" The impression in question is on an envelope that was "returned to writer," and is the rubber-stamped outline of a forsaken little girl, with a handkerchief held to her face, while below is the significant explanation, "Unclaimed." We suppose that what may be called these auxiliary markings do not come under the head of cancellations; and that the postmaster is allowed latitude in the selecting of them. From the fact that we have seen sets of these "figures" including this "unclaimed" Niobe, advertised in a paper circulated among the postmasters of the country, we infer that the P. M.'s may buy their own rubber stamps and spend their own money as befitting their sense of artless humor.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—As will be seen by the advertisement of the Ararat Stamp Co., this firm has moved to new quarters at 66 New St., N. Y. City. Mr. Mozian advises us that the new location is much more advantageous than the old. He has a commodious corner office only one flight up.

—We have received from the U. T. K. Stamp Co. a list of the quantities issued of the Macao Provisionals of October, 1913. We may use the same in an early issue of the WEEKLY.

—We have been favored this past week with a call from Percy McG. Mann, publisher of the Philadelphia Stamp News. Mr. Mann was visiting Boston to attend the annual meeting of the New England Philatelic Society. His stay in Boston was necessarily brief.

—We are indebted to J. J. Prendergast and H. H. Reiners for back numbers of the WEEKLY desired for files.

—The catalog of the Geo. W. Linn Co. sale to be held February 3 is deserving of more than ordinary mention, from the fact that there are more than fifty copies of the 5c and 10c 1847 listed. More than four hundred lots of the sale are given to U. S. stamps and the catalog is well worth perusing.

—By courtesy of J. J. Prendergast we have seen a picture postcard of a decidedly philatelic flavor. Upon the card is an enlarged illustration of the English 7d national health insurance label which has already been pictured in the philatelic press. The label appears in a handsome shade of carmine and bears underneath this inscription "This stamp will take a bit of licking."

—The International Stamp Co. has removed its offices from DeGraff, Ohio, to Covington, Ohio. J. L. Cramer of the latter city being an important factor in inducing the Company to make the change. Larger and better quarters have been secured, while the mail and express service will surpass that previously enjoyed by the firm. The Covington Tribune Gazette in welcoming the new firm to the town expresses its appreciation of the change, and gives the International Stamp Co. a hearty reception.

—We are indebted to A. R. Butler for a copy of the annual report of A. M. Dockery, Third Assistant Postmaster General.

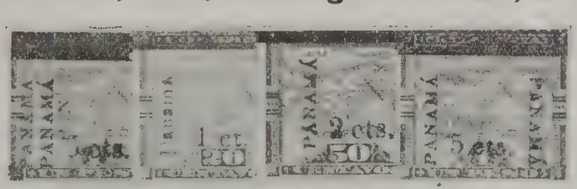
—Alvah G. Clark, Trenton, N. J., sends us a note of warning concerning Clive & Sons, Birmingham, England. While the amount involved is small, Mr. Clark justly feels that his order should have been filled and the return of the registered letter receipt signed J. Margoschis convinces Mr. Clark that his remittance was received. Moreover, Mr. Clark included return registration fee in the amount sent Clive & Sons.

—The date of P. M. Wolsieffer's select sale is announced in this issue. The attraction will consist of some of the properties of Mr. Cornwall, Mr. Howes and the late Capt. Paddock. The noteworthy lots are in profusion and a summary shows 28 lots of the 5 cent New York; 22 lots of 5c and 10c, 1847; several St. Louis; 27 Hawaiian numerals; 12 Sydney Views, etc.,—in all 601 lots of most interesting character. The sale will be held in New York at the new rooms of the Collectors' Club.

DEATH OF BEN G. GREEN.

After an illness of barely a week's duration, Ben G. Green died of typhoid-pneumonia at his home, 5220 Magnolia Avenue, Chicago. The death was in the nature of a shock to his friends, some of whom were at the meeting of the Chicago Philatelic Society of January 8th, 1914, which Mr. Green attended. Mr. Green was secretary of the Chicago Numismatic Society and a member of different philatelic societies. He was present at conventions of the American Philatelic Society and at Put-in-Bay last year, he was a delegate. While primarily a numismatist yet his philatelic bent was well developed and his business devoted to both coins and stamps was a flourishing one. The patronage that Mr. Green enjoyed at his office in the Masonic Temple, Chicago, came from all over the world. Mr. Green's auction sales of coins were a feature of his business, his death having interrupted one in preparation. Mr. Green was kindly and affable and had a host of friends among collectors who feeling their own loss can sympathize deeply with Mrs. Green and Miss Green in their bereavement. At the funeral of Mr. Green on January 20th, there was a number of collectors; the interment was at Rose Hill.

SONORA AND JAMAULIPAS.



Carranza.—This is the name of the rebel general. There is no state so named. Carranza now has control of all the northern states from the Gulf of Mexico to the Gulf of California. He has ordered the Sonora stamps to be withdrawn, and the Jamaulipas issue is now used on all mail. Federal stamps when on rebel territory are regarded "postage due." Mexico City merchants when writing to northern states use both Federal and rebel stamps to ensure delivery.

Jamaulipas.—This set (lithographed, eagle with out-stretched wings) is sold in the custom houses or revenue offices, but are regarded as postage stamps. The "talon" or coupon at bottom of each stamp is retained by the office as a check on number sold and each office must always have on hand against call of inspector the amount of stamps or talons charged against it. However, some postmasters, not understanding rules, have sold stamps with talons.—Postage Stamp.

A NOVEL FEATURE.

The response to our "novel feature" was not such as for us to vote it a success. The contestants were so few in number that we shall not name them but take this opportunity of giving first honors to C. P. Frey of Utica, N. Y. We have been pleased to forward him a suitable award.

WITH THE BOY PHILATELIST.

Edited by BERTRAM W. H. POOLE, Box 231, Altadena, Calif.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

REMOVING PAPER FROM STAMPS.

From H. H., of Terre Haute, I recently received the following letter:—

"Please give me directions for soaking stamps from paper. Is hot or cold water different in action, and which is best to use? Does soaking in any way mar or dim the stamps, and is two or more soakings detrimental to the clearness of the engravings? I soaked some red 2c U. S. stamps and they colored the water, and they afterwards showed as if the stamps had been printed on dull red paper. Is this of frequent occurence with stamps or was three hours too long to soak them?"

Three hours certainly was a trifle too long and had some stamps been mistreated in this manner I fear there would have been nothing of the design left at all. To use an Irishism the best way to soak stamps is not to soak them at all. The problem of removing the superfluous paper from the backs of postage stamps is one every collector runs up against sooner or later and it is impossible to give any absolutely general rule for removing this paper, as not only do the colors used in postage stamp production vary to a considerable extent in their composition, but the processes by means of which the stamps are printed also have to be considered. As a rule line-engraved stamps will stand immersion in water without harm but this immersion should only be long enough to completely moisten the paper, five minutes being a much more suitable period than the three hours quoted by our correspondent. Some stamps, like the old line-engraved British and similar ones from the Perkins Bacon establishment, can be soaked in hot water with safety. Other stamps, like those of Russia and British Colonials printed on chalk-surfaced paper are irretrievably spoiled if they are allowed to get wet. Naturally one has to be a fairly experienced collector to know exactly what treatment may be accorded every stamp and for the average individual some method is required that may be employed with safety for practically any stamps. To start with one requires an unlimited stock of patience and the greatest care must be exercised in handling the stamps from which it is desired to remove the paper. This latter will be gained by experience and at first it will be as well to practise with a few common stamps before attempting to remove the paper from stamps that have any particular value. The apparatus required is simple and costs but a few cents, viz:—

1. Two pieces of fairly thick glass measuring about six inches square.
2. A few sheets of good white blotting paper.
3. A thin, blunt-edged knife.

To remove the paper from the stamps cut three or four sheets of the blotting paper to the exact size of the pieces of glass. Saturate the pad thus formed with clean water, taking care that though it is well soaked it is not absolutely sopping or dripping with moisture. Place the wet pad on one of the pieces of glass and then lay on the stamps face upwards; that is, so that the backs of the stamps come in contact with the wet blotting paper. The other piece of glass should then be placed on top and gentle pressure applied. This can best be obtained by piling a few heavy books on top. After about ten minutes the gum which holds the unwanted backing of paper in place should be sufficiently moistened to allow the paper to be easily removed. Take one stamp for trial. Gently insert the point of the knife blade under the edge of the stamp and if the gum is sufficiently dissolved the paper will peel off quite easily. Do not, however, attempt to pull the paper off by force or the result will be a badly torn stamp. If it does not show signs of coming off easily place it on the pad a little longer. By following this method the face of the stamp is never wetted nor does the paper of the stamp become thoroughly soaked. Care should be taken after removing the top piece of glass to thoroughly dry it before replacing, as one cannot always be sure it will occupy exactly the same position as before. After having successfully removed the paper the stamps should be placed face downwards on a clean, dry piece of blotting paper and allowed to dry very slowly. If this process is hastened the stamps will probably curl badly or even crack. When the stamps are quite dry they are ready for mounting in one's stamp album.

In removing stamps from covers without destroying the covers it is only necessary to moisten the paper at the back of the stamps with a small camel's hair brush until the gum is moist enough to allow the stamps to peel off quite easily.

SHORT REPLIES.

J. A. R. (Mount Oliver).—The check stamps you describe are very common and have practically no value. (2) The stamp of which you send sketch is a common revenue stamp of Austria.

H. G. B. (Erdenheim, Pa.).—I fear there is no way of detecting the watermark on the 1898 stamps of China. The paper is a little thinner than the unwatermarked variety. (2) Gibbons' or any other foreign catalogue gives illustrations of United States stamps.

J. V. W. (Farina, Ill.).—I cannot understand why you cannot identify the United States stamp you mention. It is the common 3c of the 1851-57 issues, being No. 33 in Scott's catalogue if imperf. and No. 44 if perforated.

J. H. M. (Bolton, Conn).—The French stamps and also those of Monaco you describe are revenue ones. The New Zealand stamp watermarked "W" instead of star is of little philatelic interest. It is simply from a sheet so out of position that the marginal watermark falls on the top or bottom row of stamps. The letter is part of this watermark i. e. "NEW ZEALAND."

M. M.—A new printed album the Scott Stamp and Coin Co. have just issued or are about to issue should meet your case. This eliminates all the rare varieties such as the average collector is never likely to obtain. I fear no blank album would meet your wishes if you do not feel capable of mapping out the pages to allow room for the varieties you are likely to get.

T. H. A. (Bradley Beach, N. Y.).—According to Scott's catalogue the difference between the original and re-cut die of the 2c envelope stamp of 1904 is as follows:—"The original die has one short and two long vertical lines at the right of CENTS. On the re-cut die these lines are different and usually all short. The lettering is heavier on the re-cut die and the ends of the ribbons have been slightly changed. (2) There is, I believe, a 1c as well as a 2c Postal Savings envelope.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

UNITED STATES.—Frank B. Eldredge submits the following list of new precancels:

Mansfield, Mass.—Two lines (Mansfield—Mass.) horizontal inscription between lines 15 mm. apart, lines ½ mm. thick, capital letters 4 mm. high. 5c, 6c 1910.

Bristol, R. I.—One line (BRISTOL—R. I.) horizontal inscription in capitals with serifs, between two very fine lines 7½ mm. apart, presumably a roller stamp. 4c 1910.

Westerly, R. I.—Two lines (WESTERLY—R. I.) horizontal inscription in capitals with serifs, 3 mm. high, between double lines 14 mm. apart, outside lines 1 mm. in thickness, and other line a hair line. 2c 1912.

St. Louis, Mo.—(No. 1158). 15c, 25c, 1912-13 Parcel Post.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Two lines (BROOKLYN, N. Y.) horizontal inscription in sans-serif capitals 2½ mm. high, between lines (double) 13½ mm. apart and ½ mm. thick, with fine hair lines before and after Brooklyn and N. Y. 1c, 10c, 15c 1912.

Portland, Me.—One line (Portland—Me.) repeated twice between two bars 15 mm. apart and 2 mm. thick, evidently a roller stamp. 1c 1912.

Boston, Mass.—(No. 1164). 3c 1910.

Harrisburg, Pa.—(No. 1202). 6c 1910, inverted.

Scranton, Pa.—Two lines (SCRANTON, PA.) horizontal inscription in sans-serif capitals 2 mm. high, between lines 12 mm. apart and ½ mm. in thickness. 1c 1912.

D. H. Graham sends us a used copy of the Dayton envelope, variety 1, on amber, watermarked "USSE 1911," on the new knife. These are the first seen on this knife.

Mr. Graham also reports having seen during the Christmas rush many new precancels. The San Francisco precancels are getting quite common on Panama Pacific, as well as parcel post and general issue.

Fred L. Pauly sends a leaf from 1c stamp book, which has a clean cut perforation 10. Mr. Pauly does not say what value book the leaf came from. As this is the first we have seen, we are unable to say whether it is a freak or an experiment; and does it indicate a change in the regular issue also.

CANAL ZONE.—Gerald D. Bliss sends us a novelty, issued in the Zone, Jan. 7. The new 10c for Panama being overprinted "Canal—Zone" in small type, in two lines both reading up, the type and arrangement being like the 10c or 13c of 1911, but without the value. The stamp is the type of the ½c of 1911, with imprint of American Bank Note Co. at the bottom. The value is expressed in "centesimos de Balboa." The color is the same as the 13c formerly surcharged for this value, which has thus far not been reported from Panama.

Adhesive.

THE RARE "PROVISIONAL"

Readers of ST. NICHOLAS are buying collectors—not mere "write for the fun of it" youngsters

Ralph Barbour, most popular of authors for the young, writes a most absorbing story in the January ST. NICHOLAS and the foundation of the tale is the finding of a rare stamp—a "Provisional"—a feature sure to interest all stamp experts, and arouse added interest in the subject among our youngsters.

Please take notice:

All Copy for the March ST. NICHOLAS is Due February Second!

ST. NICHOLAS STAMP DIRECTORY

Of course we will send you a copy of the ST. NICHOLAS if you really are not familiar with its Stamp Department—but probably you are well acquainted with its features.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Year Book No. 1 of the National Philatelic Society is submitted for review. It is compiled by the secretary, W. E. Goodwin of Dover, N. H., and is free to members of the society. Price to others 25c. It contains the regulation society matters, together with constitution and by-laws of the society. The roll of membership shows over 150 members and the affairs of the society seem to be in a very prosperous condition.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., PRECANCELS.

As is generally known, many post offices used precancelled stamps of their own manufacture during the Christmas season and Franklin S. Smith calls our attention to the precancelling done on the Montclair, N. J. stamps. A N. Y. City firm furnished a rubber roller with "Montclair, N. J." repeated in two horizontal lines. On the second line the name appeared just under the spacing in the line above and we are advised that all kinds of varieties of impressions were obtainable. This same method of precancelling was in vogue in other offices judging from specimens of precancel stamps that have been shown us.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

UNITED STATES RAILROAD CANCELLATIONS PRIOR TO 1861.

By CARROLL CHASE, M. D.

A few years ago I submitted in this paper a list of about a dozen or fifteen railroad cancellations on the 3c 1851. Since that time many more have been noted both in the 1851 issue and other early issues, so that I now have a record of about fifty different cancellations of this class. The number of early railroad cancellations is much larger than I at first supposed. This new list is here given, and is put in the form of a table for convenient reference.

Pen cancellations are not listed, for it is often impossible to tell whether the railroad name was written by a mail clerk on a train, or by the sender to indicate the route. An oval hand stamp reading "Memphis & Charleston Rail Road Office, Memphis" has been seen on a cover bearing a 3c 1857 cancelled "Memphis Ten. Nov 29 1860." I think this merely means that the letter came from the company's office and is not a railroad cancellation. For this reason it is not listed. "WAY," "STEAM" and similar cancellations, while sometimes used on railroads, will be considered in a separate article.

In the list the name of the railroad or railroad route is given in the first column exactly as it appears in the postmark. The next four columns are for the following periods in order: (1), Prior to Aug. 1, 1847; (2), Aug. 1, 1847, to July 1, '51—while the 1847 issue was current; (3), July 1, 1851, to Feb. 24, 1857—while the 1851 issue was current; (4), Feb. 27, 1857, to Sept. 1, 1861—while the 1857 issue was current. The various colors of ink found are noted in these columns. The last column is used for explanatory notes when necessary.

If not otherwise stated in the last column, it is to be understood that the cancellation is in the ordinary circular form with the date (month and day only) in the center. After the main list is given a brief list of these cancellations that have not yet been fully identified.

The writer will be pleased to see, for the purpose of listing, any railroad cancellation not here given, or to have submitted on approval any such, or any listed that are not marked by a star, this star indicating that the cancellation is already in my collection. None later than Sept. 1861, are wanted. Address 1050 Park Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

REGULAR APPROVALS.

My line of regular approvals contains good copies for the beginner and the medium collector. Please specify your price limit and whether postage, revenues or departments are wanted and time and money will be saved both of us.

"APPROVAL WANT LISTS."

For the man who wants a certain few stamps in some particular condition, I suggest my system.

(1) Send your want-list of United States and Colonies.

(2) Send a bank or philatelic reference, if unknown to us.

(3) I will send your wants on approval with privilege of returning anything.

HINGES.

The "Perfect" peelable hinge is all the name implies.

RETROSPECT AND PROSPECTIVE.

By the MANAGING EDITOR.

It is an opportune time for us to say a word that will tend to strengthen the already strong bond of fellowship existing between the WEEKLY and its subscribers. For more than a score of years we have been engaged in the building of a great paper and the measure of our success can be gauged by a glance at the contents of this particular number.

It is a no easy task to build up a subscription list where such a list is confined to any particular science, hobby or trade, but where such a venture succeeds it has a loyal clientele that makes the publication of great value in its particular field.

Last winter we reached the 7,000 mark in actual paid subscriptions but during the summer and fall months we have been able only to make good our losses in discontinuances. From now on we expect a steady advance in subscriptions and we shall make the 8,000 mark our next objective. An issue of the WEEKLY such as this is of great advantage in securing new readers and enlisting workers for our premium offers.

A great deal of assistance could be given us if our subscribers would only show the WEEKLY to every stamp collecting friend. Urge very strongly the foolishness of trying to collect without having a stamp paper as a guide. Our numerous stamp premiums of themselves should be of great help in securing new subscribers and any term will be accepted:—ten weeks, six months or a year.

We have a right to feel proud of our record. Papers come and papers go but we keep right on, in the even tenor of our way. If there is one person in the world who knows how to build a paper it's "the editor" and if he does not understand the job one of two things will happen, the paper suspends or the editor seeks a new field of endeavor. Philatelic editors and writers on both sides of the water have frequently declared that the WEEKLY is fit only for the waste basket but somehow the fates have been kind to us thus far and severe with our critics.

In this number are articles of great merit. Mr. Howes has a word for the new collector. Mr. Wiley begins a splendid article, while Mr. Poole's "Lubeck" and Mr. Goodwin's "United States" make a nice table of contents. We cater to the general collector and will allow the specialist who seeks information about the dotty varieties of Afghanistan and the Deccan to find it elsewhere. We might add that we have a series of articles by Mr. Wiley on U. S. stamps that will prove of great interest.

We have published thus far three books: "Cook Islands", "The Stamp Collectors' Guide" and "How to Deal in Stamps," and all three are being widely read. Our next book will be the "Specialized Study of U. S. Stamps" by Mr. F. E. Goodwin and this will be off the press in a few weeks. The price will probably be 50c. We have some other books in the making.

You can render us a distinct service by giving us a good word where it may prove helpful in bringing us a subscription. Thousands of collectors do not use any stamp paper and at 50c per year no collector can afford to be without the WEEKLY. Our range of premiums is a good one and these offers all come well within the postal regulations. When we get a new subscriber we want the premium to be a side issue and not the main thing.

As for the dealer and a proper publicity we offer in the WEEKLY the greatest medium the stamp world knows. We do not sell space at the dealer's own price but we quote rates any dealer can fit to his needs. There is no doubt but that our ability to command advertising adds tremendously to the power of the WEEKLY.

And the best is yet to come!

WAY BACK

in the early days of the post, stamps were not used the first issue being in 1847. We have a large stock of folded letters bearing postmarks and all kinds of queer marks, "paid 18¾c," "Steam," "Railroad" and a quantity of different postmarks of one kind and another. We have sold many hundreds of these to collectors but still have a supply.

Fifteen Old U. S. Letter Sheets $1.00

One collector bought two hundred of them and said he thought they were even more interesting than stamps. Perhaps you would like a few too, to add interest to your U. S. collection. They came from a large mercantile correspondence during the early years of 1800.

WHAT THE NEW COLLECTOR SHOULD LEARN.

By C. A. Howes.

Foreword.—In the early days of stamp collecting the collector was happy. He knew but little about stamps and the few dealers knew but little more. He took whatever came his way, for there were no catalogues such as we know now and few price-lists, so that his main supply was from friends and correspondents; and twice happy was he who had some one in a foreign country to send him a good selection for his album. Now all is changed. Such stamps as our friends supply us with are generally what every one can get with perfect ease and the really desirable ones must be obtained from the dealer or in the auction-room unless, as before, the collector is twice happy in having a friend or correspondent abroad who will look out for him.

Advice Needed.—Nowadays the recruit, be he young or old, has so much put before him that he is generally at a loss where to begin and what to do. He picks up a catalogue and finds in it not only a list of stamps in themselves, but varieties of perforation, paper, shade, watermark, imperfections or slight differences in the design and different types of surcharge. Then there are many kinds of albums from the printed one with a "space for every stamp issued" to the blank one in many volumes with removable leaves and each page supplied with a "mat." The dealers' price-lists come in with packets, sets and single stamps, and the attractions of approval sheets, and a host of periodicals, whose existence he hardly suspected, suddenly turns up. If he be quite young he will generally ignore all but the smaller albums and trust to his friends for donations of stamps to fill his blank spaces and to "swapping" with the other young collectors for obtaining varieties he lacks. But if he be older, and it is for these mainly that we are writing, he will, especially if at all serious about taking up the pursuit, be thankful for advice and help from those who have already been through the mill and can therefore give him pointers.

General Collector.—It seems to be the opinion of most experienced collectors that the best start can be made as a general collector; that more can be obtained in knowledge, both philatelical and otherwise, that better experience will be obtained toward future plans for collecting and that the collector can "place" himself better when he finds he has reached certain limitations in his collection and desires to retrench in certain lines and branch out more in others.

Printed Album.—The first essential thing is a printed album containing spaces for all the main varieties that the governments of the world have issued. This will serve as the principal guide to the collection and give a better idea of the extent and progress of it than a catalogue and a blank album. The smaller printed albums will do for the boys, but nothing less than a thoroughly up-to-date one should be obtained if one is really serious in his intentions to make a good collection. A standard catalogue should also go with the album to serve as a basis of purchase and exchange and also because it contains much more information than the album generally gives. I have found it convenient to check off the stamps in the collection by placing a pencil dot beside the price, used or unused, as the case may be, thus making a handy catalogue of the collection to take with me for reference purposes.

The Large Variety Packet.—Equipped with these two books, the novice has his tools and lacks only his material. To obtain this the best way is to begin with one of the large variety packets, for with many of these an excellent selection of the commoner stamps can be obtained for the most reasonable expenditure. It may be that several such packets could be selected, knowing the range of each, which would yield but few duplicates and fill in the album to the best advantage. But when the limit of usefulness in packets is reached, the next step which will repay one best is the purchase of sets of stamps which are advertised by most dealers. An inspection of the album will quickly determine what sets are most desirable, and when these have been exploited the approval sheet or book is next in order. With packets and sets one has to take what comes; with approval selections one has the pick and can fill in blank spaces or replace poor specimens with better or used with unused as desired.

PHILADELPHIA STAMP COMPANY,

STAMP AUCTIONS A SPECIALTY.

1204 CHESTNUT STREET PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Condition.—But one thing right here: In any case use care in the selection of your specimens. Better a blank space than a torn or heavily canceled stamp or one with the perforations partly clipped off or otherwise damaged. In some cases of great rarities this rule will not hold good because one is glad to get some of them in any condition, but this class is small, and with the great majority of stamps, and particularly the low-priced ones, there is absolutely no necessity for any but fine specimens, and if the collector takes pride in his stamps, which means he will be careful in collecting, he will find it pays in the end. Care should also be used in removing paper from the backs of specimens before mounting them, pulling off hinges, etc., often damaging the stamp. Most stamps can be soaked, preferably in hot water, and dried on blotting paper, but a few like Russians, early Bulgarians, current United States due stamps, 1885 issue of China, recent British and British Colonial stamps having green in their coloring, and stamps printed on "chalk-surfaced" paper are affected by water and should not be immersed in it. A piece of wet blotting paper against the back until the paper is damp enough to remove is the best way to treat them. Of course, mounting is only to be done with hinges, and care should be used not to soil stamp or page when it is done.

Used vs. Unused.—As between used and unused stamps the collector himself is the best judge. The used are generally the cheaper, and one's pocketbook must be taken into account with most collectors. The unused are handsomer, of course, and perhaps pay better in the end as an investment, but with the true collector a stamp is no less desirable because it has a postmark on it if it is in good condition. I have found it very satisfactory to get the lower values in sets unused where they did not cost too much, particularly if used copies were very cheap and common, and fill out the higher values with fine used specimens. When one can it is nice to have sets all unused, but it is not necessary unless one elects to collect only unused or intends to hold stamps merely for the return they will bring at some future time, and that is not true collecting.

Want Lists.—After the approval selections come the want lists, and when the collector has reached this stage his collection has obtained good proportions, and most of his blank spaces represent stamps well worth looking for. While traveling the road thus far, however, it is well to see that sets are filled up as much as possible, or at least that there are no gaps up to the values where a limit may have been set as beyond the collector's means. The present set of United States can readily be obtained through the dollar value at moderate prices, but if the collector does not care to pay quite as much as the $2 and $5 will cost him let him see that all values are represented up to the $2. A full set looks better and is more of a pride and credit to its owner than a broken one, and oftentimes the stamp one lacks is the very one others lack, and it is a good rule then not to let up until it is found, for such generally prove to be good property. Carry these same ideas into a country. If it is an easy one to make a good showing in be sure and complete it as far as possible, but do not, while you are "learning the ropes" and making your general collection, go too far into the minor varieties listed by letters under the major varieties which are numbered in the catalogue. It is not necessary, it will cost much more, and may result in discouraging you entirely.

What to Avoid.—Avoid reprints, specimens, essays and the like while you are a general collector, though these are well enough for specializing and then often add much interest to the collection. But in regularly issued stamps I would advise the beginner to take whatever comes along until his experience and inclinations can serve him as a guide in branching out on lines he finds most to his taste. The album provides spaces for and the catalogue lists all the adhesive postage, envelope and wrapper stamps. The latter two should be cut square to fit the spaces provided unless one prefers to keep them entire. Postal cards should never have the stamp cut out, for it does not comprise the whole design. Keep the whole cards if they interest you. As for locals, it would be best to fight shy of them, for there are so many reprints and counterfeits that the novice is very apt to be taken in. Most American albums have spaces for our revenue stamps and they certainly are very attractive and many very cheap. Foreign revenues and telegraph stamps are also interesting and many are as handsome as some of our own. Spaces are not provided for these in our albums, but if they strike the collector's fancy there is no reason why he should not put them in a blank book as a side collection, and then if his interest warrants it, some day he can turn his attention to them in earnest.

Specialism.—It is by picking up everything in this way at first that the collector finally learns what branch of our hobby appeals to him most, and finally when his collection has reached a point where it is too much of a drain upon his time and purse to keep on in the old general lines, he branches out, selecting one or more countries as his favorites and becomes a "specialist." Then he can revel in shades, types, watermarks, perforation, paper, gum, etc., as he never could before, and the experience and knowledge gained in his general collecting will stand him in good stead. But it seems to me a mistake to sell all the rest of one's collection, as many do when they begin to specialize, for often the specialty is determined by the popularity of some country and when this wanes and another takes its place the special collection may be laid aside or sold and the new candidate necessitates starting all over. Better it is, if one can afford it, to keep the general collection as a basis for one's fancies in specializing and then there is always something to fall back on when fashions change.

A Final Word.—Finally, "study your stamps," learn all you can about them, read carefully the "Hints for Collectors" at the beginning of the Standard Catalogue until you feel you have all the information therein by heart and can apply it to the specimens you come across. Learn to distinguish quickly the different types and methods of printing. Study your postmarks and obliterations, for these are often of great help in determining the status of certain stamps, and false cancellations can then be often detected. All this you will find comes easily as you progress with your collection. Then to keep up with the times, subscribe to a good stamp paper, one that has an excellent chronicle of new issues—you can do no better than MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS—and you will derive knowledge, pleasure and profit from one of the most interesting and adaptable pastimes that has sprung up for many centuries.

LIBERIA 1913, 8 on 3c (Of the 1897 issue) IMPERFORATE

I have one sheet of this stamp imperforate, without doubt the only one in existence. There is nothing speculative about this issue, as the 3c Inland was issued 14 years ago, and never before has it turned up in imperforate condition. Further, this sheet was bought together with four others direct from the post office at face value. The top row of stamps is part perforated, but towards the end the perfs. are weak. No doubt due to a break-down in the machine. The sheet was then passed, without finishing the perforating.

THE SHEET AS A WHOLE CONTAINING 40 IMPERFORATE, AND 10 PART PERF. STAMPS, I WILL SELL FOR $100.00

CHAPTER LVI.

Issue of 1908.

During the year 1908 plans were perfected for a change in the designs of the postage stamps. Late in November the first lot of the new issue was delivered to the postoffices; and at intermittent periods during the last two months of 1908, and in January, 1909, the stamps appeared. Twelve denominations were issued, as follows: 1 cent, 2 cents, 3 cents, 4 cents, 5 cents, 6 cents, 8 cents, 10 cents, 13 cents, 15 cents, 50 cents and $1. The stamps were printed on paper with double line watermark.

The total number of stamps of this issue, up to and including Dec. 26, is 31,136,152,520. The following is given:

1 Cent—portrait of Franklin—issued December 12, 1908. Shades, from light green to deep blue green, seven. Number of stamps issued, 11,781,510,200.

Varieties—on blue experimental rag stock. Number issued 1,480,000.

Imperforate.

Book leaves—issued December 4, 1908. Number of stamps issued in this form, 541,008,000.

Coils—perforated vertical and horizontal, issued April 4, 1910. Number of stamps in coils issued, 94,309,000.

2 Cents—portrait of Washington. Issued November 28, 1908. Shades—light carmine to deep lake, 11. The later shade was discovered in St. Louis, and is a fairly scarce shade. Total number of stamps issued, 15,588,019,200.

Varieties—on blue experimental rag stock. Number issued, 1,494,000.

Book leaves—issued November 18, 1908. Number of stamps issued in this form, 958,315,320.

Coil—perforated vertically and horizontally, issued April 10, 1910. Number of stamps in coils issued, 254,465,000.

3 Cents—portrait of Washington. Issued December 28, 1908. Shades—reddish lavender to deep purple, 5. Total number of stamps issued, 322,852,200.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The second meeting of the Boston Philatelic Exchange Club, Branch No. 2, of the National Philatelic Society, was held at 24 Hayward Pl., Boston, Jan. 22. It was voted to hold the charter list open until March 1. Fifty lots of stamps were sold at auction at good prices. Another auction is slated for the next meeting.

—For back numbers of the WEEKLY sent us we are indebted to J. D. Evans and Shirley C. Read.

—The Rochester (N. Y.) Numismatic Association recently held a banquet at the Hotel Rochester at which the Rochester Philatelic Society was their guest. During the evening a resolution was passed on the death of Ben G. Green of Chicago, who was a member of the numismatic society.

—The Passaic (N. J.) Stamp Club, organized November, 1913, meets every second and fourth Tuesday of each month at 8 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. Building in Passaic. J. S. Van Ness, President, A. E. Landratter, 58 Irving Pl., Secretary.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Donald Rolph (3), Hugo Kuenstler (5), Hillard Dusang and J. Fischer (5).

—We are indebted to the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. for a priced catalog of the firm's auction sale held Jan. 14-15. If any of our subscribers wish to know the price any lot secured we shall gladly furnish the information upon receipt of an addressed stamped envelope. Our space just now is being taxed so severely that we are unable to give auction quotations.

—The United Stamp Company has bought from Mr. Edward M. Rosenthal his collection of stamps on original cover, consisting of issues of the 19th century. Mr. Rosenthal's collection which is now to be sold at auction was an interesting one and included a good sprinkling of rarities, particularly in U. S. and Confederates. We predict that it will not be long before Mr. Rosenthal will be avidly specializing in this or that country.

THE LATEST FROM MEXICO.

Our esteemed correspondent, H. R. Howard, favors us with further particulars concerning new stamp issues just appearing in Magdalena. They consist of a 1c blue, 2c olive, 4c violet blue, 5c green, 10c carmine, 20c brown, 50c and 1p. They show an eagle holding in his beak a reptile, while at the top in a curved frame is the word "Mexico" and on the two sides "Correos-Transitorio". The value is at the bottom. This set replaces the "ejercito constitucionalista" set, which has been called in and its use for postage prohibited. This latter set was issued primarily for use as revenues, as evidenced by the absence of the word "correos" and by the attached "talon" or coupon, which is a characteristic accompaniment of the internal revenue stamps of Mexico.

On account of the elaborate system of stamp tax on all kinds of documents, checks, bills of sales, etc., anybody doing business in Sonora uses a great many more revenue stamps than postage. Many probably found it convenient to buy their stamps at the revenue office and when postage stamps were required they were made by simply detaching the coupon. Thus the Post Office Department was getting the worst of the situation and this accounts for the change in design.

ADVERTISING COPY SATURDAY.

It seems a bit difficult for some of our advertisers to realize just what we mean by this statement. It means just what it says. If advertising does not reach Boston until Monday you will understand the reason for its non-appearance the following Saturday. Our aim is to have the WEEKLY in the Boston postoffice every Friday morning and we can only do this by making our Monday letter to the printer a very light weight one. If advertisers will coöperate with us we can promise a return in increased business that will be gratifying.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

His Argument—A protest has been received from a collector for whose opinion we have much respect. He says that he has been buying used United States stamps from the 1847 through the 1879 issue and to carry out his intention, he requires a considerable number of each stamp. He finds, of course, the greatest variation in condition of the stamps that are available for purchase and he says incidentally that as a rule the prices asked for really fine copies exceed catalogue quotations, in the case of several issues, if the stamps are obtained from several dealers who seem to have an appreciation of the difficulty in obtaining perfect stamps of the kind. He does not object to paying catalogue or more for superb used specimens but he points out the lack of uniformity in the prices asked by dealers. For instance, he has bought the thirty-cent, 1861, in perfect used condition from one dealer for fifty cents and from another for $1.25, no question of special cancellation being involved. Our monitor does not complain about the price but rather about their wide variation. He maintains that under present conditions which he has thoroughly tested the transactions are unfair to the dealers who sell the particular stamps at the low prices as well as to the collectors who pay the high prices. As an example, he says that he was charged two dollars for one stamp and that the price of another in exactly the same condition was seventy-five cents. He says that he found himself feeling sorry for the dealer who asked him only seventy-five cents! Our correspondent's solution of the problem is brought to the door of the cataloguers whom he wants to list certain issues of the United States under two headings, "fair" and "fine," with prices accordingly.

Not New—The foregoing presentation of the case is interesting but it is not a new phase of the condition question that is developed. The plea for the dealer is somewhat ingenuous but we cannot become lachrymose in commiserating the dealer aforesaid for selling for fifty cents a stamp for which another dealer realized the swollen price of $1.25. If the stamp is worth the higher price and a collector buys it at half or less of the amount, the collector becomes the satisfied patron; at least he loses nothing,—and we have a suspicion that the dealer does not. While we should like to see "fair" and "fine" columns of prices for at least a few of the United States issues in the American catalogue, yet the cataloguers now say that their prices in the U. S. section are for fine copies and that average copies should be quoted at lower prices. Inferentially, stamps that cannot meet the standard of "fine" naturally suffer in value.

Knowledge Is Power—Condition appreciation comes with stamp experience, not to say stamp knowledge. As it is, the informed philatelist knows what condition expectations apply to the stamps of different countries. Dealers have no monopoly of philatelic knowledge and discriminating collectors are made aware of that fact by the privilege that they enjoy occasionally of picking up extraordinary specimens at the usual price. The man who secures, for instance, the first perforated Dutch Indies, used in impeccable shape at a price that shows that the dealer does not take the unusual condition of the stamp into consideration feels that his knowledge is power. Squarely centered Hungary lithographs at the customary prices for the common run of these stamps causes a glow of satisfaction for the critical buyer. We know what a fresh-colored, twenty-four cent of the 1861 issue, U. S., exactly centered and with a neat postmark, means; it is the one stamp in a score of the stamps as they come; and catalogue price fails to fix the actual value of the exceptional specimen. If the dealer nods, the wide-awake collector profits. As conditions now prevail, it is an even exchange for the collector, anyway, but if he has a shade the better of it, we rejoice, particularly in the light of testimony from dealers that nowadays, almost all collectors are alive to the desirability of good condition.

Getting Rid of Them—A reader says: "I have read in a little stamp paper just at hand: 'A real philatelist does not order stamps from dealers if he does not expect to pay for them.' I guess that a lot of those who got my approval sheets are just philatelists then. Anyway, you might squeeze a wheeze out of the thing." While the stern morality of the stamp adviser who is quoted may be deemed all too unrelaxing, yet who will say that his words have no justification. The statement of the writer is the summit of obviousness, if it is the height of anything.

The Added Values—A Washington correspondent says: "I am unable to give the definite news about the new values for the current set of adhesives as I expected to do when I made my promise to keep you informed. The department does not feel that there is any necessity to issue the supplementary values within any short period of time; and so, everything seems to be proceeding well and carefully. I shall try to give particulars as to colors, etc., in an early note."

We Infer So—An esteemed mentor says: "I lamp in Gibbon's Circular that the dynamic Power refers to the red Bonhilla of Honduras, 1912: 'Note:—Stamps are very poorly perforated being a local production made down there.' From that would you not think that he means that these stamps were manufactured in Honduras?"

Brand Them—An old member of the American Philatelic Society, Mr. C. F. Richards of New York, is one who reads every word of the proceedings of the annual convention of the society; and so, it is needless to say that he is interested in the welfare of the society and through it, of all philately. At the Put-in-Bay convention, Mr. Richards, through his proxy representative, presented the proposal that all counterfeit stamps be stamped indelibly on their backs so that the real character of the specimens would be known ever afterwards. No action was taken at the convention but Mr. Richards says: "Sooner or later, our society will get busy, and do as they are doing in Europe. It was not asking so very much for a committee to study the subject was it? I, myself, have bought up and marked 'Counterfeit' on backs, nearly one thousand of the stamps of Hawaii. If one poor member can do this, what could our society do?" We are aware of one or more alleged objections to the plan but it is our belief that the obstacles are of minor importance when contrasted with the lasting benefits of the course proposed by Mr. Richards.

Our Special—This number of the WEEKLY will be seen by several hundred persons who have manifested some interest in stamp collecting but to whom a stamp paper is a novelty. To these readers we extend a cordial invitation to inquire more closely into the hobby or study of philately, feeling sure that they will then be somewhat impressed by the many avenues for enjoyment that stamp collecting affords. We stand ready to assist inquirers through our columns and when possible by personal letter.

BARNUM WAS WRONG — ABE LINCOLN WAS RIGHT

The people don't want to be humbugged—you can't fool them all of the time. Brass Band Advertising won't pay in the end. You can't hand a man a lump of coal and tell him it's pink. When the collector doesn't get a dollar's worth for a dollar in buying postage stamp packets he isn't apt to forget it and "bad news travels fast."

ADAM GOT THE APPLE

Without money and without price and you all know what happened. There's a red light on the track for you—if you expect to get something for nothing in dependable postage stamp packets of all good stamps and immense real value. It can't be did! Don't flirt with danger. Your worst enemy is yourself if you really expect to buy "Packets that Satisfy" from others for less than twice our prices.

Those collectors who delve a little deeper into the WHYFOR, reason that we can sell them the best packets that money can buy and at the same time at half the prices of the regular retailer. We have the largest stock of the commoner stamps in the world—get all from source of supply—many come through the thirty odd Missions that we are exclusive salesagents for. We have no rent—no salaries—only expense is for advertising, printing and postage.

ALL WE ASK is that you give us a trial—order under our GUARANTEE of entire satisfaction or money back. We don't want your money unless we can please you absolutely. One sale means another satisfied customer and that means repeat orders. Over 75% of our business comes from recommendations from our customers to others. THE PARCEL POST SERIES OF THE UNITED STATES POSTAGE STAMPS.

By H. L. Wiley.

(Copyright 1914 by H. L. Wiley.)

The Bureau of Engraving & Printing commenced work on the plates for this series on October 11, 1912, and finished the first plates, those for the 10 cent stamp, on November 12, 1912. Plates number 6161, 6162, 6163 and 6164 were the first ones completed. These plates were put to press as soon as they were finished which was on November 12, 1912, and the first Parcel Post stamps ever ordered for the United States Postal Service had become a reality. Fifteen days later, on November 27, 1912, the first deliveries were made to postmasters. Various consignments were on that day forwarded to 3899 different fourth class postoffices throughout the United States.

Eight values of the twelve were obtainable at some offices before Christmas day, 1912. These were the 1, 2, 4, 5, 10, 15, 20, and 25 cent denomination. The 75 cent stamp was for sale at several offices by January 1, 1913. The 3, 50 cent and $1.00 appeared some time later.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock is responsible for the fact that this series was printed in one color only. The stamps had been in use but a short time when it became evident that the Postoffice employees were making an increasing number of natural errors due to the single color of the series. The clerks at the stamp windows, who rarely inspect the inscription or numerals of value on a stamp of the vari-colored series were forced to slow up in their sales or else expect a discrepancy when they balanced their cash in the evening. In the mailing division, hundreds of sealed letters with the red 1 cent Parcel Post stamp on them, evaded the eye of the operators who run the cancelling machines. Certain unscrupulous members of the business world instantly took advantage of the fact that some letters would go through without discovery.

In an effort to assist the clerks who sell the stamps, an inscription of value in plain capitals was added to the margin of the plates.

These inscriptions were added first to existing plates on Jan. 27, 1913, and the work of so improving the existing plates was completed as the plates were brought from the vaults and put to press from time to time. The last plates of the original "no imprint" series to receive this imprint was number 6262 for the $1.00 stamp. The imprint was added to this plate on March 24, 1913; and the last printing of the $1.00 stamp was on March 26, 1913, so it is evident that the marginal inscription on this value is somewhat scarce.

This imprint was added to seventy of the later plates before any had gone to press. But thirty-two of this series which were originally made with the imprint, were used.

They are as follows:

Plates on which marginal value imprint was engraved BEFORE plates were put to press.

UNITED STATES BARGAINS

We have just issued a list offering 876 U. S. stamps at prices ranging from one cent to one dollar and at discounts as high as 60, 70, 80, 85 and even 90% from catalogue. We doubt if another firm in America having as large a stock as The International would be willing to quote as low prices as we do. Stock will go fast at the prices we make and we suggest early application for list or better still send a deposit and a list of stamps wanted and we will send at our advertised price and if either price or condition is not satisfactory money will be refunded.

SPECIAL OFFERS

Lists making remarkable offers in the stamps of all South American countries will be issued in the next three weeks. Send us a postal asking for lists of the countries in which you are interested.

AUCTION SALES

We are at present writing catalogues of two sales and will appreciate your name if you wish to purchase stamps in this manner. Clear and exact descriptions fair to both buyer and seller—stamps offered mostly in single stamp lots.

APPROVAL SHEETS

Non duplicating series for the collector who wishes to spend from 50c to $2.00 at a time. 50% discount allowed on these sheets.

APPROVAL BOOKS

About one hundred special bargain books have been prepared priced net. Contain a wide range of stamps many seldom offered and all at prices that will make you want to spend your money. Our regular books by countries should appeal to the careful buyer. These we send to those expecting to spend from two dollars up.

FASHIONABLE LINES

We have hundreds of 1851 and 1857 issue U. S., nearly all coil stamps and a number of special perforations, about a thousand unused blocks of four, several hundred used blocks of four both U. S. and Foreign.

In Canada, Mexico and South and Central America we have large numbers of many of the early issues including quite a number of imperforate pairs and strips. Precancelled stamps at most reasonable prices.

WANT LISTS

We solicit lists of stamps wanted and will give same as prompt attention as possible. As we constantly carry 25,000 varieties in stock we are as a rule able to supply many items desired by the average collector. During the past three years we have spent over $3,000.00 on stock sorting alone. Some idea of the stock carried may be gained from this statement.

A PERSONAL WORD

On January 15th, 1914, The International Stamp Company moved from DeGraff, Ohio, where it had been located for over two years, to new offices equipped for it and occupying the entire second floor of The Stillwater Valley Bank Building, Covington, Ohio. In these quarters we have what is no doubt the largest vault used by any stamp company in the United States. The offices are equipped with every modern convenience and as soon as we are fully settled in our new location we will be able to transact business promptly at a low expense rate. We shall shortly issue an illustrated folder giving views of our offices and photographs of those interested in the company which we shall be glad to mail to anyone wishing it.

AN EXTRA INDUCEMENT

To all remitting either by check or Money Order for items offered in the following list of bargains and sending at least one dollar we will send free an unused U. S. postage stamp for which we ask 15c net.

THE INTERNATIONAL STAMP CO. (Formerly De Graff O.) Stillwater Valley Bank Bldg. COVINGTON, OHIO

No future printings of these stamps are contemplated. This is a result of the action taken by the Department which rendered the ordinary series available for use on parcels.

THE DESIGNS.

The designs for these stamps were selected and approved by Postmaster-General Hitchcock. They were obtained from an extensive series of sketches and photographs submitted by J. E. Ralph, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. A general description of the various designs is included under a subsequent treatment of each denomination. The stamps are about the size of the Columbian series of 1893, measuring approximately 1.34 inches long by 0.87 inches wide.

In detail the designs are as follows:

2c—"City Carrier." The design shows a mail carrier at the door of a residence.

3c—"Railway Postal Clerk." He stands at the door of a mail car removing a sack of mail from the sack catcher. The first design which was not used, showed a Parcel Post automobile driver transferring mail through the door of a railway mail car with the assistance of the railway postal clerk.

4c—"Rural Carrier." The design was made from a model mail wagon in the Post Office department at Washington. A horse was hitched to this wagon and a photograph taken of the outfit. The engravers supplied the background of foliage.

5c—"Mail Train." This is an "action photograph." It is a design which gives a semblance of speed to the train which is shown approaching a suspended mail bag.

10c—"Steamship and Mail Tender." The design is a reproduction of a photograph of the Kronprinz Wilhelm in New York harbor. Staten Island is covered with skyscrapers in the design which has been criticised as being geographically incorrect. The effect is good in spite of the critics' thrusts. The mail tender was added to the design to show the relative size of the liner.

15c—"Automobile Service." A postal employe is approaching an automobile. Substation "A" and a residence across the street form the background.

20c—"Aeroplane Carrying Mail." A biplane in mid air carries the navigator and a sack of mail. The first design which was not used, showed no mail sack.

25c—"Manufacturing." The design shows a part of a steel plant in South Chicago. It is said that the original of this design is a photograph supplied by Director Ralph who was at one time employed in the plant.

50c—"Dairying." Two designs were prepared for this stamp, which shows some cows grazing in the foreground and a group of farm buildings in the distance. The original photograph was supplied by the Department of Agriculture. In the finished design which was approved the buildings are less prominent than in the original essay.

75c—"Harvesting." The photograph supplied by the Department of Agriculture shows a thrashing machine, teams and men, and a prominent straw stack; much of the scene was faithfully reproduced by the engraver.

$1.00—"Fruit Growing." Several proofs, differing in minor details, were prepared for this stamp. The issued stamp shows a group of workers in an orchard.

Lovers of U. S.—Have you all of the above in your collection?

Positively Our Final Offer and Your Last Chance to Buy

REAL UNSORTED MISSION and CHARITY POSTAGE STAMPS

Gathered by our organization in all parts of the world. Sold according to the number of countries represented in the mixing. Absolutely the only genuine unsorted Mission and Charity postage stamps obtainable today that are sold just as received and by weight.

The Greatest Bargains in Stampdom

One Pound bag from over 100 countries and colonies being well mixed together so there are between 900 and 1100 varieties represented in each sealed bag of some 8000 stamps. The finest lot that we have and the most practical "buy" for the collector. Many being free from paper and in good condition. Immense Value Assured. This lot is Highly Recommended, only $3.00

One-Half Pound bag from over 50 of the larger countries, being well mixed together so there are between 400 and 600 varieties represented in each bag. A lot we recommend only to those collectors who cannot afford the $3.00 bag. A nice lot for the beginner and those having up to 2500 diff. postage in their collections. $1.00

Price only .....

No matter how many times you have been "stung" on the so-called mission stamps offered by regular stamp firms, (which at the best were picked over lots sold to them as USED STAMPS BY WEIGHT), — order YOUR lot from us today through curiosity and if you are not pleased with the GENUINE UNSORTED — no mission mixtures can ever please you.

Bags for the Dealer and Reseller

10 Pound bag of well mixed foreign mission and charity postage stamps many varieties—naturally mostly European. Many dealers use these bags regularly. For example, Edw. Michael, Chicago; Payn Stamp Co., Los Angeles; M. Fenster, N. Y., etc. They are fine for cheap mixtures and as "body" for those of the better grade. Especially interesting for the school boy and counter trade. About 100,000 stamps to the 10 pounds. Lowest wholesale price prepaid is only $5.00

10 Pounds of U. S. CHARITY stamps—nice variety—obsolete and recent issues well mixed together. Sold just as received and a chance to find many choice items, such as, imperforates and private perforations. A fine buy for the dealer and the collector who likes to "go over" large lots of unsorted stamps. Our prepaid price is only $3.50

Read Over Carefully Opinions of Those Who Know

(The publisher has read most of the following.)

JOHN W. HAARER, TREASURER of the STATE OF MICHIGAN, writes: "It gives me pleasure to state that the Mission Stamps which I recently purchased from you far exceeds my expectations. I found thousands of nice clean stamps, free from paper, and in far greater variety than usually found in such lots. They are easily worth three times the price you ask."

"Cleveland, Jan. 14, 1914, World-Wide Missions. Enclosed find M. O. for $3.00 for which send me another pound of real mission stamps. The other bags were very satisfactory and fully worth twice the price asked.

"I have bought stamps from different stamp firms and every one claimed to be selling the genuine mission stamps and unpicked. I found all stamps in these six lots to be the commonest varieties from about ten of the largest countries and being unfit for anything else I burned them and said to myself "never again!" —then I saw your adv.—it looked inviting and I "bit" and am glad I did.

"I am an old man of 73 years and collect stamps for pleasure and certainly will continue to give my orders to you as I get honest goods and fine value. Philip Carl."

"Gentlemen:—Enclosed please find $3.10 for which send me another pound of mission stamps by reg. mail. The last was the finest lot I have ever bought and I guess I have ordered from them ALL. I recommend this lot highly. Mrs. Ella A. Thorn, Clyde, N. Y."

"Dear Sirs:—Last month I bought a bag of mission stamps and found them very satisfactory. Enclosed $3.00 for another bag. H. Hubschman, New York City."

"Mr. Lowell Ragatz, recommends your mission stamps in highest terms of praise. Enclosed M. O. for a bag. Mrs. Ella A. Wiswall, Madison, Wis."

"Your mission stamps are certainly good value and contain no trash. A nice lot of clean stamps. Warren W. Husted, Greenville, Ohio."

"I must write you of the surprise and pleasure the mission stamps gave to seven stamp collectors—boys and girls whom I have interested in collecting. They filled many, many spaces and have a nice lot for trading purposes. Although I have over 19,000 different, I found five stamps not in my collection. Many thanks! Let me know of other offers. Mrs. C. E. Hartigan, Washington, D. C."

"The mission stamps are without doubt the best I have ever purchased and I consider them of exceptional value, having added hundreds to my collection. S. B. Parker, Sheffield, Iowa."

"Very well pleased with mission stamps. Found several hundred for my collection. C. P. VanDeusen, Binghamton, N. Y."

"Much pleased with last lot of mission stamps. Remittance enclosed for another lot. Carle H. Schafer, Chicago."

IMPORTANT:—Knowing that every reader of Mekeel's will read this ad we have decided that it will be the last for this publication—If you want a lot ORDER NOW—there's a big demand and supply is limited. Personal checks accepted at par.

WORLD-WIDE MISSIONS, Box M, Storm Lake, Ia.

MINNEAPOLIS AND ST. PAUL.

The first annual banquet and election of officers of the Twin City Philatelic Society was held in St. Paul on Saturday evening, January 10, 1914, with an attendance of twenty-four.

The Secretary's report showed that during the first year of the organization the membership had grown to forty-eight almost exactly divided between the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, and that the average attendance at the monthly meetings during the year was twenty-three.

A great interest has been manifested in the meetings, and the society has been the means of bringing together a large number of collectors, most of whom were not previously acquainted with more than a half dozen other collectors.

It is expected that the membership will be largely increased in the near future. The following officers were elected: Jules Frelin, President; Burt McCann, Vice President; Geo. M. Brack, Secretary-Treasurer; S. L. Sholley, Sales Superintendent.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

We have received from Arthur Maury, Paris, a catalog of the stamps, envelopes and post cards issued in 1913. It appears as a supplement to No. 398 of the Collectionneur de Timbres Poste and no price is stated. The catalogue is superbly illustrated.

From the Philatelic Printing and Publishing Co., Rotherham, England, comes the Collectors' and Dealers' Directory. It contains a list of dealers and collectors throughout the world, also a list of stamp clubs and societies. The book is well worth the price, 16c, and collectors desirous of securing addresses of collectors in foreign countries will find the book useful.

Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

Baltimore, Md.—(No. 1202). 2c 1912.

L. G. Barrett has shown us a 2c envelope, Die E, Size 8, on white, with the new low cut knife, the first time this knife has been reported on this size and color.

We gather from several sources, that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing is experimenting with new perforations. The stamps perforated 10, noted last week, are part of the scheme which is being tried out on stamp books. Scott's Circular says that possibly a new perforation may be adopted for the regular postage stamps. This perforation will be size 12 in the horizontal rows the same as at present, but size 10 in the vertical rows.

ARGENTINE.—C. Edward Wright reports the 1c Laborer, locally printed on the new honeycomb watermarked paper.

BARBADOS.—The Colonial Journal settles one moot point, regarding the female figure on the stamps of Barbados, in the following statement: "In the new stamps supplied last year there is the old design of a female figure in a chariot drawn by sea horses. The figure in the seal of the Colony in the time of Charles II. represented the Sovereign; in the reign of Queen Anne the female figure was naturally substituted, and during the reign of Queen Victoria the presentment of Her Majesty was given. On the death of Queen Victoria, however, no change was made in the seal of the Colony or in the stamp. Last year the head of King George was given, and the female figure becomes symbolical, as indeed it has long been in popular estimation by which it has been identified with Britannia.

BRITISH GUIANA.—According to the Colonial Journal, the 1c, 2c 4c, 5c, 6c, 12c, 24c, and 48c values will be in the new design and the $2.40, $3, $4.80, $5, $12, $20.50 and $50 values in the old design. One order of 72c stamps has been executed in the old design.

HONDURAS.—Leonard F. Garbaccio sends us a postally used specimen of the 1c lithographed stamp of 1909, Scott's No. 127, which was evidently taken from a sheet of printers' waste. On the back is another impression, though faint and imperfect. The Catalogue would call this "printed on both sides."

INDIA.—Gwalior.—Lowell J. Ragatz contributes the following received from a correspondent in India:

"You will find the prices of the King George Gwalior 4, 6 and 8 annas three times face value, which seems rather high, but that state was supplied in December, 1912, with five sheets of each of these values, and this supply was exhausted some months ago. A requisition for more of these values (the only ones so far sold out) was refused, and it is the opinion among officials that the next lot will not be furnished until the dies are retouched. Hence there is every possibility of their rising very high in price, like the Nabha 2½a King George."

MALTA.—The new stamps of Malta will follow the color scheme of 1908, says the Colonial Journal, except that the 4d will be in black, and the 4½d, 5d, 2sh 6d and 10sh values will be in the same colors as the current issues, these being better suited to their pictorial characters. The surface printed stamps of 3d and upwards are in doubly-fugitive inks.

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke sends us a used strip of four of the new provisional 1c on 15c on 35c green and chestnut. Mr. Focke calls attention to the fact that the first provisional value is obliterated by a double bar, two pieces of rule placed together.

NIGERIA.—In consequence of the amalgamation of Northern and Southern Nigeria, new stamps will be issued marked "Nigeria," says the Colonial Journal.

URUGUAY.—Dr. L. A. Micheloni sends us a lithographed 5c Artigas stamp, which differs from all other lithographed specimens seen and also from the engraved stamps sent out by Waterlows. Dr. Micheloni found it among 20,000 common stamps. In color and clearness of printing it much resembles the Waterlow print. There are minor differences all over the stamp, but the most striking change is in the size of the figures of value, which are much smaller than on both the engraved and the common lithographed specimens. Like the engraved stamps the lower part of both figures project to the left beyond the top, while in the later issue the parts are alike. There are two colorless lines between the top of the left "5" and the nearest ornament above it, while on all other specimens there is but one.

VENEZUELA.—Leonard F. Garbaccio sends us a companion to the 50c of 1911, with the centre printed in a different color. This is the 10c of the same issue, with the centre in vermilion. The specimen is used postally.

St. Nicholas Readers Are Stamp-Collectors..

¶ See how the announcements of dealers are presented in this magazine — opposite to a Stamp Page that is edited with sense and skill by a man who knows how to keep the department alive, and its fine pictures are a constant stimulant to young collectors.

¶ But there are many more possible collectors among the readers, and the magazine would be glad to have dealers' help in making the department of wider influence and value.

¶ You can ask no better collectors than the ST. NICHOLAS kind — they are young, bright, eager, well taught — and the time to reach them is before they look outside of their own magazine for the stamp news.

lated in the Postage Stamp, M. Georges Brunel gives a lengthy list of these little marks but for all practical purposes the following tests, described in The Philatelist so long ago as 1871 are ample:—

½sch.—Eagle's right beak does not go against the wing. The bird does not touch the label in any place. There is no period after SCHILLING. The lines by which the figures are divided are very fine, and the figures themselves are small.

1sch.—Eagle very much like the one on the ½sch but the right hand end is more flattened and, consequently, shapeless. EIN is in letters of the same size as those used in the words following it.

2sch.—Eagle's left beak touches the wing, and the right one nearly so; there are no dots between the heads and wings. Over the U is a diaeresis of very small solid dots.

2½sch.—Eagle's left claw is at some little distance from the inscribed riband. No period after any of the words. All the fractional figures are very small, and the strokes dividing them very indistinct. The topmost of the three dashes under the upright stroke upon the left hand is merely a dot.

4sch.—The third segment of the eagle's right wing touches the riband. There are either four or five dots (but only three are clearly formed) in the hollow between the beak and the wing, and those not together, but dispersed. P of POSTMARKE almost touches the fold of the band.

The paper upon which these stamps were printed was not specially requisitioned but was obtained from Matz, a stationer in the town, who had on hand a stock of thin fancy paper watermarked throughout with small flowers of myosotis. It was paper really intended to be made up into boxes of fancy note-paper. The stamps were issued imperforate and the sheets were gummed with yellowish gum according as they were required for use. M. Brunel states that the stamps were distributed to the postmasters ungummed and these latter affixed the gum before selling them to the public. Such a proceeding appears highly improbable for the postmasters would not be likely to have facilities at hand for gumming sheets of stamps. The statement has no foundation in fact but there seems little doubt that Rahtgens only gummed the sheets as they were required. Indeed, in an article in the Philatelic Record translated from the German we read "I learned from a member of the Rahtgens firm that they had not delivered all the stamps at one time, and gummed. On the contrary they were in the habit of remitting small quantities to the authorities, as the stamps became needed, and they only kept in stock a small number of sheets gummed in advance." This accounts for the fact that the remainders of these stamps were all ungummed.

Although the sheets were only gummed as required it would appear that the whole of the stamps originally ordered were printed at the same time the total supply printed being

1sch 200 sheets = 20,000 stamps.
2sch 1366 sheets = 138,600 stamps.
2½sch 500 sheets = 50,000 stamps.
4sch 1499 sheets = 149,900 stamps.

As there were two errors in each of the sheets of the 2sch the total number of normal stamps was 135,820 while there were 2,772 errors.

Variations in shade are not very prominent though the green of the 4sch differs a little.

THE STAMPS OF THE GERMAN EMPIRE.

Lubeck.

The free city of Lubeck, the smallest of the three Hanseatic towns, is situated on the Trave about ten miles from its mouth. The town, then known as Lubeca, was probably founded as early as 1060 and, though small, it was rich and consequently excited the cupidity of some of its larger neighbours. In 1138 it was entirely devastated by the Rugians but was rebuilt in 1143 by Adolf II, Count of Holstein. It was ceded to the dukes of Saxony in 1158 and under Henry the Lion it attained considerable prosperity. Duke Henry gave it a civil and commercial code (the law of Lubeck) which, later, formed the basis of the law of all the Hanseatic towns. Lubeck was captured by the Danes in 1201 and on their expulsion in 1226 it was made a free and imperial city, and it became the leader of the Hanseatic league formed in 1241. It was then at the height of its prosperity but the dissolution of the Hansa dealt it a blow from which it has never recovered. The last Assembly of the Hansa met in Lubeck in 1669 and thence forth it declined in importance. It was annexed by France in 1810 and became the capital of the Department of Les Bouches de l'Elbe, but it regained its liberty in 1813 after the battle of Leipzig. In August 1866, it joined the North German Confederation, and in 1870 became one of the states of the new Empire. It has a population of over 90,000.

Lubeck, like many other Continental towns, presents a curious mixture of ancient and modern architecture. Opposite the railway station, on the main approach to the city, is the famous Holstenthor, a 15th centruy brick-built gateway, which was renovated in 1870. Of its numerous churches the Marienkirche founded in 1170, contains valuable works of art. Its dome, enlarged during the 13th century, has an altar painting by Hans Memling. Another ancient edifice is the town hall (1250) which is built of black glazed bricks in the style of the Renaissance period.

Lubeck has achieved some little return to its former prosperity since it joined the Customs Union in 1868. The principal shipping trade is with Denmark, Sweden, Russia, and Finland, chiefly in chemicals, machinery, linen goods, preserved food, and cigars.

Lubeck is the capital of the small state of the same name, which has an area of 115 square miles and a population of a little over 100,000. The country is fertile and well wooded and produces rye, wheat, barley, oats, hay, potatoes, and large quantities of fruit. By its constitution, revised in 1875, the state is governed by a senate composed of 14 life members, and a council of 120 citizens. Lubeck is represented in the Reichstag by one delegate.

Its Philatelic History.

Lubeck issued its first postage stamps on January 1st, 1859, at the same time as Hamburg, and the currency was also the same, viz., the Hamburg mark of 16 schilling equal to about 28c in United States money.

The first set consisted of five values all of similar design which were printed on watermarked paper. Two years later the ½sch and 1sch were issued on unwatermarked paper and in 1863 an entirely new design was introduced. On April 1st, 1864, a 1½sch stamp was issued and a reduction in one of the postal rates in 1865 resulted in the issue of a 1½sch stamp. In 1867 the color of the 1sch value was slightly changed and this completed the separate postal existence of Lubeck for, having joined the North German Confederation, the stamps of that Confederation were used on and after January 1st, 1868.

The status of these stamps was similar to those of Hamburg, save that none of the values singly were able to frank a letter beyond the confines of Germany. In the "Why and Wherefore of Various Stamps," published in the Philatelic Record in 1906, Mr. R. R. Thiele gives some interesting and valuable information regarding the postal rates, etc., which we cannot do better than reproduce in his own words:—

The first issue did not make its appearance until 1859. At that time Luebeck had three post offices: that of the city itself, one of Thurn and Taxis, and one of Denmark. The two latter had been using stamps for several years and the force of public opinion finally prevailed upon the postal authorities of the Free City to issue stamps also. The values of the first issue were selected for the rates most in use. The one-half schilling stamp representd the rate on city letters for local delivery, and also on local printed matter. The one schilling stamp was intended for the other city (there is only one,—Travemuende) and villages within the territory of the Free City, as well as those post-offices in the neighbouring Duchy of Mecklenburg-Schwerin which lay within three German miles of Luebeck. Two schillings was the rate to Hamburg and Bergedorf, hence the stamp of this value. To most of the post-offices within the two Duchies of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and Mecklenburg-Strelitz the single letter rate was two and one-half schillings, and hence a stamp of this value was found necessary. Finally the four schilling stamp represented the single rate on letters destined to points in the territory of the German-Austria postal union more than twenty German miles from Luebeck (about ninety statute miles). The rate to certain offices in Mecklenburg-Schwerin was one and one-half schilling and that to other offices between ten and twenty German miles distant was three schillings, but for some reason stamps of these values were not issued.

In 1862 or 1863 the postal authorities received word from London that the stamps of Luebeck had been counterfeited there. This was, perhaps, not very difficult, considering their lithographic production. At all events the authorities decided to discontinue their lithographed stamps and to make use of steel engraving in the future. They, therefore, ordered the next set, that of 1863, from the Royal Prussian Printing Establishment at Berlin. It is related that the price of the die and plates nearly gave the Luebeckers a fit, but that the expense, to their great joy, was soon counter balanced by the orders of the stamp collectors of the time, who bought large numbers of the pretty labels. The values represent the same rates as before.

In 1864 the war with Denmark broke out and the Duchies of Schleswig and Holstein were occupied by the Federal troops. Correspondence for these two Duchies from Luebeck had formerly been handled by the Danish office at Luebeck, but this office was now closed because of the war and the city post office took charge of all mail for the duchies. The Danish rate had been four skillings, equivalent to one and one-fourth schillings in Luebeck currency; hence the department issued a new stamp of the latter value. As it had to be provided in a hurry it was not engraved and printed in Berlin like the set then current, but was lithographed by Rahtgens at Luebeck. In 1866 the rate was raised to one and one-half schilling and the one and one-fourth schilling stamp was then discontinued.

As above mentioned the rate to Hamburg and Bergedorf was two schillings. In 1865 this rate was lowered to one and one-half schillings and a stamp of this value was issued. It was again printed at Berlin, but it was not ready on the date when the reduced rate went into effect and the official notice, with charming simplicity, points out that the postage might, nevertheless, be made up by means of the one schilling and the half schilling stamps.

The First Issue.

Lubeck issued its first series of adhesive postage stamps on January 1st, 1859, the values being ½, 1, 2, 2½ and 4 schilling. Their use was entirely optional but when used the public were requested to affix them to the left upper corner of the face of the letter and this continued to be the recognised mode of affixing the stamps until 1864. Official proof of this is found in the stamped envelopes—those issued in 1863 shew the stamp in the upper left hand corner, while those issued in 1864 have the label in the right upper angle.

The design is the same for all five values and shows the Arms of Lubeck on a field d'or (represented heraldically by a dotted ground) within three scrolls arranged in the form of an inverted horseshoe. The lower of these scrolls contains the word "POST-MARKE," the one at left contains the value in words, and that on the right is inscribed with the word "SCHILLING." In a straight line at the top is "LUBECK" while in each of the angles the value is shown in white figures on a ground of solid color. The spaces between the corners are linked up by ornamental lines and the whole is enclosed within a single line rectangular frame.

Who was responsible for the design does not seem to be known but the stamps were manufactured by H. G. Rahtgens, a printer engaged in business in Lubeck. The method employed was lithography and minute differences in the designs for each value show that a special die or drawing was made for each. From the original design in each case one hundred transfers were taken and arranged on the lithographic stone in ten horizontal rows of ten.

In making up the stone for the 2 schilling two transfers of the 2½sch were accidentally inserted in the bottom row. The mistake was discovered before any of the stamps were printed and to remedy it the lithographer removed the numerals "2½" from each of the four corners of the offending labels and drew in the correct figures "2." He, however, omitted to alter the inscription showing the value in words so that these two stamps, printed in the correct color for the 2sch and showing the correct value "2" in the corners are, nevertheless, wrongly inscribed 2½sch as shown by the lettering "ZWEI EIN HALB." The errors occurred on the sixth and seventh stamps of the lower row.

As a safeguard against forgery the designer of these stamps introduced secret dots into his work. The center of the small ornament at the foot of the design consists of a short horizontal line on all the ½sch stamps a tiny dot appears above this line; on the 1sch the dot is below the line; on the 2sch there are two dots below the line, one at each end; on the 2½sch there are two dots below and one above, in the center; while on the 4sch there are four dots below the line. In the case of the 2sch error the dots are as in the 2½sch. In addition to these dots there are numerous small peculiarities distinctive to each value. In an article, trans-

APPROVAL DEPARTMENT

For about a year we have been featuring our selections of high priced stamps at 50% discount. These selections are made up from collections bought by us at unusually low prices, and which we can therefore offer at this remarkable rate. These books being made up from new purchases just as we get them, are not arranged alphabetically, but are full of bargains for the general collector who will spend the time to look them over.

During the summer we added over $27,000 catalogue value to these books, and since November 1st, we have made a number of large purchases, the most notable of which were United States Departments, cataloguing over $5,000, and United States Envelopes, about $2,000. These books are now ready, and will be sent on approval to serious collectors.

We also have our Standard Series at 50% discount, containing about 1,500 varieties of the cheaper grade, both 19th and 20th Century, arranged in alphabetical order. This series is particularly adapted to the young collector.

Our series of approvals at 25% discount contain the scarcer varieties, particularly unused, including many 20th Century. On these sheets will be found about 3,000 varieties, cataloguing from 2c to 50c each. Collectors having between 3,000 and 10,000 varieties will find this grade most satisfactory.

Ten per cent. discount—collections by countries. One country to a book. These books contain the "cream" of our enormous stock. We aim to include in them one unused and one used copy of every major and minor variety, including shades, which we have in stock.

Over 500 of these books are now ready to send to our customers. They are full of hard-to-get stamps and picked specimens, shades, varieties, etc., carefully arranged. Send for the countries you want to fill up.

WANT LISTS

The large discounts allowed on stamps purchased from our Approval Sheets do not apply to want lists or orders for single stamps from our catalogue, nor can we make up to order lots of special stamps at these discounts. Our Approval Selections contain the only stamps of each country that we can sell at the discounts allowed. Any other varieties should be ordered from our catalogue, 10% discount being allowed on orders for $1.00 or more, or they will be sent on approval at the same discount to known customers, who will remit promptly for them on receipt.

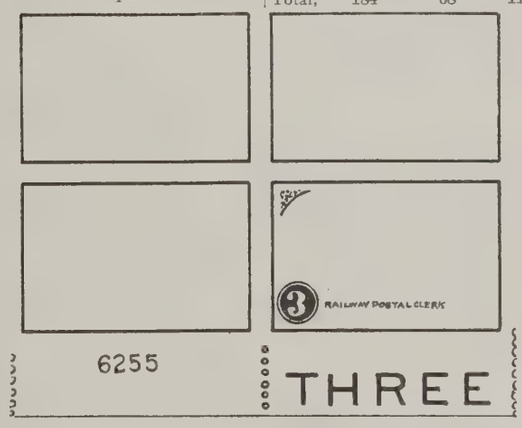
THE PARCEL POST SERIES OF THE UNITED STATES POSTAGE STAMPS.



By H. L. WILEY.

(Copyright 1914 by H. L. Wiley. All rights reserved.)

THE PLATES.

The plate sheets consist of 180 stamps, arranged ten "wide" by eighteen "high." These sheets are cut into four Postoffice sheets of 45 subjects each. The Postoffice sheets are five stamps "wide" by nine stamps "high." This arrangement results in thirteen straight edge stamps to each 45 subject postoffice sheet, the number of "straight edge" specimens being about fifty per cent. greater in this issue than in the ordinary series in which the Postoffice sheet consists of one hundred subjects including but 19 straight-edged specimens.

Guide lines, terminating in the usual arrows on the margin of the sheet, were engraved on all plates of this series. Both the vertical and horizontal lines bisect the sheet of stamps.

The plate numbers occur eight times on each sheet as in the ordinary series. Reference to the illustration will disclose the position of plate numbers and the imprint of value. The words "Bureau of Engraving and Printing" were not engraved on any of these plates, and except for designers' and engravers' initials and the initials of the plate printers, no other inscription except the plate number, the word indicating the denomination and the arrows, appear on the margins.

A tabulated summary of the total number of plates engraved or commenced for this series follows herewith:

Total number of plates prepared or commenced for the Parcel Post and Parcel Post Due Stamps.

THE PUZZLE IS SOLVED!

We are glad to announce that Dr. Chase has, at last, succeeded in reconstructing the plate of U. S. 1c of 1851 in recut condition (Type IV). We are reprinting the introduction to this work in the February number of Gibbons Stamp Circular (thro' the kindness of the Philatelic Gazette of New York). The actual article itself will appear only in our Circular in future numbers. As this is the most important piece of philatelic work done in recent years students had better see they are on our mailing list by sending us the small sum of opinion that the four or more designs on the transfer roll are impressed consecutively upon the plate as it is rolled along in contact with transfer roll, it may be advisable to state that each design on the roll is used continuously until it becomes too worn for satisfactory service. It is then "evaded" and another one of the designs is used until it too becomes worn out.

It will be seen that the double transfers, so dear to the specialist's heart, are matters of chance, and not the regular "once in every revolution of the roll" conditions that would obtain under the old theory.

Double Transfers.

The writer has found two double transfers in this series, one occurring in the 1 cent denomination, the other in the 5 cent. The error shows very distinctly in both instances and neither is a slip print of any kind. It is not known from which plates these stamps were printed. A detailed and illustrated description of them appears further along in this article.

The Paper.

The paper used for this series was made under the same specifications which govern the manufacture of that used for the ordinary series. It is impressed with the same "single line watermark" now current.

Owing to the peculiar size and arrangement of these stamps, it was necessary to obtain paper of a size different from that used for the ordinary series. The Parcel Post issue required sheets measuring 16½ inches by 19¼ inches.

The Ink.

Proofs of these stamps were printed only in the color used for the regular issue. The red ink for the Parcel Post stamps is similar to that used for the ordinary 2 cent issues of the 1912 and Panama Exposition series. While it is not an aniline color in the old sense of the word, it does contain permanent colors or lakes which in a broader general definition might be included under the term "aniline colors."

Practically no variation of decided contrast is present in the shades of this issue although some of the series show a tinge of rose due to a slightly higher amount of the white "base" forming the body of the pigment used.

It will be understood that by a "lake" is meant a pigment made by precipitating or applying, color-forming chemicals to a base which is usually a chemically inert white pigment.

The total number of this series which has been printed to date, together with the quantity issued to Postmasters and that remaining in stock up to December 15, 1913, at the Bureau is herewith given in tabulated form.

"PACKING" AND STAMPS.

By H. S. HALL of Cleveland.

(Winning Entry in Phila. Press Competition.)

For three years I had been trying to break into the Great Central Steel Company with my firm's metallic packing. I never got any farther than the office of John Swope, the general manager, and I never stayed there very long at a time; for, while Swope was courteous enough to me, he made plain in a very few words that he not only did not wish to buy my packing, but also that he had no time to listen to my arguments.

I lay in wait for him, to meet him as he went to lunch, or in the street, or at a ball game, hoping that I might be able, by some hook or crook, to establish a more than speaking acquaintance; but after losing a lot of time began to doubt if Swope ever went to lunch, if he ever was in the street, if he ever attended a ball game. I inquired among men who knew Swope more or less intimately. No, not one of them knew of anything in which he was interested specially, except his business.

One day I dropped in at his office to see him, hoping that I might persuade him to permit me to furnish the packing for one of the new engines about to be installed in the mills the Central was then building.

No, he intended to buy Atlantic packing. He knew Atlantic packing, and he knew that it was good.

As I turned to leave I caught sight of a small, oblong piece of paper lying on his desk. It had rounded corners, was gummed on one side, and was about one third the size of a postage stamp. I recognized it at a glance. It was a stamp hinge, a sticker used by collectors for mounting stamps in albums.

I made straight for a dealer in philatelic supplies. "Who are some of the stamp collectors in this city?" I asked him.

He laughed. "Who are some of the people who smoke cigars and wear black neckties? Too many to name!"

"I mean who are some of the more prominent ones?"

"Well, there's Jamison of the woolen mills, Smithson of the City Refining Company, Statton of the Valley Railroad, John Swope of—"

"Give me all the literature you have on philately!" I interrupted. And I purchased a copy of every textbook, catalogue, and pamphlet he had.

I studied my subject early and late; I quizzed my son at home; when I could I talked with collectors; I subscribed to half a dozen stamp journals; I invested a little money in a line of good stamps; I found every stamp I had noted on my list, and bought them. I was now equipped to go after John Swope for that packing order!

With my precious stamps in my pocket, I went back to L—, and one day about thirty minutes before the hour for lunch walked into Swope's office. Grim and gruff as always, he looked up and nodded.

"Packing?" he grunted. Nothing doing. You're wasting your time. But I do like your persistence."

"I just called to leave you this booklet which I though might interest you," I said, putting my hand into my pocket as I spoke. I drew forth a bundle of papers. A dozen postage stamps fell from among them and fluttered to the table before the steel man's eyes. "Excuse me," I remarked, stooping over and beginning to pick up the stamps. "The rubber band has slipped from the book in which I carry these."

Swope was looking at the stamps with interest, and he began turning over those which had fallen face down. "Here, here, wait a minute!" he cried. "Let me look at these! I know something about stamps. Here's a pretty good Newfoundland; here's a good Peru; here's a—why, they're all good! Where did you get them?"

I sat down and talked stamps with him for half an hour; I went to luncheon with him, talking stamps; and I came back with him, talking stamps. In good time I introduced the subject of metallic packing, and I went out of his office that afternoon carrying a contract to supply packing for all the engines that were to be installed in the new mills.

To My Stamp Collecting Friends:

I beg to announce that I am no longer connected with the Eugene Klein, Incorporated, either directly or indirectly. I shall start in the stamp business independently next week, when I will announce my new office address. I have no stamps to begin with and am ready to buy a very fine general collection and single rarities for cash. My specialty will be Auction Sales, in which I have had considerable experience. Auction Catalogue of Twentieth Century stamps now in course of preparation will be mailed free upon application. For the present my collecting friends are requested to address me as follows:

EUGENE KLEIN, 53 North 62nd Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

EDITORIAL.

Without Stamps—The postal authorities are interested in automatic machines whose markings will take the place of adhesive stamps. Recently, experimental trials were made of a machine in Chicago that are said to have been satisfactory. The use of the machine will avoid much of the routine work as the necessity for using stamps will be avoided and it will save time over the permit method. Automatic machines of the kind are no novelty, as descriptions of the machines in use in New Zealand have been widely heralded.

Via Puerto Barrios—A specimen of the ten centavos, engraved Guatemala, 1887-95 issue, has been shown us on the back of an original cover, the stamp having the overprint in black in three lines: "Via—Puerto—Barrios." On the face of the envelope is one of the same stamps unsurcharged. The type used for the overprint is of the same general kind of that employed for the regulation surcharging of the time but the surcharge probably would come under the classification of overprint, used with the sanction of the authorities but not applied by them.

Still They Come—We have just seen several copies of a new Sonora provisional on the original envelopes; and one of the covers was delivered in this country without postage due, although the stamps have no standing as issues recognized by the postal union, it need not be said. The stamp, five centavos green, has a central design of arms of Mexico. Above is "Mexico;" at right, "Correos;" at left, "Transito" and below under a tablet containing "5" is "Cinco Centavos." The stamp is a lithographed production, imperforate. The letters bearing the stamps came from Nacozari, a town in the northwestern part of the district of Sonora, about fifty miles from the American border.

King Heads—From a copy of the London Times, we learn that it is the wish of King George that the stamps of the British Colonies as well as those of the mother country bear the head of the king. This information is disclosed in connection with the announcement that King George has received from the postmaster-general of Australia, the first letter bearing the new Australian penny stamp that was posted; it contained "a sheet of twenty of the new stamps."

On the 1853 Issue—In the issue of January 24th, a paragraph was devoted to a description of Confederate type-printed franks of the Confederate Post Office Department, on the three-cent, U. S. envelope of the 1857 issue. The Confederate "franks" are found rarely on the three-cent envelopes of the 1853 issue, U. S. envelope; and a copy under notice is the three-cent on buff, 1853, die 5, overprinted with the usual letterpress: "Confederate States of America. Post Office Department. Official Business," in three lines. Underneath is the signature of B. Fuller, as "Chief Clerk Post Office Department." The U. S. envelopes were utilized by the Confederate post office department, having been regarded as contraband of war. The southern postmasters had been instructed to return the federal postage stamps and stamped envelopes to Washington both by the northern and the southern postal administrations but, naturally, many of these supplies were not forwarded and some of the envelopes were placed in service by the south in the manner outlined.

Addition—From Mr. Jas. Lewis Howe, Lexington, Virginia, to whom we are indebted for many bits of philatelic memorabilia on Confederate issues, we have received the following particulars: "Apropos of your editorial remarks regarding the Confederate Post Office Department frank on the United States three-cent envelope of the issue of 1857, I have a duplicate signed by 1st Asst. (?) Postmaster General Offutt, and also, an unused frank of the Finance Bureau. These were not, however, the only bureaus that used these franks, as I have a used envelope signed by B. N. Clements, Chief of the Appointment Bureau, postmarked Richmond, June 20 (1864?) and also bearing the impression, 'Free'." The franking privilege was abolished by the Confederate post office department, except as specified, as follows: "Provided, that the Postmaster General and his chief clerk, the chiefs of the Contract, Appointment and Finance Bureaus, and the Auditor of the Treasury for the post office department, shall be and they are hereby authorized to transmit through the mail, free of postage, any letters, packages, or other matters relating exclusively to their official duties, or to the business of the post office department, but they shall in every such case indorse on the back of the letter or package to be sent free of postage, over their own signature, the words, 'Official Business.'" It follows that regularly, there are only post office department franks found printed on United States stamped envelopes.

Not Franked Envelopes—The "Official Business" envelopes of the Confederacy are of many varieties. The functions of state and national governments were served by these envelopes for official use but it must be borne in mind that these envelopes were not really "franked" in any way by the inscription, "Official Business." There are many indications showing that the limitations of the franking privilege were strictly enforced and that only the post office department was the beneficiary, as intended. Even when envelopes of the post office department did not have postage stamps affixed and were without the autograph of the officer, they were rated with postage due. Letters emanating from the war and navy departments, for instance, when they did not bear postage stamps, were usually forwarded under the instructions, "Charge to War Dept." or notice of similar kind. The true franked envelope of the Confederacy was always one that originated in the post office department and bore the "free" impression. The "Official Business" envelopes were marked to prevent unauthorized use and, it might be said, to show the importance of the governmental mail. Only rarely is an envelope found showing a divergence from the rule.

We Open Our Eyes—A franked envelope of the Confederacy is before us and reveals a point of decided interest and one that we do not remember having seen recorded heretofore. A three-cent, 1853, United States envelope, buff paper, die 5, bears the printed inscription: "Confederate States of America—Agency Post Office Department, Trans-Miss." in three lines, followed by the autographic inscription, J. S. Stern (?), Agent, under the familiar "Official Business." The postmark is Marshall, Texas, and the envelope is addressed to the postmaster of a town in western Louisiana. The type selection used in printing the frank is different from that of the franks used from Richmond. It will be news that the Confederate post office department maintained a Trans-Mississippi Agency post office department at Marshall, Texas, which was the distributing office from the territory west of the Mississippi. We should be particularly pleased to have any information about the Trans-Mississippi Department of the general post office department of the Confederacy from those who are able to speak on the subject.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The United States Revenue Society has issued its Seventh Year Book. It contains the constitution and by-laws of the society and a detailed report of the annual convention. The membership list shows that the Society is in prosperous condition.

Who's Who in Philately, bearing 1914 as the date of issue, appears from the press of the Philatelic Circular, Balham, London, England. Its price is 25c. As the name of the book indicates, it gives in a concise form particulars concerning the collecting proclivities of and honors attained by the stamp collecting fraternity of the world. There is much other valuable information in this book, which is well worth the price asked by the publishers. We might add that so far as the American end of the book is concerned considerable improvement could be affected.

We have received from Victor Marsh, 389 Brixton Rd., London, England, an interleaved catalog of the philatelic periodicals that he now has on sale. It is nicely gotten up and will no doubt be sent to anyone upon application.

The Aero Mail Club sends out a recruiting booklet of eight pages and cover. A copy can be obtained by addressing H. A. Truby, New Kensington, Pa.

SPECIALIZED UNITED STATES.

CHAPTER LVII.

Commemoratives of 1909.

During the year 1909 the postal department issued three varieties of stamps to commemorate as many events. The first was in remembrance of the one hundredth birthday of Abraham Lincoln. This stamp bore the portrait of Lincoln, and was supposed to have been issued on February 12, 1909. The records of the postoffice department show that the issue dates January 28.

Date of issue, January 28, 1909. Number issued, 150,299,500. Shades—carmine, 3.

Varieties—imperforate. Private perforations for machine use.

Blue experimental rag stock. Number issued, 637,000.

Alaska-Yukon.

This stamp, in denomination of 2 cents only, was issued to commemorate the Alaska-Yukon exhibition held in 1909 at Portland, Oregon. Data:

Date of issue, May 26, 1909. Number issued, 153,413,400. Shade—carmine, 2.

Variety—Imperforate. Private perforations for machine use.

Hudson-Fulton.

During this year the 100th anniversary of the first operation of Fulton's "Clermont" was commemorated by the issue of a special postage stamp. This was an ugly shaped oblong "sticker" bearing a picture of the steamer. Data:

Date of issue, September 14, 1909. Number issued 72,851,520. Shades, carmine, 3.

Varieties—imperforate. Private perforations for machine use.

Double transfer from plate number 5394—two varieties.

Double transfer, in label of value "O" in "Two" appearing like a figure 8 upon its side.

CHAPTER LVIII.

Issues of 1910 - 1911.

The so-called issue of 1910 consists of printing the designs of the issue of 1908, from 1 to 15 cents on paper containing the "Single Line Watermark". This is technically known as "sans serif" capitals—meaning without serifs or sharp corners. The use of the new watermark was begun on August 10, 1910, but no record was kept of the beginning of the use of that paper for the several denominations.

Although catalogued as the issue of 1912, I have it upon the authority of Mr. J. E. Ralph that this is known as 1911. The records show that the changed designs were all delivered to postoffices in 1912, the earliest date being January 11, 1912. It is likely that the bureau of engraving and printing dates the issues from the year of acceptance of designs, or the actual printing. The stamps of this issue are like the 1908 issue, except that the portrait of Washington was substituted for that of Franklin, in the 1 cent, and figures of value were added to each side of the label of value at bottom of the 1 and 2 cents. The head of Franklin was used in place of that of Washington in the denominations of the 8 cent, 10 cent, 15 cent, 50 cent and $1. As the stamps are all still current, no record of number of stamps issued is given. Data:

1 Cent—portrait of Washington—issued February 14, 1912.

1 Cent booklet—issued February 10, 1912.

1 Cent, coil—issued March 20, 1912. Variety—imperforate.

2 Cents—portrait of Washington—issued February 14, 1912.

2 Cent booklet—issued February 14, 1912.

2 Cent coil—issued March 20, 1912. Variety—imperforate.

8 Cents—portrait of Franklin—issued February 14, 1912.

10 Cents—portrait of Franklin—issued January 11, 1912.

15 Cents—portrait of Franklin—issued February 14, 1912.

50 Cents—portrait of Franklin—issued February 14, 1912.

$1—portrait of Franklin—issued February 14, 1912.

CHAPTER XLIII-A.

6 Cents, 1882.

The design for the 6 cent stamps of this series is one of the legitimate re-engraved varieties. Instead of the lines being recut and deepened, as was the case with some of the other stamps, this was entirely re-engraved, with the exception of the portrait. The process of making this stamp is an interesting study. To produce the frame a new design or die was engraved. Some attempt was made to imitate the design of the preceding six cent stamp, but there are some minor differences which are readily recognized by the expert. After the new die was made the transfer of the portrait of Washington was impressed into the still soft steel of the re-engraved die, and the whole was hardened. Then new transfer rolls were made of the completed design and the plates were made from these transfers.

The test of the expert in determining this stamp from the one of issue of 1870-79 is found in the vertical lines on each side of the panel. There are but three of these lines where there were four in the other. The horizontal lines in the background were deepened and made heavier, so that the entire stamp looks very much darker. These tests are not required by the collector who has handled any number of either issue, for they readily discern the difference without close examination.

The stamps were first issued in June, 1882. Two plates were made, numbers 426 and 427.

The shades, as classified by Mr. Luff, are: brown rose, dull rose, claret, deep claret, Indian red.

This is an exceptionally hard stamp to find in fine condition, and at the catalogued price it is a bargain. I have examined probably five thousand copies and of those I do not believe I found 25 copies which were what an honest auction cataloguer would describe as fine.

There are no striking varieties that have been chronicled. I have found a slight double transfer but it is so slight that only a careful hunt will reveal it to the student.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

UNITED STATES.—Evidently we are in for a flood of the special cancellations which have been so popular in Canada during the past year or two. The latest to come to hand was sent by Frank B. Eldredge, and advertises the "Sixth National Corn Exposition, Feb. 10 to 24, 1914," at Dallas, Texas.

W. Godfrey Matt, M. D., reports the 2c of 1912 with a clean cut perforation 10, evidently from a booklet pane. This completes the chronicle of the new perforation.

BRITISH COLONIES.—A statement appears in the last number of the Colonial Journal, which will come as a disagreeable surprise to many collectors and dealers. It refers to the papers colored on one side only, the Journal stating:

"It will have been noticed that many issues, which have till lately been made on colored papers, are now being made on white paper. The change is only temporary and has been caused by a difficulty in obtaining colored papers. The mill which for a great number of years had supplied all the watermarked papers, both for the Imperial Government and the Crown Agents, was suddenly closed down. The colored papers in stock had to be reserved for the stamps printed by the copper plate process, for which white paper is unsuitable, as the paper has to be wetted and cannot therefore very well be coated with chalk. The difficulty of obtaining the colored papers is partly due to the necessity for official inspection; the quantity turned out by the mill must be closely watched, but few manufacturers are willing to allow their processes to be seen; and in addition it is no doubt difficult to get the exact shades. Pending the conclusion of a new contract, the difficulty was met by surfacing white paper with colored chalk, but there is a little loss of brightness on the face of the stamps, and the difference on the back is of course obvious. A number of stamps have been recently supplied on this surfaced paper. Colored papers will again be used for them when available, and it is expected that this will be at an early date." The above, which we are enabled to use by courtesy of the New England Stamp Co., is supplemented by the following list of stamps which have been issued to date on the papers colored on one side only:

Cayman Islands—3d, 1sh, 10sh.
Ceylon—1r, 2r, 5r.

EGYPT.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the new series of stamps, which was issued at Cairo, January 8, the 22d anniversary of the accession of the Khedive Abbas Hilmi. The striking innovations about the new series are the discarding of the design and shape in use since 1872, and the substitution of English words for French in the inscription and denomination. The stamps were engraved and printed by De La Rue & Co. of London, and as usual are perfect specimens of the printer's art. Another notable feature of the new series is the substitution of milliemes for piastres throughout, and the issue of another denomination than previously seen. There are ten values, all upright oblongs, the first six values being in the conventional size, and the four higher values of larger size. The paper is white wove, watermarked Star and Crescent, and the perforation is 14. The subjects treated include scenes in Egypt, ruins, etc., and together form a most interesting collection. The 1m shows a spirited drawing of gyassas or native sailing boats on the Nile. The 2m has a representation of the Goddess Isis, probably taken from a monument. Her chief temple stood in the midst of the Delta of the Nile at Busiris. She was the most generally worshipped of the Egyptian divinities, and her cult extended to the Greeks and Romans. She is generally pictured as a youthful woman, with cow's horns on her headdress, with the orb of the moon between. The 3m shows a view from the Harbor of the Ras-el-Tin palace in the Mohammedan quarter of modern Alexandria. On the 4m is a view of the famous Pyramids of Giza, the latter being a town on the left bank of the Nile, a few miles from the Pyramids, the Sphinx and the ruins of Memphis. The Sphinx is pictured full face on the 5m, while the 10m shows the two seated Colossi of Amenophis II. on the bank of the Nile at Thebes, on the opposite bank from Karnak and Luxor. The 20m is the first of the larger stamps, and shows in the foreground the Pylon or Gateway to the Karnak Temple, north of Luxor. This enormous gateway, which was erected by Ptolemy Energetes I, opens on the ruins of the recently excavated Temple of Chensu. On the 50m is seen the citadel at Cairo, the fortified part of the city, where are large barracks, housing a considerable part of the British Army of Occupation. The 100m depicts the wonderful carved brick temple at Ipsambul, or Abu Simbel, on the left bank of the Nile, north of Wady Halfa. The 200m is perhaps the least satisfactory stamp of the series, owing to the difficulty of showing a great masonry dam over a mile in length. This is the dam at Assoun, built several years ago for the impounding of the surplus waters of the Nile.

The design of the frame is the same for all values, having the words "Egypt Postage" at the bottom, and their equivalent in Arabic at the top, and the value in words in English at the left and their Arabic equivalent at the right. The value in figures appears in small squares in the corners. Envelopes, letter cards, post cards and wrappers are included in the series.

We are also indebted to Arthur Russell for information regarding the new set. The envelope stamps are in the familiar octagon embossed style.

HONDURAS.—Evidently the postal authorities in Honduras are finding the surcharging of provisional stamps, too profitable a privilege to be given up. A. W. Dunning shows us the 2c carmine recently issued and chronicled, surcharged "1 cent" in large type in black. The specimen shown was used on a letter from Tegucigalpa. John A. Cooper also sends information regarding this stamp.

Provisional Adhesive.

"1 cent" on 2c carmine.

NICARAGUA.—Dr. Roy F. Desart reports having seen the 2c on 35c, Scott's No. 318, with the date reading "9131." Also has seen the same stamp cut diagonally in half, and used as one centavo. Many of the Cordoba surcharges have an inverted "u" for an "n" in "centavos."

TURKEY.—According to Ewen's Weekly, the Adrianople remainders are to be surcharged for use as postal dues, 2 and 5 paras on the 10pa green, 10 paras on the 20pa red and 20 paras on the 40pa blue. The new series now in preparation for the regular postal service will have a portrait of the Sultan upon the highest value. As this is contrary to the teachings of the Mohammedan religion, it is expected that there will be great objection raised by the faithful, and that the stamp may have to be withdrawn.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 7.30 P. M.

BOSTON, MASS., Jan. 20, 1914.

The Annual Meeting being the 306th (regular) meeting of the Society, was held at the Club Room this evening with President Nevin in the chair and forty members and friends present.

The reading of minutes was dispensed with and the annual reports, with the exception of that of the Bourse, read by Mr. Dunning, were referred to the Council for consideration.

The resignations of Nos. 386 and 545 were read and accepted.

It was voted that the Secretary cast one ballot for the principal officers nominated, which was done, electing Theodore W. Barry, President; Louis G. Barrett, Vice-president; C. A. Howes, Secretary; Philip Wolff, Foreign Secretary; and G. Carlton Russell, Treasurer.

Vice-president Barrett took the chair in the absence of the newly elected President, and the members at large of the Council were then ballotted for resulting in the election of Messrs. A. Parker Brown, C. K. B. Nevin, Chas. S. Hill, E. S. Phelps, Dr. L. S. Hapgood and Wm. G. Bail.

The amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of the Superintendents of Auctions, Sales and Bourse was passed and the acting Superintendents renominated, and then elected.

It was voted that the President, Secretary and Treasurer be authorized to incorporate the Society, and the necessary motions looking to the transfer of property, etc., were made and passed.

Temporary adjournment was made to provide for the entertainment of the evening. Mr. Joseph A. Steinmetz of Philadelphia was kind enough to bring a portion of his collection of "interesting stamps" which won the Visitors' Cup at the New York Exhibition. Needless to say it proved no less interesting to our members, and not the least enjoyable part was the running comment of Mr. Steinmetz as he turned the pages before us. A rising vote of thanks was passed to the kind exhibitor at its close. Mr. S. J. Steinmetz of Boston accompanied his brother and gave us an enjoyable talk previous to the exhibit.

The Society was presented with a copy of the new work on New Zealand stamps by one of the members.

The following new members were elected: No. 588, Andrews Hallet; No. 589, J. Haines Maxwell.

WITH THE BOY PHILATELIST.

Edited by BERTRAM W. H. POOLE, Box 231, Altadena, Calif.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

THE STAMPS OF THE GERMAN EMPIRE.

Lubeck.

THE SECOND ISSUE.

The quantites printed of the ½ and 1sch would appear to be ridiculously small but they lasted nearly two years. A further printing was made in 1861 consisting of 1100 sheets (110,000 stamps) of the ½sch and 499 sheets (49,900 stamps) of the 1sch. As no more of the fancy paper watermarked with myosotis flowers was available ordinary unwatermarked white wove paper was used. The same stones were used and with the exception of the paper the stamps are exactly like those of the preceding issue. These two varieties are said to have been issued in September, 1861.

Reference List.

1861. No wmk. Imperf.

6. ½sch dull lilac, Scott's No. 6.
7. 1sch orange, Scott's No. 7.

Both these stamps are very much rarer used than unused and about twice as rare with gum as without.

THE THIRD ISSUE.

In consequence, it is said, of the stamps being extensively counterfeited it was decided to issue a new series and the order for these was placed with the Royal Prussian Printing Establishment at Berlin. As it was determined to issue a series of envelopes as well as adhesives the same dies were utilised for both, and these were engraved by Schilling. The values are the same as those of the series they replaced the design being alike for all five. In the center are the Arms of Lubeck on an upright oval of solid ground, around which is an engine-turned band inscribed "LUEBECK" in its upper portion and "SCHILLING" at the base, while the numerals denoting the values are shown on uncolored discs at the sides. The stamps were embossed in color on plain white wove paper in sheets of 100 (10 rows of 10) and, as in the case of most other embossed stamps produced at this establishment, the rows were numbered in the margins. The stamps were rouletted 11½ in line.

These new stamps were first placed on sale on July 1st, 1863, when the preceding set ceased to be issued, though their use was permitted until the end of the year as a convenience to the general public. The quantities printed were as follows:—

1sch 800 sheets = 80,000 stamps.
2sch 1,200 sheets = 120,000 stamps.
2½sch 500 sheets = 50,000 stamps.
4sch 800 sheets = 80,000 stamps.

This parcel was dispatched from Berlin in June, 1863, and no more of the 2, 2½, and 4sch were printed. A further supply of 240 sheets of the ½sch (24,000 stamps) was printed in October, 1865, and a second supply of the 1 schilling, consisting of 200 sheets (20,000 stamps) was printed in May, 1867. This latter differs from the others in having a gauge of ten for the roulette. The color was also different from the 1sch issued in 1863, the shade being orange instead of the previous orange-vermilion.

Reference List.

1863-67. Embossed. No wmk. Rouletted 11½.

8. ½sch green, Scott's No. 8.
9. 1sch orange-vermilion, Scott's No. 9.
10. 1sch orange, Roul. 10, Scott's No. 9a.
11. 2sch rose. Scott's No. 10.
12. 2½sch ultramarine, Scott's No. 11.
13. 4sch bistre, Scott's No. 12.

THE FOURTH ISSUE.

Until 1864 Denmark had maintained a post-office in Lubeck but when, owing to the war, the duchies of Schleswig, Holstein, and Lauenberg were detached from Denmark this office was abandoned. Mail for the duchies was then handled by the city Post the rate on single letters being fixed at 1¼sch. As there was no stamp of that value or a ¼sch by means of which the rate might be made up in conjunction with a 1sch a 1¼sch stamp had to be issued and as the demand for this was somewhat urgent it was decided to produce it locally by lithography rather than wait for a supply from Berlin. H. G. Rahtgens, who produced the first series, was entrusted with the manufacture of this 1¼sch label. The design is a palpable copy of the embossed stamps and shows the Arms of Lubeck on a dotted ground within an upright oval band inscribed in a similar manner to the stamps of the 1863 series. The stamps were lithographed in sheets of 100 and there were two printings. The first of these took place in March, 1864, when 525 sheets (52,500 stamps) were printed and the second was made in November of the same year when 517 sheets, or 51,700 stamps were prepared. They were issued imperforate and a number of different shades may be found.

Reference List.

1864. No wmk. Imperf.

14. 1¼sch brown, Scott's No. 14.

THE FIFTH ISSUE.

On October 1st, 1865, the postage between Lubeck and Travemund on the one side, and Hamburg, Bergedorf and Geestacht on the other was reduced to 1½ schilling, and a stamp to provide for the new rate was ordered from Berlin together with an envelope of similar value. The first supply of 202 sheets (20,200 stamps) was sent in November, 1865. and a second supply of 200 sheets (20,000 stamps) was despatched in May, 1867, these being printed in a brighter tint. The design is similar to that of 1863 except that the inscribed band is octagonal instead of oval while the rectangular form is obtained by the filling of the angles with engine-turning. These were rouletted 11½ in line like the emission of 1863.

This was the last special stamp issued by the Lubeck administration (though there was a later printing of the 1sch as we have already shown) before its absorption by the North German Confederation on January 1st, 1868.

Reference List.

1867. Embossed. No wmk. Roul. 11½.

15. 1½sch mauve, Scott's No 13.

THE REMAINDERS.

At the time the Lubeck Post-office went out of business as a distinctive stamp issuing establishment quite a considerable number of stamps remained on hand and these were sold in December, 1868, to M. Ch. Pelletreau, of Paris, for about $450.00. The lot comprised the following:—

1859. ½sch 72,500 stamps.
1sch 29,500 stamps,
2sch 79,500 stamps.
2½sch 26,500 stamps.
4sch 107,500 stamps.
1863. ½sch 23,968 stamps.
1sch 7,228 stamps.
2sch 50,828 stamps.
2½sch 28,951 stamps.
4sch 17,851 stamps.
1864. 1¼sch 30,652 stamps.
1865. 1½sch 97,071 stamps.

Those of the first issue were all without gum and the two lowest values were the varieties on unwatermarked paper. Of the 2sch, 1590 were the errors inscribed "Zwei ein HALB."

REPRINTS.

In 1871 Herr Kirchner, a soldier who had been wounded in the Franco-German war, obtained the permission of the authorities to make reprints of all the stamps of Lubeck excepting the 1¼sch of 1864 for which, apparently, no die had been made, or, if made, had been lost. These reprints were made for Herr Kirchner by H. G. Rahtgens who charged the modest sum of $7.50 for the work. Of the 1859 issue 250 of each value were reprinted with an additional 250 of the 1sch on thick paper. As the original stones were not available new ones had to be made and these were small ones of 25 impressions in five rows of five. These varieties are, therefore, not true reprints but imitations made with official sanction. The paper is thin (with the exception of the extra lot of 1sch already referred to) and unwatermarked, the gum smooth and evenly applied, instead of thick and yellowish as in the originals, and the colors are also different. As these reprints are far rarer than the original stamps they are not likely to worry the average collector.

At the same time reprints of the 1863 issue were made and also of the 1½sch of 1865. There were only 250 of these likewise, but as they were neither embossed nor rouletted, and printed in colors widely differing from the originals their identification should be a simple matter. These are, of course, as rare as the reprints of the 1859 set.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—"I was glad to see that you have started the New Year right, by giving us another Hunt Rebus to solve and I only hope that it will interest enough other Hunters to warrant another one at a later date. By working overtime, 22 hours a day, since last Saturday and also going without meals in order to save time I've managed to find answers to each one. Only two minutes were required to find No. 9 but all of the aforementioned 22 hrs. was needed to find our friend of the scraggly whiskers—No. 11."—C. A. YARRINGTON.

—We need two or three copies more of the WEEKLY dated July 22, 1911, and we shall be pleased to send two foreign exchanges to anyone favoring us with number desired.

—A local stamp club has been formed in Brooklyn, N. Y., with Geo. T. Lane as president and Wm. Lycett as secretary-treasurer.

—Ohlman's Philatelic Advertiser is at hand. It is described as "a price list for the shrewd stamp buyer" and its numerous pages are crowded with offers. It will no doubt be sent upon application.

—The Indiana Stamp Co. states that it has received a request for approvals from Homer Price, Anchorage, Ky., but letters addressed to references were returned by the local postoffice marked "no such parties here."

—Clippings have been received from Appleton Thayer, Mrs. W. E. Underwood, Hyde Park Stamp Co., C. G. W. Carlson, W. Ellsworth Hibbard.

—We have received from the Glenn Stamp Co., a list of eleven collectors with whom the firm has had unsatisfactory dealings. No less than five of them are located in N. Y. City. For obvious reasons we do not publish this list, though we shall be pleased to do so if some attorney or collecting agency will pass upon the same.

A. WYNNE FOR THE WORLD.

"Philatelists, in common with the general public, will be gratified by Mr. Agar Wynne's decision to abolish the zoological monstrosity now masquerading as the Australian stamp. . . . It is a reflection upon Australian taste and loyalty."
—"The Register" (Adelaide.)

Oh, adieu, adieu, to the Kangaroo,
He hasn't got long to stay,—
He's curled up his non-philatelical tail
(It could knock you down like the flap of a flail)
And he's well on the skip and away.

For his luck fell through, and the Kangaroo
Is a quite irrevocable loss;—
He's off to the realm of the great might-have-bins—
A consummate tangle of elbows and shins—
To the joy of the gay Southern Cross.

The prize we drew was this Kangaroo—
(We never got nothing beside)—
A decade evolved this ridiculus mus
In the guise of a volatile Kangaroo cuss
With a caricature of a glide.

But he would not do, would the Kangaroo,
For the Antipodes jibbed at the sight;
Said they couldn't put up with a creature like that,
Too strong for a rabbit, too tall for a rat—
(And, for once in a way, they were right.)

We couldn't be true to the Kangaroo,
He wasn't at all the thing
To our fine philatelic inflexible taste,
With his ears acock and his knees misplaced—
For the stamp of a land of the King.

He'd do for the Zoo, would the Kangaroo;
In the scrub he might look very well;
But he isn't the chap to bestraddle a map
All clipperty-clopperty, flipperty-flap—
With a really remarkable smell.

Green, yellow, or blue, he's a Kangaroo,
A thing of equivocal grace;
And it seems that his fate is uncommonly black,
Now he's taken the sack and will never come back,
With a hop and a jump into space.

So the world is askew for the Kangaroo—
We are all of us happy because—
His loss, 'neath the Line, for marsupial sin
Is a win for the world, shews a world with A. Wynne,—
For he was "the limit"—he was.

The Moral.

This moral's on view at the end of my cue—
I always have morals on tap—
(Pari passu, I'd pass you this tip—to display
Zoological bounders in leaping array
Is to drop to the level of Liber-i-a):—
Let us

Keep to the King.
(Verbum sap.)

THE PARCEL POST SERIES OF THE UNITED STATES POSTAGE STAMPS.

By H. L. WILEY.

(Copyright 1914 by H. L. Wiley. All rights reserved.)

THE 1 CENT PARCEL POST.

The 1 cent stamp shows part of the mailing division of a large post office. In the foreground is a clerk distributing mail into four semi-circular rows of open mail bags.

This design was finished and approved on November 18, 1912, the first printing being made on the same day. The last printing of this stamp was made on June 6, 1913 at which time 209,691,540 of these stamps had been printed. On December 15, 1913, none of these were in stock at the Bureau.

Forty plates were prepared for this denomination, thirty-nine of which were finished. Twenty-five of the finished plates were used in printing this stamp and fifteen of them were never put to press. Ten of the twenty-five plates used for the actual printing were put to press before the marginal imprint of value was added to them.

The plate numbers and data relative to these plates follows:

OUR CURRENT AND COMING SERVICE.

We are sending out on our Mailing List this week, the new Turkey and they are "beauts"—for Turkey. Also New Egypt to 200 mils, Honduras to 1 peso, China and Dues, Hungary Charity to 5 kronas, Gold Coast to 5sh, Angola new type and several Portuguese Colonies surcharged with the new money. Better buy these now while they are cheap, for if you pass them up you will be sorry within one year. A few years ago you elevated your nasal appendage at French Colonies, now look in the catalog and note the prices of those you have not got. Experience teaches a dear school, but it is better to learn this way than not at all.

90% DISCOUNT

or one-tenth of catalogue is the price at which we will supply two South American stamps unused, well centered and in finest possible condition. They list $2.50 each by Scott and constitute the complete set. We are not saying just what they are, but will give you the privilege of returning them and having amount refunded, if you find you have either or both. Send on and receive the two stamps listed at $5. Blocks of four or more at same rate. We have plenty so don't be afraid to order. This is merely to demonstrate what bargains can be obtained from us.

Our pink list of over 200 books by countries sent free.

PHILATELIC OPINION

A few complete files of Volume I (twelve monthly numbers and index) can be supplied at $1.25 each post free. Early application is necessary as the number available is strictly limited. Some of the chief contents are a history of the Stamps of Bolivar, a Check List of the Hermes stamps of Greece; a descriptive list of little known De La Rue plate flaws; a number of articles explaining how to tell the difficult types of United States, France, etc., illustrated with enlarged diagrams; and numerous interesting and valuable notes. It is a volume every active collector should possess.

THE 1 CENT DOUBLE TRANSFER.

The color line under the title "Post Office Clerk" is double; the colorless circles around the numerals are out by the lines forming the background; there is a line through the top of the word "cents"; the background lines enter the left edge of the colorless numerals; the letters "S" and "ST" of "U. S. Parcel Post" show shade lines; the word "clerk" shows faintly double; and in the colorless curved line above the letters "U. S." the background lines are apparent.

This stamp has a straight edge at the left.

THE 2 CENT PARCEL POST STAMP.

The 2 cent stamp shows a "City Carrier" engaged in his usual routine of city delivery. The design for this stamp was finished November 15, 1912 and was that day officially approved. The first printing was on the following day, November 16, 1912 and the last printing on July 17, 1913. During this time a total of 206,417,700 of these stamps were printed, of which 185,841,446 had been delivered to various post offices by December 15, 1913, there remaining in stock at the Bureau at that time 20,576,-254 of these stamps.

The total number of plates engraved for this stamp is forty-three, nineteen of which were never used. Of the twenty-four plates which were used five were printed before the imprint was added. The imprint was on the last eight plates used before they were put to press.

The plate numbers and notes regarding each plate for this denomination follow herewith:

RATES
Our rates for advertising are given on the editorial page. They are low considering our circulation. We make a special offer of $15.00 per quarter page and this offer is proving very popular. We urge you to try it.

STAMP DIRECTORY GROWING.

St. Nicholas becoming more widely recognized as profitable result bringer.

A marked increase of stamp advertising has been apparent in the last few issues of St. Nicholas Magazine. The class of homes it reaches is a guarantee to the dealer of honest dealings and substantial orders, while the coöperation of the magazine in the matter of stimulating interest in stamp collections is well known. Many large dealers, now well known in the Philatelic world, started collecting as youngsters through the influence of the St. Nicholas Stamp Directory. The Scott Stamp & Coin people began their use of its advertising pages in 1873 and are using it yet. Dealers interested may obtain rates and information from the magazine at its address in Union Square, New York.

NEW TURKISH STAMPS.

The Turkish government has had a new issue of postage stamps printed in London. Hashim Bey, Secretary of the Post & Telegraph Department, was sent to London to supervise the process. The latest report is that they will be ready for the public about the middle of February. The complete issue numbers 150,000,000; 26 varieties, from 2 paras to 50 piastres. The face value of a complete set amounts to four Turkish liras or about $18.00. From the artistic standpoint, this issue will surpass all previous ones.

The pictures will be different views of Constantinople and vicinity, with a framework of Turkish and Arabic design. The lower values are in one color, the higher in two colors. The total cost of printing, including paper etc., is given out as 5,000 Turkish liras, or about $22,500.00. At this date (Jan. 8) the greater part of this issue is in the hands of the Turkish government; the rest have been left in London to be surcharged with a star for use on foreign correspondence. The star will take the place of the present surcharge of the Turkish letter "b". The remainder of the present issue will not be destroyed, as usually done heretofore, but will be used until exhausted.

All but 600,000 of the stamps commemorating the recapture of Adrianople have been used up. This remainder will be surcharged "Taxe" and in a few days will be put to use as postage due stamps. Caraco Effendi has purchased 2,000 Turkish liras or nearly $10,000.00 worth of these postage dues to sell to collectors with the stipulation, however, that the Turkish government shall not sell any more to the public but use the rest as postage due stamps.

THE SHERIDAN BOOK ADVT.

We desire to call attention to the quarter page advt. of the Sheridan Co. and the more particularly so because an error occurred two weeks ago, that nullified the force of the lot offer.

A wide variety of books is offered by this firm and we trust that our subscribers will welcome the insertion of an occasional advertisement of this kind in the knowledge that it will broaden the usefulness of the publication. Let the Sheridan Co. have your order for any books needed.

CALLING ON THE OLD WORLD TO REDRESS THE INJUSTICE OF THE NEW.

To the Editor of THE SUN—Sir: Having failed to impress upon the publishers of America the value of my literary wares I shall now try the publishers of Europe, of Great Britain and the Continent.

Can you tell me where in this city I can buy postage stamps of the various European countries?

A STRUGGLING AUTHOR.

New York, February 2.

TO PREVENT SUBSTITUTION.

By ARTHUR L. GLEASON.

There had always been a hitch against sending stamps on approval especially in books because of the fact that it was so hard to keep a list to show which stamps occupied each space. Of course large dealers overcome this by having trays made in compartments, but this is rather expensive for a small dealer or exchanger. While thinking over this problem recently I hit on an idea which seemed to me to be good and which on practice worked even better than I expected.

First I took some sheets of paper 3"x5" and had them ruled in seventeen lines one-quarter of an inch apart. Down the center I had ruled another line. Every fifth line was made heavy denoting a page in the approval book. Starting in the upper left hand corner I used the first five lines down the page to denote the top row in the book. Then commencing with the upper right hand corner I used the corresponding five lines to denote the bottom row. In the upper right hand corner of each line I stamped in ink the catalog value of the stamps in the corresponding place. Then in pencil I wrote the country and catalog number in the remaining space. By selecting a good quality of paper each sheet can be erased about fifty or sixty times. In this manner when a stamp is removed it is very easy to erase the country and number and substitute another in its place. This is also a proof against substitutions as the sender has a direct copy of the stamps in any definite space.

THE DEATH OF PHILIP WOLFF.

Our readers will be deeply pained to hear of the death of Philip Wolff, a former contributor to the WEEKLY, an officer of the B. P. S. and a very enthusiastic philatelist. Strange to say we have been unable to learn more than the bare fact that Mr. Wolff is dead and the following tribute written by A. W. Dunning is expressive of the regret of Boston Philatelists who knew Mr. Wolff as a splendid type of philatelist:—

"A strange happening has come to pass in the 'Boston Philatelic Society.' I refer to the sudden, and only recently known, death of Philip Wolff, our admirable and efficient International Secretary. We, members of the society of which he was an honored member and which he served conscientiously, wisely and with the intelligence that could alone come from his knowledge of foreign languages and in which the majority of his co-members could not hope to equal him, in his regularity of attendance at meetings (even when his studies demanded his attention), his good nature and his desire to help those in need of his help or counsel, cannot but feel a personal loss. That, in complete ignorance of his death, we should have re-elected him to fill the position which he so ably occupied during his lifetime, seems to me, though an unfortunate one in so far as the 'Boston Philatelic Society' is concerned, yet one of the highest compliments to Mr. Wolff. While I realize that the action of the society in electing as one of its officers a man dead and buried, is open to comment, I trust that such comment will be made in a generous spirit, a spirit recognizing the fact that we may die in obscurity or that the news of our demise may be heralded far and near, but that the really important thing is, that those who speak of our death may do so with regret, that they may have something good to say of our lives, and that our lives may prove an incentive—as was Mr. Wolff's—to the progress of others."

SOLD BY TELEGRAPH
Before we received our copy of MEKEEL'S for January 31, the collection of about 6000 stamps which we offered in that issue for $290 was sold BY TELEGRAPH! The purchaser now writes us that he would not take $500 for it. Think what that means!

This week we offer another great bargain, as our client wishes to raise some money at once to invest in real estate. It is a general collection of about 7000 stamps, catalog value about $1100.00, with many stamps not priced in Scott's. This collection cost our client about $725. Over 1500 U. S. and colonies, worth alone the price asked, to a collector. About 50 old original covers, with stamps, both U. S. and foreign.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

However quiet business may be in other directions the stamp trade is rejoicing in a tremendous activity, and this is being reflected in the columns of the WEEKLY. Old dealers are using large space and new dealers are constantly coming upon the field of action.

The names of Stanley Gibbons Inc., J. M. Bartels Co., McGraw Stamp Co., Queen City Stamp Co., Newfoundland Stamp Exchange, Chesapeake, Emily King, H. Tasker, Reliance Stamp Co., etc., are lending strength to our already long list of patrons.

Mr. Tasker urges us to reserve a good quarter page in the issue of Feb. 28 and this we have done. We intend to make this special number just as attractive as possible. As Mr. Aldrich says, "Write us now," if not, to quote the Sterling Co., "We Both Lose."

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Early Philatelic Print—All printed references to stamp collecting before the year 1860 have an interest to collectors who have antiquarian instincts. Accounts of stamp collecting in the press during the decade, 1850 to 1860, are not found in profusion, it is readily imagined. At the time, collecting was not a systematized pursuit by any means, even though there were a few collectors then who arranged their stamps in an orderly way. That stamp collecting was not regarded as an organized branch of endeavor at that early day is a circumstance proved by the absence of any literature even of the most elementary kind exclusively on the subject of stamps. It was not until 1861 that a list of twelve pages appeared in France; and it was in 1862 that English publications began to make their appearance. It has been claimed that a reference to stamp collecting appeared in the Family Herald in the year 1851, as contrasted to remarks on stamp hoarding or accumulating that appeared before that date in the Times and in Punch. Early in the sixties there were a number of articles on stamps and stamp collecting in the periodical press of England and Scotland that proclaimed to the public the presence of "the last new mania."

It Is Before Us—With feelings in which it may be said reverence almost has a part, we have just read "Something About Postage Stamps," an article, six columns in length, in the Leisure Hour, "a family journal of instruction and recreation," of August 4, 1859. The Leisure Hour was a London weekly published at a popular price, one penny, but it was of excellent class relatively speaking, with contents of an order much superior to its cost. Notice the sympathetic note that is sounded in the opening paragraph of the article: "We confess to harbouring something like a tender affection for those little parallelogrammic portraits of Her Majesty in red, which, costing us only a penny each, yet frank our letters to any part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. * * * A single one of them guarantees you the despatch of a missive for a distance of five hundred miles, if you like, with the speed of the carrier pigeon and the punctuality of clockwork; and will thus perform for its owner a feat which would cost him twenty pounds or so to execute in person, and which, had he existed a century ago, he could not have accomplished with a mine of wealth."

To Proceed—The article gives a lively sketch of the old "franking days" before the use of adhesive stamps and we read: "The Penny Post, and the appearance of the miniature Queen's head, put an end to the begging of franks from members of Parliament. Even Government servants now use the red stamps on their letters, with the exception (though perhaps that is not the sole exception) of the members of the Cabinet, who have a round red stamp of their own, bearing the word 'Paid,' and no Queen's head." Further, a description that does not suffer from technical diffuseness of the manufacture of the penny stamps is given; and the reason for the use of the lower corner letters is explained. The statement is made: "There has never been, and probably never will be, an instance of the forgery of postage stamps." The lack of incentive to the commission of the crime is shown and the difficulties enumerated of making the original die, the blocks or plates, the watermarked paper and the special ink, as the forger would have to do.

The Original—We have found the first "condition crank" and those who regard the critic of erratic separation as a creation of modern philately may now know that they must revise their opinion. The Leisure Hour article is our authority for bumping tradition, as may be seen from the following complaint: The subject of perforations is under notice: "The cross net-work of holes is never found precisely in the place where it should be: instead of occupying the white intervals between the stamps, it encroaches upon the stamps themselves, cutting away a part of their sides, or devouring a part of the words at top or bottom. The operation is, however, performed well enough for all practical purposes." Obstacles to even perforating are spoken of and the necessity of wholly removing the discs is emphasized.

Enter the Collector—The author of "Something About Stamps" introduces philately, diluted to the last degree, it must be admitted, in the words: "It is true that hundreds of millions of postage stamps are annually destroyed, and meet with the fate of waste paper; but the whims of a certain class of people, who like to exercise their industry on trifles, have decreed that vast numbers of stamps shall be rescued from the ordinary fate that awaits them, and be appropriated to a useful, if it may be so called, or a quasi-ornamental purpose. As there are collectors of almost everything old under the sun—from old pots and pans, old metals, old stores, and old anything—so also are there collectors of old postage stamps. True, we are somewhat disturbed to learn that the collectors of stamps are confused in mind with those who collect on a very practical basis; as "Now it is to line a work-box or a trunk, or the interior of a closet or a cabinet; and sometimes their ambition takes a still higher flight than this, and their grand design is to paper a room with the defaced Queen's heads,"—but, remember, this was fifty-five years ago.

Proving It—Through the article of Mr. D. J. Kaib, in the American Philatelist, not to mention adventitious aids, the authenticity of the American 1879 print has been confirmed, it seems to us. As we have been properly skeptical of the existence of the variety, it is only fair to say that we are in process of being convinced that it is a reality; and on this phase, we shall have something to say later. So long ago as 1895, a student of United States stamps wrote: "They may have also printed some stamps on brittle paper, and if any of our readers have stamps which show the whole or part of the American company's imprint which are on brittle paper, we should be very glad to see them. However, the first work done was from plates already made, so that it is possible that even if the American paper to some extent was used, the stamps bore the National or Continental imprints." The specimen on which Mr. Kaib rests his case is the one-cent, 1879, with imprint of the American company.

Now a Law—The bill making postal money orders payable at any money order post office has been signed by President Wilson and a committee has been appointed by Postmaster General Burleson "to draft the necessary regulations." The new system will be installed in the course of several months, no doubt; and the enactment will facilitate mail transactions as the money order will be endowed with all "the properties of a bank draft."

Standardized—Recently, the post office department ruled that all parcel post and collection and delivery wagons shall be "standardized" to conform to specifications that are given at length. The idea of uniformity, fortified with tasteful details, executed mechanically in a competent manner, is a good one; and under the new regulation the wagons will mean more to all of us.

To My Stamp Collecting Friends:

I beg to announce that I am no longer connected with the Eugene Klein, Incorporated, either directly or indirectly. I am starting in the stamp business independently and have opened an office in a centrally located attractive vicinity. I have no stamps to begin with and am ready to buy a very fine general collection and single rarities for cash. My specialty will be Auction Sales, in which I have had considerable experience. Auction Catalogue of Twentieth Century stamps now in course of preparation will be mailed free upon application.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—H. A. Seklemian favors us with a newspaper clipping giving the particulars of the new Turkish issue.

—If you saw the advt. you buy from in the columns of the WEEKLY—say so!

—We still need some few copies of July 22, 1911. Send us in one and we will send you specimens of some foreign exchanges.

—Our next special—February 28.

—Our Hunt rebus has given our daily mail a tremendous impetus.

—Have you noticed the half dozen new users of advertising space? Our little booklet, "How to Deal in Stamps", is working up a big dealing activity.

—"Enclosed find my check in payment for S. & H. advertisement in the January 31, 1914, MEKEEL'S. The collection we advertised was purchased by a Boston man on Monday, before our MEKEEL'S reached us. Am hoping for as good luck with this one."—S. & H. STAMP Co.

—We are advised that a philatelic and numismatic society has been organized at the Boston Y. M. C. A.

—"Now, regarding No. 4. After most carefully seeking this innocent-appearing stamp, I'm of the same opinion as the farmer who, visiting the Zoo for the first time declared, after gazing long and wonderingly on the giraffe: "'Taint true,—there ain't no sich animal!' That's how I feel regarding No. 4, but should I find it before the 14th, I'll let you know. Contests such as these are great 'time killers,' for those who like myself are 'shut-in' and am already wondering as to what prize you're going to send me!"—RAFAEL MORA. Sorry, Mr. Mora, about prize, but we have scores of complete lists in already.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Albert Lee and G. de Lachasse.

—The J. M. Stuart Co. submits sample of a Paris, Ky., 1c postage due precancel and advises us that the following were used during November and December, 1913:—1c and 2c regular dues, 5c, 10c and 25c parcel post dues; 15c parcel post and 1c, 2c, 3c and 5c regular postage.

—We are advised that the colors of the values to be added to the current U. S. set are as follows:—7c black; 9c pink; 12c maroon; 20c light blue and 30c vermilion. The 7c will have head of Washington and the rest of the values Franklin.

—A set of New Zealand stamps consisting of the ½d, 1d, 3d and 6d has been issued with the overprint "Auckland Exhibition 1913". The stamps were sold at the exhibition only and were available only for internal postage.

—The stamps of Northern Nigeria and Southern Nigeria will soon make their exit. A union of the two has been accomplished and new stamps are in preparation bearing the name "Nigeria."

—We are informed by E. Androchowicz that the new parcel post system will be established for Canada Feb. 10, but nothing definite is known as to new parcel post stamps.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

UNITED STATES.—The Rev. Joseph Dreyer writes:

"On page 44 of MEKEEL'S of January 31, 1914, mention is made of 'a 2c envelope, Die E, size 8, on white, with the new low cut knife, the first time this knife has been reported on this size and color.' I have had used copies of that envelope as early as March, 1913, and on paper of either watermark now concurrent; viz., USSE 1911 and US—SE 1911. At present I have in my collection one used copy of the above, watermark US-SE 1911, postmarked at Boston, Mass., Mch. 20—1913 and one used copy, watermark USSE (without the hyphen) postmarked 'Wall St. Sta. N. Y.' January 24, 1913."

CANADA.—Frank B. Eldredge shows us a new postmark, advertising the "Halifax Firemen's Tournament and Summer Carnival, Aug. 4-9, 1914."

EGYPT.—Frank B. Eldredge has shown us the new 5m stamp in a used pair.

FIJI ISLANDS.—Hermann Focke writes as follows: "In No. 1192 you reported on my authority the issue of the 2d grey and 5d violet and olive-green with head of King Edward, but a recent order filled for me by the Postmaster at Suva contained these two values in the old colors, violet and ochre and violet and green, so that I am in doubt as to whether the new colors have really been issued. Still, to prove my information, I enclose the Postmaster's letter to me of Sept. 18, which clearly states that the two stamps in the new colors are 'in issue.'—The 2½d value still comes with head of King Edward, and not King George, as has recently been reported."

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke writes as follows:

"It will interest collectors that one of those good-hearted ex-Postmasters from Nicaragua has 'come to town,' with a batch of unsurcharged stamps of the two issues of 1911-12 (Liberty and Engine) and amongst them the much-talked-of 6c chocolate-brown value of the latter series, which was not put on sale at the Atlantic Coast, according to best and reliable information received by me. Still, the stamp is bona fide, as far as the printers, Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., are concerned, who produced and delivered it according to contract. Whether it is a postage stamp, good and proper, I leave to the decision of those who got some of the rake-off. The stamp is selling here at from 15 cents up, and is cheap at that, as the issue was very small, and the greater part was surcharged with the 'Cordoba' currency."

ST. HELENA.—It may interest collectors, that recent consignments of 6d stamps from this Colony have been again in the first issue with head of King George, with "POSTAGE & REVENUE," so there is no reason why anyone should believe that this stamp is the scarcest 20th Century British Colonial stamp, and a bargain at almost fifteen times its face value, says Hermann Focke. The stamp at the present moment is not worth over 15 or 20 cents, and is offered in New York at this price. The 4d "Postage & Revenue" is obsolete, but a fair supply has gone out all over the world. This stamp is offered in New York at 25c.

URUGUAY.—Hermann Focke submits specimens showing that the 5 milesimos value of the lithographed set, which was first printed in a dark violet, almost purple shade, comes now in a reddish-violet tint.

VENEZUELA.—Leonard F. Garbaccio has shown us the 5c of the 1911 Correos set in two colors, supplementing the 10c reported in No. 1205. The specimen submitted is used.

SO. CAL. PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

At the usual monthly meeting held at Blanchard Hall, Los Angeles on Thursday, January 29th, M. H. Newmark showed his magnificent unused collection of the stamps of Belgium which took high awards at the Vienna and Amsterdam Exhibitions a few years ago. At the same time Bertram W. H. Poole read a paper on Belgium tracing the postal and philatelic history of the country from the issue of its first two stamps in 1849 to the present day. There was an attendance of about fifty and as fourteen new members were elected at the business meeting it looks as if the S. C. P. S. will rapidly become one of the most active of American Philatelic Societies.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE CARELESSNESS OF WILLY GROW.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

"Whenever you see a four-eyed man, 'specially the kind that anchors 'em back o' the ears, do your thinkin' first," said Jimmy O'., oracularly, as he swung lazily in the hammock.

Jimmy's quizzically twisted smile meant another of his varied experiences. I did not break the ensuing silence.

"One a minute, I've had 'em—experiences," declared Jimmy, as he dug his boot-toe into the dust, and set the hammock swinging. Then he began to laugh until I feared hysteria.

"Reminds me o' the time I was punchin' cattle upon Wild Rye—Lazy S ranche. We had fer neighbor the meanest man the East ever turned loose, bar none. And crooked—well, he couldn't turn a corner square. But he got his, good an' plenty—$700 it cost him, too, at the point of a gun—er several of 'em."

Jimmy felt in his shirt for his cigarette papers and his package of tobacco. They were missing. Then he laughed some more.

"Gee! that Mex. I lent the makin's to give me the cigarette an' kept the outfit!" Jimmy chortled in his glee at the trick which he had played so many times himself upon fellow cowboys.

"You see," resumed Jimmy, "this fellow—Old Crabapple we called him—had a buckskin outlaw that he'd made a standing offer of $100 to any man who'd ride him. Now I can ride—a little."

Ride a little! Well, I thought, if Jimmy O'. can ride only a little, I never saw anyone who could ride at all, and I've seen some riding.

I tossed Jimmy a package of tobacco and papers. He rolled rapidly and deftly and soon grew volcanic.

"Not for Jimmy—that blamed outlaw near bit my laig off an' then sat on my stummick for near twenty minutes—maybe ten—deliberatin'."

I laughed. Jimmy looked aggrieved. Then he fair doubled up with mirth.

"One day, when we were all in the bunk-house, playin' solitaire or casino or old maid or somethin'—pay day being some remote—a man rode up on that same outlaw. Say, we fair fought to get into the clear to look him over. His saddle was cowboy, but some bob-tail; bridle some silver; bit, more silver; and spurs—say, they was $90 worth o' silver and work on 'em—an' rowels big as dollars an' wicked as a squaw full o' tizwiz. But he didn't wear the spurs. They was tied on his saddle. I couldn't figger out his make-up—not me.

"Then I looked the man over some more careless-like. Overalls, new; boots, medium; shirt, new; vest, old; gun in scabbard, old, wood-handle Colt's .45; belt, full o' cartridges; and the gun—tied-down.

"This wasn't any tender-foot—not with a tied-down gun. Right there I began to study him out. He wore steel-bow spectacles, glasses thick an' round as a dollar Mex., and he had the sweetest baby-like smile you ever see. Say, honest, I was fair scared o' that man's smile. He was too dern soft an' easy lookin' with the smile, an' too dern hard-as-nails an' quicker along o' that tied-down gun.

"Now they's a fool in every cow-camp. We had more'n our share—me an' Eddy Fyne. I was some slower 'n Eddy that time, 'count o' doin' the lookin'-over first.

"'Alight, stranger, an' anchor your cayuse,' says Eddy, genial-like.

"When I see that man swing off'n that horse, I hiked into the bunk-house an' thought hard. I couldn't just place him, but anyway I was mighty glad I'd done my thinkin' first.

"'I'd like to get on, here, if you please,' says the man, gentle-like, to Eddy.

"Me—I butted in quick: 'Sure! See the foreman.' Then I walked him over to the boss, an' he was took on.

"Nex' day I sure seen some ridin' o' that outlaw—plum gentle he was, too. An' that new cow-hand—say! when I see him drop a rope on that loco steer it all come back quick. Willy Grow! Late o' Buffalo Bill's Wild West, where he was some with the rope. Me—I was with that outfit one consecutive night when ole Unc' Billy Barr an' I mixed with the outfit fer fun, an' then beat it out o' town, not drawin' any pay. Too much like a circus fer me—them idiots applaudin' when Unc' Billy's saddle turned an' the bronchos near tromped him.

"As I was sayin', Willy was some puncher. He stayed with us till the end of the round-up. Then, when he drew his pay, we explained how ole' Crabapple had offered $100 to any man who'd ride that cayuse. Seven of us fixed it up. Funny thing about that outlaw. Willy'd go up to him an' fuzzle his ears an' tell 'im to be good an' he'd be good. Then anyone could ride 'im.

"Well, as I was sayin' when you interrupted me, one likely mornin' we saddles up an' goes over to ole' Crabapple's.

"'Mornin',' says he, some polite an' gentle, lookin' at our guns, for we'd tied 'em all down. Me—I had two, an' Eddy had swiped cook's knife. Would a swiped another, only cooky yelled like you was stealin' candy.

"'Mornin,' says Willy, sweet an' soft. Say, ole' Crab was mad inside, fer he knew we meant some devilment. But he sure was polite.

"We hear tell you've offered a premium fer any one who'll ride this here cayuse I paid you forty for,' says Willy, cheerful-like.

"'Not now,' says Crabapple. 'You've broke him.'

"'All right,' says Willy. 'Bet you $100 you can't stay with him ten minutes.'

"Ole Crab swells up some at that, an' goes to it. Willy fuzzles the outlaw's ears, first, me feelin' some mad at him, fer I sure wanted ole Crab to enjoy the run he'd get fer his money.

"Now ole Crab could ride, an' fer nine minutes it was easy.

Then he made a fatal error.

"'I get the $100, what?' says he.

"Willy just grinned. The minute outlaw heard that voice, he cut loose. With ten seconds to go he sure eats up ole Crab. I've seen 'em shook up some, but this scared me. The last pitch an' Crab hit the ground in a heap—five seconds too soon to win the century.

"Crab was madder'n all get out.

"'No man can stay with 'im,' he yells. "I'll bet you $100 a piece."

"You're on," says Willy, that quick.

"Me—I was first. Tell you what, I 'most prayed it'd be over soon. I sure wanted to lose that $100 right fast. Thought it was my last day this side o'—er—heaven."

Jimmy doubled up with mirth.

"Ole outlaw was plum' gentle my twelve minutes. They was seven of us. Twelve minutes a-piece strung it out some. Ole Crab yells fraud, but Willy looks hard an' reaches fer his gun.

"'No checks go,' says Willy, 'Cash. We get it in gold.'

"Now ole Crab had sold his steers the day before, an' Willy timed it right. So Crab pays over the $700, and never yells no more.

"An' what do you think Willy done with his? The bloomin' idiot goes over to the river and threw them five twenty-dollar gold pieces in, one at a time, just like a kid, watchin' 'em skip, me standin' by with my mouth open.

"'Oh, thunder!' says Willy, when the last one's gone. 'Who wants that kind o' money? Come on, let's go back an' look at your stamp c'lection'."

The 3 Cent Parcel Post.

This stamp was the last of the series to appear. It was finally approved on March 28, 1913, over four months after the first Parcel Post stamp had been printed. The first printing was made on March 28, 1913 and the last printing on May 24, 1913, the printing "life" being less than two months duration. The total number printed is 29,027,880, of which 22,036,586 had been delivered to Postmasters by December 15, 1913, there remaining in stock at the Bureau at that time but 6,991,294 of these stamps.

But four plates were prepared for this denomination, all of which were used. The marginal imprint of value was engraved on these plates before any printings had been made.

Some of these stamps are printed in a rose shade which differs slightly from the color common to the majority of the Parcel Post Stamps.

Plate numbers and data are presented herewith:

The 4 Cent Parcel Post Stamp.

The design for the 4 cent stamp showing a "Rural Carrier" was approved on November 14, 1912, the first plates having been finished on that date. The plates were not put to press until nearly three weeks later. The first printing was made on December 2, 1912, and the last printing was made on May 6, 1913. During this time a total of 76,744,260 stamps were printed of which 71,584,961 had been delivered to Postmasters by December 15, 1913, at which time there remained in stock at the Bureau 5,159,299 of these stamps.

A total of sixteen plates were prepared for this denomination, three of which were never used. Of the thirteen plates used, four were printed before the imprint of value was added to the plate. Five of the plates which were used were originally made with the imprint of value on the margin and four were put to press without this imprint.

The pate numbers and related information are annexed hereto:

The 5 Cent Parcel Post.

The 5 cent stamp shows a "Mail Train" approaching a suspended but unsuspecting mail bag at a speed sufficient to discourage the practice of inclosing coin in ordinary envelopes. This design was approved on November 14, 1912. The first plates were finished on November 18, 1912, and the first printing was made on that date. The last printing was made on May 5, 1913. Between these dates a total of 108,154,440 of these stamps were printed. By December 15, 1913, 101,006,141 had been delivered to Postmasters, there remaining in stock at the Bureau a total of 7,148,299 stamps.

For this denomination, twenty-four plates were prepared nineteen of which were used, five never having been used. Four of the plates were printed before the imprint of value had been added to the margin and eight were originally made with the imprint. One of these eight was never put to press.

On this denomination occurs one of the two double transfers which have been discovered on this series, the other being in the 1 cent stamp. I am unable to name the plate on which this double transfer, which is illustrated herewith, may be found.

The plate numbers and tabulated data relating to them follows:

THE DOUBLE TRANSFERS OF THE 5 CENT STAMP.

No. 1.—The double transfer is most noticeable in the right hand figure "5" and the white circle around it, and in the lines projecting into the white area at the right of the boiler head of the locomotive. Half of the letters in the words "U. S. Parcel Post" show more or less distinct traces. The white circle around the left hand figure "5" is cut by the continuation of the horizontal lines forming the background for the numeral. The copy in the writer's collection is perforated on four sides, the perforations cutting into the design at the right.

No. 2.—The double transfer shows in the letters "rc" of the word "Parcel," in both numerals and in the letters "ce" of the word "cents." The vertical plate line is at the right edge of this stamp.

THE 10 CENT PARCEL POST STAMP.

The design for the 10 cent stamp, "Steamship and Mail Tender" was approved on November 8, 1912 and the first plates were finished four days later on November 12, 1912. The first printing was made on that day and the last printing on June 24, 1913. The total number of these stamps which were printed is 56,897,100. By December 15, 1913, the number which had been delivered to postmasters amounted to 56,125,571, leaving a stock of 771,529 remaining in the Bureau.

For this denomination, nine plates were prepared, one of which was never finished. The eight remaining plates were all put to press at various times. The imprint of value was added to four of these plates on February 5, 1913, and to the remaining four on January 28, 1913. All of these plates were put to press before these imprints had been added.

The plate numbers and data for each plate is given herewith:

Produced With Great Care

We believe that if a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well. With this belief in mind we have produced for the first time a carefully compiled which will be sent free to any one who writes to us for it. Lists of sets that merely offer "ten varieties of Bulgaria for a dime" or "big set of Austria for fifteen cents" are not exactly what an earnest collector wants. Our list contains over running in price from 8 cents to $50 and over, and is particularly strong in Twentieth Century Stamps of which we hold a superb stock. It has been carefully prepared and is free from such catches as telegraph cancellations, punched holes, etc.

List of Sets

Two Thousand Sets

Requests on postal cards go into the waste basket where such things belong—properly written requests will receive this new publication by return mail free of charge.

THE 15 CENT PARCEL POST.

The design of the 15 cent stamp illustrates the "Automobile Service"—a feature of the Parcels Post Service which has rapidly developed since the system was inaugurated a year ago.

This design was approved on November 26, 1913 and the first plates completed on December 2, 1912. The first printing was made eight days later on December 10, 1912. The last printing was made on May 16, 1913. Between these dates 21,147,480 of these stamps were printed. Deliveries to Postmasters amounted to 19,343,741 stamps by December 15, 1913, there remaining in stock at the Bureau at that time, 1,803,739.

Eight plates were prepared for this value, four of which were never put to press. The imprint of value was added January 30, 1913, to the four plates which were printed. The four plates which were not used were originally made with the imprint of value.

The plate numbers and data relative to each plate is given herewith:

THE 20 CENT PARCEL POST STAMP.

The design of the 20 cent stamp showing an "Aeroplane Carrying Mail" illustrates a comparatively new experimental feature of the mail service in this country.

The design was approved on November 26, 1912, and the first plate was finished on December 5, 1912 and the last printing on June 5, 1913. During the time 17,142,840 stamps were printed of which 16,732,976 had been delivered to Postmasters by December 15, 1913, there remaining at the Bureau at that time but 409,864 of these stamps.

Eight plates were prepared for this denomination, four of which were never used. To the four plates which were printed, the imprint of value was added on February 1, 1913. The four plates which were not used were originally made with the imprint. The four plates to which the imprint was subsequently added had been put to press before it was added to them.

The plate numbers and data relative to each plate is as follows:

THE 25 CENT PARCEL POST STAMP.

The design for the 25 cent stamp, "Manufacturing" is one of the irrevelant designs of the four high values which bear little relation to the Parcel Post. The subject is a steel plant near Chicago. The design was approved on November 13, 1912, and the first four plates were finished on that date. The first printing was made on the following day, November 14, 1912 and the last printing on November 23, 1912, during which time a total of 21,941,100 of these stamps were printed. By December 15, 1913, the deliveries to postmasters amounted to 19,199,831 stamps, there remaining in stock at the Bureau at the time a total of 2,741,269 of these stamps.

For this denomination, twelve plates were prepared, six of which were never used.

The imprint of value was added on Jan. 31, 1913, to the six plates which were used. These plates had been put to press before the imprint was added.

The plate numbers and records of each plate is as follows:

A SHOWER OF STAMPS.

By ARTHUR IRWIN SMITH.

Raymond lay drowsing on the sloping green lawn of his sister's home in Oakland, idly watching the vari-colored balloons and unnameable enormities which now and then drifted high in the breeze across the bay from Chinatown. Twenty-five thousand Celestials were insane for a day, wildly celebrating the advent of this new year amid the deafening noise of imported fireworks. The big yellow dragon would soon walk and bring both awe and joy to the excited heathen throng. Mad with religious ardor and loyalty to the fatherland, each incident of the celebration would be more and more fantastic until the grand climax came that night in a blaze of Chinese fireworks and American electrical devices.

Raymond mused and grumbled at his mother's lack of confidence in his ability to take care of himself. That morning he had confided to her his intentions of witnessing the celebrations. Mrs. Whitcomb threw up her hands in horror.

"You shall not!" she cried. "Those heathens would do anything today. If they didn't kill you they'd kidnap you and sell you into slavery."

"But, mother, I am getting old enough to keep out of danger," protested Raymond. He was sixteen and had unlimited confidence in himself—conceit, his father had suggested that it be called.

Mrs. Whitcomb was obdurate however, and his protestations only got him into more trouble. "I'm going to Oakland to see Marie and the baby today, and you've got to come right along at my elbow," she declared. So ten o'clock found him half-asleep on the clean suburban lawn, wishing with all his heart that he was in the midst of Chinatown and its seething throng of fanatical and perhaps dangerous heathens.

Raymond had always been more or less interested in the swarthy orientals on account of the collection of Chinese stamps he was making. His passion for collecting having been aroused by the gift of a common green "dragon" stamp from a friendly laundryman, he had since formed a good general collection and one of the best specialized collections of Chinese known to exist. He had used but little money in forming it, but it represented months of time spent among the Americanized Chinese, making friends with them and then putting through deals and trades that seemed insignificant enough but which were in reality of great importance to Raymond. A few coppers would usually secure the privilege of taking any canceled stamps he wanted, after he had first won the Chinaman's confidence. If he did not wait until he received their friendship they would have nothing to do with the "bad Melican boy." Many a shrewd shop-man and importer in the business part of town for a few pennies enriched Raymond's collection with rarities that in the open market would have sold for a small fortune.

As Raymond's eyes lazily followed a dragon-kite that seemed to be drifting swiftly with the wind, he began thinking of his stamp collection and of some of the few rarities he needed to make it complete. Perhaps this very day he could have found them if his mother had not been so fearful of his safety. Big bombs burst every few minutes across the bay, and each detonation renewed his pangs of disappointment. There was one stamp for which he especially longed, and he knew a druggman who had a copy of it. He had seen it once, but had met a morose refusal to his offer to trade for it. Perhaps the spirit of the new year would have made Hop Lee more open-hearted; who knows?

Raymond closed his eyes and turned on his side for a moment. Presently he looked out again, across the smooth grassy lawn—and there not three feet away lay a superb copy of the very stamp of which he had been thinking.

With a half-frightful exclamation he sprang to his feet. It seemed almost supernatural! Was he dreaming? Evidently not, for he had wrenched his ankle painfully in his wild scramble for the stamp.

"Well," he thought, "I've heard it said that everything comes to him who waits but that's the first time I ever saw anything come to a waiting stamp collector."

He looked around casually and stooped to examine his injured ankle. There at his feet lay another superb stamp, almost as rare as the first, one for which he had long hunted. He glanced to one side—and there lay a duplicate. He turned around, and here and and there over the lawn he saw little brightcolored bits of paper—all stamps, and most of them apparently in good condition.

"If this is a dream," he said to himself, "it is a fine one, and I shall proceed to make the most of it." So he hobbled around and picked up all he could find, carefully stowing them away in his small pocket stock-book.

"What are you doing, Raymond?" asked Mr. Elvyn, his brother-in-law, who happened along just at that moment.

"It's raining stamps," excitedly responded Raymond, "and rare ones at that!" He showed his pocketful of treasures.

"Those Chinks are raising a lot of fuss over there," remarked the older man, nodding his head toward Chinatown, "but search me if I can tell how they managed to get those stamps high enough into the air to reach Oakland."

"Maybe they put them in one of their high-power bombs," said Raymond, "or sent them up as confetti in one of their kites. It's a good-looking sort of confetti to me."

His mother's eyes opened in surprise when she heard the tale. She had felt that she was rather strict in not allowing him to go to Chinatown at least for a little while during the morning, and it was pleasant to know of his good fortune as the result of her actions.

"I suppose you'll quit grieving and grumbling about not seeing the Big Dragon today, Raymond, after all this luck," she laughed.

"Sure," said the boy, "it is an ill wind that blows no good, but that breeze across the bay has beaten anything I ever saw. I must be the luckiest boy in the world."

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Parcels of miscellaneous printed matter weighing more than four pounds are mailable at the fourth-class or parcel post rates of postage. This does not affect the postage rate of one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof on parcels of miscellaneous printed matter weighing four pounds or less.

—The Postal Administration of Great Britain has advised through the International Bureau of the Universal Postal Union at Berne, Switzerland, that a post office has been established at Kuala Kemaman, in the State of Trengganu, which is one of the Malay States.

—Our attention is called to the fact that the boy collectors of Brooklyn and the east side of N. Y. City are perniciously active in the matter of securing approval selections and making no returns on the same. We have sounded this warning several times in the past and if dealers get bitten it will be their own fault.

—Herbert F. Butler reports that letters sent to two references offered by Earl Kurtz of Amo, Ind., were returned marked "Unclaimed."

—"The Department is informed of the receipt by addresses in Central and So. America of many short-paid letters and other articles originating in the United States. As charges for postage due on short-paid articles give rise to much complaint, postmasters are directed to give the widest possible publicity to the rates of postage and the conditions applicable to letters and other articles, for Central and South America and other foreign countries, and to the regulation which requires the collection on delivery to the addressees of short-paid articles of DOUBLE the amount of deficient postage. The only foreign countries to which the two-cent letter rate applies are Canada, Cuba, Mexico, the Republic of Panama, Newfoundland, Canal Zone, Germany (by direct steamers only), England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland, and the city of Shanghai, China."—JOSEPH STEWART, Second Asst. P. M. General.

—"I have addressed a letter to our representative at Washington and asked him to use his influence in securing a more rigid investigation into the disappearance of mail matter from the ordinary mails. I suggested that a sworn statement shall be required of both the addressee and the sender. I think this would stop about 90% of the present time worn out excuses of "not having received the stamps sent" or of "having made returns for same." If other dealers would write to their representatives it might help to secure a more systematic way of tracing letters than the present system, which accomplishes nothing."—J. EMORY RENOLL.

—In connection with the centennial celebration to be observed by Norway this year we have been shown by Dewey Somdal a rather interesting and unique jubilee cancellation which is now being used. It consists of an inscription in four lines, two being in Norwegian and the two remaining in German and French. It is evidently the intention of the postal authorities to properly advertise the coming event.

EDITORIAL.

No Doubt Remains—Last week, we referred briefly to the discovery of the American Bank Note Company's product, 1879 issue, on hard paper and to the fact that Mr. Kaib had recorded the one cent stamp on hard paper in the American Philatelist. Mr. L. C. Hassler, Louisville, Kentucky, ex-treasurer of the American Philatelic Society, has sent us a copy of the three cent green, with imprimatur of the American Bank Note Company, on unmistakable hard paper, accompanied by the following data: "I am enclosing three stamps as follows: First, with National imprint; second, with Continental imprint and third, with American imprint. The first stamp is unquestionably a National print, grilled. The paper is of good quality and is slightly porous. I am sending this only for comparison with the third stamp. Mr. Luff, in his article on United States, (A. J. of P.) states: 'A few months before the consolidation with the American Bank Note Company the Continental Bank Note Company began to use a thick, soft, porous paper, very similar to, if not the same as that used after the consolidation.' The second stamp with Continental imprint, is printed on thick, soft, porous paper. To quote Mr. Luff again: 'During the second contract with this' (Continental) 'company, 1877 to 1881, a paper was introduced which somewhat resembles that used by the American Bank Note Company in that it is porous but it is thinner and not quite as soft.' The third stamp with imprint of American company evidently is printed on this paper, although it appears to be similar to that which was used by the National Bank Note Company, i. e., thin, quite brittle and slightly porous. Mr. Luff also writes that the 'new company' (American) 'made use of the plates of its predecessor, as well as the plates of the National company.' I am of the opinion that the stamp with American imprint was printed from a National plate because no trace of the secret mark is seen

Telephone:—SPRUCE 6138. Cable Address:—KLEINSTAMP

I beg to announce that I am no longer connected with the Eugene Klein, Incorporated, either directly or indirectly. I have established myself in the stamp business independently in well lighted, centrally located offices where I extend a welcome to stamp collectors. My specialty will be Auction Sales, in which I have had considerable experience. Auction catalogue of 20th Century stamps and also the fine Philatelic Library of Dr. H. A. Davis now in course of preparation, will be mailed upon application.

136 So. 15th St., EUGENE KLEIN, Philadelphia, Pa.

The general philatelic public is of the opinion that the National as well as the Continental used only hard paper and the American used only thick, soft, porous paper. The imprints on two of the stamps submitted conclusively disprove this contention."

Argument—The letter of Mr. Hassler with its exhibits is very interesting. We need not review at any length here the Continental on soft paper, of which the more advanced collectors have mental note but which has been the cause of some confusion,—for example, in consequence of dealers having sold soft papers for Continental because of the presence of the Continental imprint on the sheet; nor shall we consider the National soft papers that Mr. Luff tells of, but devote our attention to Mr. Hassler's three-cent hard paper, American print. Not alone does this copy show "merican Bank N" in the wide margin at bottom but it is on hard paper of the so-called "ribbed" vertically variety that once had place in the catalogue under the Continental issues. The ribbed paper, calling it such merely to distinguish it, is assigned to about the year 1875, when the Continental company at the suggestion of the postal department was devoting consideration to improving the appearance of its stamps. It has been admitted, however, that it is possible that the ribbed paper may have been employed experimentally even before 1873 or under the National management. The color of the three-cent green on ribbed paper ordinarily is a deep, rich green but Mr. Hassler's specimen is in the normal color. However, the vital factor is that Mr. Hassler has the three-cent green on hard, thin paper with the imprint of the American Bank Note Company which in itself is proof that the stamp was printed by this company. In this instance the value of the marginal imprint is all-important.

Stamping Without Stamps—In our issue of Feb. 7th, we spoke of "automatic machines whose markings will take the place of adhesive stamps" that were given a trial in Chicago under the supervision of the postal authorities. Through the kindness of Mr. Truman W. Brophy, Jr., of Chicago, we can give an account of the machine, known as The Pitney Postage Meter & Sealing Machine, "rebuilt according to changes suggested by the Post Office Department, Washington, D. C." We quote from the company's advertising pamphlet, "The Pitney Postage Meter vs. The Adhesive Stamp": "The Pitney Postal Machine may be best described as a Postage Meter constructed so as to seal, stamp, count and face approximately 250 pieces of mail per minute, and is intended to be leased to the large mailers of first, third and fourth class matter, under certain regulations prescribed by the Post Office Department. The object of the machine is to expedite the handling of the outgoing mail; eliminate the possibility of theft or fire loss; reduce expense to the Department, and to save time and labor in handling the mail at the Post Office by imprinting the indicia on each envelope or label in lieu of affixing an adhesive stamp. The stamp consists of an imprint indicating the amount of postage; a descending serial number, indicating the number of impressions to which the user is still entitled on his original purchase; point of origin and license number which must correspond with the corner card on the envelope. When the number of impressions for which the user has paid has been reached, the meter automatically locks, thus rendering further use of the machine impossible. The meter must then either be replaced by another, in case the user has more than one on hand, or sent to the Post Office, to be opened and reset for such additional postage as may be required. It is contemplated that each machine will be equipped with at least two interchangeable meters, or printing heads, for 1c and 2c stamps, in addition to any other denominations that may be required for catalogue envelopes, labels, wrappers, string-tags, etc."

It May Have A Future—We have an envelope with the imprint of the automatic machine before us and the impression reads: "1c Paid—28,647—Chicago, Ill.—Permit No. 1041," in four lines enclosed in a shield-like frame. The printing mechanism and register of totals are secure in a metal case, inaccessible to the user, and which may be opened and reset only at the post office. Mr. Brophy says that "after the trial test of the machine, the permit number will be left off and the serial number only will be given." We believe that we shall hear more of the automatic machine under notice in time to come.

Stop It—If there is to be a more cordial feeling on the part of the post office department towards stamp collectors it is necessary that stamp collectors refrain from continuing a practice that is detrimental to their best interests. Recently, we received a notice from a dealer to the effect that the department had "prohibited all firms who used precanceled and other stamps to sell their used precanceled and other stamps." We had our suspicions that there must have been some provocation for the stand of the department; and we find that our guess at the time the question was broached in our issue of January 10th, 1914, has been verified. In this connection, it may be added that orders of departmental kind originate from the assistant postmaster-generals as well as from the postmaster-general himself, who, however is the responsible head of the department. It is all right to object to the words and deeds of the department in the crisp words of business, if you will, but intemperate, unreasonable and impertinent letters to the department or in print will not serve any purpose but to alienate the sympathy of the department. The Philadelphia Stamp News recently spoke of "the reluctance to give information which the Department exhibited," which is caused by a shower of letters descending on Washington when any stamp news is published. When these letters are harsh and ignorant in tone, the impression that they give is not a favorable one. Let us regard the post office department graciously and as an affable source of supply for information that may be given with propriety.

I am in receipt of your letter of the 9th instant, stating that you would appreciate it very much if I will advise you whether the 30c Philippine stamp has been changed from blue to gray, as you have a number of calls for this particular stamp in the gray color, but have never seen the stamp except in blue.

In reply I beg to state that the 30 centavo Philippine stamp has been changed from blue to gray, but in view of the fact that we had a large stock of this stamp printed in blue, it will not be issued until those stamps have been exhausted. I am unable to tell you how long it will be before these stamps printed in gray will be issued.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

KEEPING OF STAMP ACCOUNTS.

By T. RUSSELL HUNGERFORD.

Mr. Applegate's article in the WEEKLY of January 24, 1914, on the keeping of stamp accounts, has encouraged me to write of a system I have employed during the past 27 years, which, while not so elaborate as his, may furnish some ideas to those desiring such a method of book-keeping. By this means I am enabled to tell at once where I acquired nearly every stamp in my collection, and the price paid for it.

My plan is very simple. I have two large, ordinary account books such as a journal and a ledger. In the former I record the purchase of all stamps, of whom bought, the cost price, and when acquired. The countries in each lot are arranged in alphabetical order, and the stamps described in detail. The total cost price is brought out at the right of the page, added up, and carried to the next page, thereby showing at once the total amount spent on one's collection.

For example:

Feb. 5, 1902—From Willard O. Wylie, Beverly, Mass.,
Greece, 25l on 40l (1900) surch. A. M., .10

I also have a separate account of stamps acquired through exchange, giving the value at which they were taken, (which is generally the current catalogue price), what exchanged for, and who exchanged with. Another list is kept of stamps received as gifts, showing date and name of donor. This is not likely to take up much room, however.

These various items are posted to a ledger, wherein is an account with each stamp issuing country. Here is recorded the date of the transaction, denomination of stamp or stamps and date of issue, in the briefest possible manner, and at the extreme right the number of stamps added. Unless otherwise indicated, it is understood they were bought for cash. Where stamps are gotten by exchange it is indicated by "Exch." and if received as gifts, by "G." When a set, or two or more of the same issue are added, they may be entered on one line. Where a used stamp is afterwards replaced by an unused copy, a line is drawn through the first entry and a new entry made, but the total number is not increased. In my book the countries are arranged partly in alphabetical order, but mostly in regard to space taken, and are indexed. For convenience in posting, it might be more desirable to have them arranged entirely in alphabetical order. However, some countries take up more space than others, and some headings are not needed at all by the average general collector. For example, Brazil requires more room than Poland, and it might be useless to have even a heading for the latter country, and similar countries whose stamps are not easily acquired. The United States is subdivided into General Issues, Envelopes, Revenues, Departments, Unpaids, Locals, etc. These separate accounts can be totalled as often as desired, but it is hardly necessary to do this more often than once a year.

In addition to the foregoing, I have other accounts showing the total number of stamps in my collection and the value of same, simply recording, in the one case, the date and number added, and in the other case, the date and value of stamps so added. These might be conveniently combined in one account, if desired. Most all collectors have a check list of this kind. In former years, as a new catalogue was issued, I would take a census of my collection, as to number and value of the stamps of each country, adding the increase or subtracting the decrease, in value from the total already on the book. However, I have not done this for eight years, principally on account of lack of time, and have had to be content with the increase in value as the result of newly added specimens. I do not believe there has been a decrease in the total value of those stamps already acquired. This brings to mind the enormous increase in the value of some of the new issues, and serves to impress one with the wisdom of securing such stamps while they are new. Just as many owners of real estate are made wealthy by appreciation in values, stamp collections become valuable property through rises in catalogue quotations.

A few instances from my record will illustrate this. For the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5c Guam, unused, I paid my friend H. F. Colman 35 cents, sometime back in 1901. They now catalogue $5.20. For my Canal Zone on U. S., 1, 2, 5, 8, 10c (1904) I gave 40c; they now are catalogued at $2.55. I bought the 2p and 2½p Niger Coast (1897-98) from Willard O. Wylie, for 14c; the present catalogue quotation is 70c. Southern Nigeria, ½, 1, 2, 4, 6p (1901), purchased from same party at 42c, now catalogue $1.75. Northern Nigeria, ½, 1, 2, 2½p (1900) cost me 17c, and are now listed at $1.95. One of the greatest increases is shown in a set of Papua, ½, 1, 2, 2½ 4p (1901) unused, for which I paid 30 cents in 1902, and which now catalogue $3.85. This is an increase of more than 1,200%, or over 100% a year. What else appreciates in value so rapidly? Many other instances might be sighted. Most all United States stamps, purchased at face, when current, show great increase in value, now that they are obsolete.

In regard to checking up the catalogue, when one's collection passes the 5,000 mark it becomes a task of large proportions, and then it is of only temporary benefit. It has always seemed to me that the advantage is largely overestimated, as in buying away from home it invariably happens that both album and catalogue are not at hand, and it is little more trouble to transport the one than the other. There is no more satisfaction to be had when buying than to have one's collection at hand and see just what is needed, for even though a checked catalogue may indicate whether a stamp be lacking or not, it is not always possible to tell the exact condition it is in. A specimen may be unused and not necessarily in perfect condition, while a used stamp may be in "57 varieties" of condition. Nevertheless, for those who prefer to check up their catalogue, and have the time to do so, the simple plan of making a small line up to the unused or used price will indicate the stamp has been already obtained, and in fairly good condition, and of continuing the line through the catalogue quotation, to indicate a poor specimen.

TWO NEW STAMP FIRMS.

The WEEKLY is pleased to introduce to its readers two new stamp firms, whose announcements will be found hereafter in each number of the WEEKLY. E. H. Clarke of Round Lake, Ill., takes displayed space and we can cordially recommend this firm as up-to-date and reliable. The attractive announcement elsewhere in this issue cannot fail to be seen.

In the trade column the Gem Stamp Shop, 19 Milk St., Boston, makes its initial bow. Its manager is George E. Marx, a very familiar name among stamp collectors and dealers in the years gone by. We hope Mr. Marx will be given a cordial welcome to the ranks of the dealers.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

AUSTRALIA.—Fred J. Melville has the following in the London Telegraph: A correspondent points out that the new Australian King George 1d stamp, being printed from recess plates, has not been perforated by the usual "comb" perforating machine, but by a single-line machine, of similar gauge (perforation 11). He suggests that as there is another single-line perforation in use in Melbourne (gauging 10½), this may have been used also, and collectors will do well to look out for possible varieties of perforation. At the same time, it may be well to point out that small variations in the size of the stamps do not denote the use of different dies. For the recess-plate process of printing the paper is printed upon while wet, and the wetting expands the paper, which contracts on drying, and this contraction is variable.

BELGIUM.—A new value has appeared in the Postal Packet series. The 10c postage now appears without the name of the engraver, says Ewen's Weekly. A 15c value is shortly to be added to the regular postage set.

COLOMBIA.—Leonard F. Garbaccio has shown us three different issues of the 2c stamp of 1908. The paper is different in each, one showing fine vertical laid lines, another with the same lines horizontal, and the third on wove paper, with part of a watermark, possibly the name of the paper or its maker.

Every lower value in stock. I am often asked how it is I can supply so many stamps others are "out of." The reason is simple—I do not buy the class of stamps that come "wholesale" but continually buy small to medium collections and so keep up my assortment. Moreover it is known that I will buy any odd stamp that I need in my books at 10% to 20% less than my retail, in this way my assortment is always far better than the dealer who has a big "stock" of stamps that are not in demand.

NEW ISSUES.

Now that the chief exponent of the "10% over face" has given it up as unprofitable, I am prepared to furnish new issues at 30c per one shilling. Terms $30.00 cash deposit. When one hundred shillings have been sent I will ask for another $30.00! No Postage—no extras. Take one or blocks four up to one shilling 5sh or one pound —At this price I think I can make about one cent per shilling—and perhaps sell you something else!

Boston Philatelic Society Members:—Please Listen! ! I, even I, am the Bourse Manager. I attend all meetings and I display all Bourse sheets in my hands. The sales during my regime have been good, unquestionably good, surprisingly good. But, whose sheets were the majority of the sales made from? From those of Member No. 215. (That's me.) Now, this is no "One man show" and the Manager has done all that seems to him humanly possible to get other members to put sheets into the Bourse. But, nevertheless already since yet I, the Mgr. of the Bourse, will offer to all members applying within one week of this notice, 10 Bourse sheets and 1000 hinges, for ten cents postpaid. "By Heck" when you belong to a sassiety, why don't you help it a little bit?

MEXICAN CONSUL PROTESTS AGAINST MAIL WITH REBEL STAMP.

MOBILE, February 8.—Roberto Gayon, Mexican consul here, has filed a protest with the Postmaster General against the delivery in the United States of mail from Mexico bearing rebel stamps. Senor Galon declared to the Postmaster General that the delivery of such letters violated the rules of the international postal union. The protest arises from the delivery here of a letter mailed at Hermosillo, Mex., and which bore a 20-cent constitutionalist stamp. The general design of the stamps are similar to the federal Mexican stamp.—Clipping from W. W. MOORE.

The 50 Cent Parcel Post.

The design for this stamp was approved on December 4, 1912, and the first plate finished on December 9, five days later. The design shows a scene in the "Dairying" industry, several hornless examples of the original source standing out prominently against a suggestive background of the complimentary water towers common to the dairy farms of the middle West.

The first printing was made on December 10, 1912, and the last printing on February 28, 1913. During the period there were printed 2,118,240 stamps. On December 15, 1913, there remained in stock at the Bureau 926,814 of these stamps, a total of 1,191,426 having been delivered to Postmasters.

Eight plates were prepared for this denomination, three of which were never used. The first plate finished, No. 6274, was printed without the imprint of value. The imprint was never added to this plate. The last four plates used were originally made with this imprint.

Plate numbers and data regarding each plate is as follows:

Eight plates were prepared for this denomination, four of which were never put to press. The Parcel Postage Due Stamps.

These stamps, of which five denominations were issued, were printed between November 20, 1912 and June 11, 1913. The denominations are 1, 2, 5, 10, and 25 cent.

The design is the same in all denominations except for the different inscriptions and numeral of value which is centered in an elaborate piece of lathe engraved work.

These stamps are printed in green ink. Thirty plates were prepared for the series, seven of which were never used. One of these seven plates was never finished. But one plate bore the imprint of value on the margin. This is the 5 cent plate, No. 6245. The imprint was added to this plate on January 27, 1913. The marginal imprint is not required in the instance of the due stamps owing to the relatively small number used, the more deliberate methods common to the use of the Postage Due stamps, and primarily, because of the prominent figure of value incorporated into the design. The designs for this series of 5 stamps were approved about Nov. 15, 1913.

The 1 Cent Parcel Post Due Stamp.

The first printing of this denomination was made on November 20, 1912, the first four plates having been finished on that date. The last printing was made on November 30, 1912. Eight plates were prepared for this stamp, four of which were never used. None of these plates bears the marginal imprint of value.

The plate numbers and information on each plate is as follows:

The first parcel mailed under the new system was a steel box containing a silver loving cup addressed to E. M. Morgan, Postmaster of New York City. Postmaster-General Hitchcock deposited this parcel in the Postoffice at Washington as the clocks ticked the first seconds of 1913. Thus a new era in the Postal Service was inaugurated. A year has proven the immense convenience and economic value of the system to the people of the United States who now save a considerable part of the expenditures which formerly made up the dividends of the various express companies.

The value of the service rendered by the Parcel Post is beyond estimate. To Ex-Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., whose persistent efforts defeated the Express Lobby and expedited the passage of the bill which for so many years had met with defeat in Congress, the gratitude of the people of the United States is due. Without him the Parcel Post system would still have been a fair dream of tomorrow instead of the valuable reality of today.

In conclusion, the writer wishes to emphasize the fact that if the collector who reads this article discovers therein much of philatelic value, it is due primarily to the courtesy of J. E. Ralph, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and to Ex-Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

SPECIALIZED UNITED STATES.

ADDENDA.—THE IMPERFORATES OF 1857-60.

By FRANK E. GOODWIN.

The writer has all along contended that the 24, 30 and 90 cents stamps, imperforates, of the issue of 1857-60, were at best imperforate errors, notwithstanding the fact that they have been listed in the catalogues as belonging to the imperforate printings of 1851-57. This contention has been based upon the date of printing, which was more than three years later than the first introduction of perforations—early in 1857.

No positive proof had been produced to support this belief until the International Philatelic Exhibition, in New York, October 27-Nov. 1, 1913, when Mr. Joseph A. Steinmetz, the well known specialist of Philadelphia, displayed a most interesting lot of unpublished correspondence between A. N. Zevely, third assistant postmaster general of the United States during the year 1860, when the 24, 30 and 90 cents stamps were ordered to be designed and printed, and the firm of Toppan, Carpenter & Co., engravers and printers of the stamps of that time. Mr. Steinmetz has very graciously allowed the writer and MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS to make such use of this manuscript as seems proper to prove that the imperforate specimens of these denominations have been wrongly listed in the past.

From this correspondence it is easily shown that not only were these three denominations designed, engraved and manufactured at the time when perforated stamps were in general use, but it can be inferred that such stamps as later did get upon the market, and are now known as imperforates were from sample sheets furnished to the postal department, and were never sent to the postoffices to be sold in the imperforate condition.

It is further shown that the first issue of the 30 cent stamps was printed in black, and probably was used in limited quantity until the stamps were superseded by the stamps printed in orange-buff, the withdrawal of the stamps in black being for the reason that they received the cancellations badly.

The correspondence now in the hands of Mr. Steinmetz is too voluminous to use in its entirety, but sufficient is reprinted to prove the case, as stated. Note carefully the dates: The first letter shows order for the 24 cent stamps:

POST OFFICE DEPT., May 30, 1860.
MESSRS. TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:—I have your telegraphic dispatch, stating that you can furnish "Twenty-four-Cent" stamps within three weeks after receiving an order.

Having understood that there is on hand a plate for this denomination, I supposed you might be able to prepare stamps on much shorter notice.

There is urgent necessity for a speedy supply, especially in the larger cities, growing out of recent orders to pay all postages in stamps. What the actual demand will be I cannot foretell, but suppose it will in a short time amount to ten millions (10,000,000).

So soon as your samples come the colors will be selected, and I trust you will be able to deliver at least a small supply for Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore within a week.

Very respectfully, &c., &c.,
A. N. ZEVELY, 3rd Ass't P. M. G.

The second letter has to deal with the selection of the violet shade in which the 24 cent stamps were printed:

PHILA., May 30, 1860.
A. N. ZEVELY, ESQ.,
Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—* * * The Twenty-four-Cent will, we suppose, be principally used on foreign postage, and it is desirable that it should have every advantage which art can give. Moreover, as it is the most valuable stamp it should be the best protected. It is accordingly engraved in the finest style, and a dark color would be the best to print with.

We submit samples marked respectively Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8. Nos. 1, 2 and 3 are colors now used, though presenting shades of difference in this stamp owing to the fine surface it presents for the ink. We suggest respectfully that the purple or lilac, sample marked "No. 4" gives perhaps a sufficient contrast with the colors now in use, while it is dark enough to bring out the engraving. * * * No. 4, the purple or lilac, is distinct from the others and bears a slight resemblance only to the Five-Cent stamp, which is of all the stamps the least used, and hence rare occasions for mistake between the two colors could occur. We are aware that the clerks at the various post offices look at the color more than at any other mark of the stamp, but we submit that a very little attention on their part would prevent an error in the office, while this dark hue of the stamp would be a powerful protection in its general circulation.

Trusting you may be enabled to decide upon a color which will please you, we remain,

Very resp'y, your obedient servants,
TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.

A third letter confirms the probable selection of the ink to be used, and suggests that two new values (15 and 30 cents) were contemplated:

POST OFFICE DEPT., June 1, 1860.
MESSRS. TOPPAN, CARPENTER & CO.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of 30th ultimo with samples of Twenty-four-Cent postage stamps was duly received. The lilac shade (No. 4) seems the best, although it is scarcely distinctive enough when compared with the Five-Cent stamps now in use. The Postmaster General wishes you to furnish such stamps at the earliest day possible, taking care to preserve the most marked difference between the tints of the lilac and those of the Five-Cent stamps.

How soon could you prepare two new rates—say, Fifteen and Thirty, and what colors would be best?

Very respectfully, &c.,
A. N. ZEVELY, 3rd Asst. P. M. G.

Letter No. 4 indicates that the 24 cent stamps were to be put into use about June 15, 1860:

PHILA., June 1, 1860.
A. N. ZEVELY, ESQ.,
Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—Your esteemed favor of the 30th ult. is only at hand this morning and we reply at once to its contents.

You will observe from our letter of the 30th ult. that the delay in preparing the stamps arises chiefly from the time consumed in the drying, gumming and perforating. We think, however, that we can have about four hundred thousand stamps ready for delivery in about two weeks from date of the order to print. * * * In the meanwhile

Very resp'y, your obedient servants,
TOPPAN, CARPENTER & Co.

On June 4, 1860, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. informed Mr. Zevely that the plate for 24 cent stamps had been put to press. It was here that the first suggestion as to a 30 cent stamp appears. In this letter it is suggested that the Franklin carrier design could be altered so as to form a 30 cent design.

Mr. Zevely, on June 8, 1860, asked that the Franklin carrier be so changed. He also informed the engravers that the 15 cent stamps would not be ordered.

The design for the 30 cent stamps was rushed and it was submitted with the following letter:

PHILA., June 10, 1860.
A. N. ZEVELY, ESQ.,
Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—Your favor of the 8th inst. is duly received and contents noted.

We have the honor to submit inclosed design for the Thirty Cents stamp for the approbation of the Post Master General. We have sought to make it superior in beauty and finish to any of those now used, and we hope that we have succeeded. As soon as we have instructions to proceed with this design we will put it in hand and furnish impressions at the earliest practicable moment. It is our present belief that we can use one of the positive colors now printed for this stamp and preserve at the same time such a marked difference in the appearance of the stamp as to prevent its being confounded with any of the others. We will be better able to decide this when the impressions are fairly contrasted. Begging you to return this design if approved, we remain,

Very respectfully,
TOPPAN, CARPENTER. & Co.

Following in regular sequence came a letter from Mr. Zevely approving the design and announcing that the 90 cent denomination would be required. This is included in the following:

WASH., D. C., June 12, 1860.
MESSRS. TOPPAN, CARPENTER & Co.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:—Your letter of 10th instant with design for the Thirty Cents postage stamp is received. The Postmaster General approves the design and requests you to execute it and furnish specimen impressions at the earliest practicable moment, the demand for the same being urgent.

It is also considered necessary to have a stamp of the denomination of Ninety Cents—not only to suit that particular rate of postage, but to pre-pay packages to the amount, sometimes, of several dollars. For this stamp the Postmaster General desires the head of Washington, and I need not suggest to you the importance of expending upon it all the talents you can command in respect to designing, engraving and coloring. Please to say how soon specimens may be expected. Also, report so soon as the Twenty-four-Cent and Thirty-Cent are ready.

Very respectfully, &c., &c.,
A. N. ZEVELY, 3rd Asst. P. M. G.

Note that the 24 cent stamps had not yet been delivered.

In the succeeding letter, written June 13, the engravers suggest the use of Trumbull's portrait of Washington for the 90 cent stamps. It also conveyed the information that delivery of 24 cent stamps would be commenced on June 15, 1860.

The next letter accompanied the impression of the 30 cent stamps, printed in black.

PHILA., June 25, 1860.
A. N. ZEVELY, ESQ.,
Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—* * * We have the honor to inclose an impression of the new Thirty Cents rate, which we hope will be found perfectly satisfactory. We deem it the handsomest stamp gotten up, while striking and valuable distinctions are shown from the others now printed. Indeed, we recommend earnestly the propriety and advantage of printing it in black, whereby the contrasts are made stronger and the beauty of the engraving better defined. * * * We have taken the liberty of altering the original drawing somewhat, so as to introduce the numerals "30" at the bottom in place of the word "Cents"; which change will, we sincerely hope, meet with the approbation of the Post Master General, as it is undoubtedly a great improvement, adding to the distinctive character of the stamp, while its artistic beauty and finish are enhanced. We hope to have a plate of this new denomination ready for the press early next week. * * *

Very resp'y, your obedient servants,
TOPPAN, CARPENTER & Co.

Other letters follow. On June 27, 1860, Mr. Zevely informs the engravers that the design for the 30 cent stamps had been approved. A letter the following day from Toppan, Carpenter & Co. informs the authorities that work had been begun on the plate. July 3, 1860, the engravers were informed of a decision to print the 30 cent stamps in black, as follows:

July 3, 1860.
MESSRS. TOPPAN, CARPENTER & Co.
Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:—The Postmaster General, relying upon the distinct design for the Thirty Cents stamp as obviating the necessity of a distinctive color, and approves your suggestion to print them in black.

The chief objection to this color arises from the greater difficulty of cancelling them.

Very resp'y, your obedient servant,
A. N. ZEVELY.

For eight days there is a break in the correspondence. The black had not proved satisfactory, and the printing had been stopped pending the selection of another color, as is shown by the following:

PHILA., July 11, 1860.
A. N. ZEVELY, ESQ.,
Third Asst. P. M. General,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—We are reluctantly obliged to stop printing the Thirty-Cent stamp until further advice from the Postmaster General. We find that the objection to black, arising from the difficulty of canceling the stamp, is likely to prove more serious than at first apprehended; and in order to give you a definite idea of this difficulty we inclose a half sheet of the denomination specified. The body of color is deeper and more generally diffused than is advantageous for cancellation.

We believe that the inclosed buff tint could be more advantageously printed than any hue of yellow, and canceling such a stamp would be easy and thorough. We have printed already a large number in black but we will readily submit to the loss in case the Postmaster General sees proper to order the buff color in its place. In such a case we can readily print the Ninety-Cent in black if it be acceptable, as we suppose the use of this rate will be comparatively limited.

Very respectfully,
TOPPAN, CARPENTER & Co.

A proof of the 90 cent design was submitted July 9, 1860. In letters following between the engravers and Mr. Zevely, the engraving and printing of the 90 cent stamps were discussed. On July 13 a shade of buff was urged upon the engravers for the 30 cent stamp; pink was suggested for the 90 cent, and further printing of the 24 cent stamps was suspended. On July 18, orange buff was ordered for the 30 cents.

The engravers, on July 30, suggested the delivery of 30 cent stamps on August 1, to the number of 280,000. On August 2, 10,000 of these stamps were sent to New York, 3,000 to Philadelphia, and 5,000 to each of the following: Cincinnati, St. Louis, New Orleans, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago.

August 3, blue was approved as the color of the 90 cent stamps. On August 4, Messrs. Toppan, Carpenter & Co. wrote that they would be able to deliver 300,000 stamps of 90 cent denomination on August 13, 1860.

In addition to the above, Mr. Steinmetz offers the following suggestions:

The standard Scott catalogue lists the 24 cent lilac, imperforate, under date of issue of 1851-56 so it is interesting to learn that this value was not created until June, 1860, when a specimen sheet was printed and submitted to the Postmaster General for final approval. It was usual to submit imperforate sheets of trial printings. Thus the 24 cent Scott No. 37, imperforate of 1851-56, is listed four years before its birth, when it is after all but an imperforate copy from a trial sheet of 1860, and should be catalogued as a sub-variety of Scott's No. 52 of 1860.

The 30 cent orange, imperforate, listed in Scott's Standard Catalogue under date of 1851-56, U. S. No. 30, was first approved in black and printed in large quantities in July, 1860. Sample imperforate sheets of the black 30 cent stamp were furnished to the Post Office Department, and it is quite likely were sold or used regularly for postage, being an approved and authorized printing. The color was quickly found objectionable as the cancelling ink would not show on the black stamp, so the issue was destroyed. The few that got into circulation, even though in imperforate condition, are rated among the extreme rarities of United States Postage Stamps

On July 11th, 1860, the 30 cent stamp was first submitted in imperforate trial printing in a buff tint, hence Scott's No. 38—the 30 cent imperforate is some four years ahead of its birth, being in reality but a sub-variety of No. 53 imperforate of 1860.

In that hot July of 1860 things were busy in the stamp foundry, for in this same month was born the 90 cent Trumbull Portrait of Washington, which was first suggested to be printed in black, but the Postmaster General requested that it should be done in a delicate pink, the color choice finally being a rich deep blue. Again we have in Scott's Catalogue a stamp listed as 1851-56 No. 39—the 90 cent imperforate, which was actually never conceived until the summer of 1860. The obvious fact remains that this 90 cent is but from an imperforate trial sheet and belongs under 1860 as a sub-variety of No. 54 (imperforate).

From the above, published for the first time in any philatelic magazine, it can easily be understood that the imperforates are really nothing but finished designs from the trial sheets, and while some specimens have probably been used, they were never intended to be issued imperforate, and they can hardly be classed as imperforate errors.

For the liberal use of the correspondence I have again to thank Mr. Steinmetz who has so magnanimously honored both the writer and MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS by his permission to spread the knowledge where it will be received by the largest number of interested philatelists.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE WETNESS OF WILLOW.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

Jimmy O'. had deserted the range and taken to the town,—a fact which was a constant puzzle. So, after I'd encouraged the sprouts of curiosity and aided them to develop into full growth, I put the question plainly.

Jimmy O'. looked at me quizzically. Then, with his whimsical smile:

"Well, I'll tell you. I just wanted to 'mill around a-while an' get my bearin's. You see, the boys are comin' in, an' besides—besides—"

Mirth was too much for Jimmy, then. When he had trained down, he added:

"An' on the 30th day of May, which same bein' Memorial Day—er—Dec'ration Day, gen'rally, fer Jimmy O'., you'll know all about it. Till then you don't want to be able to know anythin'—leastways, not too much."

Jimmy rolled a cigarette and grinned until he shamed a Cheshire cat.

"An' what I'm tellin' you thus far is 'on the square,' an' in confidence," added Jimmy, as the cloud of smoke began to hide him from view.

It is now the 28th of May, and Jimmy has been here five days. Tomorrow Willow votes wet or dry. I am for dry. Jimmy O'. has been dry so long I fear he yearns for a perpetual moisture.

Signs posted around the town of Willow blatantly set forth the great prosperity forthcoming if the wets prevail. One-third of the voting population is Mormon, and that people are, glory be! for a dry town. Of the remaining two-thirds,—well, popular opinion is inclined to moisture, and the promised prosperity. But there's the unknown quantity,—the woman vote,—for Arizona is all suffrage for the first time in its history.

It was a perfect day which ushered in the vital battle for the no-less vital issue. About dawn the stragglers began to arrive, in wagons and on horseback.

Eddy Fyne was somewhat early. He rather overdid his usual greeting, I thought,—a bit too effusive. Besides, Eddy did not sit on his horse with his customary ease. Jimmy O'. was on hand to greet his friend, and the two "tied their horses to the ground" and vanished.

The crowds were gathering near the polls when I went forth at nine o'clock to exercise the franchise. I was attracted to a crowd near the post office, listening to a burst of oratory from a voice which, though not wholly natural, seemed somewhat familiar.

"Some lit up, eh? Wonder where 'e got it?" said a native, as an opening in the crowd disclosed Eddy Fyne, clinging to a telegraph pole with one arm, and sawing the air with the other, mouthing a lot of stock phrases about "wet town an' prosperity"—"million dollar hotel" "shame to rob a man of right to drink," etc.

Just then the marshal came along, and Eddy, who knew him as an old time cowpuncher, shook hands effusively and wandered off, talking to himself and nearly colliding with a number of the most respectable electorate, both male and female.

I cast my ballot and went forth. Another crowd. This time it was Jimmy O'. and one of the boys from Bar-X trying to sing a duet, "There'll be a Hot Time." It was so bad it would have been funny were it not disgusting.

So the day passed. Eddy and Jimmy and the Bar-X boys were sure enjoying life this last day-of-grace. In my soul I grieved for them—for Jimmy, in particular, who, I thought, had given up the bottle for the stamp album. The fall hurt so much that I really did not care to return home at once, but dined out, learned that Willow was dry by seven votes, and then walked about the deserted streets for an hour before I ventured the trail to the tent-house.

I groped my way to the door. From the room behind came the discordant noise of heavy snores. I confess to being somewhat incensed. The boys were welcome—more than welcome—but in my soul I felt the hospitality which I had extended was surely being strained today. I found the door-handle, and hanging to it a bit of paper. A match disclosed a note from Frevor Moore:

"Don't get peevish. Jimmy O'. will explain."

I thought hard for two minutes, then opened the door.

By the light of two candles, stuck ostentatiously in empty grape juice bottles, I saw Eddy Fyne, Johnny Williams, and the two punchers from Bar-X, "clothed and in their right minds," deep in a game of "muggins," with my ancient and favorite set of dominoes, while at the near-by table sat Jimmy O'., intently studying out some Sarawak perforations, the zest of the real collector on his face.

The snores came from the cowboy from ranch J-Bar-5, who was carefully laid out on a bench in the center of the room, candles stuck in other empty grape-juice bottles at head and feet.

Jimmy O'. looked up.

"Willow has gone dry by seven votes," I said slowly, taking in the scene in all detail. The domino-players did not even glance my way.

"Seven? Seven?" said Jimmy, wonderingly. "Should have been six, if"—

Then he looked the boys over. His laugh was full of the joy of victory as his eye lighted on "the corpse."

"Oh, Jiminy!" said Jimmy, when he could speak. "He was vote No. 7,—an' we all thought he was wet. He was so plumb lit up we thought he'd never go dry again!"

Then it was that a great light broke in upon me. It was all for effect,—to disgust and win over the wavering respectable element,—this horse-play by five reckless cow-punchers, bent on making respectable the town where their friend lived. I was touched, and I wanted to thank them. But, knowing cowboy character, I could do nothing but keep silence.

"We couldn't let you in," Jimmy explained. "You live here. This bunch o' people will cool off an' be glad they're dry—but not now. They'd make you miserable for a spell, first. Now that it's on them, they'll yell that it's on you."

"Muggins!" jubilantly shouted Eddy Fyne, as the game broke up, "I win the corpse. We sure need another hand up at the ranche, an' maybe I c'n make a stamp c'lector outen him yet!"

POSTAGE STAMP COMEDY.

Turkish Newspaper Says New Issue Bears Name of Armenian Society.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 3.—Much surprise, not unmingled with indignation, has been aroused in Turkish and European circles by the publication in the Tanin of what appears to be a covert attack on the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, Oskian Effendi, a most able and energetic Armenian official, who has greatly improved the postal and telegraphic service of Constantinople, which is now equal to that of many European cities.

Encouraged by the successful issue of an artistic one piastre stamp commemorative of the reoccupation of Adrianople which is said to have already paid for the postoffice automobiles recently purchased with the object of improving the service in the capital, the Minister decided to order a new issue of stamps, which bear for the most part beautifully engraved views of the capital and its environs, within artistic frames decorated with Arabic and Turkish motifs.

The public astonishment was therefore great when the Tanin published a statement to the effect that the cross-hatching under the words "Postes Ottomanes" engraved in Latin characters on the ten-para stamp was found, on examination with a magnifying glass, to be in part composed of Armenian characters, which according to an unnamed Armenian quoted by the Tanin, signified "Troshm Osmanli" (Turkish Post), but, "with the exercise of a little imagination," might be found to contain the word "Troshak"—the name of an Armenian revolutionary society.

The Tanin's assertions, which have caused much indignation among the many Turkish and European friends of the Minister, have been taken up by a section of the press, though it is refreshing to find that the Peyam, with a sense of humor rare among its contemporaries, brings forward evidence to prove that the "characters" in question, so far from being Armenian, are in reality old Ethiopic!

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

For the Best—A change has been effected in the commercial world of philately whereby one of the leading factors in it loses his identity as an individual dealer to gain a position more advanced and influential, in a field of inviting opportunity. P. M. Wolsieffer, the stamp auction specialist of Chicago, has become the general manager of and a director in the Philadelphia Stamp Company, which has absorbed Mr. Wolsieffer's stock and specialties. About March first, the arrangement becomes operative and P. M. Wolsieffer relinquishes his place in the business ranks after twenty-five years of service to accept a berth where fuller rewards may be won amid congenial surroundings. Before going to Chicago, Mr. Wolsieffer had lived in Philadelphia and in a way, he is now renewing home ties. P. M. Wolsieffer will be sorely missed in Chicago where he has been a philatelic leader for nearly thirty years he having been one of the organizers of the Chicago Philatelic Society in 1886, and though his associates there will gayly wave him their adieux, the eyes of his companions will be slightly misty. Mr. Wolsieffer's loyalty to Chicago in every way has been beneficial to its reputation as a philatelic center. To repeat the well-worn phrase, Mr. Wolsieffer's friends are legion and they will rejoice at his step of progression in having attained so dignified and influential a station.

He Did It—We remember well when P. M. Wolsieffer started in business as a stamp dealer in Chicago and a retrospective glance shows that time has wrought its changes in dealing methods. Twenty-five years ago, the auction sales were infrequent, particularly outside of New York City and the catalogues of sales were scant in the description of lots, if indeed, they gave any particulars at all. When Mr. Wolsieffer entered the auction field, his acumen was such that he saw the necessity to repair this serious omission if the possibilities of the auction business were not to be stifled; and as the originator of the "explicit" method of cataloguing, Mr. Wolsieffer has conferred a boon on the whole business of stamp auctions. Conditions became bettered generally and a greatly increased volume of business resulted. Needless to say, Mr. Wolsieffer will catalogue the auction sales to be held by the Philadelphia Stamp Company.

Early Literature—We have been awaiting the second part of the Priced Catalogue of the Alfred Smith Philatelic Library; and it has now been received. Like the preceding instalment, the second part is replete with interesting data on the "separate works" that it lists, (Firth-Mahé). While we find many works of familiar name in the pamphlet yet there are many others that practically are unknown to collectors of this generation. We notice Moens' Falsifications of Postage Stamps, in the original French and an English translation, both of which were published in 1862; and the Italian gudie-manual, by Franchi, 1864. The early Gray catalogues, first edition, 1862, are listed; and of A. C. Kline's (Philadelphia) The Stamp Collectors' Manual, it is said: "This was the earliest catalogue published in America and was a piracy of Mount Brown's Catalogue (London, 1862), from which it differs only in an amplification of the list of United States stamps and of those of the Confederate States, the latter being transferred to the letter 'S' under the heading of 'So-called Southern Confederacy'."

Odds and Ends—Through the courtesy of Mr. J. J. Prendergast, we are enabled to add the Jack o' Lantern cancellation on the two-cent, 1894, to the list of freak obliterations. He sends also a three-cent, 1861, perforated so close at sides that the stamp deserves a place in the philatelic dime museum. Also: A letter stamped, "Hand Stamp Only," that was put through the machine as usual; and the first "parcel post" penalty blank that we have seen.

Confederate Official Envelopes—Mr. Henry Hammelman writes: "In your editorial of February 7th, 1914, you mention having a three-cent, 1853, United States envelope, overprinted 'Confederate States of America-Agency Post Office Department, Trans-Miss.' with postmark of Marshall, Texas. In my collection I have similar envelopes of the Appointment, Contract and Finance Bureaus." While Mr. Hammelman does not specify that his 1853, United States envelopes have the "Agency Post Office Department, Trans-Miss." inscription which was the chief point of distinction of the envelope described three weeks ago, yet it is something to possess the envelopes with the imprints named, on the 1853 issue, instead of the usual 1857-60 issue. We hope to uncover the history of the Trans-Mississippi agency of the Confederate post office department as we do not remember having seen any description of its operations and our statement that it was located at Marshall, Texas, was based on the postmark of the sending office of the envelope.

Not Inviting Overtures—The proposal of confederation of Newfoundland and the Dominion of Canada has gained some currency but it seems from the tenor of press reports in Newfoundland newspapers that the plan is regarded with little enthusiasm in the island. From all accounts the ancient colony has awakened to an appreciation of its immense natural resources, the development of which, it is predicted will make Newfoundland a prosperous and favored country. The information will not be unwelcome to philatelists who are not anxious that the interesting philatelic history of Newfoundland should come to a close.

Trinidad, Value Omitted—A reader has sent us the following letter that he received from a credible source, it appears, and which is a remarkable narrative of the circumstances of the discovery of the Trinidad, one penny, black on red, "value omitted." At the time of the discovery of the error in 1902, accounts were published in the London Philatelist and Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal, that fully verified the stamp, if we recollect aright. The variety was listed in the English catalogues for some years. We do not hesitate to say that the letter bears the impress of authenticity. We have no idea of the value of the error; it is very rare, of course:

"My friend, Dr. Horatio F. Chisholm, has suggested that I write to you regarding some postage stamps, the value of which I am anxious to determine.

There are only three of these stamps in existence and the history of them is this:

About 1902, the post office at San Fernando, Trinidad, B. W. I., received a number of sheets of one penny stamps, which were turned over to the stamp clerk to be sold. A few of these stamps were sold and in the course of the morning my father, who was postmaster, stepped out from his office to get three stamps which he needed, tore three from the sheet and took them back to his desk. Just at this time he was called away and the stamps lay on his desk. A short time after the stamp clerk discovered that in printing this sheet of stamps the value "one penny" had been omitted. The sheet was at once set aside, by which time seven stamps had been sold, including the three my father had bought. The clerk returned the sheet, which was the only one incorrectly printed, to the Secretary of State Department and the stamps were destroyed. That evening a very careful search was made through the mail at the post office and all the letters with the incorrectly printed stamps on them were found and entirely obliterated with the date stamp. In the meantime my father, who left the Government service several years ago, had forgotten all about the matter until a short time ago when he noticed in a Barbados newspaper an advertisement offering a substantial price for any of these stamps, the advertiser evidently having heard from some clerk in the San Fernando post office about the occurrence. My father then searched through his papers and was fortunate enough to find the three unused stamps. As the other stamps sold from this sheet had been so completely defaced that even if they had been saved there was no way of recognizing them these three unused stamps are the only ones left of their kind, and I would very much like to know if there is any way of arriving at their value."

MARCH 16th AUCTION SALE

Comprises a fine Twentieth Century collection and the fine Philatelic Library of Dr. H. A. Davis. Catalogues ready and free.

Not having any stock of stamps, I am in the market for a really fine collection and single rarities for cash. Am particularly in need of early United States stamps in blocks.

THE AMERICAN POST IN CHINA.

The American post office in Shanghai issued recently a number of stamps overprinted with all capital letters in two lines "Shanghai, China" in three different colours, viz., black, deep blue, and red, making a total of forty-one varieties.

The stamps are composed of the usual low values of the current issue, the red oblong parcel post, the green oblong parcel post postage due, two obsolete stamps of which the two cents postage due 1895 and the thirteen cents (Harrison) 1902 are also included as well as the registry ten cents blue 1911.

The above stamps here were for sale nearly a month, and probably not over 100 specimens of each kind were sold in all.

No sooner did this become known and a demand for them established, when they were withdrawn and the sale for them ceased on December 20th, 1913. It is very difficult to get definite information regarding this issue. May be they were only for trial and are to be the forerunners of a permanent issue, following the same principle as the other foreign post offices in Shanghai, in the overprinting of their respective stamps with China.

Herewith a list of all the varieties in detail:—

1913—1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 15, 20, and 25 cents red parcel post stamps with black overprint.

1913—1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 cents red parcel post stamps with deep blue overprint.

1913—1, 2, 5, 10 and 25 cents green parcel post postage, with red overprint.

1913—1, 2, 5, 10 and 25 cents green parcel post postage, with black overprint.

1912—10 and 50 cents (Franklin).

1911—Ten cents registry stamp.

1910—1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 8 cents (Washington).

1910—1 cent (Franklin).

1902—13 cent (Harrison).

1895—2 cents postage due.

EUGENE KLEIN — DEALER IN STAMPS.

The readers of the WEEKLY have noted the fact that our long-time patron, Eugene Klein, has just made a business change. He is no longer connected with the firm that formerly bore his name, but has established himself at 136 S. 15th St., where he will be pleased to hear from his many friends. He has sold out all his holdings in the Eugene Klein, Inc., and is conducting an independent business. His new offices are centrally located, being directly opposite the Union League and near the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. His specialty will be auction sales and the handling of rare stamps and collections.

Mr. Klein, whose halftone we print herewith, has been in the stamp business for seven years. In his official life he has been counterfeit detector of the American Philatelic Society for three years and is a member of nearly every important stamp society throughout the world. He is a member of the board of governors of the Philadelphia Stamp Club and was one of the nine members of the executive committee which so successfully directed the affairs of the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York. He was a member of the jury of awards at Chicago, 1911, and New York in 1913. Mr. Klein speaks and writes six European languages and at the present time specializes as a pastime in Hebrew and Arabic.

We bespeak for Mr. Klein a continuation of the success which has attended him during the years in which he has been engaged in the stamp business.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—"Letters and post or postal cards may be dispatched whether or not any postage is prepaid thereon. Other articles shall not be dispatched unless prepaid at least in part, and in all cases of insufficient prepayment double the amount of the deficiency shall be collected of the addressee. The option of no prepayment or of part prepayment of postage does not apply, however, to either letters or other articles mailed with the apparent intention of avoiding prepayment."—A. S. BURLESON, Postmaster General.

—"The limit of weight for miscellaneous printed matter constituting third-class mail, the rate of postage on which is one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof, is four pounds. Parcels of miscellaneous printed matter weighing more than four pounds, but which are within the limit of weight and size for matter of the fourth class, come within that class and are mailable at the pound rates of postage prescribed for fourth-class matter in Section 456."—A. S. BURLESON, Postmaster General.

—Charles D. Spring, giving a Brooklyn, N. Y. address, made application to the International Stamp Co. for an approval selection. Letters addressed to Mr. Spring, as well as to his reference, Frank Mancher, were returned marked "Party unknown."

—The Washington State Philatelic Society has begun the publication of a monthly Northwestern Philatelist, the subscription price of which is 50c per year. It consists of eight pages and designed as it is to exploit the Society, should serve a very useful purpose. It is edited by D. C. Bartley of Seattle.

—The U. T. K. Stamp Co. reports unsatisfactory dealings with a Mr. Lunquist of Moline, Ill.

—Capt. Clyde B. Parker, stationed at Fort Shafter, Honolulu, gives us the particulars of the two months' travels of a letter mailed by him but which was returned as undelivered after several forwardings. It indicated considerable effort upon the part of the P. O. Dept. to give the necessary service.

—We have a suggestion from Geo. A. Hunt for an accurate, practical and invaluable color chart, to be illustrated with original specimens of stamps indicating various colors and shades and tints of the same. Mr. Hunt states that a sufficient number of cheap stamps from various countries can be secured that will answer the desired purpose. Who will volunteer to undertake the preparation of this boon to philately?

WOLSIEFFER IN PHILADELPHIA.

The announcement that P. M. Wolsieffer is to be located hereafter in Philadelphia will come as a great surprise to his many friends and acquaintances. The advertisement of the Philadelphia Stamp Co. elsewhere in this issue announces the fact that Mr. Wolsieffer is to be the general manager of the firm, the entire Wolsieffer stock having been taken over. P. M.'s many friends will wish him large prosperity in the new relationship, and the Philadelphia Stamp Co. is to be congratulated upon the alliance that has been formed.

NEW ENGLAND PHILATELIC ASSN.

The regular meeting of the society was held at the B. P. S. Club Room, Feb. 10. It was voted to accept the N. E. Philatelist as official organ. The application of D. F. Kelleher for membership was accepted. A rising vote of thanks was given the anniversary committee for the good time enjoyed by the members at the 19th annual banquet at the Hayward.

It was voted that the society take the stand that "auction managers be held responsible for the descriptions given in the catalogs of the lots offered for sale and that it is the sense of this meeting that all members return any, and all lots bought at any auction sale that do not fully meet the description."

It was voted that an official auction purchasing agent be appointed (and if possible to establish the same in other cities) to act as such without cost to members. Pres. Bail appointed A. P. Brown as Purchasing Agent for this Society for Boston, and I. W. Risdon, Assistant Purchasing Agent.

The next regular meeting of the society will be held on Tuesday evening, March 10, at 8 o'clock, at the B. P. S. Club Room.

THE INVERTED CENTERS OF CUBA.

In an interview with Mr. F. P. Brown of Boston who has just returned from a trip to Cuba, for the purpose of investigating the status of the Cuban stamps with inverted centers, we are able to place before our readers the facts regarding these errors. These facts should put a quietus on the statements made from time to time that large quantities of each value had been printed.

1c—In regard to the 1c value, Mr. Brown stated that there would seem to be plenty of them for sale in Havana by various collectors. One party who claims to know definitely, however, states that there were only five sheets.

2c—Of the 2c, the original sheet was found in a suburb of Havana, and more or less of them were used before the error in printing was discovered. It is generally believed that at least 20 were used, although no one seems to know definitely. Of the other known sheet, not over 25 could be called fine, the other 75 being badly centered. Of the few well centered ones, we think blocks of four of this value, of the greatest rarity. We do not know of more than three perfectly centered blocks in existence, one of these is in the collection of Mr. Worthington, another in that of Mr. Taylor, and the third in a well known collection in New York.

5c—Mr. Brown stated that after talking with all the prominent collectors in Havana, he failed to find a single person who had ever seen or even heard of the existence of the 5c. As this stamp is not known in any American collection, it would seem that Scott's number 242a should be taken out of the catalog.

10c—The only known sheet of the 10c was purchased by Mr. Brown in Sept. 1912, half of which was subsequently sold to the Nassau Stamp Co. The only ones known in Havana were the three copies which came from this original sheet with others which were recently sold there. This stamp is very thoroughly distributed in the hands of collectors and it is probable that less than a dozen are to be found in the hands of dealers for sale.

Special Delivery—Of the Special Delivery there was only one sheet. These have been so thoroughly distributed that at the present time there are only 17 copies for sale on the Island, the rest being in the hands of collectors—Phil. Gazette.

A GREAT ENTERPRISE.

"Stamp packets" of a decade ago and those that are up-to-the-minute of today, are of a great difference—the difference of a piece of cut glass and an old mined diamond!

Ten years ago the stamp packet was the outlet for damaged and accumulated unsalable stamps, not only postage, but revenues, envelopes and most anything that looked like a stamp. Today, "packet that satisfy" must be composed of all good, clean postage stamps in whole and presentable condition.

This change has been brought about by the earnest efforts of two well known stamp men. Twenty-five years ago, there was a stamp collector—a philatelist, in Germany, who was much interested in postage stamps and who studied his stamps in a way that gave him information that has been useful and he is now acknowledged as a philatelic expert. Over fifteen years ago he came to the United States with many of his countrymen. They settled in Kansas in LaCrosse County. This man is the Rev. R. Stollenwerk, a well educated man whose knowledge has been useful in building up one of the largest stamp concerns in the world. He started dealing in packets, in a modest way, over fifteen years ago and the business grew on account of the superiority of the packets to all others.

Eight years ago, Mr. H. S. Powell, of Storm Lake, Iowa, was given the position of General Manager. Rev. R. Stollenwerk, to this day has taken care of the stock and has overseen the packet assembling; while Mr. Powell has developed the business end of the firm. Many obstacles had to be overcome—collectors were skeptical of packets—dealers were unscrupulous—and many collectors were disgusted and fell from the ranks of philately.

Through Mr. Stollenwerk and his acquaintances throughout the world—the H. S. Powell Stamp Co. secured the salesright for practically all of the missions. Today they receive large consignments from all countries and they are free from paper and bundled according to varieties. Today these mission and charitable organizations know well the value of postage stamps and do not give the stamps away. They are paid a nominal price for the consignment, which is carefully gone over and placed in stock—the largest in the world of the commoner kinds.

The higher priced stamps are used for exchanges—many stamps are secured through these exchanges that are not received direct from the source of supply—but are secured at a small outlay, in the end. Every month, they receive many tons of U. S. stamps collected by the different mission and charitable organizations—they are gone over for the higher values of parcel post and regular issues—the bulk being shipped to Europe. They get 22½c net per pound for these stamps and cannot supply the demand for them.

All stamps are sold through the different packets they offer—they have no competition—in order to let others sell their assemblings they have fixed their prices and give as much value and quality as they can for that price. They have letters on file from the leading dealers of the several philatelic centers acknowledging the superiority of these packets which are known as the "First Quality."

The packets are continually being improved upon and the fact that the business done in 1913 was over twice that done in 1912 and that the first 15 days of February, 1914, was five times as great as the same period in 1913, proves to us that collectors are going to give this business to those who sell "packets that satisfy." The house of Powell is to be congratulated upon its business enterprise.

THE DUPLICATES.

By ARTHUR IRWIN SMITH.

"There comes the 'Duplicates'," said Robert Brown to a group of boys standing on the doorsteps of the school-building as the Wayne twins walked toward them.

The boys of his class laughed. The term was familiar, not only because of its connection with the twins but because of their experience in making a stamp collection for their room. Miss Ellison, their teacher, who overheard the remark laughed, too, at the cognomen which fitted the boys so well. It was so hard for her to tell the twins apart, that she finally assigned certain places in the class for them and remembered which place was for Thomas and which was for Carl.

"By the way, boys," she remarked, "I have something to tell you which I think will be of interest."

Eagerly the boys awaited the tap of the bell which would precede the announcement. Miss Ellison never disappointed them.

"What I wanted to tell you concerns our collection. There is only one more month of school. Next year your teacher in the seventh grade may not care to have you collect any more to add to this one. The collection might be wasted or lost if left here. My pupils for next year must not miss the fun of collecting one for themselves, so we will not need it. If each stamp is returned to the one who donated it, there will be no collection then. So I propose that we give it to one of the pupils who have helped to make it, this pupil being the one who makes the best grades during this month,"

Thomas Wayne's eyes shone. How he would like to own a collection of his own, and this one especially, for each stamp was associated with such pleasant discussions about the pictures, the money value, the country to which it belonged, and many other things, connected with it. Carl's eyes brightened in the same way, and the same thoughts occupied his mind also.

"If there should be a tie?" queried Robert Brown.

"We certainly would need duplicates then," smiled Miss Ellison. "Unfortunately we haven't any, however."

All the boys looked at the Wayne twins and grinned. They bore the scrutiny good-naturedly. They had no thoughts for resentment so engrossed were they with the thoughts of a possible chance of owning a stamp collection.

Miss Ellison tapped her bell, asked them if they approved her plan, and when they said they did, she repeated the offer again, making the decision final.

Thomas and Carl studied harder than they ever had before in their life. As the days passed, the other boys declared that the "Duplicates," were sure to win, and they were puzzled over the disposition of the prize. The twins, however, had not yet realized that they were rivals.

"The race seems to be between you and Carl," Miss Ellison remarked to Thomas as she returned his paper marked perfect to him a week before school closed.

Thomas flushed, then turned pale. A sudden fear made his hands tremble as he placed his paper away in his book. Carl, who had overheard the remark, looked at Thomas anxiously. All the pleasure of owning the collection was now gone when each realized that the other was just as anxious to possess it as he did himself, and that his brother was sure to be disappointed if he won.

"I'm going to quit studying, Thomas," said Carl, as they started for home; "I somehow did not think about you wanting it, and all the time I've been studying to beat the other boys."

"My case, exactly; but you're not to sacrifice yourself for me," snapped Thomas, not in anger, but to hide his real feelings, for he had had the same plan of self-sacrifice that his brother had offered.

Next day Thomas missed some words which he should not have done. Miss Ellison looked surprised. During the next recitation Carl managed to fall down on something.

"That won't do, Carl," whispered Thomas, as he passed him, "the others will beat us both if we both go to missing."

"Then, don't you miss," answered Carl.

In spite of themselves the day before the collection was to be awarded, the twins were ahead of every one else in the class and had just the same perfect lessons to their credit.

The next morning Carl ate little breakfast, and complained of headache. Of course Mr. and Mrs. Wayne would not insist upon him going to school. Thomas refused to go without him. Miss Ellison came by and found Thomas out in the yard throwing stones at the gate-post.

"Ready for the last day?" she called, pleasantly.

"I'm not going," he answered, gloomily.

"What's the matter?"

"Oh, Carl says he has the headache, and won't go. I'm not going and get that collection when he wants it as bad as I do," Thomas blurted out.

Miss Ellison, who had understood the situation since the day Thomas had missed those words, ran up the steps and knocked at the door. A few words to Mrs. Wayne caused Carl to be brought forth, and soon Miss Ellison's insistence secured the boys' promise to be at school that day. She declared the prize was already won, for there were to be no lessons on this last day. Neither boy could benefit the other by staying at home, and they would miss all the fun of the games and exercises. Carl looked sheepish when he felt that Miss Ellison had read the subterfuge of the headache; he had really thought that if he were absent the prize would be handed over to his brother.

Miss Ellison brought out two packages when the time came for announcing the winner of the collection. "To these two loyal and unselfish brothers, the class awards the original collection and a large collection of duplicates also. The boys deserve what they have won, and their classmates are proud of them both," Miss Ellison said as she handed each boy a package. At that moment she did not know which boy was Thomas or which was Carl, so she did not know which one got the original collection.

The class applauded loudly, and the twins smiled happily.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

UNITED STATES.—The International Stamp Co. has shown us a copy of an imperforate Alaska-Yukon stamp, with a very peculiar defect. A piece of large thread nearly two inches long fell upon the plate during printing, and has left its impress in a white mark on the face and a raised impression on the back. It would be interesting to know from what plate this stamp was printed, and whether other stamps have been found with the same defect.

The Berliner Briefmarken Zeitung chronicles the current United Stamps from 1c to 50c, inclusive, except the 15c, surcharged in black in two lines, "Shanghai—China." Can any of our readers give us any information about this surcharge?

COLOMBIA.—Hermann Focke sends us a new 5c "Retardo" stamp from this country. It is a small stamp, from an entirely new design, and bears the imprint, "Lit. Nacional, Bogota."

Champion's Bulletin reports another value in the same design. The stamps are perforated 13½.

Too Late Adhesives.

2c brown lilac.
5c green.

JAPAN.—Maury's Collectionneur says that a commemorative series will be issued at the end of the year, on the occasion of the coronation of the Emperor. Nothing has yet been decided as to design or values.

NETHERLANDS.—Mr. Schachne reports the full set of the 1913 cards, completing the 1910 issues. "Briefkaart" at top, 5 lines for address.

Post Cards.

1½c ultramarine on white.
2½c green on greenish.
1½x1½c ultramarine on white.
2½x2½c green on greenish.

PORTUGUESE COLONIES.—As announced in MEKEEL'S some time ago, the new Colonial stamps of the Ceres type are beginning to appear. Our foreign contemporaries chronicle those for Angola and India, and no doubt the others will follow shortly.

REUNION.—Maury's Collectionneur says that the remainders of all issues before 1907, which were not surcharged, have been burned. This included quantities of the 2c, 4c, 15c gray, 50c and 75c.

SALVADOR.—A. W. Dunning has shown us what is evidently the first of a new series of stamps from this Republic. The stamps are of large size, the design measuring 22x30 mm. and are printed in two colors. The paper is some kind of bank safety paper, with fine dots all over the surface. The engraving is well done, and might well have been the work of the American Bank Note Co., but the tint detracts from the appearance, and the gum is uneven. The portrait is that of Juan Manuel Rodeguez. The frame has "U P U" in the upper corners, with "Correos—el Salvador" in two curved lines between. The value in words runs across the bottom, with the figures of value in shields just above, opposite the lower part of the portrait opening. L'Echo notes the issue of the 25c value in the same set, with portrait of Dr. Manuel Enrique Aranjo. The stamps are unwatermarked and perforated 11½.

VENEZUELA.—F. R. Lawrence takes up the subject of the two color lithographed series of 1911, and treats it so exhaustively that we shall let him tell his own story. His letter treats of the 5c, 10c and 25c values. This raises the question as to the value of the note in regarding the 50c with blue centre, in Scott's Catalogue. Mr. Lawrence says:

"In re Venezuela lithographed issue of 1911, I wish to submit the enclosed varieties. Doubtless your attention has already been called to the gradation in color of center medallion existing in the 25c as well as in the 5c and 10c value. With so many shades represented—none scarce—it would hardly seem feasible to make a distinction between them. Of course, in each value we find a strong difference between the extremes but the toning down from the normal type of the centre shade gives a multitude of combinations, due to poor lithographing, carelessness in mixing color or in inking stones. These were selected from 100 of each value, purchased at auction about a year and a half ago.

"In the case of the 5c stamp about one in three was a normal color, the other two-thirds comprising shades.

"The 10c stamp in the lot of 100 furnished 35 normal, 31 with distinctly yellowish centres and the balance in between.

"The 25c stamp furnishes in my assortment the scarcest variety with the dark center. I only found one in the 100. The normal type of coloring exists in 85 stamps, 14 have distinct differences in center coloring, and the above mentioned dark center completes the 100."

on August 16th. There was little room for the roulette lines, the size of the completed stamps being 23mm. square. When a new supply was required in 1867 the plate was reconstructed so that it contained 100 stamps like that of the 4/4sch and 5sch. These were so spaced that the stamps now measure a trifle more than 24 mm. square. Two printings, each of 20,000 stamps, were made and these were delivered on July 11th and August 24th, 1867, respectively.

THE FIFTH ISSUE.

Although, as we have shown in our introductory notes, there was considerable need for a 2 schillinge stamp the first supply of this value was not issued until October, 1866. In design it is similar to the 3sch and 5sch but with, of course, the numerals "2" in the angles. The plate consisted of the 100 electrotypes then usual and the first supply consisted of 500 sheets, or 50,000 stamps. These were printed in purple and the supply lasted until September, 1867, when another batch of 200 sheets (20,000 stamps) was ready for issue. This second lot provides two shades—grey-lilac and bluish lilac. One of the electrotypes was slightly damaged, the ball of the "2" in the upper right hand corner being knocked off providing a minor variety.

REMAINDERS.

Mecklenburg-Schwerin having joined the North German Confederation its special stamps were superseded on January 1st, 1868, by the general issue for the Confederation. Late in the same year or early in 1869 the remainders were purchased from the Post Office by Mr. G. Schnelle, of Schwerin. These consisted of the following:—

2sch lilac,	15,000 stamps
3sch yellow,	18,800 stamps
5sch bistre,	3,000 stamps
4/4sch red,	36,500 stamps

Envelopes.

1sch red,	26,400
2sch lilac,	25,000
3sch yellow,	18,700
5sch bistre,	2,400

The price paid for the lot was $75.00 and the purchaser offered them wholesale at the following rates:—

1sch (4/4) red, $2.40 per 100.
2sch lilac, $2.40 per 100.
3sch yellow, $2.40 per 100.

From another list of the same period we take the following retail prices which are interesting compared with those now obtaining:—

THE STAMPS OF THE GERMAN EMPIRE.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

Mecklenburg-Schwerin.

Mecklenburg-Schwerin is a grand-duchy of the German Empire lying south of the Baltic Sea. The surface is generally flat but diversified by the Baltic ridge of the North German plain. Its area, including that of its sister duchy, Mecklenburg-Strelitz, is 6,266 square miles and the combined population of both is not far in excess of 800,000. Agriculture, the most important industry in the duchy, has reached a high state of development. Sugar and starch factories, breweries and distilleries, and the making of machinery and bricks are the other industries of moment. Salt and gypsium are extracted. The capitol of Mecklenburg-Schwerin is Schwerin. The town of next importance is Rostock at which a well-known university is established. The population of the towns and land-owning classes are of lower Saxon descent, while the rural population are mostly of Slav descent. The current language is Platt-Deutsch or Low German. The duchy dates from 1710, while the title of grand duke dates from 1815. During the time its postage stamps were in use the reigning Grand Duke was Frederick Francis II. Mecklenburg-Schwerin has two votes in the Imperial Federal Council and sends six members to the Imperial Diet.

ITS PHILATELIC HISTORY.

The grand-duchy of Mecklenburg-Schwerin did not issue its first postage stamps until July 1st, 1856, though it appears to have joined the German-Austrian Postal Union some years previously and to have been desirous of issuing stamps. Its currency, however, seems to have been a stumbling block for being in thalers and schillinge some difficulty was experienced in arriving at equivalents acceptable to the other members of the Union. The thaler, equal to about 72c in United States currency, was divided into 48 schillinge, while the thaler of the Postal Union (also worth about 72c) was equal to 30 North German silber-groschen. After some discussion it was agreed that 1 silbergroschen should be represented by 1¾ schillinge, 2 silbergroschen by 3¼ schillinge, and 3 silbergroschen by 5 schillinge.

The letter rates within the boundaries of the duchy were 1 schilling up to three German miles, 1 schilling 6 pfennige (or 1½ schilling) from three to six miles, and 3 schillinge for distances over six miles. The rate on printed matter weighing under 1 loth was ½ schilling, regardless of distance, and for heavier packages the rate was one-fourth that charged for letters. The rates for letters sent to other countries within the Postal Union were 1¾ schilling for distances up to 10 miles, 3¼ schilling for distances of 10 to 20 miles, and 5 schilling for distances over 20 miles. These rates would have necessitated quite a number of different denominations but the difficulty was surmounted by the ingenious expedient of issuing a divisible 1 schilling stamp (so constructed that it could be cut up into four parts of ¼ schilling each) and 3 and 5 schillinge values. In 1864 the 4/4 schilling stamp was issued rouletted and almost immediately after it was changed somewhat in design. At the same time the color of the 5sch was changed from blue to bistre. In September, 1865, the 3sch appeared rouletted.

In 1863 the postal rates were revised as regards inland letters the new schedule being 1 schilling for distances up to five miles, 2 schilling from five to ten miles, and 3 schilling above ten miles. For printed matter distance was disregarded and the rates were fixed by weight at ½ schilling up to 1 loth, 1 schilling from 1 to 4 loth, and 2 schilling from 4 loth to eight ounces. It will thus be seen that there was considerable necessity for a 2 schilling stamp but a label of this value was not issued until October, 1866. In the following year it underwent a change of color and on January 1st, 1868, the separate series of stamps for Mecklenburg-Schwerin was dispensed with on the formation of the North German Confederation.

THE FIRST ISSUE.

The first stamps, as we have already stated, were issued on July 1st, 1856. They were printed at the Prussian State Printing Office, in Berlin, on white wove paper and were issued imperforate. The design of the 1 schilling consisted of four small stamps of ¼ schilling each in two rows of two, the combined four being about 21 mm. square. The design on each of these four quarters shows a bull's head (or that of a buffalo according to some writers) the Arms of Mecklenburg, on a dotted ground, heraldically representing a field d'or. This was enclosed by a square frame inscribed "SCHILLING" at the base and "MECKLENB. SCHWERIN FRIEMARKE" on the other three sides, the numerals of value being in the angles. The 3 and 5 schillinge are alike in design and show a bull's head on a dotted ground within a shield, surmounted by a grand ducal coronet on an uncolored ground. Around this centerpiece is a square frame being inscriptions similar to those on the lowest denomination except that the word at base is "SCHILLINGE." The numerals in the angles are, of course, "3" and "5" respectively.

The sheets consisted of 120 stamps arranged in twelve rows of ten. According to the late Mr. W. A. S. Westoby "the 480 electrotypes for the ¼ schilling were arranged in groups of four in two rows of two, 1¾ mm. distance from each other, and 1¾ mm. between each group." Other writers state that the small electrotypes were placed an equal distance apart horizontally and vertically so that each was virtually a separate ¼ schilling stamp. The electrotypes for the 3 and 5 schillinge values were spaced about 2 mm. apart. The rows were numbered in the margins at each side from 1 to 12 respectively. Three deliveries of these stamps were made by the Prussian State Printing Office viz.:

Date.	Sheets.	Value.	Stamps
June 9, 1856.	6,300	4/4sch	756,000
June 9, 1856.	1,800	3sch	216,000
June 9, 1856.	600	5sch	72,000
Nov. 26, 1856.	200	3sch	24,000
Dec. 16, 1856.	1,650	3sch	198,000

It will be noted that the total supply of the 5sch consisted of only 72,000 stamps so that it is rather surprising its catalogue value is not higher. The only denomination that varies in shade is the 2sch which is found in yellow and orange-yellow.

Reference List.

1. 4/4sch red, Scott's No. 1.
2. 3sch yellow, Scott's No. 2 or No. 2a.
3. 5sch blue, Scott's No. 3.

THE SECOND ISSUE.

On June 12th, 1864, a supply of 500 sheets (60,000 stamps) of the 4/4sch stamp was ordered from Berlin and delivered early in July. The printers took it upon themselves to roulette the stamps in this supply and as the innovation was approved by the Mecklenburg authorities all further supplies of stamps were issued with roulette separation. This rouletting necessitated a new arrangement of the little electrotypes. The groups of four were arranged with a space of 3mm. between them, which allowed of a rouletting in line between each group. The paper on which this supply of stamps was printed was of a different texture from that used in 1856, having a smoother surface and being softer with a more pronounced mesh. Notwithstanding the fact that there were nearly as many of these stamps printed as of the 5sch blue this is the rarest of all Mecklenburg stamps as a glance at the catalogue will show.

Reference List.

July, 1864. Typographed. Rouletted 11½.

4. 4/4sch red, Scott's No. 4.

THE THIRD ISSUE.

A notice issued by the Post Office under date September 30th, 1864, informed the public that as soon as the stock of 5sch blue was exhausted a new issue would be made printed in brown, and that the dotted ground in the 4/4 schilling stamps had been suppressed. The actual date of issue of these two new varieties does not seem to be known for, though the official circular referred to above is dated Sept. 30th, a delivery of the 5sch bistre was made on July 15th, 1864, while the first lot of the 4/4sch was delivered on August 10th. These stamps were printed in sheets of 100 in ten rows of ten instead of 120 as formerly. The dates and quantities of the different supplies were as follows:—

Date.	Sheets.	Value.	Stamps
July 15, 1864.	100	5sch	10,000
Aug. 10, 1864.	4,000	4/4sch	400,000
March 20, 1865.	150	5sch	15,000
Oct. 20, 1865.	150	5sch	15,000
Jan. 9, 1866.	5,000	4/4sch	500,000
Jan. 26, 1867.	60	5sch	6,000
Feb. 23, 1867.	2,000	4/4sch	200,000
June 11, 1867.	100	5sch	10,000
Aug. 24, 1867.	1,200	4/4sch	120,000

It will thus be seen that altogether 1,220,000 4/4sch stamps were printed and 56,000 of the 5sch.

The 5sch is known on a distinctly thick paper and as this is little rarer than the normal variety it would seem that more than one of the supplies mentioned above were on this paper. Both values may be found in quite a number of shades. The specialist can sub-divide the ordinary paper into two varieties—one having a close texture like that used in 1856 and the other having a coarse web like that used for the issue of the rouletted 4/4sch original type, made in 1864.

Reference List.

1864. Typographed. Rouletted 11½.

5. 4/4sch red, Scott's No. 5.
6. 5sch bistre, Scott's No. 6 or No. 6a.

THE FOURTH ISSUE.

In September, 1865, the 3 schillinge appeared rouletted 11½ like the other values. The original plate of 1856 was used so that the stamps have smaller margins than those of the 5sch of the last issue which were printed in sheets of 100. A supply consisting of 800 sheets, or 96,000 stamps was delivered

THE STAMPS OF MECKLENBURG-STRELITZ

By B. W. H. POOLE.

The grand-duchy of Mecklenburg-Strelitz adjoins that of Mecklenburg Schwerin. Its industries, people, and geographical formation are similar to that of its sister duchy, while its capital is Neu-Strelitz. It has but one vote in the Imperial Federal Council and sends only one member to the Imperial Diet. The existing duchy dates from 1701, the title of grand-duke being acquired in 1815. At the time its postage stamps were issued its ruler was the Grand Duke Frederick William, then a child four years of age.

ITS PHILATELIC HISTORY.

Until October, 1864, the postal affairs of the tiny Grand-duchy of Mecklenburg-Strelitz were managed by the Thurn and Taxis administration. It then, if somewhat tardy in making up its mind to do so, decided to issue stamps of its own and the order for these was given to the Prussian State Printing Office at Berlin. The currency was a mixed one, as both that of the thaler of its sister grand-duchy divided into 48 schillinge was in use, and that in which it was divided into 30 silbergroschen. A series of six different stamps was issued five of these having the values denoted in silbergroschen while the other had its value expressed as 1 schilling. The latter was intended for local letters only while the other denominations took the place of the similar values which had been used under the Thurn and Taxis administration.

The rates of postage on single letters were as follows:—Up to 10 miles, 1 silbergroschen; From 10 to 20 miles, 2 silbergroschen; Over 20 miles, 3 silbergroschen. Local, or "drop", letters were 1 schilling, the registration fee was 2 schilling, and special delivery cost 3 silbergroschen. Printed matter within the confines of the duchy was charged at the rate of ¼ silbergroschen per loth, while for other places within the German-Austrian Postal Union the rate was ⅓ silbergroschen. The computation of the postal charges must have been difficult at times for some of the rates were expressed in schillinge and some in silbergroschen and, as we have shown in the case of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, the two currencies were somewhat difficult to reconcile. The stamps had but a short life for on January 1st, 1868, they were superseded by the general issue for the North German Confederation.

THE STAMPS.

The stamps were first issued on October 1st, 1864, and of the six values comprised in the set three were of one design and three of another. The central design on the ¼ sgr, ⅓ sgr and 1 schilling consists of a rectangle of solid color on which the Arms of Mecklenburg, a bull's head on a shield surmounted by a grand-ducal coronet, are embossed in white. On the frame the inscriptions are shown in colored letters on an engine turned ground, while in each of the four corners the numerals of value are shown in white on square blocks of solid color. The inscriptions are "MECKLENB." on the left, "STRELITZ" on the right, "EIN VIERTEL" or "EIN DTITTEL" on the top for the ¼sgr and ⅓sgr respectively, and "SILB. GR." at the bottom for these two values. On the 1 schilling the top frame shows "EIN" and the bottom one "SCHILLING". On the other three values the centre is similar but is on a solid oval ground. The frame around this is octagonal in shape with inscriptions on an engine turned ground. These are "MECKLENB. STRELITZ" at the top and the value in words at the bottom. In the centre, at each side, numerals of value are shown on small uncolored ovals.

The stamps were all embossed in color on plain white wove unwatermarked paper at the Prussian State Printing Office. They were printed in sheets of 100, ten rows of ten, with the side margins numbered 1 to 10 corresponding with the horizontal rows. All were rouletted 11½.

How many were printed or how many different printings took place we have been unable to discover but the totals were roughly as follows:—

REMAINDERS.

The grand-duchy having joined the North German Confederation, a notice dated December 17th, 1867, announced that on and after January 1st, 1868, the stamps of the Confederation would be substituted for those of Mecklenburg-Strelitz. The remainders were sold in 1868 to a merchant in Neu-Strelitz but no details appear to have been published regarding the numbers in the lot or the price paid for them. All the stamps of Mecklenburg-Strelitz are considerably rarer used than unused and specimens with forged cancellations are, therefore, by no means uncommon.

None of the stamps of this grand-duchy have ever been reprinted.

GREECE CLOSES OFFICES IN CRETE.

We learn from Athens that the Greek Government has notified France and other Powers that their offices in Crete must be closed down from April 1, 1914.

It is now more than probable that all foreign offices within the territories annexed by Greece, Servia, etc., will be requested to follow the example of Crete.

In the newly annexed territories there are French P. O.'s at Dedeagh and Cavalle, Italian offices in Janina and Salonica, whilst at the latter town there is also a Russian office.—Stamp Collecting.

LISBON FESTIVAL STAMPS.

Not many have understood the why and wherefore of the Portuguese stamps issued last year and inscribed "Lisboa—Festas Da Cidade." It seems that our old friend St. Anthony has a feast day on June 12, and the Republican government, which does not look with too much favor on religious fêtes, tried to change the celebration to that of the famous poet Camoes, whose birthday is June 10. Lest trouble arise the city of Lisbon thought it might be better to make a carnival week at this time, as is done in southern France along the Riviera. So to help the finances the two stamps were created to "commemorate" the occasion! The 1 centavo was to be used on all correspondence from Lisbon and the 2 centavos on all telegrams—this in addition to the regular fees. It is said that 1,200,000 of the former and 300,000 of the latter were printed, but only about a third of the 1c and two-thirds of the 2c were sold.—N. E. Stamp Monthly.

MELVILLE'S RETURN.

(MR. UNDOOLEY AGAIN AT THE B. P. S.)

"He's coming agin," says Undooley.

"Who's that it is:" asked Finnerty.

"Why, the great English philatelist, him as were here in 1906. I niver shall forget his visit thin. I remimber I says to him, I says, Mr——, Mr——, what's that's his name, Finnerty?" says Undooley.

"Pankhurst?" says Finnerty.

"No, no!" says Undooley. "I says, now——what'd yer say his name was?"

"Jack Johnson," ventured Finnerty.

"Hivins no!" says Undooley.

"I hav it, it's Melville. I says, Melvy, me lad, hav wan on me, and he says, thanking you the same, I canna, I hav just had two on Wylie—two quarts of water!"

"It's a wonder he came back, after that," says Finnerty. "Is he a great writer?"

"Great!" says Undooley, "he's immense. Some av thim think him the greatest English author."

"Sure an' I thought Shakspere were the greatest wan in England, him an' Nat Gould."

"Shakspere's dead these hundred years or more," says Undooley.

"You're mistaken," says Finnerty, "he hav a new play coming out nixt week in New York."

"Finnerty, no doubt ye believe all ye reads in the papers, but the best authorities says Shakspere is dead, and I refuse to argue the question, but ye can bet Melville is a live wan," says Undooley.

"What for is he coming?" asked Finnerty.

"To represent the Junior Philatelists an his books at the World's Exhibition in N. Y., to see his old friends, that's me, and to get ideas for some more books," says Undooley.

"I thought the World's series were over," says Finnerty.

"That's baseball," says Undooley, "I refer to the great sthamp exhibit in N. Y., where they are going to hav ivery kind av a sthamp that were iver born, from thim that were made to carry letters to thim that were meant for fishing.

"Fishing," says Finnerty, "I don't understand you."

"Why, to catch suckers wid," says Undooley.

"Are there many suckers who wud bite at anything in the stamp world?" asked Finnerty.

"We all are," says Undooley, "except the dealers an' wan other."

"Who's the wan other?" asked Finnerty.

"Parker Brown," says Undooley.

"Spaking of books, what did Melville iver write:" asked Finnerty.

"Well, he wrote 'How to start a Philatelic Society'," says Undooley.

"Hivins," says Finnerty, "if I wanted to start a philatelic society I wud use dynamite. I think that wud start 'em some."

"An' he wrote 'How to Photograph Sthamps,'" says Undooley.

"How to photograph sthamps—I shud think that wud be aisy enough. Sure, they kape still don't they?" says Finnerty.

"I don't know about that," says Undooley, "but I think the young feller gives them chloroform before he snaps thim."

"I guess I'll take Melville round a bit if ye'll introduce me," says Finnerty.

"Where wud ye take him?" asked Undooley.

"Well, I wud take him to some places your friend Wylie didn't take him to. I'd take him through Van Nostrand's Brewery, and to the Hod Carriers' Annual Ball, and to see the 'Hibernian Guards' drill, and let him put on the gloves wid me friend O'Flanigan, though I think O'Flanigan wud knock his dommed head off, but give the lad a little fun, I say, and thin I'd take him down to the Club and let him into a little game if he had any sporting blood in him, and maybe he'd have to walk home."

"What Club's that, Finnerty?" asked Undooley.

"The Midnight Howlers," says Finnerty.

"That's where the Englishman was kilt last week?" asked Undooley.

"The police couldn't prove it," says Finnerty.

"I think he'd prefer a little quiet before he goes to N. Y.," says Undooley, "instead of trapeezing round wid a wild Irishman like you."

"That's it," says Finnerty, indignantly. "I wud like to show the lad a little rale life and you—I suppose you wud arrange a programme something like this:—Rise at six g. m., a light breakfast of a grape nut, a swallow of tea and a soft-boiled Beverly egg, thin a stroll on the common, close yer eyes whin the sparrows take a bath, a short call at the New England Sthamp Morgue to see Lyons—not a Sea Lyon but to see Lyons—write an eddytorial for the N. E. Sthamp Monthly wid the aid of anesthetics, thin over to Drews' to see Drew re-arrange his office, which he does ivery week, an' thin down to Beals' an buy the lad a pound of Beals' best mixture—for the furnace—an' over to Billy Aldrichs' to see the handsomest man in the stamp business, an' by this time he'd be ready for a glass of milk and a bun, and thin—most reckless av all—down to the Kast Building to slape it off wid Wylie. Ain't that a divil av a programme for a great big husky Briton. I'll bet ye Undooley he'd enjoy a scrap wid the gloves, or going through a brewery—an' going slow too—more than that slush."

"Finnerty," says Undooley, "this is a Philatelist that's coming, not a pugilist, and, what's more, he hav no bad habits."

"Is that so?" says Finnerty, "thin he better git some or he'll be lonesome in N. Y. If he's as tame as ye make him out to be the gun men will git him sure."

"Well, I dunno but what ye are partly right," says Undooley, "and I wonder how it wud do for ye an' me an' a few of the lads to give him a little dinner down at the 'Sorrento' or 'Leveronis.'"

"A good idea," says Finnerty, "but instead of a dago dinner why not a rale old Irish feed at the Jefferson House."

"Begorra, I'll think that over," says Undooley.

"Don't think about it too long because that Melville man is one av thim chaps who is 'here to-day and there tomorrow,' and the first thing ye know he's over in N. Y. waking up the dead wans over there," says Finnerty.

"I won't," says Undooley, "I'll get busy at once."

"From what ye tell me," says Finnerty, "I shud say he were a foine chap. 'Most good enough to be Irish."

"Well, I won't go as far as that," says Undooley, "but he certainly is all right, and I'm glad he kim back."

"Well," says Finnerty, "I must be going, but spake a good word for me whin ye see him."—Stamp Lover.

U. S. Proofs and Essays

My stock of U. S. Essays is now unusually strong.

I offer— 1st:—

A COLLECTION OF OVER 700 PIECES IN 2 STANLEY GIBBONS' ORIEL ALBUMS.

This collection consists only of the Essays of the Toppan, Carpenter, Casilear Co., and the Philadelphia Bank Note Co., successors. (Included are 35 sheets of 25 stamps counted as 35 pieces only. Counting by the actual number of stamps would make the collection total considerably more than 1500 pieces.)

I would like to sell this collection as a whole and can quote a very low price to interested parties.

I also have a miscellaneous collection of proofs, essays, color trials, "specimens," etc., probably 800 to 1000 pieces totaling upwards $1,000.00.

These are all priced separately and at low prices, but in the case of a liberal purchase I can allow a special discount.

Besides the above I have in circulation 5 "red books" of U. S. Essays, pricing from $50.00 to $100.00 a book at my usual low rates.

If interestd in U. S. Essays it will pay you to write me.

WE KNOW:—

¶That our issue of last week was one of the most readable of past months. And the advertising was very attractive!

¶That Voorhees, Carter, Powell, Legg, Gregory, Tasker, and Sterling are bound to have a good business as a result of their enterprize.

¶That Chicago is full of grief.

¶That Philadelphia rejoices.

¶That no collector can afford to be without Poole's "Hints for Stamp Collectors." Price 25c.

¶That we don't know how to run the WEEKLY but we are doing the best we can with more than 57 varieties of collecting propensities to cater to.

¶That some newspapers don't fear a law suit—we don't like them!

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

They All Say It—In an English paper, the largest dealer in London says, regarding prices of British colonials: "We propose to weed out all poor copies from our stock books, and to price really superb copies at an advance on catalogue quotations. These new prices will be copied into the new catalogue of British colonials, which we shall commence upon in the spring, for publication upon the exhaustion of the present edition." The rises will not be sensational ones but measured and justifiable. The argument is that for some time past, a large part of the attention that usually was given to British colonial stamps has been deflected to European and South and Central American issues; and the consequence was that the demand for British colonials was about stationary with little change in catalogue prices, year by year. Indications are not lacking that British colonials are due for a fuller share of appreciation; and advanced prices will follow. In the course of a letter before us from Mr. Freeman Putney, Jr., manager of the Scott Stamp & Coin Company, we read: "It will interest you, perhaps, to know that there has been a decided awakening of interest in British colonials this winter, as evidenced not only by the retail trade bit in the last few auction sales." We may add that for the past year, Mr. Putney has not hesitated to express his belief publicly that British colonials are on an ascending scale.

Lots To Learn—This letter has come from Mr. A. N. Reggio: "I have noted a good deal of discussion about the issues of National, Continental and American Bank Note Companies in the WEEKLY. These most interesting printings certainly offer a wide field for research. What I want to know is: Who printed a certain stamp I have? It is a one-cent dark blue, thick dark brown gum, no secret mark, thick porous paper and yet 'snappy.' An expert told me it was 'American,' yet the American Bank Note Company did not use the thick dark brown gum. If the American Bank Note Company used the National Bank Note Company's plates, why is this not recorded in the Standard Catalogue?" A thick brown gum is characteristic of the National product, it is true, but the gum test alone is not absolute proof of identity. We hope that soon the cataloguers will make note of the existence for instance of Continental imprint stamps, printed by the American Bank Note Company on soft paper, as a protective measure. There is much to learn further of the printings of United States stamps, 1870 to 1882, it is needless to add.

A Break in China—Our old friend, Bill Bloss, sends us the following information regarding Chinese revenue stamps surcharged, which is important if true,—and our guess is that it is true: "I am advised by my correspondent in Peking, China, Mr. John Ke-Chi Sun, of the following facts about these stamps. 'The characters stamped on the revenue stamps are to show that the stamps are sold from the post office and are not a kind of surcharge at all. I can hardly believe, so far as I know, that these revenues were ever used for postage. If so, I will be glad to purchase one on an original cover for you. The reason that Scott's 1914 catalogue lists these as postage stamps is, as I see, because there is one character stamped on these revenues meaning 'Post,' but not 'Postage.'' I have reason to believe that Mr. Sun is well informed on these stamps as he has always impressed me as a keen student." The stamps under notice, three in number, may be found in the "addenda" of the 1914 catalogue.

The New Stamp Meter—The description of the Pitney Postage Stamp Meter in our issue of February 21st has attracted some attention; and from Mr. Robert A. Turner, we have received a copy of the Addressograph-er for February, which contains an account with illustrations, of the Pitney machine. The description of the machine and its operations is more thorough than our reference two weeks ago; and we learn that the invention was suggested to H. S. Collins and Arthur H. Pitney, so long ago as 1901, when they were working together in the office of a large Chicago firm, in consequence of repeated "leakages" in the postage stamp account. The company that is promoting the Pitney Meter is undertaking an intelligent campaign to achieve its object and we shall hear more of the activities of the company, it is safe to say.

The Black Band—We have been shown by Mr. Milson J. Luce, a two-cent stamped envelope, current issue, cut square, with a black band five millimeters wide along the outside edges. Unquestionably, this band of mourning is of private inspiration as the authorities have not issued a mourning envelope. However, it would be a considerate act, we think, on the part of the department to issue a stamped envelope in mourning.

Practical Postmark—From Mr. R. A. Jonscher we have received the following letter: "I beg to bring to your attention, as of possible interest, the following postmark from Chile, which has just come to my notice. It is a reminder from the postal authorities of that country that the delivery of letters would be expedited if a little more care was taken in addressing them. Just to the left of the regular postmark of Santiago is the inscription in five lines: 'Important! !—In Replying, Do Not Fail—To Indicate My Residence—Street & Number, Or My—P. O. Box. It is Important! !'" Chile's postal enterprise is on a par with that of Mexico with its weather prophecy postmark. It is not necessary to dwell upon the growing tendency to utilize the postmark as a circulation medium, as latterly, evidence constantly is at hand showing how it is employed for publicity purposes. If one ponders upon the possibilities of postmark advertising, a conviction may be felt that governments generally in time will depend upon the postal marking for the dissemination of important announcements or regulations regarding postal business and who knows, what else.

Errors in Postmarks—Pursuing the subject of postal markings, Rev. L. C. Walter, writes: "Errors in stamps are not uncommon occurrences but I wonder whether any one has noted errors in U. S. postmarks. About the first of June, 1902, the post office at Oklahoma, Okla., for a few days used a canceling stamp reading 'Oaklahoma.' While this is not strictly about stamps, it is of such a near-philatelic nature that it may be interesting." In the past, we have recorded oddities or transpositions in postmarks but this is the first time that we have seen a palpable mis-spelling or one that seems to have been due to downright ignorance rather than carelessness. This exhibit is on a par with the spelling, "doller" that has been seen on counterfeit surcharged British Columbia. Postmarks "June 31," "9109," etc., have been shown us at different times; and we have the five-cent green, Confederate, first issue, used on the cover and plainly postmarked, Salisbury, N. C., Jan. 27, 1861. As the first general issue, Confederate stamps were not issued until October or so, 1861, the year on the postmark in question should have been 1862. As a rule, entire dependence may be placed upon the correctness of a postmark but so that we may not regard the marking as infallible, a glaring exception to the rule is provided, now and then.

THE NEW SET FOR EGYPT.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have received from Eugene Androchowitz a schedule of the parcel post rates in Canada, and also a 1c Brockville, Ont., precancel.

—Vol. I, No. 1 of the Berkshire Philatelist reaches us from Reading, Pa. H. A. Benner is the editor and a sample copy can no doubt be obtained upon request.

—In the Washington Post of Monday, Feb. 23, appeared a very finely displayed full page advertisement of H. F. Colman, the well known Washington dealer. It was illustrated with cuts of stamps and all in all was a striking production. We trust it may prove a profitable venture.

—We are indebted to Russell L. Stultz for a bunch of no less than sixteen clippings, many of which deal with the parcel post service, which occupies a very prominent place in the press of our country.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Walter Maddock, Chas. Beamish (2), D. G. Kelley, Herman W. Boers (5).

—A rate card showing the rates of postage on parcels mailed in the Province of Quebec under the new parcel post law is sent us by Louis C. Carrier of the Quebec Stamp Exchange.

—We are intebted to F. C. Rohrbach, and J. M. Overfield for back numbers of the WEEKLY asked for.

—L. A. Beebe submits documentary evidence that Frank L. Cook, giving as his address, Pendleton, Ind., is a fraud. A registered letter sent him was returned marked "Moved—Address unknown." A clerk in the Pendleton Post Office writes Mr. Beebe that all the references given by Cook are fraudulent, no such parties residing in the town. This man Cook has been previously reported by us.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Rochester (N. Y.), Philatelic Association was held Wednesday evening, Feb. 25th, at the Club Rooms. A. J. Ludolph showed his collection of unused U. S. and Colonies. An auction sale was held, the stamps entered being owned solely by members. It was voted to hold a series of competitive exhibitions, the best two drawing prizes. The first one will be held at the next meeting, Mar. 25th, the subject being any country in Europe. All members are earnestly requested to enter this competition. Stamps do not have to be remounted. They can be shown in album just as arranged by owner.—L. L. ALBRIGHT.

—After an enforced absence from our columns for a number of months due to the fact that he was away from Egypt, Felix Cohen is now advertising with us and we have no hesitancy in recommending him to our readers. Dealers desirous of opening trade relations will find him thoroughly reliable.

PROFIT IN NEW ISSUES.

Upon invitation of the Postage Stamp a symposium is being conducted dealing with the merits of a new issue service. Here is one opinion:—

"I subscribed to Mr. Peckitt's service during the greater part of 1908-9, among the stamps I got at 10% over face in that period were New Hebrides 1s single CA, Cayman Islands 4d on yellow, 1s on green single, 10s, Natal 6d—£1 inclusive in the Universal colours, Gibraltar 4s mult. in the old colours, St. Helena 2½d, 4d, 6d original printing and 10s, S. Nigeria 10s mult. old colours, and 'Universal' set. I calculate that the present catalogue prices of the stamps I got in those two years show an average increase of 80% over the prices I paid for them. Owing to pressure of other matters I dropped my subscription in 1910-11, but rejoined early in 1912, since when I have got my Georgian issues complete up to the £1 value, including both coloured and surface-coloured papers, the 4d and 6d Postage and Revenue, St. Helena, &c, also the belated 'Edwards' such as the £1 Fiji on red, of Gold Coast 2s 6d, Gold Coast chalky.

It is certainly far less expensive than buying the same stamps separately at the usual prices, and minimises the risk of missing a rare variety."

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

A review copy of J. W. Scott's Best Album lies before us. This book has been a very popular one for a score of years and that its popularity has not waned is evidenced by the length of life it has experienced. The publishers claim that the 1914 edition is superior to any volume issued previously and we have no reason to doubt the assertion. In one book the stamps of the entire world are grouped and many illustrations are scattered throughout its pages. The up-to-dateness of the book is evidenced in the spaces provided for the King George issues, Portuguese Colonies, China and even the parcel post series of our own country. There are numerous blank pages for supplementary issues. Price, $2.50. J. W. Scott Co., 36 John St., N. Y. City, publishers.

COMMUNICATION.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.

To the Editor:

It appears that my friendly advice to stamp collectors regarding the purchase of St. Helena stamps, the 4d and 6d of the Postage & Revenue issue, as reproduced in No. 1207 (page 62) of your esteemed paper has caused a storm of excitement, amongst dealers because they see themselves deprived of a nice profit, and amongst collectors because they had already purchased the stamps at the higher prices before my note of warning was sounded.

I have consequently received letters and verbal requests to furnish the stamps or to name the dealer who was willing to dispose of his stock of recent importation at regular new issue values, and have, of course, not been able—with one laudable exception—to "furnish the goods."

My letter was dated, if I remember, in the first week of this month, since when nearly all philatelic papers have brought advertisements of these specific two "birds" at sky-high prices, and the dealers in question stepped in line and made hay while the sun was shining, and who will blame them? But the very fact that the stamps are offered from all quarters is the best proof of my contention, that the stamps are not so scarce as dealers would like us to believe, and I still maintain the opinion that collectors will feel sorry that they purchased the stamps "at any price."

On the other hand I have been blamed by dealers that I had caused mischief, and they ask me to modify my previous statement, which I am willing to do to the extent that "the stamps cannot now be bought at the low figures quoted three weeks ago."

You will oblige me by making this my statement known to your readers, in order to set things right and relieve me of whatever responsibility was assumed with my "warning note," since such it was and no more.

UNKIND CRITICS.

In a number of the German papers we find reproductions of the paper read by F. Genth at the 25th German Philatelists' Day, at Hannover, on August 17th on the subject: "As it is, as it is not, and as it might be"—a subject which manifestly opens the way to a multiplicity of criticism. Mr. Genth enters at length upon a number of drawbacks of philately, many of which are a menace to philately in this country as well as on the Continent of Europe. We quote a short extract from his paper on a fault found in many American collectors:

"Imagine a collector who has only recently begun to collect stamps. Imagine that he has joined a philatelic society and that he brings his album to a meeting of the society to give his colleagues a look at it. Probably all of them at first examine the collection in silence. Suddenly someone discovers a stamp with a slight tear; immediately he observes: 'Why, that stamp has a tear.' Before long another one finds that some stamp is canceled too heavily. A third one thinks it necessary to direct attention to the fact that one stamp has a perforation missing on one corner. Our poor beginner who was all swelled up in the fond thought of possessing a nice collection becomes more and more discouraged, until finally he packs up his album and runs away. That's the way it is in most cases, and yet it could easily be entirely different. Why must one discourage the beginner? Is it so difficult to enter upon his thoughts? Couldn't he be brought by tactful instructions to the point of recognizing his defects himself? To recognize the weak points of your collection yourself is not nearly as discouraging as to have others turn up their noses at every trifle."

We applaud these sentiments and confess that we have always lived up to them by praising young collectors for the few nice stamps they had rather than hurting their feelings by pointing out the torn and dirty specimens. Give them time; they will soon acquire a higher esthetic standard.—P. J. of A.

THE NEW AUSTRALIAN STAMPS.

The fact that the new King George penny stamps were not put on sale until the 9th ultimo prevented us last month from commenting on some discreditable procedure therewith.

Concurrently with the placing on sale of the portion of stamps allotted to this State an order was issued, so as to check any attempt to corner the issue by dealers, that no person would be allowed to purchase more than six stamps at a time. This led to a most unseemly rush at the various post offices, for the very fact of the restriction caused the appearance of a large number of speculators, and in this instance it would have been difficult to draw the line between a collector, a dealer and a legitimate postal user. If the regulation was only aimed at those dealers who carry on a regular business then it was a piece of impertinent interference.

It would suit the Postmaster General better if he would mind his own business, and leave the dealers to mind theirs. Apparently he has more than enough to do to conduct the affairs of the Postal Department without descending to such petty acts as the one complained of. Indeed, it looks like as if the Postmaster General had decided to go into the business himself as a stamp dealer, and feared competition.

We repeat a former assertion that the stamps should never have been issued at all, seeing that such a small number were available. We do not accept the statement that all the printing presses were occupied with other work. This is all bosh! We fancy there was another reason.

Why were four plates of 120 stamps each prepared and printed from. The following is, we believe, the true answer. The plates cannot be hardened in Melbourne, and it was feared one plate would wear out before a sufficient number of sheets were printed from it. One million stamps with 120 on each plate means 2,000 impressions a plate. If the Postmaster General issues any more it is because it has been found the plates will stand more wear or possibly new plates have been prepared in the same manner as previously. Otherwise why not go on printing indefinitely? Why limit the issue to a million only.

We must confess the whole affair is inexplicable. The design has been well engraved (a little coarse, perhaps). It would have been an easy matter to have had electros prepared from it, a large stock could have been put on sale, and the matter would have ended there, so far as the issue of a stamp bearing the portrait of His Majesty was concerned. If the desire was to get better plates from England they could have been substituted when ready, and many people (the ordinary public) would probably not have recognised any difference. The whole procedure seems to have been the result of a whim.

If the Postmaster General carries out his announced intention of issuing another million stamps he will now incur the anathemas of those fortunate collectors (?) who secured many lots of six (we have seen some complete sheets which were bought at sub-post offices) and were made to realise that they have been fooled into the belief that they were buying sovereigns at 6d apiece, when they were only helping to swell the Commonwealth Exchequer.

Surely the Government cannot be so hard up that they must resort to such a childish means of making the postal department show a balance on the right side. This suspicion is accentuated by reason of the announcement in the daily press recently to the effect that "complete sets of the current issue of Commonwealth postage stamps, lightly postmarked, may be purchased on application at the General Post Office, Sydney, at a cost of 10sh per set. The stamps include 15 denominations (½ to £2) of the kangaroo design and the new issue, King's head, one penny." One of our friends was very much disgusted, however, to find that the 10sh, 20sh and £2 were overprinted "specimen," and not postmarked at all. Even if they had been, we deny the right of the postal authorities to sell stamps in such a manner, and we very much doubt if in doing so they are not transgressing the postal act.

When deciding to put on sale only one million of the King George penny stamps the Postmaster General was evidently not acquainted with the fact that the philatelic authorities at home have ruled that stamps with a limited issue are barred, and we should not be surprised to learn that such a decision had been arrived at in this instance, and that the stamps were denied catalogue rank. They can hardly be recognised as a provisional issue, for there was no actual postal necessity for them. The despised kangaroos are still on sale, and the printing of them goes on merrily.

The whole business has an air of mystery about it. It calls for a more candid explanation than has been vouchsafed hitherto. Bad and all as previous Postmaster Generals may have been, they never descended to such execrable methods as have now been adopted. We trust, however, that there will never be a recurrence of them, that the Postmaster General will see the error of his ways, and that he will make an effort hereafter to maintain the dignity of his position.

We have no particular fault to find with the new stamp. The artist cut the die in a workmanlike manner, and His Majesty's portrait is very pleasing. The "hydrangeas" in the top corners look out of place (they have not been engraved deeply enough to stand much wear), but whoever saw a kangaroo with its tail coming out in front between its legs? As to the printing there are apparently already several shades, but as the million stamps were, we presume, printed without intermission, it can hardly be imagined that different inks were used; and we take it therefore that the so-called shades were produced by all the plates not being wiped alike, leaving more ink on some than others. The perforating was done in a very amateurish fashion, and reflects very little credit on the Commonwealth Stamp Printing Department. The reason these stamps were printed on unwatermarked paper is that the watermarked paper now in use is previously gummed, and it is impossible to print stamps by the engraving process on paper already gummed, for it has to be damped. It may be explained that the reason they were perforated on single line machines is that the stamps being a trifle larger would not fit the triple cutters, and either the permanent King George stamps will have to be altered in size to fit the "comb" perforating machines and the watermarked paper, or the perforators will have to be readjusted, and new paper will have to be prepared. The watermark is the greatest safeguard against fraud, and we would counsel the postal authorities to avoid the use of plain paper when possible.

We wish most sincerely that postage stamps and politics could be severed altogether. It is a matter for regret that the former were ever allowed to get mixed up with the latter. One would expect something very different from a liberal high-minded government. It is all very well to talk of loyalty and the maintenance of the Empire, but all the loyalty that is made manifest on a mere postage stamp is not much to brag about. The portrait of His Majesty merely intimates to the world at large that Australia is a part of the British Empire, but nothing more.

For some years Australia has been the "butt" of British and foreign philatelists, and we are afraid the recent farces will prove "the last straw." Collectors should know that the present Postmaster General's actions are certain to bring the stamps of this country into further bad repute, and they should resent being held up to ridicule.

The Prime Minister stated in Parliament the other day that it was the intention of the Government to put the whole of the postal and telegraphic services under a commission. It is to be hoped that after the commissioners are appointed they will see to it that postage stamps are issued in a befitting manner for postal purposes only, and that they will not employ the clap-trap methods now in vogue.

We have written very strongly on the above subjects, but our excuse is that we feel ashamed of our country and of the indignities to which it has been subjected, hence we feel it our duty to enter a protest.—Aust. Stamp Journal.

KANSAS CITY, MO., ORGANIZES.

The Kansas City Philatelic Society was organized February 20, 1914. So much enthusiasm was manifested at the first meeting that the future success of the Society is assured beyond question. Twenty-three collectors were out and, as there are in the neighborhood of two hundred in Kansas City the promoters of the new society expect to soon make it at least the third largest in the country.

The meeting was held in the parlor of the Densmore Hotel and the management has kindly offered the use of this room for future meetings. A small auction was held in which several original Sonora covers were disposed of at fancy prices. Regular auction sales will be held at monthly intervals. The officers elected are: Arthur L. Nelson, President; Carl S. Davis, Secretary and Treasurer.

THE WORK OF A PHILATELIST.

It may interest our readers to know that the portrait depicted upon the new Albanian permanent issue is the work of a well-known Parisian philatelist, M. Kautsch.

Several years ago M. Kautsch received an order from an Albanian Revolutionary Committee to prepare a design for the coinage of the future Albanian Republic. The order was promptly executed, but the revolutionary movement did not succeed at the time, so that the new money scheme had to be put on one side.

The new stamps, however, show the original design of M. Kautsch's for the proposed coinage, and the engraver has made but slight alterations from the old design.—Stamp Collecting.

U. S. STAMP BOOKS.

H. L. WILEY.

The sale of postage stamps in the convenient booklet form, an idea conceived by Edwin C. Madden in 1900, has proved to be such a profitable practice that we can assume it to be a permanent feature of the Post Office Department and for that reason there will evidently be no lack of future material for the specialist who collects this interesting side line.

Four issues of one cent stamps and six issues of two cent stamps have appeared to date in book form. The early issues include nine distinct varieties and in the later issues twelve varieties may be obtained so that the total number of distinct varieties is about one hundred, comprising differences in design, watermark and the various plate lines and plate numbers.

The first stamps issued in this form were the 2c Series of 1895 which appeared in 1900. Melville's handbook gives April 16th as the date of issue although in the annual report of the Post Office Department for 1906 Edwin C. Madden who was then Third Assistant, refers to this matter in this sentence: "The total profit on the whole number of books issued in the six years and three months since they were introduced is $418,881.17." The report is dated December 13, 1906 which indicates a minor discrepancy in the matter of dates. The collector is not greatly concerned with this detail except as a matter of passing interest. The records of the department do not discriminate between the stamps issued in books and the ordinary series except in the later reports so there is no manner in which reliable figures may be obtained to show the number of stamps issued in this form. This is another detail that is of secondary interest. It is known that these early issues are difficult to obtain and for that reason they command rather a high price, which is another illustration of the fact that the seemingly unimportant variety of today which may be purchased at any post office is the same one for which we pay a substantial premium a few years after it has become obsolete. The right time to collect these things is while they are current issues. Aside from the ordinary pleasures derived from the ownership of these stamps, if they are purchased while they are current one has the comfortable feeling that the investment is one which is always worth the amount expended.

The next stamp issued in book form was the 2c flag type of the Series of 1902. This issue was current for a period of about nine months and is a scarce variety. The date of issue is February 11, 1903, and it was current until the early months of 1904 at which time it was replaced by the well known and fairly common "shield type" of the 2c Series of 1903, which had been issued on November 18, 1903.

While there are no reliable data on the number of stamps printed from the booklet plates and no comparison can therefore be made between the relative scarcity of these first two issues, by this method we can get an approximate idea from the fact that for the earliest issue, that of the 2c 1895, a total of twenty special plates were manufactured and for the 2c "flag type" there were but sixteen. Assuming that all these plates were used until they became worn out, it will be seen that the "flag type" is somewhat scarcer than the earlier series but there is absolutely no safe basis for a positive opinion in the matter and therefore none is advanced. The 2c Series of 1903, "shield type" is at the present time obtainable for approximately double face. These stamps were current from the date of issue, November 18, 1903, up to the fall of 1909 and at that late date could be obtained in many post offices. During the six years that they were used, collectors as a rule seemed to overlook the fact that these booklet issues were of special interest as a side line for it seems that comparatively few were thoughtful enough to purchase a supply while they could be obtained at face. The present market for these things is very active and there are but two or three sources from which the stamps can be obtained in mint condition. Book panes of this issue with the plate numbers attached are selling for approximately fifteen times face value.

The inks used for these three first

I just purchased a magnificent collection of these stamps.

The 20th Century is complete and it is very strong in the 19th Century, as well. All of the stamps are unused and in magnificent condition. The 20th Century is complete in blocks of 4, from ½d to 1s. If interested in the countries write me.

Second National Bank Bldg., WASHINGTON, D. C.

issues were variable in composition and results and as a consequence a wide range of shades exist in any collection of these stamps. The first issue is commonly in a bright orange shade, the second issue, the "flag type" is most common in the carmine rose shade which is characteristic of all the "flag type" which were issued, and the third issue, the 2c "shield type" of 1903 is ordinarily found in a bright carmine which may vary through several tints. The less common color in which this issue is found is the "scarlet" shade while the deep lake is evidently the scarce variety judging from the current quotations and from considerable study of existing collections.

These three issues of two cent stamps had been used for seven years before the demand for a one cent stamp in the booklet form was supplied. On March 6, 1907 the 1c Series of 1902 was issued in books of 24 stamps. These books were current for only a comparatively short time as they were superseded after a period of less than two years by the Series of 1908. Twenty eight plates were prepared for this first issue of the 1c in book form. More than one hundred and fifty plates of the three issues of the two cent stamps had been used before the first plate of the one cent stamp made its appearance and at the time that the Series of 1908 replaced the Series of 1902 the ratio of all the two cent plates that had been used to all of the one cent plated that had been used was about nine to one. In consequence of the delay in issuing these one cent stamps in book form and because of the relatively brief period in which they were available they are now scarce and are almost as hard to obtain as the scarce two cent stamps of the Series of 1895 and the "flag type" of 1902. While these stamps of the Series of 1908 were in current use, the plates from which the booklet stamps are printed were enlarged to print three hundred and sixty subjects at each impression where previous to this change, the number of subjects on each plate was but one hundred and eighty. The original plates were arranged nine rows "high" and twenty rows "wide" and the new plates, with twice this capacity, are the same "width" but twice as "high."

About forty plates were prepared for the 2c Series of 1908 and for the 1c stamp of the same series there were but about fifteen plates, so that it is evident that the 1c is the scarcer of the two. This is the fact as indicated by market prices because there are very few panes of the 1c for sale. This was undoubtedly a matter of neglect and carelessness on the part of the collectors and dealers because the stamps were current for over two years.

The size of the booklet plates was changed in May, 1909 and in October of the following year the paper with the single lined watermark made its appearance while the Series of 1908 were still current, so that this one set, the Series of 1908, was printed on plates of two sizes and the paper on which the latter were printed may be either the double lined or the single lined watermark. The size of the plates makes rather an important difference in one of the line varieties, eliminating the "center block" from the plates of three hundred and sixty subjects.

The 2c 1908 was issued on November 16, 1908 in stamp books and the 1c appeared in that form about two weeks later, the date being December 3, 1908. The first plate used for the 1c stamp books of this issue was No. 4867 and for the 2c of this issue, No. 4803.

These stamps were current and obtainable in many offices for about three years. They were superseded by the "numeral" issues of the Series of 1912 during that year. The 1c Series of 1912 was first issued in booklet form about February 8 or 10, 1912, and the 2c followed it within less than ten days after that date. The first plate from which the 1c was printed is plate No. 5741 and the first plate for the 2c is No. 5756.

At the time that this article appears these stamps will have been in use for a period of approximately two years. At the present time the previous issue is sold and has not been available for purchase at any post office during the present year with exception of the first few weeks of the year when they were obtainable at a few of the smaller offices which had overstocked.

A summary of the 1c booklet issues shows that there have been four issues comprising three different designs and with one of these, the Series of 1908, issued on two kinds of paper. Of these four varieties the rare one is the first issue but all of them except the current issue are difficult to obtain, especially the 1908 issue on the single lined watermark, which is called the "Series of 1911" by collectors.

The following table will be of value in the study of these stamps:

1c STAMP BOOKS.

Series.	Issued.	Superseded.	Current.
1c 1902	March, 1907	December, 1908	21 months

1c 1911 S. L.	October, 1910	February, 1912	16 months

2c STAMP BOOKS.

Series.	Issued.	Superseded.	Current.

Although the earliest issue was in use for nearly four times as long a period as the one immediately subsequent, the "flag type" of 1902, it is known that the "flag type" is at present about twice as easily obtained as the stamps of the first issue, although neither of them are plentiful.

This fact is due to a lack of interest, the absence of "specialists" and ignorance of the true value of the stamps. There was certainly no lack of material as the stamps could have been purchased at any post office.

None of these stamps have been surcharged except certain issues for the Philippines and, a few handstamped copies of the first issue which bore the word "Specimen" on stamps and cover. These were circulated experimentally and for criticism among department officials, and other interested men.

As changes in the personnel of the Post Office department are reflected by the various names to be found on the covers of these stamp booklets, the detail of who was who has provided another series of variations for the ex-

$100.00 REWARD!

To anyone proving this is not a genuine unsolicited testimonial.

My dear Mr. Ohlman—

I want to thank you for the packet of 2,000 stamps received today and to assure you that you have succeeded in giving my boy many happy hours of pleasant occupation. This, however, does not go far enough for I wish to say that even if he had every one of those stamps I should and do consider the packet the most value for the money that I ever saw or heard of. For perfection of condition and admirable variety and value I doubt if there is any dealer offering anything to approach it. The indications are that the boy will get some 1200 stamps he did not have at a tremendous saving in cost and still further to be reduced by trading with the duplicates. Thanking you again and assuring you of our good will and esteem, I remain,

Very sincerely yours.

treme specialist. Differences in the text of the directions and postal rates give rise to another series of differences which are considered to be of enough importance to warrant considerable attention being paid to them. The covers of the stamp booklets are full of first aid to the ignorant. This printed matter will forever undergo revision and additions of various details and to the writer, who is interested but not to the extreme, it seems that a normal manner of specializing in these lines is to collect the stamps and not the covers. There is surely less variety and more interest to the stamps. A number of other countries followed the example of the United States and issued their low denomination stamps in booklets. One or two of these countries have sold the advertising space in the stamp books and we can readily understand the complications that would be the lot of the extreme specialist if this country should do likewise.

The least profit on the sale and distribution of one stamp book is approximately three quarters of one cent and from this modest margin the United States has derived a considerable sum of money as a result of the extensive sales of stamps in this form. The present yearly sales of the one cent stamp in books is over two hundred million stamps and of the two cent stamps, over three hundred million are sold in this form. That the relative sales of the one cent stamp are on a decided increase will be evident from the fact that only twenty-five million of the one cent were sold in 1907 while the sales of the two cent for that year were approximately eleven times as great, representing a money value of over twenty-two times that of the one cent. The ratio of money value has varied from 1 to 22 in 1907 to 1 to 3 in 1911, so the rapid increase of the sale of the 1 cent stamp is apparent. The total gain has been steady. In 1907 over one hundred and fifty million of the two cent stamps were sold in book form and in 1911 there were over two hundred million of them sold.

Numerous interesting minor varieties aside from the line varieties exist in the booklet issues. In laying out the plates it seems that the engravers are not as particular in erasing the layout lines as they are in the regular issues for any collection of twenty or thirty panes from these booklet issues will reveal traces of the layout lines remaining on the plate. A "center block" of the 1903 series shows a line running parallel to the vertical guide line the full distance of the three stamps.

CAUDELL'S KEY TO U. S. ENVELOPES.

The pioneer does not always get a tangible reward for opening a path in the trackless forest but he has the satisfaction of knowing that he is a benefactor to those who come after. The philatelic adventurer into new fields is a type of enthusiast for whom, frankly, we have a great admiration. There is nothing sordid about his calculations as a rule; and we are always glad to give his work, if possessing merit, a lift.

From the publisher, A. N. Caudell, 605 Keefer Place Northwest, Washington, D. C., we have received a pamphlet of about twenty pages, styled: "A Synoptic Key to the Catalogued Envelope Stamps of the United States." We read, further: "Being a system of alternates such as is used in Botany and Zoology in the determination of plants and animals, a system unique in Philately and so simple that a child can with accuracy determine the most difficult die of the United States envelopes." The feature of the book is the insert of a diagram, "Illustrated by a plate of 70 figures and a color strip of real envelope paper representing all colors used in their manufacture." Little may be added to the description given by the author; and with the "key for the separation of the envelope stamps of the United States," and the diagram before one, the search for the catalogue number of an envelope in hand, in Scott, 1914 edition, becomes a fascinating task. While we have not had time to thoroughly test the "key" yet we know that Mr. Caudell has every confidence in the value and precision of his work. All encouragement, say we, to this originator; and the envelope folks in particular should hail him with acclaim and rally to his support in all ways.

NEW NORWAY COMMEMORATIVES.

We read in La Revue Philatelique Francaise that the stamps commemorating the centenary of Norway's political severance from Denmark, which were announced for January of this year, will hardly be ready before April. The dies have been engraved at Vienna by the same artist who is the author of the current Austrian stamps, and the plates each bearing 50 impressions, have been manufactured by the Imperial and Royal State Printing Works, at Vienna. The stamps will be printed in taille-douce by the printing works of the National Bank at Christiania. As we have already stated in this column, there will be three values, 5, 10 and 20 ore, all reproducing a famous picture by the Norwegian painter, Oscar Wergeland, called "The National Assembly at Eidsvold." We, in common with the rest of the philatelic press, gave the title of the picture as "Oscar Wergeland taking the Oath of the Constitution," which was a confusion of terms.—Postage Stamp.

EDITORIAL.

Spring Styles—Some of the new issues are the most striking that have ever made philatelic history. The designs of the novelties from Egypt, Roumania and Turkey are pregnant with national and historical significance. We do not need to dwell upon the impression made upon collectors by the Egyptian and Turkish sets in particular, even though we hear of tremendous demands for the stamps by collectors of all classes. Today, anything that has an instructive value is apt to be appreciated and so, sets of beautiful stamps that have their historical suggestions are extraordinarily popular. While philately may not exactly be the hand-maiden of history, yet she can at least hold the mirror up to it.

Anomalies—The Sonora provisionals continue to come to the United States and be delivered here with no impost of postage due in not a few instances; and it is problematical whether the protests of the Mexican consuls in several of the American cities will occasion inquiry into the alleged abuse. If a strict interpretation of the postal laws be made, the provisionals would not be recognized as having any postal validity outside of Mexico. The Sonora provisionals with postal power in the United States present a phase somewhat unusual and the philatelist of the future may be puzzled to account for their partaking of the courtesy of the mails in this country, with no markings on the envelopes to show that everything was not regular.

Bavaria is Busy—Our correspondent, Mr. E. Lucas, in anticipating the appearance of the new Bavarian issue, which is to depict the old King as a youth and (on the mark values) as a veteran says that the printing process used for the stamps is being given much attention, as it may, if successful, revolutionize stamp making. It is a new application of one of the standard processes; and Mr. Lucas confirms statements regarding the new set that have been seen in several of our contemporaries. Mr. Lucas evidently did not know the particulars of the process which may radically change the present methods of stamp manufacture but we are sure to receive before long a description of the development in the printing of stamps.

New Society—The stamp collectors of Kansas City have organized the new Kansas City Philatelic Society and the indications are that the society will have a long and distinguished career. A double-extra welcome to the K. C. P. S. and may the members have many a "stamp debauch" together as they plan to do. Among the names of the officers and organization committee, we espy that of W. C. Michaels, and hence our emphasis of the obvious: Time flies! as was not Mr. Michaels one of the faithful who stood guard at the convention of the American Philatelic Society held in St. Louis, on October 7th, 1889?

Revenue Stamp Asides—A reader asks if there is any record of those proprietary revenues of the 1898 issue that were used, cut in half, on packages, as he has been told that there were a number of these provisionals "authorized." The proprietary issue of 1898 developed a number of unexpected turns to the stamp routine of the day. When the tax was levied on proprietary articles, beginning July 1, 1898, stamps were not available at some points; and so, from St. Louis came the typeset provisionals, or certificates to the effect that the tax was paid; and from Binghampton, New York, the "Dr. K. & Co." provisionals with different dates in July, 1898, surcharged on the adhesives, one to three cents, inclusive. By-the-way, any one interested in the Dr. Kilmer provisionals which are not catalogued as they were not authorized, although their use was allowed through sufferance, should obtain a copy of the leaflet of the exhaustive article on the subject that appeared in the WEEKLY several years ago. Harking back to the question about the halved proprietary stamps of the 1898 issue: There is no list as the use of stamps in such a condition was never permitted in the governmental sense. However, that splits were really pressed into service we know as we have seen them on packages, where they had been placed with no idea of any philatelic importance, it may be added.

Make Your Own—We have heard complaints that sometimes peroxide of hydrogen did not "work" and that it had no effect on stamps that were palpably sulphuretted or changed in color. The fault must be charged against the peroxide; it could not have been fresh. We have all been told how peroxide of hydrogen performs its functions. The extra atom of oxygen that peroxide of hydrogen embraces is easily released and this oxygen attacks all elements or compounds for which it has an affinity. After the extra atom of oxygen escapes from the peroxide of hydrogen, (H_2O_2), the fluid becomes water, H_2O. The failure of tests with peroxide will be attributed to weakened or impaired liquid; and there is a risk of getting chemically impure material. The Stamp Collector, in commending peroxide of hydrogen, as a restoring agent, tells how it may be prepared so that a proper solution is available: "Buy some barium peroxide, ($Ba O_2$), and some strong, pure hydrochloric acid (H CL) from the chemist. Dilute some acid—1 of acid to 4 of water—and keep it in a glass-stoppered bottle for general use. Take, say a teaspoonful of the peroxide and place it in a glass vessel with a little water. Now take about ten tablespoonfuls of dilute acid and add it very slowly to the powder. Stir well and allow the mixture to stand for twenty minutes. Strain off the clear liquid and bottle it for use, keeping it in a cool place. The peroxide of hydrogen may best be preserved in a solution containing a small quantity of some acid or a little spirit of wine."

Albanian Activity—Albania has shown the effects of war in a way to scourge the soul of the philatelist. Beginning with the June, 1913 issue, Turkey surcharged with the double eagle and "Shqipenies" inscription, there are nearly one hundred varieties with the latest issues, awaiting the attention of buyers, according to a German list just received. There is a new circular set, imperforate, with values, "apparently made with typewriter;" and a crude perforated set of local manufacture evidently, with central design of the Albanian double eagle. Speaking of the "Kastrioti" stamps of Albania, Alfred Smith & Son's Monthly Circular adds to our knowledge of national saviors, as follows: "Kastrioti is the national hero of the Albanians. From 1443 to his death in 1467 he upheld the independence of Albania against the Turks but the union that he had maintained in his country did not survive him, as his son, in 1474, sold the principality to the Venetians, by whom, four years later, it was re-sold to the Turks." No doubt, Philatelic Europe is interested in the Albanian issues much in the manner that we are in the Sonora stamps.

THE LINDENBERG MEDAL.

Our heartiest congratulations to Dr. Marco del Pont upon being the latest recipient of the Lindenberg medal.

The Lindenberg medal was founded early in 1905, by the Berlin Philatelic Club, and named in honour of Judge Lindenberg. The medal is the "Nobel Prize" of Philately, and is inscribed "For Conspicuous Service to Philately," and "it is intended as a mark of distinction for those who have won special fame in philately by scientific investigation and numerous contributions to Philatelic literature."

Those already possessing this coveted medal are: Mr. E. D. Bacon (England), Dr. E. Diena (Italy), the late Theodore Haas (Germany), the late Dr. Legrand (France), M. Hanciau (Belgium), Major E. B. Evans (England), Mr. M. P. Castle (England), the late Hans Kropf (Austria), the late M. Pierre Mahé (France), Dr. Franz Kalckhoff (Germany), Judge V. Suppantschitsch (Austria), and this year's winner Dr. Marco del Pont, of Buenos Aires, known as the "Father of South American philately."—Stamp Collecting.

BAVARIA'S NEW STAMPS.

A Munich portrait painter, Walter Firle, has completed two portraits of the new King of Bavaria which will be used for the forthcoming issue of Bavarian stamps. This will be the first time a Bavarian King has been depicted upon his stamps. The heraldic arms which have long been the symbol of the country on its stamps will continue to be used on the postal stationery, but in a new form devised by a celebrated heraldic artist, Otto Hupp.—Postage Stamp.

STATE REVENUE STAMPS.

First Classification—Stamped Paper.

By FRANK L. APPLEGATE.

CHAPTER I.—The Stamped Paper of Virginia.

The stamped paper of Virginia which is embossed without color on various legal and commercial papers are very elusive. I have never seen any of them nor have I ever got in communication with any one who has any. The only reference to them that I have ever seen is in Sterling's Catalogue of United States Revenue Stamps.

The legislative act calling these stamps into existence was passed in February of 1813. It is a peculiar fact that later in the same year, namely, August 3, the Federal Congress passed a parallel act taxing the same documents, hence all such documents used after the latter date have both the state and the federal issues impressed therein. Strangely too, both designs are the same size.

Although we are not informed when this act was repealed by the legislature it seems to have been in force for a number of years, and was amended from time to time and new schedules adopted.

The values required by the acts were of twenty-three denominations as follows: 4, 6, 10, 12, 20, 25, 37, 45, 50, 70, 75, 95 cent, and $1.00, 1.20, 1.25, 1.45 1.50, 1.70, 1.75, 1.95, 2.00, 2.20 and 2.45. Of these fourteen values, 6, 12, 20, 37, 45, 50, 75, 95 cent, $1.00, 1.20, 1.25, 1.75, 2.00 and 2.45 only had been found up to the time that Mr. Sterling published his list.

Each and every variety is priced by him at $5.00 and I guess they are worth it. He divides the whole assortment into first and second issues, but admits that certain values common to both issues can only be determined by the watermark T. A. T. TAM in the document, undoubtedly of no signicance to any one but the paper makers.

All the impressions are 29x29 millimeters in size. While the designs vary somewhat they follow the same general plan of a branch of leaves and berries crossed by a feathered arrow, the word VIRGINIA in capital letters above, value in Roman numerals on one side, Arabic on the other, and in words below. The $2.45 consists of both the $2.00 and the 45 cent impressions on the same document, and some of the other unusual denominations may be formed in the same way but the rest of those which have been found have each their own design.

CHAPTER II.—The Stamped Paper of Maryland.

The act of the Maryland Legislature requiring the stamping of various documents, was first passed in 1845 and amended in 1846, 1847, 1848, 1850, 1858, 1860, 1862 and 1864, from which it would seem that the Maryland Stamped paper had quite a run of existence although the year of repeal is not given by Mr. Sterling, the only one who has ever catalogued them, at least to my knowledge.

The law calls for a set of thirteen values as follows: 10, 15, 25, 50, 75 cent, and $1.00, 1.50, 2.00, 2.50, 3.50, 4.00, 5.50 and 6.00, all of which are now in existence. When Mr. Sterling wrote them up the $3.50, 4.00 and 6.00 values had not been found, but I now have these as well as all the others. Unfortunately they are all cut square, and it is impossible to tell just what kind of documents they were used on, but they seem to be legal papers, while a 10c entire document in my possession is a sight draft and a 50c a promissory note.

The design of all values is practically the same resembling the reverse of a U. S. dime. The value in the centre in words is surrounded by a wreath, tied below with a ribbon; around the wreath, STATE OF MARYLAND STAMP in capital letters. Below the ribbon is the word STABLER in very small capitals. The whole is surrounded by a milled outer circle. Stabler was the engraver of the dies. Unlike those of Virginia these dies increase in size with the increase of value, hence the following:

Embossed Without Color.

10c	19 mm. in diameter
15c	20 mm. "
25c	21 mm. "
50c	22 mm. "
75c	23 mm. "
$1.00	24 mm. "
$1.50	25 mm. "
$2.00	26 mm. "
$2.50	27 mm. "
$3.50	28 mm. "
$4.00	29 mm. "
$5.50	31 mm. "
$6.00	32 mm. "

These measurements do not all agree with those of Mr. Sterling but I have measured them very carefully and think them correct. Nearly all values are found on both white and bluish wove paper (Sterling calls it bond) varying somewhat in texture. Sterling lists the $1.25 on green bond paper, and I have the 25c on bluish laid paper. However, the quality of the paper may not have any more significance than of the various papers on which the various checks, etc., were printed during the Civil War period, when any one wanting a certain quantity of stamps impressed could take any kind of paper to the government agents and get them printed on.

A curiosity in my collection of Maryland is a $2.50 design impressed over a $1.50 one, the $2.50 being the plainer.

Judging from the length of time that the Maryland law was in force these stamped documents should be quite common but such does not seem the case. Mr. Sterling prices them from $1.00 to 3.00.

It is to be presumed that the great fire in Baltimore a few years ago destroyed lots of old files, etc., containing stamped paper. I have never seen any lots of Virginia or Maryland stamps in any auction catalogues, and have had very few Marylands offered me, and no Virginias.

(To be continued.)

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

BAVARIA.—Stamp Collecting says that the new Bavarian postage stamps, shortly to make their appearance, will have for their designs two portraits of the present King, reproduced from paintings by the well-known Munich artist, Prof. Walter Firle, that employed for the low values up to 80 pfg showing the King as he appeared in his youth, and that of the mark values at the present day. The design for the new postal stationery has been prepared by Prof. Otto Hupp. In size the stamps will be somewhat smaller than the current series, with the exception of the mark values, which are to be of large formation. A new process, similar to the mezzotint process, is to be used in connection with their manufacture, the result of which will be awaited with keen interest both by philatelists and manufacturers of postage stamps throughout the world. It is anticipated that the new stamps will be ready for issue early in the spring.

BELGIUM.—According to our foreign contemporaries, the 2c and 20c values have appeared without name of engraver. The 10c letter card has appeared with the large head and without name of engraver. La Revue Philatelique Francaise chronicles a new envelope.

Envelope.
10c red on white, gray inside.

CUBA.—The low values of the long promised new series for Cuba have appeared, specimens having been shown us by Hermann Focke and the New England Stamp Co. The stamps are nearly the size of the current stamps of the United States; that is, rather shorter and broader than the portrait series which is now superseded. The design shows a map of Cuba and the surrounding waters, extending from Florida to Panama and Yucatan to Hayti. The whole is drawn on so small a scale and the inscriptions are in such small type that the effect is dwarfed. "Republica de Cuba" runs across the top in a curved tablet, while the value in words appears in the frame at the side, and "Correos" at the bottom. The figures of value, tall and thin appear at the bottom in a widening of the frame. The stamps are perforated 12.

Adhesives.
1c green.
2c carmine.

A new special delivery stamp is to be issued shortly, with an aeroplane in place of the bicycle rider.

CYPRUS.—Hermann Focke has been informed by the Postmaster at Nikosia, under date of Feb. 14, that the 9pi, 18 pi and 45 pi of the Georgian set have not yet been printed, and that they are not likely to be issued before next year.

ERITREA.—The Schweizer Briefmarken-Zeitung says that the 10c stamp of the current issue of Italy has been issued with surcharge in black, "Colonia Eritrea" in Asmara. Strangely enough the printing works of Turin do not seem to know of this, therefore it is probably a local issue.

Provisional Adhesive.
10c brown-rose, surcharged "Colonia Eritrea"

FRANCE.—An international stamp for Customs duty on parcels sent through the mails has been proposed by the French Ministry of Finance, and has been accepted by the postal department, says the Daily Telegraph. Hitherto the Government has tolerated the sending by post into France of certain dutiable articles, such as lace, because the duty was really so small that it was supposed to be covered more or less by the postage. But since the duty on laces and similar fabrics has been considerably raised, the Ministry of Finance proposes a way of collecting it by creating a Customs stamp. The sender abroad will have to declare the value of the article enclosed in the mail, and affix the corresponding stamp. It is supposed that as the stamp will really be only slightly more than the ordinary postage, the senders will not hesitate to use it to escape the confiscation of the articles sent. The matter is to be proposed by the French authorities to the other members of the international postal union at the next annual congress.

GERMANY.—Offices in China.—A new value in the watermarked set is chronicled by the Berliner Briefmarken Zeitung.

Adhesive.
10 cents on 20pf ultramarine.

GREAT BRITAIN.—W. T. Wilson sends us a novelty from the Mother Country, the 6d King George in "rosy purple" with inverted watermark.

GREECE.—Le Bulletin Philatélique chronicles two more values in lithographic print.

Adhesives.
40l blue.
50l violet.

GUATEMALA.—According to the Schweizer Briefmarken Zeitung the 3x3c foreign reply post card has been made available for interior use by surcharge in black "Servicio Interior." A correspondent says: "It has come to my knowledge that the existing remainder has been overprinted thus under the idea, which is probably not a mistaken one, that the cards might be more readily disposed of. On account of the cheap letter postage rate here, cards are hardly ever used for personal information. One prefers to write a short letter, or better still one sends a telegram, which is also ridiculously cheap. This arrangement of sending telegrams is extremely practical and would without doubt meet with approval, especially with the business world of Europe, if the rate would be reduced accordingly."

Provisional Post Card.
3+3c carmine, changed for inland use.

INDIA.—Orcha.—A new set similar to the 1900 design is reported by the Philatelic Journal of India.

Adhesives.
½a green.
1a carmine.

The 2a and 4a are to follow.

ROUMANIA.—The Postage Stamp publishes the quantities issued of the different values of the Commemorative stamps issued to commemorate the seizure of Silistria.

1b grey,	555,000
3b black-brown and chocolate,	325,000
5b green and brown,	744,000

50b yellow-brown and blue,	70,000
1leu blue and brown,	70,000
2lei pale red and violet,	50,000

ST. THOMAS AND PRINCE.—The Schweizer Briefmarken Zeitung says that the 10 reis, green, Crown, design of 1881-85, has been overprinted locally, "Republica." 150 specimens have been issued thus.

Provisional Adhesive.
10 reis green, surcharge in black, Republica.

SOLOMON ISLANDS.—We quote the following from the Schweizer Briefmarken Zeitung:—

"The ½d, 1d, 3d and 11d values with portrait of King George are known to be produced with the new De la Rue key-plate with inscription on both sides —'Postage, Postage'—on the lower half of the stamp. We have seen specimens of the ½d and 1d in the same design but with inscription 'Postage & Revenue.' Without doubt the other values will soon have to be announced with the same alteration."

TONGA.—While in New Zealand our Mr. Smyth was struck by the fact that he saw in several collections two varieties of "Star" overprint on the penny stamps issued November, 1891. He was always under the impression that the correct star had a thick body and short rays, but there is another kind of star, which at least two or three collectors in Auckland maintain is quite genuine. Mr. Smyth noticed that it was exactly the same as the smaller stars on the Cook Island Federation stamps (see type 1 in Gibbons' catalogue). It will be noticed that these stamps were printed at the Government Printing Office, Wellington, and although he asserted that the overprints must have been applied there, it was stated that these stamps had been obtained at the chief post office, Nukualofa. Can any of our friends give a satisfactory explanation of this. One theory is that a demand for the stamps overprinted with stars having been created some time after the stock was sold out, it was decided to get a fresh supply. If such was the case, what is the status of the second type of star?—Aust. Stamp Journal.

TURKEY.—This country has abandoned the rectangular stamps on its entires and has adopted the large circular stamps, similar to the impressed stamps of the envelope letter cards of Egypt. Mr. Schachne has shown us the first postal card of the new issue.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are indebted to E. W. Osier and B. M. Randall for sending us back numbers of the WEEKLY.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Henry Jonas and Geo. H. thanks from Henry Jonas, Geo. H. Sleeper, Hilliard Dusang and L. A. Beebe.

—The Chesapeake Stamp Co. has just moved into a fine office in the Equitable Bldg., Baltimore.

—We made a mistake last week in including some 25c premium offers in the 10c lot. We make this public announcement for the benefit of certain new subscribers.

—Our rebus will be given attention next week. A large number of solutions was received.

—Can you spare your copy of the WEEKLY dated July 22, 1911? We need three copies and in exchange will send you some foreign stamp papers.

—"I have often been asked how I manage to keep my 'never been hinged' stamps in that condition and yet place them in my album. The method is simple but requires time and care. One needs celluloid envelopes. These may easily be cut to shape as the size of the stamp requires. It is impossible to hinge the celluloid case because the hinges will not fasten firmly to the celluloid. All you have to do is to slip a piece of paper in behind the stamp and fasten the hinge to this paper. The rest of the process is simple and the same as sticking ordinary stamps in an album. I have found these celluloid cases very satisfactory for they are a perfect guard against so much fingering to which stamps are often subjected."—(From a letter.)

—K. Baumann informs us that Plainfield, N. J., issued a set of precancelled stamps during the Christmas season, consisting of the values from 1c to 10c, of the current issue.

—Anyone interested in the stamps of Sonora should send for the March number of Linn's Way. No doubt a request accompanied with a stamp for postage would secure one.

—Dealers desiring a good wholesale list should write Bright & Son, 164 Strand, London, England. Their February, 1914 list is just at hand, pricing stamps singly, per dozen, hundred and thousand.

—Henry Drueze, giving address as Western Bank, St. Louis, Mo. applied to the International Stamp Co., Covington, O., for information in regard to original covers, but a letter addressed to him was returned marked "Not in directory," "Returned to writer unclaimed."

EUGENE KLEIN, INC.

As will be seen by our advertising columns, Philadelphia boasts of two Klein firms dealing in postage stamps. The old firm of Eugene Klein Inc. will be found a regular advertiser in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, the manager Julius Levy assuring us that the firm will make a specialty of rare stamps and will give our readers satisfaction.

Mr. Levy is an oldtime collector of New York City and we trust the firm under the new management will have a large measure of success.

THEO. W. BARRY, Pres.; LOUIS G. BARRETT, Vice-Pres.; C. A. HOWES, Sec., 55 Kilby St., Boston; CHAS. S. HILL, Foreign Sec., 67 Milk St., Boston; G. CARLTON RUSSELL, Treas., 38 Wellesley Park, Dorchester, Mass.; J. H. LYONS, Supt. Auctions; HENRY A. KIDDER, Supt. Sales; A. W. DUNNING, Supt. Bourse.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 7.30 P. M.

BOSTON, MASS., Feb. 17, 1914.

The 308th (regular) and Anniversary Meeting of the Society was held at the Club Room this evening with President Barry in the chair and 38 members and friends present. President Barry made a short address of acceptance of the office to which he was elected while absent in January.

The minutes of the January meeting were read and an oral report of progress on matters referred to the Council was given by the Secretary. Mr. Dunning reported orally as Chairman of the Recruiting Committee. The Treasurer presented his monthly statement.

The names of Messrs. Chas. E. Beckwith and A. T. Comstock were proposed for membership.

The President spoke of the untimely and almost unknown death of our former Foreign Secretary, Philip Wolff, whom we re-elected in January, and appointed as a committee on resolutions to be drawn up, spread upon the records and forwarded to his family, Messrs. C. A. Howes, C. K. B. Nevin and L. L. Green.

Mr. Dunning spoke at length upon the use of the Bourse by our members.

Mr. Geo. L. Toppan, one of our older members and a former Secretary, was introduced by Mr. Batchelder and made a short address.

Mr. Batchelder introduced the guest of the evening, Mr. E. H. Mason, who talked very entertainingly to us of proofs and essays, and then exhibited part of his unrivalled collection of United States proofs and essays, the volumes shown containing the issues of 1847, 1851, 1861 and 1869, and the work of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. To those who had not seen this collection it was a revelation, and to those who had it was only another opportunity of enjoyment in seeing it again. Mr. Mason was given a vote of thanks for his entertainment of the evening.

Previous to the meeting about twenty of the members met informally for dinner at the City Club, at which Mr Mason was a guest.

BOSTON, MASS., March 14, 1914.

The 310th (regular) meeting of the Society will be held at the Club Room on Tuesday evening, March 17th, at 7.30 o'clock.

The names of Messrs. Chas. E. Beckwith and A. T. Comstock will be voted on for membership.

The entertainment will consist of an exhibition of Russian Rural Stamps, accompanied by a talk by Mr. Frank L. Coes of Worcester. We venture to say that few of our members have seen many of these interesting stamps, and that those who attend this meeting will both learn and see a very great deal that is new to them. If you think this is "putting it strong" just come around!

C. A. HOWES, Sec.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

Fellow Members of the Boston Philatelic Society:—

Another year in the history of our Society has now drawn to a close and it is my privilege to review with you the two terms during which I have had the honor to serve you as your president. I shall look back with pleasure to these years and cannot help feeling that the time which has been given to the duties of the office is more than repaid when one considers how many other members have given freely of their time and effort, and the loyal support which has been accorded me.

I believe that the Society at the present time is in first class condition. If this is so, each member should feel it his duty to interest his friends to join, as I believe we can offer them advantages, such as a convenient Club Room, interesting meetings, fine exhibits of stamps, opportunities for exchange and sale of duplicates, and a good library, which would be difficult to exceed.

I will not attempt to review the doings of the stamp world as probably all of you know more about what the stamp issuing countries are doing than I. Our own country with the opening of the year 1913 brought out the seventeen Parcel Post Stamps and the four commemoratives, and since then has changed the color of the ten cent Panama-Pacific.

Turning, however, to the affairs of the Society there are several matters I wish to bring to your attention.

Treasury: With regards to the funds of the Society, diligent care has been taken during the past year in the matter of appropriations, and I believe that it is necessary for us to continue to do so for some time longer.

Council: I want to thank the members of the Council as well as of the various Committees and Officers for their interest in the affairs of the Society. The members have worked earnestly and harmoniously, and I trust that the same cordial interest and fellowship may continue thru the coming years.

Statutes: A year ago I stated that, in my opinion, the time had come when the Constitution and By-Laws required revising, as there seemed to be numerous inconsistencies due, no doubt, to the many amendments which had been made since their first adoption. Such a revision has now been made and I hope that the practical working of these new statutes may prove all we are hoping for them.

Entertainment Committee: Two years ago it was voted to have a new Entertainment Committee each month. This has meant a great deal more work for the president, and has gradually developed into his having to secure most of the exhibits. I should like to see a greater willingness on the part of some of the members to offer their services along these lines, so that, if you desire to continue the present plan, it may not be necessary to call so often on those members who can always be counted on to assist. In any case I would suggest the appointment of a Committee to consider and report on the matter of entertainment for the coming year. I think some new ideas might be evolved. I have made it a point that stamps should be shown at every regular meeting during the past year.

Committee on Exhibition, 1913: Some time ago a Committee was appointed to look after our interests in connection with the exhibition held at New York during October, 1913. This Committee collected a generous sum of money which was forwarded to the Association in New York. Our Society received a bronze medal for one of its entries and over 35 medals went to members of our society. Very much the largest number of visitors from any city outside of New York was the delegation from Boston, numbering 35 or 40. At the Paris Exhibition three medals went to members of our Society.

Recruiting: There is a recruiting Committee still in office, but I believe that the individual members have greater opportunities to do recruiting work than any Committee can possibly have. This Committee has, however, a good list of names of collectors, many of whom should be on our rolls. Further work should be done on this list, but probably more success would come if the present members as individuals would canvas and keep at these collectors until they were made to see that it was to their advantage to be with us.

Incorporation: Some months ago I recommended that the Society consider incorporation. The suggestion was favorably considered and then referred to the Council. Tonight the papers are ready to sign and the votes which require passing have been prepared so that valuable time may not be wasted or mistakes made, requiring the work to be done over again.

Official Collection: The Council voted at a recent meeting to form an official collection of stamps, a reference collection of Counterfeits having previously been undertaken. It was thought that such a collection would in time become a valuable asset to the Society. I would suggest that this collection be placed in the hands of some officer or committee, and new accessions be reported and shown at meetings.

Thanking you again for the honor which you have done me and which I greatly appreciate, I am,

Very respectfully,
CHAS. K. B. NEVIN, Pres.

I hereby declare the officers of the Society for the ensuing year, commencing March 1st, to be, for President, Siegfried Schachne; for Vice-President, W. C. Stone; for Secretary, S. M. Edwards; for Treasurer, J. N. Morse; for Executive Committee, H. E. Carpenter, J. H. Fountain and G. W. Hartwell.

The agent for the purchasing department and superintendent of the sales Department are appointive, and the appointees will be announced from this office at the proper time.

Changes of address:—No. 57, to Leader Building; 217, to 404 Foster Building; 205, to 115 East Avenue, 36; 152, to 2405 Union Central Building; 203, to 1317 Leavenworth St.; 144, to City Hall, all in the same cities as before.

A revised list of members will be issued shortly, giving all changes so far as known to the Secretary and the names of the new members inserted.

Dues received since last notice from No. 223, 60c; 217, 50c; 129, 50c; 144, $1.00; 218, 50c; 152, $1.00; 19, 50c, total, $4.60, which has been forwarded to the Treasurer.

It is with a great deal of sorrow that the Secretary has to record and announce the death of our worthy member, No. 99, B. V. Jenkins, who passed from our midst September 19th, 1913. The Secretary always found Mr. Jenkins a pleasant man with whom to do business, not only in the society affairs, but in outside matters.

I wish to thank our members for the hearty interest taken in the recent election and for the compliment of a re-election to the office of Secretary.

NEW "RE-ISSUED" DAYTON DIES.

By LOUIS G. BARRETT.

The most interesting news of the week in envelope matters is the re-appearance of several of the supposedly obsolete 2c "Dayton" dies on envelopes bearing the new watermarks of 1911 and with the low-cut "knives."

Marcus White sends me copies of each for inspection and he should be given the credit for their discovery. Can it be that the use of these dies at this late date may be only a "stop-gap" pending the cutting of new dies?

SONORA STAMPS PRINTED IN DENVER.

Revenue and postage stamps for the Constitutional forces of Mexico are being made in Denver. If the stamp manufacture is successful, currency bills for the Constitutionalists will be made in Denver.

Salvidar Catano, secretary of the treasurer of the Constitutionalist government, is in Denver supervising the manufacture of the revenue and postage stamps.

The Smith-Brooks Printing Company of Denver is making the stamps. The dies have been finished for making 25,000,000 postage stamps and 12,000,000 revenue stamps.

Maitland Milliken sends us several interesting clippings and one we reprint, giving, as it does, some facts concerning the manufacture of stamps for the constitutional forces in Mexico. The clipping is from the Rocky Mountain News:—

"Revenue and postage stamps for use by a civil government to be established in northern Mexico are being manufactured in Denver. Gen. Victoriano Carranza, leader of the constitutionalists, is now proceeding from Nogales, Ariz., to Juarez, Mexico, for the purpose of organizing the civil government.

If the Denver manufacture of the stamps is successful, currency notes for the constitutionalist government will be made in this city.

Salvidar Catano, secretary of the treasury of the constitutionalist forces, is in the city supervising the making of the revenue and postage stamps. The engraving plates are almost completed by the Smith-Brooks Printing Company, which is doing the work.

An effort made by the constitutionalists a short time ago to have stamps of the kind made in New York city was unsuccessful as the stamps were counterfeited. The Smith-Brooks company insisted that a representative of the constitutionalists supervise the plates in order that the company be absolved from all responsibility of counterfeiting.

The company has been ordered to print 12,000,000 revenue stamps and 25,000,000 postage stamps. The revenue stamps will range in value from 1 centavo to 5 pesos.

The manufacture of the stamps is of importance in its indication of the preparations of the Constitutionalists to establish a civil government in the northern part of Mexico controlled by their forces in opposition to the government directed from Mexico City by Provisional President Huerta.

Juarez, apposite El Paso, Texas, is the chief port of entry into Mexico on the northern boundary. The stamps made in Denver will be used at that port on the revenue between the United States and Mexico through El Paso and Juarez as well as at other points on the northern Mexico boundary."

British North America and British West Indies
I just purchased a magnificent collection of these stamps.
The 20th Century is complete and it is very strong in the 19th Century, as well. All of the stamps are unused and in magnificent condition. The 20th Century is complete in blocks of 4, from ½d to 1s. If interested in the countries write me.
H. F. COLMAN,
Second National Bank Bldg., WASHINGTON, D. C.

further information, and we quote from his letter as follows:—

"I have been given opportunity of seeing the designs for the stamps in question. They were on regular lithographer's stone and were but partially complete. The design is very handsome indeed, and in the revenues will run through the entire issue of from 1-centavo to 1-peso. Senor Catano, I understand, has not yet approved the design for the regular postage issue, though it will be very artistic when completed; in fact, probably as handsome a stamp as the country has ever had.

It is further understood that currency bills will also be printed here, though no order has as yet been placed. If Senor Catano will permit it, I shall endeavor to send you either proofs, or originals of each of the denominations."

NOTES ABOUT NEW ISSUES.

China.—Collectors should be on their guard against $2 stamps of the Imperial issue with forged Republican surcharge inverted, of which whole sheets have been placed on the market.

Fiji.—Sundry journals have chronicled the 2d grey and 5d violet and olive-green of the King Edward issue and the 2½d stamps of the King George type. We are officially informed that none of these stamps have been issued.

Malta.—The Postmaster General of Malta has refused to execute our order in full for the new King George stamps on the ground that the order is too large, and he has supplied us with only one-third of our requisition and returned the balance of cash. The only values of the King George set issued up to the present are ¼d, ½d and 1s, it is not known when the remaining values will be issued, as they will only be placed on sale on the exhaustion of the stocks of the old issue.

Russia.—Various philatelic journals have reported the forthcoming issue of a new series of Russian postage stamps. The Director General of Posts at St. Petersburg informs us that the new stamps will be issued some time between 1915 and 1917, but the exact date cannot be given; meantime, as the Romanoff stamps have all been withdrawn from circulation, the stamps of the previous issue are again in use.

Turkey.—In our February list we stated that a number of stamps of the coarsely executed G. P. O. type were printed on red paper as Postage Dues and all sold to a speculator. We should have stated that this refers only to four low values, 2, 5, 10 and 20 paras, the two higher values, 1 and 2 piastres, of the same issue have been in use for some time and are perfectly authentic, these are the only two values of this issue that we shall include in our next catalogue.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

NETHERLAND JUBILEES.

Mr. Robert, the talented editor of the Nederlandsch Tijdschrift voor Postzegelkunde, quite naturally devotes considerable space in the December number of his paper to a discussion of the new jubilee issue of the Netherlands. The opinions regarding the new stamps as expressed in the daily papers of the Netherlands vary exceedingly, running from "horrible" to "true works of art."

As a matter of course the opinions of the common run of humanity regarding a postage stamp can be of little weight to a philatelist, for very few people in the first place are competent to judge in questions of art and in the second place still fewer people have any idea of the artistic limitations of a stamp. Mr. Robert therefore comes to the aid of the artists responsible for the stamps and gives it as his opinion that Mr. K. P. C. de Bazel of Bussum, an architect and the designer of these stamps, has in fact produced real works of art, as far as the design goes; the large size, the prominence of the portraits, the obtrusive lettering of the name of the country and of the value, were all required by the department and are not the fault of the designer.

As regards the engraving, it was splendidly done by Professor Aarts; there can be none but favorable criticism of his work. Captious critics claim that the portrait of Queen Wilhelmina bears not the slightest resemblance to the queen; Mr. Robert is inclined to blame this less on designer and engraver than on the printing firm, nor is the latter entirely to blame, for they received the orders so late that only by the most strenuous exertions a stock large enough to supply all the postoffices of the country for the first day's sales could be got ready.

Under these circumstances defects in the plates need not be wondered at. The colors chosen, though approved by the artist himself, seem to meet with general disapproval, being too subdued to suit the public taste. Mr. Robert adds the information that the stamps up to and including the 25 cents are printed in sheets of 80, 8 rows of 10, the higher values in sheets of 40, 4 rows of 10. In the lower margin the sheets show a plate number. All values show Plate 1; the plates of the 3c run up to 3, inclusive, and those of the 2½ and 5c run up to 5, inclusive.

This is a new departure on the stamps of the Netherlands and is already being extended to some of the new colonial issues. Some of the dailies have reported a new printing of the jubilee set, over and above the members we have already quoted in a former number; the authorities emphatically deny these rumors.—P. J. of A.

DISHONEST CATALOG QUOTATIONS.

By THEODORE SIDDALL.

While you are campaigning against dishonest discounts, you might well give a little attention to a much worse evil—dishonest catalogue quotations. If catalogue prices had any discoverable consistent relation to the real market values of stamps there would be little possibility of dishonest discounts; but when some stamps are priced at one-quarter or one-tenth of their value, and others from two to ten times their worth, with nothing to indicate which is which, it stands to reason that those who handle stamps and know their values will take advantage of such knowledge.

If we are going to have a 50-per-cent-discount scale of prices, or a net-price scale, all right; but let us have one or the other all through the list. The present scale seems to have been made up like a lottery list. Stamps that can be bought for 25 cents a hundred should not be catalogued at 5 cents each, nor 3 cents, nor should stamps that cost $2 per hundred be listed at 1 cent, in the same list, side by side, with no warning to the unwary.

I think that a catalogue that is made for beginners and not very advanced collectors, such as is the so-called "standard" catalogue, should omit minor varieties which were accidental varieties or which only exist in one or two specimens. Listing such stuff swells the book out of all proportion to its value, makes the cost of the book more than it should be, and misleads most of its readers.

The 1914 Standard catalogue has the 1906 and 1909 Philippine issues mixed. The correct listing, as the stamps appeared, is:

1906: 2 centavos, dark green,
4 centavos, vermilion red,
6 centavos, violet,
8 centavos, brown,
10 centavos, dark blue,

and the rest of the set as given in the book.

1909-11: 2 centavos, yellow green,
4 centavos, carmine lake,
10 centavos, blue (ultramarine), and the rest of the set as given. The 6 and 8 cents were not changed between 1906 and 1912.

The 1 and 2 peso, 1898, are listed as with "revenue cancellation." This is wrong, inasmuch as none of this issue were fiscally used. The cancellation found on 99 per cent. of the used stamps of 1898 is a telegraph cancellation; the stamps are inscribed for postage and telegraph use. The prices fixed to the various stamps of this issue have even less relation to the real values than we find elsewhere. The 2 peso stamp is ten times as common as the 4 centavo; four times as many were printed. At catalogue price the 4 centavo stamp, postally used, is the biggest bargain in the whole book. I dare say that any of the values from 40 centavos up, postally used, are very scarce, at any rate, anybody who wants to sell them at double catalogue can find plenty of buyers here in Manila, where postally used copies are unknown. But what's the use of criticizing. The list has been practically unchanged for the last ten years, and it fools nobody but the merest beginner. There are only three or four prices in the whole Philippine list that are nearly right.

Philippines Nos. 38, 38a, 61 and 115 should not be included in the catalogue until genuine copies can be produced. At present there are only two or three copies of each which even look as if they were genuine, or are even claimed by their owners to be the real thing; but there is no reasonable proof of genuineness of any of them.

If the other countries are no better than the Philippine list, I would meekly crave to be told why the catalogue claims to be a "standard."

THE POSTAGE ALONE

on 7,400 circulars or cards would be $74.00, but for only $15.00 you can tell a selling story in 7,400 copies of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. This story will go to possible customers who will not only read the paper carefully, but many of whom will pass the paper on to some collecting friend or else save the separate issues for permanent binding. Thus you have the name of your firm before 7,400 or more live stamp collectors. How many persons receiving circulars or house organs keep them for any length of time? The great majority throw them away without reading them carefully and it is folly for any stamp dealer to use circulars without advertising in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. If you have any stamps to sell, advertise them in this publication, and quick results will be evident.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—In the current number of the Collectors' Journal of Chicago is an interesting article by Maitland Milliken on "Revival of Postal Card Collecting."

—Clippings are received with thanks from Lowell J. Ragatz, Maitland Milliken (5), F. C. DePuy, Gerald D. Bliss, Emil J. Rall, Hugo Kuenstler (10), Joseph W. Beggs (2).

—The Western Stamp Co. states that H. LaFerry, Baltimore, Md., has given them the name of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY as a reference. We have frequently stated that the WEEKLY does not allow the use of its name in this manner, and dealers will govern themselves accordingly.

—We have received No. 1 of Stamplets, published by the Runge Stamp Co., Cleveland, O. This organette, as it is called, will be sent upon receipt of postage.

—We desire to state that the testimonial published in the Ohlman advertisement last week was set up from the original letter received from the collector sending in the same. For obvious reasons the name and address were omitted.

—Michael Wortman, representing the firm of Jacques Wortman of Paris, was a recent caller at the office of the WEEKLY. Mr. Wortman has been on an extended tour of the U. S., visiting dealers in the leading centers.

Foreign Dealers and Wholesalers, Attention!

We are Jobbers and Wholesalers in Postage Stamps and Post Cards, and want dealers resident abroad to send us their Wholesale List. And keep us posted on any new lots they may have from time to time.

We want especially quantity mixtures of all used current issues and cheap sets or issues. We want colored view cards of all foreign countries in assortments of 100 or 1000 mixed. Your prices must be low or we cannot do business with you, as we wholesale them out again to other dealers and so must buy them cheap.

Tell us what you have, send samples of cards and always quote your lowest jobbers' prices.

If you are interested reply at once as those with whom we take up will receive steady business as long as prices are right.

EDITORIAL.

Their Day is Coming—Two weeks ago, we spoke of the impending upward movement of British Colonial stamps after having experienced a somewhat slumberous period of several years. Now, an editorial in the London Philatelist, "The Rise in Value of Old Issues," tells of the almost inordinate advance in prices of old issues generally. Our contemporary is led to remark upon the subject by the numerous and repeated "comments in continental philatelic journals with respect to the remarkable increase of prices recently attained by the stamps of the principal European countries." First, it is admitted that sensational prices for exceptional specimens and blocks do not constitute a standard for the generality of specimens but even though the effect of these abnormal prices is duly discounted, the trend is apparent. The declining supply of the old stamps in contrast with the increase in the number of collectors is the cause, broadly speaking, for the rise in prices. An analysis of the causes for the "shrinkage of rarities" will disclose different reasons for their gradual disappearance from the collecting surface. The line of demarkation betwen the old and the new issues is becoming sharper perhaps; and it is well that the stamps of neither class have a monopoly of interest to the disparagement of the one or the other. It should be remembered that no matter how greatly new issues are esteemed, the old issues have an advantage in their age, so to say, as the element of "antiquity," relatively speaking, has its appeal to many collectors.

An Old-Timer—From Mr. E. E. Hecker we have received several letters that were sent by his father, John Hecker, who was postmaster at West Brookfield, Ohio, sixty years ago, to the postmaster-general at Washington. The letters present an interesting phase of the duties of the postmaster in the small town many years ago; and the problems that Postmaster Hecker referred to the omniscient head at the seat of government certainly were puzzling even though they were based on what may be called the more intimate side of that public institution, the post office.

Royal Exhibit—At the display of "errors" at the meeting of the Royal Philatelic Society of January 29th, 1914, specimens were submitted from the collection of King George. His Majesty showed the two pence, Mauritius, "penoe" error, both used and unused in superb condition, and the same error, unused, contained in a block of five.

The Original Notice—A subscriber has given us with his compliments, the original circular issued by the post office department on June 15th, 1853, regarding "Postage-Stamp Envelopes," the "new convenience" that finally had been adopted by the United States postal authorities. Preceding the instructions as to the distribution and prices of the stamped envelopes to the public, the acts of August 31, 1852, (Section 8), and March 3, 1853, (Sections 7 and 8) are quoted as embodying information appropriate to the occasion. Section 8 of the act of August 31, 1852, authorized the postmaster-general "to provide and furnish to all Postmasters and other persons applying and paying therefor, suitable letter envelopes with such watermarks or other guards against counterfeits as may deem expedient, and with one or more suitable Postage-stamps with such device and of such denominations and value as he may direct, printed or impressed thereon; which envelopes shall be sold at the cost of procuring and furnishing the same, as near as may be, with the addition of the value or denomination of the Postage-stamps so printed thereon, or attached thereto, as aforesaid," etc., etc. The other act, approved August 31, 1852, cited the penalty for forging the envelope impressions and enjoined postmasters to effectively cancel the stamps. The re-use of envelopes was prohibited under a fine "of fifty dollars to be recovered, in the name of the United States, in any court having competent jurisdiction."

Official Description—We do not remember ever having seen the following post office department announcement in print heretofore; and we append it because it is interesting not alone as the first departmental order on the subject of United States envelopes but because of the reference to "letter size envelopes of the denomination of twenty-four cents, made exclusively of white paper of the same watermark, and the stamp of the same device, on a pink field." This proposed envelope doubtlessly was intended for correspondence to Great Britain, as the rate from this country to Great Britain was twenty-four cents a half ounce in 1853. No mention is made of the ten cent green envelope which supplanted the twenty-four cent of the circular. Here is a literal copy of the old circular:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
June 15th, 1853.

"Pursuant to the foregoing provisions of law, the Postmaster General has authorized postage-stamp envelopes of the following descriptions to be issued to Postmasters for sale, viz:—

No. 1, or note size, 4¾ by 2⅞ inches made exclusively of white paper, watermarked P. O. D. and the stamp U. S. of the denomination of three cents, representing the head of Washington, in profile on a red field.

No. 2, or letter size, 5½ by 3¼ inches, made either of buff or white paper, of the same watermark, and the stamp of the denomination of three cents, being the same as No. 1.

No. 3, or official size, made either of buff or white paper of the same watermark, and the stamp of the denomination of six cents, representing the head of Washington, in profile, on a green field.

Letter size envelopes of the denomination of six cents, made of buff or white paper of the same watermark, and the stamp of the same device and color as No. 3, are to be issued: Also, letter size envelopes of the denomination of twenty-four cents, made exclusively of white paper of the same watermark, and the stamp of the same device, on a pink field.

The envelopes are to be sold to Postmasters in your vicinity and to all other persons, for cash, at the following rates, viz:—

No. 1, or note envelopes, at one dollar eighty cents a thousand, or eighteen cents a hundred, in addition to the value of the stamps.

No. 2, or letter size, at two dollars a thousand, or twenty cents a hundred, in addition to the value of the stamps.

No. 3, or official size, at three dollars and twenty cents a thousand, or thirty-two cents a hundred, in addition to the value of the stamps.

The Postage-stamps now in use will not be superseded by the stamped envelopes, but will continue to be used, as heretofore, by those who may prefer them.

All the regulations concerning postage-stamps contained in chapter 50 of the Regulations for the Government of the Post Office Department, are to be regarded by the Postmasters as applying to the stamps on the envelopes. . . They are to be canceled in the same manner; they are to be entered on the post bills and on the transcripts of "mails sent" and "mails received" in the same manner; they are to be accounted for on the quarterly account current in the same manner (See articles 18, 19, and 20;) and when sold, the money received for them is to be paid over in the same manner as other moneys received for postage-stamps or for postages.

The stamped envelopes, like the postage-stamps, will be sold only by Postmaster, who will address their applications to the Third Assistant Postmaster General.

JAMES CAMPBELL, Postmaster General."

KANSAS CITY SOCIETY.

Kansas City, Mo., March 10.—Starting with twenty-three members, collectors here have organized the Kansas City Philatelic Society and it is expected that within a few weeks a majority of more than 400 collectors in the city will have joined.

The club has been organized on a "no fees, no dues" basis, the purpose being to bring in the boy collectors in numbers, keep them interested in their collections and interest others. One of the plans to be followed is to dispose of cheap duplicates by giving them out among the boys and thus interesting them in collecting.

Auctions are to be a regular feature of the meetings, which at present are being held in a parlor of the Densmore Hotel. The first sale Friday night, March 6, totalled $40, and the percentage from these sales will, it is believed, pay the running expenses until a regular club room is decided upon. Forty members were at the meeting and good prices were realized.

If there is any deficit, the older members of the club will make it up by contributions. A. L. Nelson is president and C. S. Davis, secretary and treasurer.

EXIT MADAMOISELLE LA SEMEUSE!

Meantime the interesting fact to philatelists is that "La Semeuse," who first appeared on the postal stage in 1906, will shortly make her final exit. She has had a good long run, but for a long time her performance did not go smoothly at all. She gave her manager, the good Mons. Mouchon, a deal of trouble. First of all, it was discovered that "La Semeuse" was sowing her seed against the wind, a thing of which no prudent agriculturist would be guilty. This led to frequent changes of detail—the deletion of the sun, the woman's shadow, &c (things which gave the game away) and the gradual elimination of the ground on which the sower walked. One of our French contemporaries, Le Collectionneur des Timbres-Poste, some years ago very neatly hit off the situation by depicting in the act of quitting her postage

"La Semeuse", tired of all these changes, stamp in disgust.—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

THE NEW TURK SET.

By Fred J. Melville.

Verily we like not those who unmask our illusions. The picturesque fancies which we treasure in our memories as the children store up the fables of the nursery, are dear to us children of a larger growth. But our love of fantastic lore suffers many a shock. Ever since the first stamps of the Sublime Empire appeared in the reign of Abdul Aziz, on whom be Peace, we collectors of stamps (on whom there can be no Peace, for in stamps there is constancy but in change) have nourished a fond fancy that pictures and portraits are forbidden to the Muslim, and that the Allah, who is great, and his prophet, Muhammed have set the Curse upon such works of Satan.

Much has been written by philatelists, as well as by Muhammedan scholars, upon the subject, and the continued philatelic fidelity to the Toughra on the Turkish stamps has ingrained into collectors the belief being that the Turks would never depart from their reading of the law as set forth by Muhammed in this particular. The verse which in the Koran, sets forth the alleged prohibition is transcribed:—

"O believers surely wine and games of chance, and statues, and the divining arrows are an abomination of Satan's work! Avoid them that ye may prosper."

The wise men of the East, who have drunk deep of the streams of wisdom that flow from the Book of Warnings, have read many different meanings into the verse, and in Turkey it has been taken to imply the forbidding of all figures, and even the ruminative game of chess is barred by the strict Muslim. We, of Christian faith, would appear to have a more emphatic prohibition of the making of pictures in the translation of the Mosaic law:—

"And God spake all these words, saying, Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or the likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth."

Our theologians have not regarded the second Commandment as a condemnation of the making of pictures, though many an earnest believer, during the phases of pictorial frenzy through which we have passed and are still passing, may have regarded the picture paper and the picture palace as abominations of Satan's work. We, ourselves, on occasion, have felt that our process-engravers have been in league with some sprite not half so innocent as the Printer's Devil.

The new pictorial stamps of Turkey have dispelled one of the mellow myths of our cult, a myth which, perhaps, was simply an exaggeration of a prohibition which is more in common with Western ideas than with Western practices. For instance, there have been recorded seizures of pictorial postcards in Turkey, attributed to the Muhammedan law; but these probably concerned cards which gave offence to Muslim susceptibilities by their blatant portrayal of the unveiled faces (inter alia) of women. If the prohibition of pictures in the past has been no myth, and the late departure from precedent is the result of the advent of the New Turk, then, indeed, the New Turk hath courage, for every true believer of the Prophet must needs regard every new-born child, whether a creature of the flesh or of the mind, as a thing that is touched by Satan.

Yet one other illusion concerning Turkish stamps has been shattered of recent years. We are told now that the Crescent, so long an emblem of the Sublime Empire, owes nothing to the moon. The barking of dogs on the appearance of the moon at the siege of Byzantium may have saved the city, and the partial eclipse of the orb of night may have aided the Turks at the capture of Constantinople, but the Turkish Crescent is no memorial thereof, merely a horse-shoe or an amulet. Professor Ridgeway says it is the result of the base-to-base conjunction of two claw or tusk amulets. Says another writer, "There is no historical evidence that the Turks thought at all of the moon when they adopted a crescent as their national symbol." Alas no, they did their courting according to their own lights—and forgot the moon.—Stamp Lover.

APOLOGY TO JAMES H. HURLEY, PROVIDENCE, R. I. — NAME USED TO DEFRAUD.

Two weeks ago we published a notice that we had been informed by Charles S. Osgood that James H. Hurley of Providence, R. I., had sent him a check which when deposited for collection had been returned marked "No funds". The real James H. Hurley of Providence, R. I., did not send this check. Some one fraudulently assuming the name of "James H. Hurley" has recently been operating in and around Providence and signing the name "James H. Hurley" to checks, but the police have not yet succeeded in locating him.

We beg to apologize to James H. Hurley of Providence, R. I., and to inform all our readers that the real James H. Hurley is a man of first-class standing in the community and is well known to be reliable and trustworthy.

OUR REBUS CONTEST.

We have had no small task in examining the entries and summarizing the results of the rebus contests recently announced in our columns. Judging from the returns it struck a responsive chord and many contestants expressed their pleasure at the entertainment we had afforded them.

We were confronted by a difficult problem in awarding the prizes in connection with this competition, for the reason that so many of our readers were able to correctly solve the rebus and sent in their lists of answers with no word of comment or description.

It has seemed best to us to give those who sent in bare lists honorary mention and make prize awards to a few contestants who took special pains to make their answers artistic and attractive. Our awards are as follows:—

1st prize; D. E. Lantz, Washington, D. C.
2nd prize; B. F. Wells, Maywood, Ill.
3rd prize; Joseph V Wells, Bergen, N. Y.
4th prize; Reginald Taylor, Astoria, N. Y.

The first three prize-winning entries were poetical in nature, while the entry of Mr. Taylor showed considerable merit in the drawing of the several fragments as pictured, with descriptive matter accompanying the same. We publish this week the entry of D. E. Lantz, as follows:—

A VOYAGE OF THE "FAD."

The "Fad" 's a bark, or ancient ark,
Owned by a goodly company,
Who sail the seas, where'er they please,
Exploring in Philately.

They lately met a rebus, set
To test the mettle of their sailings
In voyage long. Their hearts are strong,
They take the risks without bewailings.

With winged boat, the "Fad" afloat,
They sail in sea or air serene.
But ere they roam, they find at home
The "Merry Widow" hat of green(4).

They there embark on waiting ark,
And southward drive the flying "Fad."
At Hayti's (9) strand they make a stand
Then onward sweep to Trinidad (10).

Thence they depart for Georgetown mart,
Guiana (8) and far Argentine (12);
And then they fly o'er mountains high
To Chili (6) ("Fad" 's a fine machine).

Pacific's waves the "Fad" now braves
To find at length Hawaii's (11) sands,
Then through the isles, uncharted miles,
Where Zealand (7) waits with welcoming hands.

Victoria (13)'s near, and then they steer
A course for Ceylon (10) land of "tay,"
On India's shore, find Travancore, (2)
And next set sail for Africa.

There short their wait at Orange State (18)
And then they fly to northern strand.
They stop to glance at sunny France, (15)
Then cross the Alps to Switzerland (16).

In nearby camp Bavaria's (14) stamp
With gleeful ardor next they find,
In Italy (3) one "fragment" see,
Then leave the Continent behind.

They fly through miles to British Isles (5)
Then northward sail to Iceland's (1) snow.
All fragments found, they're homeward bound.
And land at last where baked beans grow.

List: Scott's Numbers.—1—Iceland, 98; 2—Travancore, 3; 3—Italy, 17; 4—United States, 896; 5—Great Britain, 101; 6—Chili, 100; 7—New Zealand, 502; 8—British Guiana, 77; 9—Hayti, 3; 10—Ceylon, 66; 11—Hawaii, 31; 12—Argentine, 44; 13—Victoria, 18; 14—Bavaria, 11; 15—France, 134; 16—Switzerland, 44; 17—Trinidad, 103; 18—Orange River Col., 3.

For first prize we award Mr. Lantz a six years' subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. For second prize we award B. F. Wells a Heusinger Stamp and Coin Collectors' and Dealers' Address Book. For third prize we award a copy of Goodwin's Specialized United States to Joseph V. Wells, and for fourth prize we present Reginald Taylor with Caudell's Key to U. S. Envelopes.

PRICE 25c

A glance at the titles of the chapters will give one a good idea of the scope of "The Stamp Collector's Guide." No one can really afford to collect stamps without it. The chapters cover design, color, paper, watermarking, perforation, gum, reprints, remainders, errors, proofs, essays, fakes, counterfeits, etc., etc.

You really need this book!

LYNN, MASS., ON THE PHILATELIC MAP.

The Lyceum Stamp & Coin Club of Lynn, Mass., composed entirely of men employed by the General Electric Company, holds monthly meetings, and has had an active existence of nearly a year. There are over two dozen members. At the meeting on March 9th it was voted to establish a regular Sales Department, and rules governing the same were adopted. Dugald McKillop of Lynn was chosen Sales Manager. The entertainment of the evening consisted in an auction sale of stamp packets, which went off successfully. For the April meeting it is expected that President Comstock, aided by comrade Barton, will provide a lantern slide exhibit.

THE STAMP MARKET.

I observe that several dealers are commencing a "New Issue Service." Evidently there is a belief that there is a lot of money in it, but my own opinion is that it will only pay the man who can carry it out in a large way; it wants a large number of subscribers to make it worth the initial outlay.

India, Queen's Head, 2, 3 and 5 rupees are "going up" and worth buying at present prices; so are the same values of the Edwardian issue.

The story about the Romanoff issue being obsolete in Russia is not quite correct. The fact is that as the supply is exhausted they are being replaced by the old issue, and both will be in use concurrently until the new issue is ready. The 4 Kopecs are a good investment. This and several other values have been sold out, and I understand that no more will be printed.

Among the cheap stamps, the wholesale prices of which are improving, are Nyassa, all issues of Persia, 1894 and 1897 Borneo, and the Labuan Queen's and issues.—Stamp Collecting.

We shall use every possible endeavor to protect our subscribers, but we cannot undertake to be responsible for unsatisfactory trade relations. Advertisers against whom complaints are proven will be debarred the further use of these columns.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents. Correspondence regarding precancelled stamps must be sent to FRANK B. ELDREDGE, Attleboro, Mass. Specimens must accompany chronicle, with self-addressed stamped envelope for return of the same. Please note these rules.

UNITED STATES.—Charles E. Fisher has shown us a 2c envelope, purchased recently at the post office at West Philadelphia, Pa., which shows that the contractors are still having trouble with the envelopes. The specimen shown is a smudge of color on both sides of the paper, the only white paper appearing being the embossed head and that also is nearly obliterated.

W. E. Marsh writes, referring to the note in No. 1209, regarding defective printing:

"I formerly had a strip of three of the 2c of 1895, with the same defects, and have seen several others. Have also seen several copies of the 2c of the current issue with a wrinkle in the paper, showing a white streak on the stamp one-sixteenth inch wide when the paper was straightened out. Believe these freaks are common."

O. H. Eidsor reports several freakish things in U. S. stamps including the 5c Parcel Post, with a double transfer; the 2c Parcel Post with imperfect inking showing colorless marks around the letters in the inscription "U. S. Parcel Post" and especially around the periods before and after "Cents."

H. E. A. Deats reports having seen the new Western Union franks for 1914, and sends a full description as follows:

"The values are 5c brown and 25c black; control numbers in red, serial letters A, B, C, D, and E, as heretofore; printed, or rather cut to sheets of six instead of four, as formerly; bound at left, instead of top. They are smaller than previous years though of the same general design, measuring 21½ mm. wide and 28 mm. high. There are some of each value in each book. The Inter-State Commerce laws required the placing of a value on the stamps, I am informed. The figures of date are only half the size of 1913 and previous years. It is an attractive stamp."

CHILE.—O. H. Eidsor reports having seen the 30c blue green and black of 1905, surcharged "5 Impuesto" and "20 Impuesto," and both used for postage. The first was in dark red and the latter in black.

CUBA.—Frank P. Brown has shown us the remainder of the new series of stamps, all values being in the design of the 1c and 2c values, already noticed. Mr. Brown also sends us the new Special Delivery, which shows a large aeroplane flying over the harbor at Havana, with Moro Castle in the rear. The design shows "Republica de Cuba," in a curved line at the top, the value in words at the sides, and in figures in the lower corners. Between the circles containing the latter are the words, "Entrega Inmediata." The sky behind the aeroplane is unlined so that the machine stands out with startling distinctness.

ECUADOR.—Whitfield King & Co. send us the new 1 sucre stamp chronicled in No. 1210.

HONDURAS.—Another provisional must be added to those chronicled in Nos. 1206 and 1210. The 6c dark violet has been surcharged "10 Cent," like the 10c on 2c noted in No. 1210. George H. Sleeper sends a part of a cover having a diagonal half of a 6c dark violet of the current series, and used as 3 cents.

Provisional Adhesive.

"10 cent" on 6c dark violet.

INDIA.—Orcha.—We have been shown the ½a and 1a, as chronicled in No. 1211 from Whitfield King & Co. They are very poorly printed.

LEEWARD ISLANDS.—Owen Nolan reports having seen the following new stamps. Whitfield King & Co. have also shown us these stamps.

Adhesives.

1sh black on green tinted.

MONTSERRAT.—Owen Nolan reports having seen the 3d King George stamp on yellow tinted paper, and Whitfield King & Co. have submitted a specimen.

Adhesive.

3d violet on yellow tinted.

MOZAMBIQUE.—As noted in No. 1203, the new stamps in the Ceres type have appeared, the design and colors being the same as noted for Macau some time since, with the name of the Colony changed. The stamps have been shown us by Whitfield King & Co.

PORTUGUESE CONGO.—Whitfield King & Co. report the issue of the new series in the Ceres type, the colors being the same as for the other Colonies mentioned, with the name of the Colony changed.

PORTUGUESE INDIA.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us four new surcharges from this Colony, the 4½r light green and 1t carmine of the King Carlos type, and the same values in the Vasco da Gama set, having been surcharged "Republica" and new values in black. The Philatelic Journal of India

TURKEY.—H. E. Satow of Trebizond, writes to Ewen's Weekly as follows:—

"I received a few days ago from a high Turkish official here a set of four Unpaids—2, 5, 10, and 20 paras, 1913 type, surcharged, either in black or red, and was informed that they had only been in use for two hours and had then been withdrawn. This supposed short period of sale to the public with the idea of giving the issue philatelic status was evidently part of the pre-arrangement with the speculator on his taking over the stock; and from other information we have received we are of opinion that the stamps were never in any true sense on sale to the public for postal requirements; and the set should therefore be totally barred from any collection or catalogue." The above evidently refers to the postage due surcharges on the Adrianople stamps. The same correspondent says: "The local post office refuses to sell more than two copies of the 10 paras, green, of the new pictorial issue, the reason apparently being that there is an alleged Armenian inscription in the shading under the words "Postes Ottomanes," on account of which the stamp may be withdrawn. An Armenian authority, who has examined the stamps under the microscope, says there is no inscription."

COMMUNICATION.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

To The Editor:—

In a recent issue I read the editorial "Via Puerto Barrios" and I wish you would give us more information in regard to the subject.

For several years I have had eight of the 1c stamps of the 1887 issue of Guatemala overprinted as follows:

Via Puerto Barrios (in black).
Via Panama (in black).
Por Vapor San Juan (in red).
Por Vapor San Blas (in red).
Por Vapor Colon (in red).
Por Vapor City of Para (in red).
Por Vapor Acapulca (in red).
Por Vapor Starbuck.

They are all unused copies and altho I have never seen them mentioned before, I have always kept them for their oddity.

Yours truly,
O. D. CHALLANS,
Watervliet, Michigan.

¶ Stamp Dealers are most fortunate in being able to advertise to the Young People of the community.

¶ The young are easily impressed — they are most likely to put their impulses into action — they are a body of buyers whose ability to buy is ever increasing — they quickly find out those dealers from whom they get fair or unfair treatment — they are loyal — they read their periodicals down to the bone, there is never any core.

¶ You reach young collectors of the best class through the St. Nicholas magazine which is "the best-loved magazine in the world."

A MOST REMARKABLE RECORD.

ALL PHILATELIC NEWSPAPER RECORDS BROKEN BY THIS YEAR'S ACHIEVEMENTS.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

It is well that we pause once in a while and take an account of stock just to note the progress we are making in stimulating interest in philately and in giving publicity to our hobby. Other papers do this and the average editor does not hesitate to claim everything in sight. Even as the American eagle flaps his American wings so we shall be pardoned assuming an air of meditation in the light of recent events.

The WEEKLY has upon its subscription books today 7500 paid subscribers the largest number it has ever had and a number that no other stamp weekly can even touch. Other papers claim to be the biggest and best but we are content to let our patronage from the subscription standpoint speak for itself.

During this season the WEEKLY has enjoyed a most remarkable career beginning with the famous New York special number, the greatest newspaper production ever seen in philately. Today without any previous heralding we issue a sixteen page paper, its pages bristling with bright matter and with thousands of stamp bargains. As one scans the pages of this issue he is impressed with the increasing business that we are creating and with the value of the WEEKLY as a medium between buyer and seller.

From a literary standpoint, Mr. Poole treats of the stamps of "Oldenburg" and Mr. Wiley on "U. S. Stamp Books" to say nothing of much news matter of a lighter nature. Following Mr. Wiley's article will be a third on "U. S. Postal Saving Stamps," the first of the series being the article on "Parcel Post." Ultimately a book will be issued combining all three with the title "Branch Lines of U. S. Stamps."

This special number shines from a publicity standpoint and we shall be pardoned for referring to it in detail. First and foremost the advertisement of Phillips & Co. is boldly conceived. Very seldom do we sell the two middle pages of the WEEKLY and such a bid for patronage is enterprise of the highest character.

It will be interesting to note the quarter pages in this number. Our price, $15.00 for a quarter page of 144 lines, is a bargain in advertising and we find that dealers are appreciating our generous offer. H. Tasker expresses his regret at failure to get copy in for this number and asks for a quarter page space April 25. The McGraw Stamp Co., Detroit, writes in similar vein, excepting that they will take a half page April 4.

No doubt advertisements are printed this week that will fail to pull. It's a hard proposition writing a winning advertisement. We have noticed the advertising of H. Tasker these past weeks and came to the conclusion that he is getting patronage—and he is. How interesting are these advertisements! Scott and his new album (applicable to the two Scotts), Powell and his packets, Wilson and his oddities, Detroit Stamp Co., and their auction, Parmelee and his Norways, Nickles and the Edmond Co., with their columns of bargains, while two new meteors, Garden City and Poinsettia, flash across the philatelic sky. We hope for a frequent return.

The firm of W. T. Wilson, Birmingham, has had a long and honorable career. The firm is a live one. Mr. Wilson said to the writer a few years ago:—"You Americans always visit with your watch in hand," but there is nothing slow about our friend and his son, both of whom are of the ideal type of dealers. The write-up of a U. S. dealer intended for this issue must be held for April 25 as preparation of copy could not be hastened.

If you are in the stamp business for fun you can afford to remain out of the columns of the WEEKLY, but if you want to come into contact with the red blood in our hobby, get busy, with your advertising copy. A house organ is the proper thing for every stamp firm and can be made profitable in connection with WEEKLY advertising.

WANT LIST
There was never a better way devised to buy or sell stamps than on approval. Many collectors are averse to sending a want list for fear of being charged a higher price than if stamps are sent on approval without list. This and many other former practices is now obsolete with respectable dealers. We have built up our business and gained the confidence of our clients on fair prices and equitable dealings. Send us a want list of U. S. and Colonies and B. N. A., we will make the prices right.
If your name is not on our Mailing List

U. S. Collectors

THE STAMPS OF OLDENBURG.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

Oldenburg is a sovereign grand-duchy of the German Empire consisting of three divisions. The first and largest of these is the grand-duchy proper which adjoins the North Sea and has an area of 2,075 square miles. The second part consists of the principality of Lubeck, which is situated north of the state of the same name, with an area of 210 square miles. The third and smallest portion is known as the principality of Birkenfeld. This is situated on the River Saar in the south of the Rhine Provinces and has an area of 194 square miles. The total population of the three portions is a little over 400,000. The grand-duchy proper consists of marsh and geest (high heath and moor) land. The breeding of horses, cattle, and sheep and the keeping of bees, are considerable industries. Brickmaking, cork and turf cutting, brewing and distilling, and tobacco manufacture are also carried on. Lubeck possesses more pleasing features than the grand-duchy and is blessed with fruitful soil. Birkenfeld is covered with forests to the extent of 40% of its surface. Here the cutting of gems (agates) and manufacture of imitation jewelery are thriving industries. The grand-duchy has one vote in the Imperial Federal Council and sends three representatives to the Imperial Diet. Its capital, having a population of about 30,000, bears the same name and is chiefly famous for its grand-ducal palace.

The house of Oldenburg is one of considerable antiquity and traces its descent direct from the famous Saxon leader, Witikind, who successfully resisted the doughty Charlemagne more than eleven hundred years ago. Though Witikind eventually submitted it was on highly favorable terms and he took the title of Duke of Saxony. Two of his descendants became the heroes of the nursery tales of Germany. One was Count Otto, to whom a fairy is said to have presented the silver-gilt horn still exhibted in the museum of Copenhagen, and known as the "Horn of Oldenburg." It is this horn which figures on the stamps of Denmark, Hanover, etc.

Count Frederic, another off-shoot, bravely proved the innocence of a maligned father by undergoing the ordeal of single combat with a fierce lion, which he slew in the presence of the assembled diet of Gostar, presided over by the Emperor, Henry IV. From this young hero's heirs springs the ducal house of Oldenburg and his prowess is fittingly commemorated by the inclusion of a lion rampant on the ducal coat-of-arms. Christian, the Warlike, his great-grandson, built a castle near the ancient city of Oldenburg in 1180 and thereafter took for his title Count of Oldenburg. In 1570, Anthony, the reigning Count, willed a transfer of his dominions to the king of Denmark and the Dukes of Schleswig-Holstein, in the case of the extinction of his male posterity.

In 1667 the country actually fell into the possession of Denmark, then represented by the house of Holstein Gottorp, the elder branch of the Oldenburg family. On the accession of that branch to the Russian throne Denmark received Oldenburg in exchange for the Schleswig-Holstein family possessions. The grand-duke Paul of Russia, in whom the Oldenburg states were invested, solemnly assigned them, according to convention, to his cousin Frederic Augustus, representative of the younger branch of Gottorp and at that time bishop of Lubeck. The emperor of Germany confirmed this settlement (1777), and raised the territory to the rank of a duchy. In 1803 the bishopric of Lubeck was added to the duchy and, after the fall of Napoleon in 1815, the principality of Birkenfeld was amalgamated therewith. In 1829 the territory was made a grand-duchy.

ITS POSTAL HISTORY.

The postal service of Oldenburg was originally in the hands of the Counts of Thurn and Taxis, but when it was annexed to the French crown in 1811 that service was put an end to. When the duchy was restored by the Congress of Vienna in 1815, after the fall of Napoleon, it provided a postal administration of its own. In 1851 it joined the German-Austrian Postal Union and, as one of the rules of the Union required the adoption of postage stamps by the contracting states, Oldenburg immediately made preparation for the issue of suitable labels. The postal rates required three values—1, 2, and 3 silbergroschen respectively, and these were somewhat difficult to express owing to the fact that the currency, like that of Bremen, consisted of a thaler of 72 grote, each of which was divided into 5 schwaren. In the other countries belonging to this Postal Union the thaler was divided into 30 silbergroschen. It was decided to express the values in fractions of a thaler, 1 silbergroschen (1/30 thaler) being equal to 2 2/5 grote; 2 silbergroschen (1/15 thaler) being equal to 4 4/5 grote; and 3 silbergroschen (1/10 thaler) being equal to 7 1/5 grote. These three stamps were first placed on sale on January 5th, 1852. The 1 silbergroschen stamp was for letters weighing up to 1 loth (ounce) sent not more than 10 German miles within the confines of the grand-duchy; the 2 silbergroschen was for letters sent more than 10 miles; and the 3 silbergroschen value was for heavier letters and also for those sent to points outside Oldenburg. The 1 silbergroschen was also used for the registration fee and, from 1858, represented the single letter rate to any place within the grand-duchy.

In 1855 a new value, 1/3 silbergroschen or 4 schwaren, was issued for use on packages of printed matter up to one ounce in weight.

In 1857 the coinage was altered to conform with that of the other members of the Postal Union, the thaler now being divided into 30 groschen of 12 schwaren each. A new set of four values appeared in 1859 showing values in groschen. The next change took place in 1861 when it was decided to dispense with colored papers and have colored impressions on white paper. At the same time two new values were added to the set—a ½gr for the reduced local or "drop" letter rate, and ¼gr to assist in making up the fractional rates on letters to foreign countries. This value was dropped in February of the following year as its use was rather restricted and where the fractional rates necessitated it the next higher value, ½gr had to be used. The adoption of uniform colors for equivalent values among the various members of the Union necessitated another issue in 1862 and this remained in use until January 1st, 1868, when Oldenburg joined the North German Confederation.

In 1853 Prussia acquired about a quarter of a square mile of the territory of Oldenburg at the mouth of the river Jade for a naval port, now called Wilhelmshafen, for a consideration of $375,000, but it was stipulated that Prussian stamps should only be used on letters forwarded by sea. Prussian official correspondence was forwarded free but all other mail matter passing over the postal routes of the grand-duchy had to be franked with Oldenburg stamps. It is important to remember that the Oldenburg stamps were only used in the grand-duchy proper and not in the principalities of Lubeck and Birkenfeld.

By an agreement, dated August 17th, 1845, and by a Customs Convention dated January 16th, 1864, the postal service of Lubeck was transferred to Denmark, which then possessed sovereign powers in the neighbouring Duchy of Holstein. The postal revenue went to Denmark and Danish stamps were used there until 1864. Then the stamps of Schleswig-Holstein were used, and from 1866 those of Prussia.

Prussia also had charge of the postal administration of Birkenfeld, by the terms of a convention dated April 4th, 1857. Prussian stamps were used and Oldenburg received the sum of $450 annually as compensation for the loss of postal revenue.

The First Issue.

On December 5th, 1851, Oldenburg joined the German-Austrian Postal Union and, as one of the rules of the Union stipulated that postage stamps should be introduced as "quickly as possible," the Government at once made arrangements for the issue of suitable stamps. The old established firm of lithographic printers, Gerhard Stalling of Oldenburg, were approached and they submitted a drawing for the proposed stamps together with an estimate for the cost of production. The drawing met with the approval of the Government and it was returned to Stalling with an order to manufacture the stamps. This order was notified to the Postal Administration by the Government on December 29th, 1851, and on the day previous to this an official decree was published for a translation of which I am indebted to Mr. G. B. Duerst's article in the Monthly Journal for December, 1900, viz.:—

No. 113.

Oldenburg, December 28, 1851.

On account of the introduction of postage stamps, and in consequence of the notice of the 16th inst. referring to the German-Austrian Postal Convention, the following is herewith published:—

Art. 1.—The value is stated on the postage stamps, on a shield underneath the coat of arms of Oldenburg-Delmenhorst, surmounted by a crown, in fractions of a thaler, and on a scroll on the right-hand side of the shield in silbergroschen, and on the left-hand side in grote. Underneath the shield is the word "Oldenburg." also in a scroll.

The stamps of 1/30 thaler=2 2/5gr =1sgr are blue.
The stamps of 1/15 thaler=4 4/5gr =2sgr are red.
The stamps of 1/10 thaler=7 1/5gr =3sgr are yellow.

Art. 2.—Only letters can be franked with postage stamps; letters with declared value, packets to be paid for on delivery, samples and wrappers (newspapers?) are excepted.

Art. 3.—The correct amount for the prepayment of the postage according to the tabulated tariffs must be affixed in postage stamps on the address side of the letter in the upper left-hand corner; this can be done by moistening the adhesive matter which is found on the back of the stamps, and pressing them on the letters. If the stamps have dropped off the letters are considered as not franked.

Art. 4.—On letters which have not been franked sufficiently by the senders the underpaid amount will be marked and collected from the addressee. If the sender has affixed more stamps than required by the tariff he will have to bear the loss.

Art. 5.—Letters franked with stamps can be posted like unfranked letters in letter boxes; registered letters must be handed in over the counter.

Art. 6.—Refers to imitators and forgers of postage stamps.

Art. 7.—Postage stamps can be bought at all post offices from the 5th of January, 1852.

(Signed) Mutzenbecher,
Barnstedt.

At the same time as the foregoing document was distributed a "letter of instructions" was sent to the various postmasters and for the translation of the following interesting items I am again indebted to Mr. Duerst.

If sufficient postage has not been affixed in stamps, the despatching post office must mark the deficiency on the address side of the letter and debit the receiving office, which must collect the amount from the addressee.

All letters must be postmarked with name dies as before. If a stamp be recognized as forged, the letter must be sent to the head office. Each stamp must be cancelled separately. The number of the cancellation die must be completely imprinted on the stamp itself. Each office has a die, consisting of four concentric circles, containing a number in the centre. Each office will receive a different number as per the enclosed list.

The despatching office will be fined five times the amount of any not sufficiently obliterated stamp.

The "dies" referred to above are the cancellation stamps.

W. T. WILSON

Expert in Stamps

18, Livingstone Road, Handsworth. BIRMINGHAM, ENGLAND.

Telegraphic Address "PHILATELY BIRMINGHAM."

THROUGH FIVE DECADES.

A Birmingham Dealer.—In the past few years it has been our pleasing task to meet a number of the leading dealers with whom our readers have philatelic transactions, and from our correspondence we find that readers are always glad to learn something of those dealers with whom they do business. Recently we had the pleasure of a chat with a provincial dealer of long-established reputation, Mr. W. T. Wilson, of Birmingham, with whom a very large proportion of my readers have no doubt had dealings.

A Collector in 1860.—Mr. Wilson started to collect stamps at school about 1860, at the age of thirteen. He was at school in Lincolnshire and in that year he wrote to his mother that she was to be sure and save all the foreign stamps she could get for him. From his first acquaintanceship with Edward L. Pemberton in 1865, there developed a very real friendship between the two young philatelists and from that year up to 1870 or 1871 Mr. Wilson used to spend all the spare time he had at Pemberton's place—at first Islington Row; and later, Soho Hill, Birmingham, discussing stamps and examining the wonderful hauls that came frequently to the famous Birmingham dealer.

Some Unique Finds.—For many years Mr. Wilson devoted his chief interest in philately to the stamps of Great Britain and Colonies, but in later times the stamps of many foreign countries have come very notably within his sphere of specialistic knowledge. Among his finds in English stamps was the 3d with the private mark plate 3 now in the Tapling collection; and the 6d brown, plate 13, used, perf. 14, now in the celebrated collection of M. la Renotiere, of Paris.

Story of a Mauritius Error.—"It was one of my luckiest 'finds,' in a day when 'lucky finds' were commoner than they are now-a-days. I was rushing off to pay a butcher's bill, when I saw a sheet of stamps in a little huckster's shop, and noticed upon it a twopenny Mauritius. I hurried on, thinking it must be a cut out autotype. But when I came to think the matter over in the train—I was starting on a journey at the time—I remembered that that particular stamp had never been autotyped. I scarcely knew what to do, as I should not be back in Birmingham for some days. At last I decided to go on and take the chance of securing the stamp on my return. When I got back, I hastened at once to the shop, as you may be sure. Imagine my amazement!—the stamp was not only still there, but had been reduced in price from 3d to 2d by the young dealer who desired to sell it. It was the rare 1848 Penoe error, early state of the plate UNUSED! honestly worth £6 or £7 then . . . It is now in the Tapling collection."

Mr. Wilson's Special Interests.—Mr. Wilson became a member of the Philatelic Society, now the Royal Philatelic Society, in 1882, and he started to deal in stamps in 1891. He is one of the very few dealers in the Society, having been a member before the rule which precluded the admission of dealers came into force. Among his special studies may be mentioned especially the stamps of Australia and New Zealand, one of his strongest points being the varieties of the early issues of the latter colony now promoted to a Dominion.

The Fascination of Mexicans.—In later years Mr. Wilson has entered deeply into the study of Mexican stamps, not in any one of the many complicated periods of Mexican issues but into practically the whole series. The philatelic study of Mexico is possibly the most complicated of all philatelic tasks, and it is generally agreed that it is too big a field for any one person to adequately grope with thoroughly and in its entirety. So the collectors of these stamps now-a-days—several of the leading ones amongst them at any rate—have come to an admirable working arrangement by which each makes a strong point of a distinct period. Mr. Wilson's knowledge of the subject is, however, the most comprehensive in the entire Mexican field from the first Hidalgos to the Porte de Mar mysteries. Speaking of Mexico as an unequalled field for philatelic research, Mr. Wilson declared to us: "I have dipped into most things of a complicated nature in philately, such as Australians, New Zealands, Portuguese Indies, Afghans and others but I have always come back to Mexicans and can unhesitatingly say that there is no country in the world with the endless and sustained interest for the philatelic worker than Mexico offers."

New Issues.—The early importation of all European and British Colonial novelties has always been a special feature of the firm, as this Mr. Wilson considers a highly important branch of modern Philately. Among others he obtained the very first supplies to reach Europe of:—

INDIAN C. E. F. (China Expeditionary Force), the 1900 and 1911 issues.

ICELAND, I Gildi provisionals of 1902-03.

CAYMAN ISLANDS provisionals, ½d on 1d and ½d on 5sh.

INDIA, KING EDWARD, 25 rupees ordinary and On H. M. S. King George, all values, both ordinary and service as well as all the "Georgian" INDIAN CONVENTION STATES issued to date.

NEW HEBRIDES CONDOMINIUM (on Fiji) Nyassaland colours of 1911, and latterly, the TIBETAN provisionals on China, of 1911, as well as the proof sheet of the Dalai Lamas stamp as shown at the recent London Philatelic Exhibition, where it was an object of great interest to many hundreds of visitors and the set of 5 values of TIBETAN 1913 issue.

Notable Collections Purchased.—Among the collections handled of recent years may be mentioned the superb UNUSED one of HOLLAND which obtained a gold medal at the London Exhibition of 1906 and a wonderfully strong "USED" collection of the same country, acquired last year. The cream of the specialised collections formed by the late Rev. W. N. Usher, F.R.P.S.L., of which ICELAND was deservedly the best known as it was the basis of the articles in the London Philatelist of March and April, 1906, also collections of Bulgaria and Corea, and last, but not least, Mr. Usher's choice accumulation of STAMPS USED ON ORIGINAL COVERS, in which Mr. Wilson has always been a strong believer, as adding greatly to the interest of a collection, when judiciously inserted here and there. After "crying in the wilderness" on this subject for many years, it would seem that "original covers," like the once despised Mexicans, are now the rage among discriminating philatelists, as is evidenced by the prices recently obtained by stamps in this condition at the Paris, New York and Berlin philatelic auctions.

Like Father, Like Son.—Many collectors of the older school find in Mr. Wilson's stock many of the out-of-the-way things which are rarely to be discovered in the stock books of the more extensive philatelic establishments. If we seek early dates, or used copies of a stamp on the entire, or an elusive retouch they are frequently to be had from this able and experienced student, and since Mr. F. E. Wilson has joined his father in the stamp business and has shewn considerable talent both in the study and in the commerce of stamps, the scope of the business has developed widely and embraces most of the European and American countries besides the stamps of Great Britain and her numerous colonial possessions. That Mr. F. E. Wilson is a philatelist of no mean order will be readily recognised by most of our readers when they recall his admirable articles published in The Postage Stamp a few years ago on the stamps of Belgium. Mr. Wilson, junior, was educated in Germany and with the idea of acquiring that practical knowledge of foreign languages which is so necessary in the present day stamp business. He came into the business in 1895, and became a partner in 1902. He has attended most of the important philatelic exhibitions at home and abroad of recent years, including the Hague 1896 and 1901, Paris 1900 and 1907, Berlin 1904, Amsterdam 1909, Vienna 1911, etc. He has formed an extensive specialised collection of Belgian stamps which obtained a silver-gilt medal at Amsterdam in 1909 and a silver medal at Vienna in 1911.—Postage Stamp.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The New Junior Album:—The International "Junior" Album, just published by the Scott Stamp & Coin Co., is the newest thing in albums for the beginners and moderate general collector. A review of the book is somewhat difficult without an understanding of the causes which led to its preparation.

It has been evident to members of the trade for some years, that beginners were struggling under increasing difficulties, in endeavoring to make an attractive showing in a large complete Album. For this reason, while many thousands of new collectors have started each year, altogether too large a proportion of this number became discouraged and dropped out, without obtaining a real taste of the pleasures of stamp collecting.

The Scott people announced some months ago, that they had in preparation a book which was intended to supply spaces for those stamps which the average beginner, or the general collector having less than 10,000 varieties, is likely to obtain, combined with these spaces were to be blank squares for the reception of such rare stamps as might be added to the collection.

An examination of the pages of this New Junior Album, shows how the idea has been carried out. The appearance of the book at first glance is the same as that of the other International Albums, the illustrations are full size, and the descriptions of the stamps in the spaces look the same. It is only upon close comparison that one sees that the rare stamps have been left out. Beginning with United States, we find that, taking for example, the Columbian issue, there are separately described spaces for all values from 1c to 50c, while at the end of the set is a blank space, in case the boy owner is fortunate enough to pick up any of the dollar values. The same idea has been carried out through the foreign countries.

The publishers have stated that no fixed rule has been followed in planning the album. Their only guide has been the inspection of a large number of general collections, and the idea has been to provide the spaces which seem to be needed by American collectors. Favorite countries have been the most liberally treated. Under United States, we find some stamps included which catalogue as high as $1.00 or $1.50. In some of the less popular Countries, the issues have been very cut down, so that the separately described spaces end with stamps listing not over 15c or 20c, although there are plenty of blank squares for any of the higher priced ones.

There are certain to be criticisms of the decisions, as to what has been left out or left in, but we are inclined to think that few beginners will find fault with the cutting down of such Countries as Panama, Salvador surcharges, etc., as long as the favorite standard countries have been more liberally treated. The Album contains 425 pages in all, and in this space a beginner with very moderate means, should be able to make a very attractive showing. The cheap edition is bound in the familiar blue boards, with bright red back and corners. The higher priced editions are furnished bound in cloth, one with, and another without extra blank pages. For prices see advertisement elsewhere.

We have received the "'P.S.N.' List of United States Postal Cards," by Percy McGraw Mann, a pamphlet of twelve pages or more devoted to a descriptive check list of the postal cards of the United States. All the issues from 1873 to the present are included and the text, while brief, seems to fulfill every reasonable requirement. Further, the list secures attention through its apparent thoroughness; and all in all, the little catalogue is a convenience that not a few collectors will recognize. Publisher: Percy McGraw Mann, 1708 N. 18th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.; price, twelve cents.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—If any dealers have had any unsatisfactory relations with Prof. E. Gruneberg. Havana, Cuba, please communicate with H. W. Doscher & Co. of San Francisco, Cal. The Doscher Co. claims that they can get no reply in connection with stamps sent the Havana party.

—It will be remembered that quite recently we announced the sudden disappearance of C. B. Bostwick and asked for information as to his whereabouts. Since that time no word has been received concerning the missing man and we are now in receipt of a communication from Mr. Bostwick's former address asking that the WEEKLY subscription be discontinued and stating that Mr. Bostwick died recently.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Allen H. Blake, M. D.

EDITORIAL.

The New Denominations—On March 16th, 1914, we were informed through a credible source that a supply of the new United States stamps has been received at the Chicago post office but that they would not be available to the public until "some time later." The colors of the stamps are: seven cent, black; nine cent, pink; twelve cent, maroon; twenty cent ultramarine and thirty cent vermilion; but as Mr. J. M. Bartels says in the Philatelic Gazette: "It is not likely that the names of the colors as designated by the ink manufacturers will be accepted by philatelists as several of them would certainly seem to be misnomers from the collectors' point of view." The new denominations made advisable by the retirement of the parcel post stamps seem to be impending, anyway.

The First Envelopes—In connection with the official notice of the first issue of the United States stamped envelopes in the preceding issue the following letter dated Massillon, Stark Co., Ohio, Aug. 17, 1853, is pertinent and piquant: "For information I address these few lines to you in regard to the late Act of Congress about the stamped envelopes on letters manufactured by the United States Post Office Department for the convenience of the public, etc. Am I to pay for the manufacture of them or does the Post Office Department pay its own expense out of its revenue, if I use them? The cause of me making inquiry is that I never saw nor read the law on the subject. Only yesterday I went to the Post Office at Massillon, where I generally do my business, and asked Mr. Shepley, the post master, if he had any of the stamped envelopes to sell and he said that he had and I asked him how he had to sell them by the hundred, and he said $3.20. Then I asked to let me have only three which he did and charged me ten cents for the three. Now, the face of the stamp on the envelope only reads three cents; and why should I pay more than the face? How could they be sold singly and what amount exacted? I wish to know whether it is fraud or not by a post master taking more for them than what they are. I think it must be fraud and if so, is there a penalty, I want it exacted to secure the public from future imposition." This letter was addressed to the Postmaster General at Washington.

Hand-book Three—Hand-book number three, published by the Mekeel-Severn-Wylie Company, "Goodwin's Specialized United States," has met with a hearty reception; and already, a good part of the edition has been sold. Mr. Frank E. Goodwin's articles on the stamps of the United States that appeared serially in the WEEKLY began with the 1847 issue and ended with the last issue, single line watermark; and collected in their entirety in book form make a work of sixty-eight pages, double column and cover. Mr. Goodwin's articles are descriptive of much of the detail of the U. S. issues and the studies are presented in a way to stimulate the interest of the beginner as well as to meet the expectations of the specialist. Typographically, the work is handsome; and its price, fifty cents, is just about right.

Our Loss—We were shocked to learn of the death of Charles Byron Bostwick of New York who for many years sustained pleasant relations with us by correspondence. We noticed the growth of Mr. Bostwick's interest in stamps from the time that he began to give them studious attention and he discussed with analytical mind some of the phases of the older British colonials in particular. Mr. Bostwick perhaps is best known as a keen student of the stamps of the Cayman Islands and as co-author with an English specialist of an exhaustive history of the stamps in question. The circumstances of Mr. Bostwick's death were particularly sad and philately has suffered a loss of no little consequence.

As You Will—"What is the general opinion regarding the propriety of perforating the imperforate side of a stamp with the correct gauge? Is the practice encouraged by the best philatelists as I have been told?" asks, in effect, one of our readers. The question is a "draw" so far as we can learn. The perforating of a blank margin is condoned by not a few collectors whose views on the ethical side of philately are precise. However, we shall not attempt to do the subject in this restricted space but we have to interpose the remark that the industry of supplying perforations has attained no little activity, through improvements in the machines or devices that make perforating an easy task.

It's A Rogue—Here is an inquiry that takes us back many years: "I have a Confederate ten-cent red of the design of cut 'A4' of the catalogue. It is what would be called a local print and is a good used copy, the date March 4, 1864, showing on the stamp." We recognize an old masquerader in this stamp which is from the "altered plate"—to use an expression all too generous in its meaning—of the small five-cent blue. The "ten-cent red" stamp of this type once had its partizans who stoutly maintained that it was a good and true issue but for many years now, it has been relegated to the underworld of philately; and if by chance it makes its appearance in the decent circles of philately, it is snubbed so mercilessly there that it is glad to become a wanderer again. Colonel Offut of the Confederate postal service is on record as having said that these "lithographic transfers from the design of the 5c, with the word 'FIVE' erased and 'TEN' substituted therefor" were an unrelieved fraud as the stamp was never contemplated, let alone issued. We have a sheet of seventy of these labels in red, and blocks of the impressions in other colors. While a postmark on a stamp may be said to furnish evidence of the postal use of the copy, yet it does not really prove such use.

Chaos In Cancellations—A new vein has been discovered to us by Mr. J. J. Prendergast; and while it is not of particular richness or importance as it is only an adventitious aid to stamp study, yet it has the feature of novelty. Mr. Prendergast has sent a batch of cover fronts showing "miscues" in cancellations. There are double cancellations and postmarks, misprints and no prints; and this exhibit of errors of the postal machinery has its place in the humbler history of philately.

Delivery Fee—We have been asked to announce that for the future, "the delivery fee collectible on parcel post packages from Jamaica for the United States shall be five cents for each package of whatever weight, instead of one cent for each four ounces with a minimum charge of five cents a package, as heretofore."

No. 2 Contains 7,500 postage stamps. About 2500 diff. kinds worth the price asked alone. Over 500 diff. Br. Col. and 750 sorts XX Century of the Highest Quality. Not Over 5 of any one kind. Catalogues considerably over $200.00. Postpaid and Registered at $25.00

By all means buy No. 2 if you have the money. It contains wider variety and fewer of the commoner stamps—therefore, the more desirable kind and consequently the "best buy."

BUT ONE OF MANY

H. F. Ottley, a dealer in stamps and V-Pres. of the local philatelic society at Rochester, N. Y., writes:—"Having carefully examined the GOLDEN GENIE MIXTURE No. 2 of 7,500 stamps, I want to give you my honest opinion of it. To fail to write you in appreciation of the quality and value of this lot would indeed be negligence. I found more real value than I expected. I am convinced that this lot has no equal for less than double your price as it contains salable stamps only while 'dealer's stocks' offered by others contain much trash and many questionable stamps."

When a Dealer Will Recommend Another's Stamps Unsolicited and Give Permission to Publish His Statements—He Surely Must Be More Than Satisfied.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 West 42nd St., NEW YORK

THE A. P. S. INVITED TO SAN FRANCISCO.

The Stamp collectors of the great West who are interested in the propaganda of their hobby—who would like to educate the average man to a better appreciation of the value of stamp collections and the science of philately to the historian, and especially to the student of the history of the last century, are impatiently awaiting the outcome of the invitation of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to the American Philatelic Society to hold its annual convention in San Francisco during 1915.

The exposition management has offered the society, free of charge, for the purposes of the convention, the use of assembly and exhibit rooms either on or off the exposition grounds, recommending, however, the use of rooms within the one million dollar fire-proof auditorium building, now in course of construction at the Civic Center of San Francisco.

The two local societies, the Pacific Philatelic Society, located in San Francisco, and the Berkeley Philatelic Society, among the members of which are some of the most prominent philatelists in the country, have passed resolutions in which each society has called attention to, and joined in extending the invitation of the exposition management to come to San Francisco during the exposition year, and representatives of the two local societies will attend the 1914 convention of the American society, in August, and there urge the invitation. The membership of these two local societies represents an aggregation of collections which in broadness of scope and completeness will surprise the eastern collector not informed as to the development of the science on the Pacific coast, and the members will endeavor to convince their fellow enthusiasts throughout the country of the peculiar interest Californians have in philately.

The history of the English speaking race in California is exactly contemporaneous with the history of the postage stamp in this country both having in the main developed since 1840. California is now the home of a cultured leisure-loving people; and although philately by reason of its nature is well within the range of the amateur of moderate means, the wide distribution of wealth in this state makes it a fruitful field for the development of this most delightful hobby.

This fact, and the great educational significance of the exposition,—the great hordes of enlightened people who are coming from all over the world to teach and be taught at the exposition, make the benefits to result from the selection of San Francisco as a meeting point in 1915 apparent.

The Bureau of Conventions and Societies of the exposition has already secured 218 conventions for San Francisco during 1915, each to last from three days to two weeks. The daily average of conventions in session throughout the duration of the exposition is already four, and the number will probably be doubled before the opening of the celebration. An amazing proportion of these congresses are educational, and many are international. Among the number are: The International Congress on Education, the International Efficiency Congress, the International Congress of Authors and Journalists, the American Historical Association, the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, the Astronomical and Astrophysical Society of America, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the American Academy of Medicine, the American School Peace League and the National Education Association. There are also special historical and genealogical societies, and associations of collectors in various sciences too numerous to mention.

It is practically certain that the American Numismatic Association will meet in San Francisco some time in July or August of the exposition year, and, since so many philatelists are interested in numismatology as well, it is hoped to have these two conventions follow one after the other; and, if possible, to have the coin and stamp exhibits located in the same building, preferably in the Auditorium, where the high class of the structure would render the treasures safe, in rooms adjoining each other, and adjoining the assembly halls in which the conventions will be held.

The climatic advantages of San Francisco, which during the months in which the Philatelic Society usually meets (July and August) is unequalled upon the American continent, the lure of an exposition, which in the beauty of its architecture and landscape gardening, and in the perfection of exhibits in all departments, will be unprecedented in the history of exposition building, will not only assure an unequaled attendance of members of the society and of outside amateurs, but will bring large numbers of people of that cultured class from which collectors must be recruited to the exposition and place them in reach of the educative efforts of those collectors fond of exploiting the charms of philately.

In the Palace of Fine Arts there will be assembled a loan collection of art treasures which will surpass any similar art collection ever assembled in any country at any time. This is saying a great deal, but the directorate of the department of Fine Arts is ready to "make good." World famous paintings and great pieces of sculpture that never before have been permitted to leave the galleries and museums of Europe, have been promised for the Fine Arts exhibit, and so complete will be this temporary robbery of the art treasuries of the world, the exposition throughout its entire ten months' duration will be a continuous congress of artists and art lovers. The significance of this is apparent to any collector.

While it is a little premature to talk of the stamp exhibit, it will undoubtedly be of unprecedented interest. The United States government has appropriated a large sum of money to be expended upon a post-office exhibit, and the Post Office Department is being urged to make a complete historical exhibit of United States stamps. If this is made, it will be made as a part of the government exhibit, and will arouse national interest, especially among the schools.

In addition to this, some of the finest collections of stamps in this country are owned by Californians. The monetary value of the collections of specialists residing in the San Francisco Bay district alone amounts to many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

William H. Crocker, vice president of the exposition, is owner of one of the finest, if not the finest, collection of stamps upon the Pacific coast, which he has graciously offered as a nucleus for any exhibit that may be made. Mr. Crocker has specialized in New South Wales stamps, and has an unusually fine collection of Sidney Views, some of them unused. He acquired the nucleus of this collection a year or so ago from the Castle collection, when it was divided and sold by Stanley Gibbons, and has added to it from time to time. The collection includes the rarer varieties, many of them two-plated. He will also exhibit his Mexican collection and his collection of United States stamps, which is one of the most complete in this country, containing among other interesting and rare specimens, a block of four inverted views.

Another interesting exhibit will be of W. J. Gardner's collection of Japanese stamps, undoubtedly the finest ever assembled, which has recently been sold to a San Francisco philatelist. Another probable exhibit will be the magnificent Henry M. Crocker collection, including the Crocker collection of Hawaiian stamps, which has taken so many gold medals at previous exhibitions. Other collections which are owned locally and will probably be available for the exhibit are: The Phillips collection of Western Franks; the Osborn collection of the German Colonies; the Getz collection of the Canal Zone; the Folle collection of Nicaraguan, the Stulz collection of Hawaiian, the Lazarus collection of Chilean stamps and the St. Vincent collection. Also, the Currier collection, which is one of the finest and most complete of general collections anywhere, is owned locally and will be available for the exhibit.

To these will be added the cream of the great eastern collections, bringing the exhibit up to the high standard set by recent exhibits in this country and Switzerland.

FOWLER TAKES WOLSIEFFER OFFICES

Henry Ades Fowler makes an announcement of special interest to Chicago collectors and at the same time of general interest to collectors everywhere, that he has leased the offices formerly occupied by P. M. Wolsieffer and will conduct his stamp business at that address. The quarter page advertisement in this issue gives the particulars and we expect that the WEEKLY will be frequently used as a means of communication between Mr. Fowler and his patrons.

EDITORIAL.

A Hobby for Both Poor and Rich.

Some months ago we penned a few editorial remarks concerning the way in which several collectors had swept the board of prizes at the philatelic exhibition held in Paris last year. Unintentionally our comments gave, we are afraid, offense to one or two collectors who, proud in the knowledge that their collections were practically unbeatable were, naturally enough, desirous of securing gold medals. At the more recently held New York Exhibition it will be remembered that a well-known collector secured, with his superb exhibits, a big number of gold medals. This being the case, what chance has the newcomer of competing against such well-established collections, with any hope of securing a coveted reward, unless the classical exhibits are, to a certain extent, placed hors concours?

From the prospectus of the International Philatelic Exhibition to be held in Cassel next August we are glad to read the following:—

"The class of honour is reserved for those exhibitors who have obtained a great gold medal at a precedent international philatelic exhibition. The exhibitors in this class receive three prizes of honour, but no medals. These medals are reserved for the exhibitors in the other classes."

No mention is made of the nature of the three awards of honour, but we trust that they will take the form of a tasteful but inexpensive diploma or certificate. Once a collection reaches such a state of perfection that it can compete in the class of honour, we would have it barred from competition with its more humble rivals, enabling the newcomer to enter the lists without feeling that he has to compete against accumulated time and money. As the more recently formed collections increased in bulk and in research they would automatically climb to the honour class; once there they would compete, but not for medals, against the classical denizens of Olympus, which in their turn have, in most cases, not stood still.

One well-known philatelist once pointed out to us that, in his opinion, no collector had the right to enter his collection at any exhibition unless he had spent a good deal of time and money on its formation; if he did it served him right that he should have the pleasure (!) of seeing more wealthy collectors secure the medals. The same collector frankly admitted that he exhibited simply to gain awards, which although of slight intrinsic value, helped to compensate for the entrance fees and other sums expended, while above all, they increased the financial value of the collection.

Stamp collecting is fortunately, a hobby for the poor as well as for the rich, and although the majority of the prizes naturally fall to the latter, we should like to see some scheme suggested making it more possible for the keen philatelist with a small banking account to compete on a more level footing with the wealthy collector who, not knowing enough to do his own buying, has to leave his collection to be formed by some enterprising dealer.

Such a scheme, we are afraid, like many more we have assisted at the conception of, is too Utopian ever to see the light; nevertheless, we are glad to see that the Cassel Committee have recognized that it is not fair for collectors who have already taken large gold medals to dwarf the endeavours of more humble competitors.—P. J. of G. B.

TWO NEW N. Y. STAMP FIRMS.

Henry Voltz & Co. is the name of a new firm just established at 81 Nassau St., in the office formerly occupied by L. W. Charlat. The new firm is composed of experienced collectors and elsewhere in this issue will be found their advertising.

Another new firm has opened at 122 E. 23 St., the Exchange Stamp Co. with A. Miller as manager. Mr. Miller, too, has had a wide experience in philately.

Both these firms come to us highly recommended and we in turn bespeak for them the patronage of our readers.

NOTES FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

A nice used copy of the 5 cents Philippines, 1899, Scott's No. 216, with surcharge inverted is in New York. It came from Manila.

Inverted "Philippines" surcharges seem to be all the rage here these days; one of the Filipino collectors has the 2 cents, 1904, shield type, and the 5 cents of 1899, with nicely counterfeited surcharges. He also has the U. S. 1895, 1 cent dark blue, and the 10 cent dark green, beautiful dark shades, with "Philippines" surcharges, unused, that he claims to have obtained in Europe. These stamps were never issued with the surcharge here, though without any surcharge they were on sale for a while.

When the Americans first took over the post office in Manila they brought with them a supply of the 1895 issue, all values up to the $1 black, and all of the Omaha series up to the $1 value, and all of these may be found with the Manila postmark, though most of them are hard to locate.

Somebody with a "pull" is evidently working the surcharging business overtime, for there is a reprinted 2 cents of 1903, Scott's No. 227, with a double surcharge. The surcharge is genuine to all appearance, but the shade is one that was never seen during the life of the stamp here. These things are the veriest rubbish, as they were issued from the U. S. and were never in the hands of the post office authorities here.

The 4 centavo stamp with the single-lined watermark has not yet shown up, though all the rest of the set is in use.

There are about six distinct shades of the special delivery stamp, ranging from light ultramarine to deep blue-green, or greenish blue. Some of them are very hard to get.

KANSAS CITY SOCIETY A SUCCESS.

The success of the Kansas City Philatelic Society is assured. At our second meeting held March 6th, forty-one collectors attended the first of a series of monthly auctions to be held by the society. Only fifty lots were sold at this first sale and you will find enclosed a priced catalog. The sale was well patronized and the lots all brought good prices. Wm. C. Michaels acted as auctioneer.

The society has received quite a lot of free advertising thru the newspapers, and a great many collectors who had remained in obscurity heretofore turned out to help the cause along. The promotors are very optimistic about the society's future and we believe nothing can stop us now.—O. P. LUTHER.

A PLEA FOR THE SMALL DEALER.

(NOTE.—A good suggestion and we will try it on in the early fall.—EDITOR.)

I have been a reader of your paper for about ten years and always anxious to receive my current number. In the past you have turned out a number of splendid special numbers and they have proven of great value in recruiting our hobby.

During the past year you have been encouraging the small dealers in various ways. I suggest that you make your next special number a "Dealer's Number." Get as many of the wholesalers to advertise something of special interest to the little dealer. You have shown the little fellows all the tricks of advertising, etc. Now then show them where to get their stock. I presume very few of the little fellows have any idea of where they can buy wholesale consignments. Show them how to keep track of the approval sheets they send out. What kind of card systems are used by the "big fellows." You should try and get a number of foreign wholesale ads in this special number.

I believe you can get out a very useful number in this way. Even us fellows who do not deal would be greatly interested in knowing something about the "getting there" of the big dealers.

U. S. STAMP BOOKS.

A plate number book leaf, No. 5038 shows that the engravers attempted to remove the plate number after it had been engraved too close to the design. This is not strictly a variety in the stamp but it is of interest to me. The layout lines are quite distinct around the numerals of the plate number on a book pane from plate No. 6053. The upper left hand stamp from plate number pane No. 6047 is a double transfer, the frame line and parts of the letters being double in places. Such details as these which are constantly occurring add an element of interest to the booklet issues.

Relative to the plate numbers on these book panes it is evident that they are quite scarce in view of the fact that they are not easily found even when they do exist, on account of their being concealed by the binding edge of the book and from the fact that but one pane in sixty has a plate number. The plates are numbered at top and bottom but the lower margin is trimmed off in the course of manufacture and the plate number will never be found except at the top of the pane. It has been stated by the writer and by several other interested students that if one pane of a book of stamps is found to have the plate number, an immediate consequence is that the remaining panes will have plate numbers because in collecting the sheets of stamps and in cutting the sheets into strips of panes and in cutting these strips into single panes of six stamps, the relative positions of any two stamps in two sheets are maintained. This is a normal and reasonable supposition and up to a recent date it has been verified by the facts in the case as far as the writer is concerned. A recent purchase of a lot of stamp books has destroyed the value of this theory to a considerable extent. There were about ten books of the 25c, 1c 1912 variety which contained one or more plate number panes. Several books had four panes with plate numbers. Two had one plate number pane and three "blank" panes. Three more had two plate number panes and two "blank" panes while several had three plate number panes and but one "blank" pane. This series of variations has not been found in connection with the two cent stamp as far as we know at present. There was no evidence to show that the "blank" panes were plate number panes on which the plate number had not been inked as each pane was carefully examined with that thought in mind, neither was there any "offset" evidence on the backs of the blank panes to show that their position after having been printed was immediately above a plate number pane.

For a system to be used in classifying the minor differences to be found in these book panes the writer has adopted that suggested and used by Geo. H. Beans in the May, 1913 number of Everybody's Philatelist. Each pane of six stamps is given a distinctive number by means of which it can be referred to without mistaking it for another book pane and each distinctive plate line variety, etc., is given a letter to distinguish it from others which differ from it in any important detail.

Referring to Figure 1, which is designed to illustrate the layout of the first plates used for printing the stamps used in stamp booklets it is found that there are the following distinct varieties:

A. The common or "normal" pane with no distinguishing marks, of which there are 15 panes to each sheet.

B. An arrow pane in which a part of the arrow in pane 5 shows on the upper right hand corner of the pane, of which there is one to each sheet.

C. An arrow pane in which the arrow in pane 6 shows in the upper left corner of the pane, of which there is one to each sheet.

D. The plate number pane in which the plate number shows on the margin of the upper left hand stamp.

E. The horizontal guide line shows between the two upper rows of stamps in each pane and there are eight of these panes to each sheet.

F. The left "center" pane in which the horizontal guide line shows across the pane and the vertical guide line shows on the right margin, provided that in trimming this pane the margin was left wide enough to show this vertical guide line, which, if cut off, would leave this pane one of the commoner "E" varieties with the horizontal guide line only.

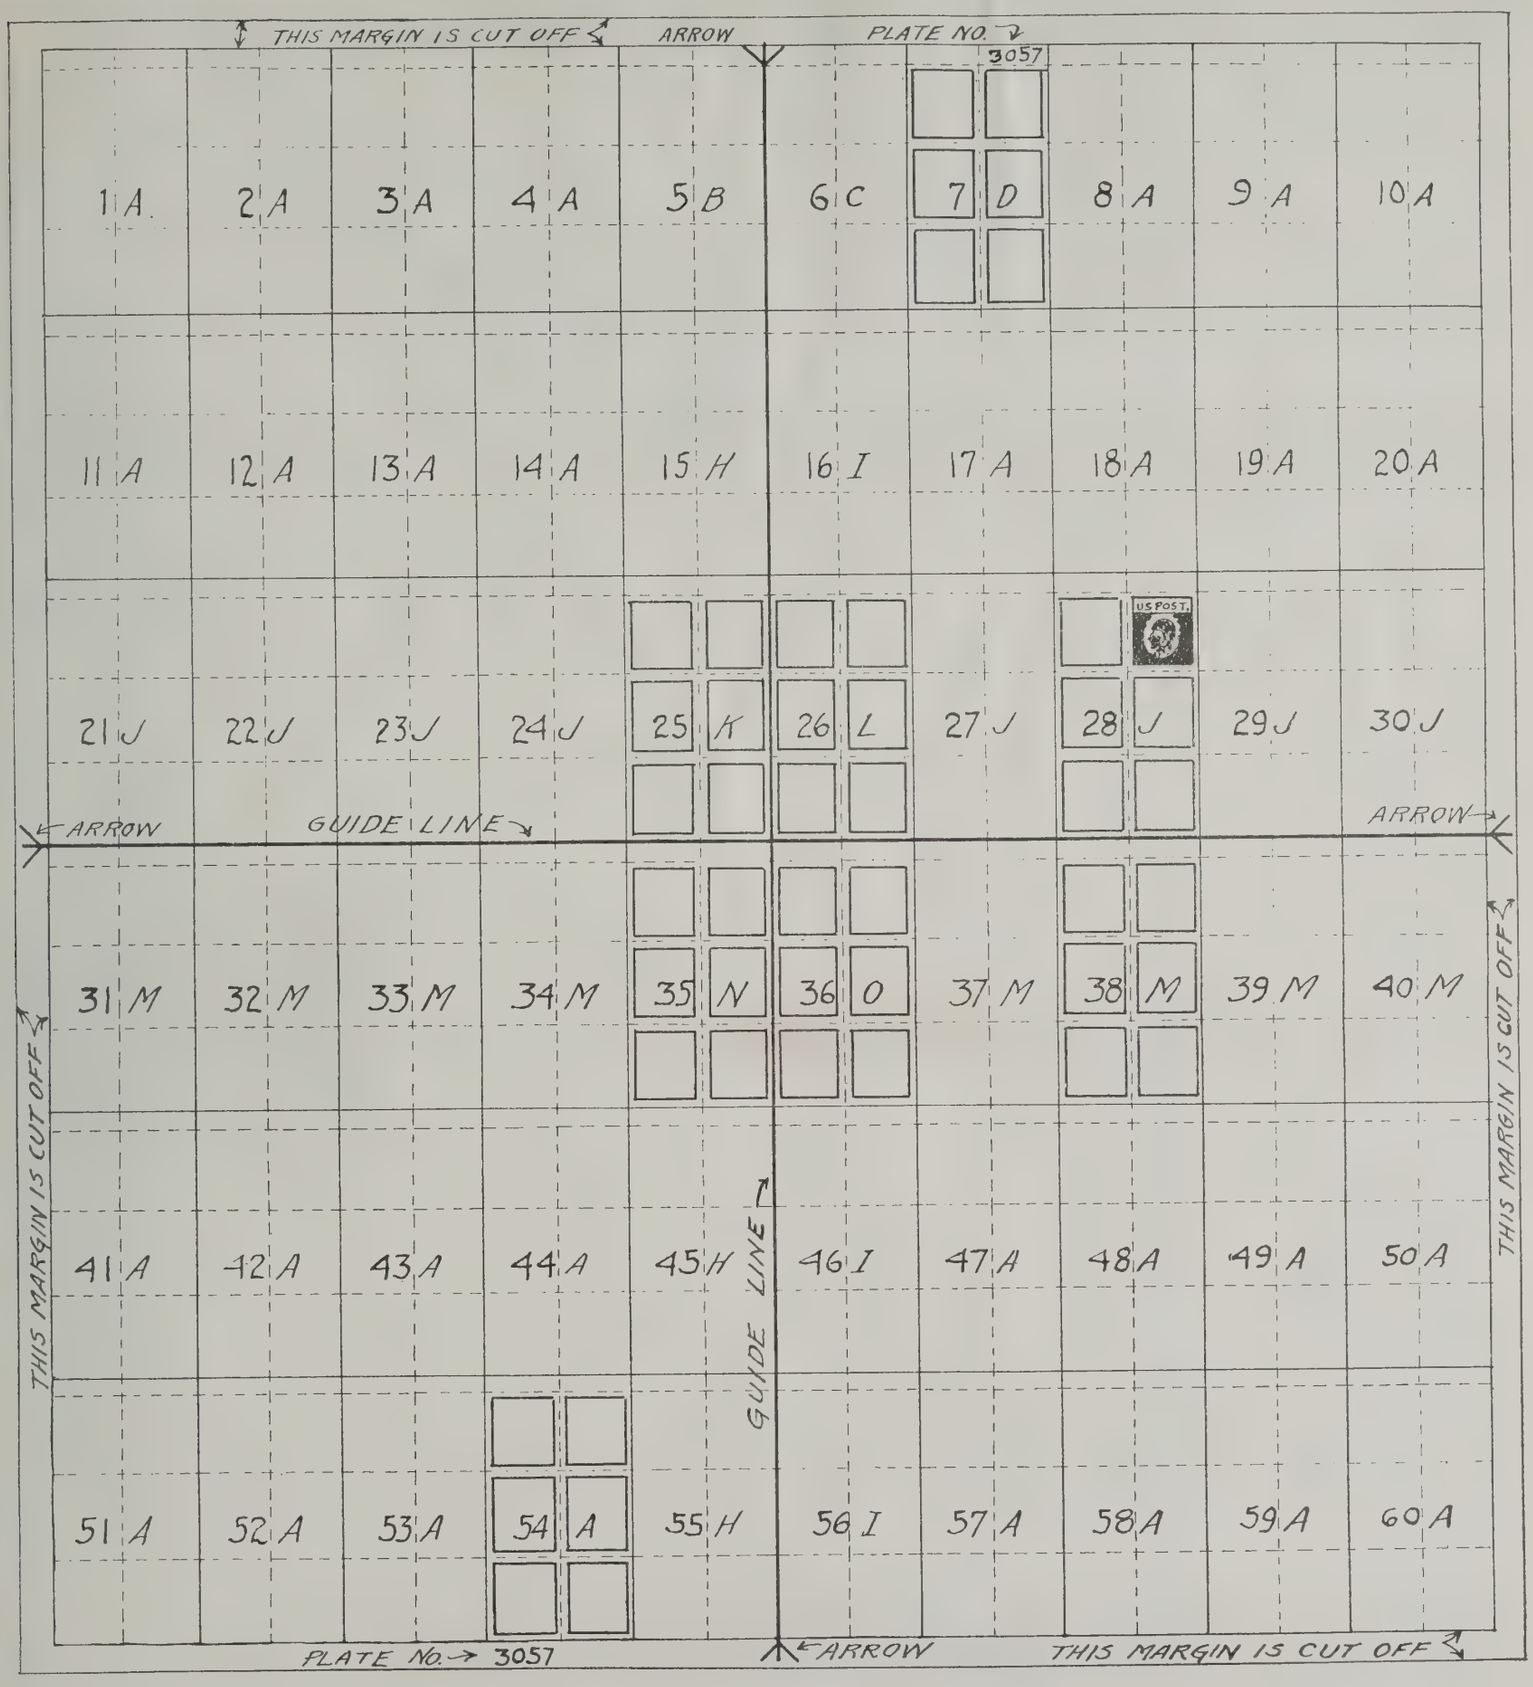

FIG. 2. — Stamp book plate of 360 subjects used subsequent to May 1, 1909. Dotted lines indicate perforations.

G. The right "center" pane which shows the horizontal guide line and also the vertical guide line on the left margin, provided it has not been cut off as noted in the case of variety "F".

It is evident that there is a very slight chance of there being cut from the same sheet, both center blocks as in that case the knife would have to exactly bisect a line less than one one hundredth of an inch wide.

H. The left pane showing the vertical guide line on the right margin.

I. The right pane showing the vertical guide line on the left margin.

It will be noted that there can be but one plate number pane, one "center" pane and one pane of variety H or I, for each sheet of 180 stamps.

The foregoing nine varieties and the remarks concerning them are generally applicable to the first issues, printed in sheets of 180. The differences will be noted by a study of Figure 2 which is a plate layout of the plate used for printing stamp books at the present time.

This plate carries 360 subjects arranged in twenty vertical rows of eighteen stamps, the whole being divided into sixty book panes.

In this later plate there will be found minor varieties as follows:

A. Common or normal pane without guide lines or distinguishing marks of which there are 31 panes per sheet.

B. Left arrow pane, of which there is but one per sheet.

C. Right arrow pane of which there is but one per sheet.

D. The plate number pane of which there is one per sheet. The plate number shows on the upper margin.

E. There are no panes in this newer plate which shows the horizontal guide line between two rows of stamps on the same pane.

F. There are no panes on this newer plate which show the intersection of the guide lines except at the corners of the panes.

G. See remarks for variety F. which apply.

H. Ordinary pane which shows the vertical guide line on the right margin of which there are three to each sheet.

I. Ordinary pane which shows the vertical guide line on the left margin of which there are three to each sheet.

J. Pane showing the horizontal guide line on the bottom edge. There are

THE OLDEST NEW ISSUE SERVICE IN THE WORLD

We are the pioneers of the new issue trade, this having been our speciality for nearly forty years, and we claim that our Service is the most complete and reliable. Write for explanatory circular and order form.

SPECIAL TERMS TO THE TRADE.

Our 1914 catalogue is the ideal catalogue for the general collector, it lists only "straight" varieties and pays no regard to measurements of perforation or minor varieties; price 50c post free, remit by Post Office Money Order only. [16 eight of these panes to each sheet.

WHITFIELD KING & CO., IPSWICH, ENGLAND

K. "Center" pane showing horizontal and vertical guide lines on bottom edge and on right edge, of which there is one to each sheet.

L. "Center" pane showing guide lines at left and at bottom. One per sheet.

M. Pane showing guide line along top margin. Eight panes per sheet.

N. "Center" pane showing guide lines along top margin and right edge, of which there is one pane per sheet.

O. "Center" pane showing guide lines along left edge and top margin, of which there is one pane per sheet.

This completes the list of normal varieties. Of the various double transfers and similar abnormal features which are more or less common in these booklet issues, enough has been said to awaken the collector to the fact that these interesting things exist and are found with surprising regularity by specialists who have learned "how to look."

As the reader probably knows, these books are sold in denominations varying from the 25c book containing either twenty-four 1c stamps or twelve 2c stamps, to the 97c book which contains forty-eight 2c stamps. The department has recently issued a "compound" book in which there may be found both the 1c and the 2c denominations. This is a convenience inspired by the increased use of postcards and the fact that a two cent stamp is more desirable for many reasons for use on a letter. This combination of requirements has created a demand for the combination boon and the recently issued variety is the answer to the demand. It is already popular but the sales are not as great as those of the other denominations which is due to the fact that the public is not generally aware of the innovation.

An interesting fact in connection with the stamps issued in booklet form is that the watermark is at right angles to the watermark as found in the ordinary series issued in sheets of 100 stamps. The early attempts of the perverted fakers who tried to trim the stamps issued in the booklets so as to imitate the rare government part perforates was to no small extent frustrated by the difference in the position of the watermarks.

UNIVERSAL PENNY POSTAGE IN A YEAR

PARIS, March 22.—Sir John Henniker Heaton, "Father of the Anglo-American penny postage system," in a speech before the British Chamber of Commerce in Paris tonight prophesied the introduction of a universal 2 cent postage rate within a year.

UNITED STATES.—In re the surcharged stamps for Shanghai, recently announced on the authority of foreign contemporaries, the following copy of a letter from the Postal Agent at Shanghai will clear up the mystery.

M. No. 5494. UNITED STATES POST OFFICE.
SHANGHAI, CHINA, Feb. 20th, 1914.
Scott Stamp and Coin Co.,
127 Madison Ave, New York.
Sirs:—

I am in receipt of your letter of the 30th December, 1913.

We have no surcharged stamps. Those you refer to were precancelled, and I therefore return your money order for $10.00 herewith.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN M. DAUAL,
Postal Agent.

CANAL ZONE.—We are indebted to Gerald D. Bliss for information to the effect that the new Canal Zone postage due stamps were issued on March 14 and specimens of the 1c and 2c values are submitted. The regular U. S. postage due stamps are given an overprint of the words "CANAL ZONE" printed diagonally across the lower part of the stamp in sans serif capital letters. The surcharge is in black and three values, 1c, 2c and 10c are reported.

EGYPT.—The 5m of the Pyramid type was overprinted "O. H. H. S." for official use late in 1913, without the Arabic inscription.

GREECE.—The 20l, 40l and 50l of the 1911 type have appeared in lithographed form.

HUNGARY.—The 30 and 35 filler and the 2 korona stamps have been issued on white paper with the new watermark. According to the Post u. Telegrafen-Verordungsblatt the current stamps of Bosnia (with the exception of postage due and journal stamps) have been on sale since February 1 of this year at the chief post office in Vienna and in the offices of the larger towns of the province.

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke reports having received advices from Nicaragua, to the effect that the Government is again short of stamps, and as the receipt of the new issue, now being printed by the American Bank Note Co. may be delayed for some time, further provisional issues are being made. The higher values of the official series of 1911-12 have been pressed into service, with "Vale—c0.02" in two lines and the word "Oficial" obliterated by a thick black line formed of two thin rules. Two values have been seen, the surcharge being the same, except for the necessary change in value. We are also indebted to A. W. Dunning for specimens of the new provisionals. All surcharges are in black.

Provisional Adhesives.

"c0.05" on 5p light blue.

NORWAY.—Re the Jubilee stamps, which will be issued on account of the centenary of independence in Norway, we learn some more news from the Norwegian Press, says Ewen's Weekly. Three values, the 5, 10 and 20 öre will appear representing a copy of the painting by Wergelang, showing the constitutional assembly of the Imperial States at Eidsvold. These stamps will be issued on May 1, and the printing works of the Norwegian Bank have already commenced with the printing of same. The plate has been engraved by Professor Schirnböck, of Vienna, who was the engraver of the attractive Franz-Joseph set of Austria. In the centre of the picture one sees the Stadtholder of the Danish king, Prince Christian August; around him are seated the deputies of the Norwegian Public who advise the "Grundlov" (Constitution of the Empire). The colours of the three stamps are in conformity with the condition of the Postal Union: 5 öre green, 10 öre red, 20öre blue. Originally it was the intention to print in total 43 million stamps of the three values, but for the present half the quantity will suffice. The most gratifying fact is that this Jubilee issue is to be restricted to the three lowest denominations, which are the values most in demand for general use.

SWITZERLAND.—Baron A. de Reuterskiöld informs Gibbons' Journal that the Swiss stamps are now perforated by a comb machine, instead of by the harrow machine in use up to the present. The gauge is the same, 11½, but the bottom and side margins are perforated, so that the comb must do two panes at once; in the outside margin there are two extra holes.

TURKEY.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the new postage due set, issued with the pictorial series of postage stamps. The stamps are nearly square, 21x24 mm. All are of different designs though the Toughra and the Star and Crescent occupy prominent places. The 1pi has a trophy of flags, arms and cannon, surmounted by a shield and the Toughra in a rayed field. With a solid background and printed in a rich strong color, the stamp presents a very handsome appearance. The other values are full of Arabesques, with Arabic inscriptions, and while not unpleasing are inferior in appearance to the 1pi. All have the values in both French and Turkish, the word "Chiffre-Tax" being prominently displayed.

POSTAGE DUE STAMPS FOR CANAL ZONE.

In accordance with the "Taft Agreement," the Canal Zone Government purchases all of its stamps for use on mail matter originating in the Canal Zone, from the Panama Government, at 40 per cent. of their face value. Heretofore, it has been the practice to use these stamps on letters arriving from abroad on which the full amount of postage has not been paid. During the last fiscal year, it is estimated that this class of postage amounted to about $4,000 in value. Most of the mail matter from the United States comes fully prepaid, but in the case of mail from the West Indies, and to some extent from Europe, the postage is only partly paid, or in some cases not paid at all, as under the Rome Convention, letters for points abroad may be accepted at the home post-offices without prepayment of postage. In view of the fact that this class of postage does not come under the Treaty with Panama, a supply of stamps for this purpose has been ordered from the United States Government, which will be furnished at the cost of the printing. They will be surcharged "Canal Zone" in the same manner as the Panamanian stamps, and on receipt, will be used on all letters received at Canal Zone postoffices on which postage may be due.—Canal Record.

S. P. A. BRANCH AT INDIANAPOLIS.

At the S. P. A. convention held in Wichita, Kans., last September, no place for the next convention was set, thinking that when the time came for the annual call a place would suggest itself far more suitable than could be set at that time. Through the enterprise of Edward T. Wallis of Indianapolis, a meeting was held Friday, March 13, for the sole purpose of organizing a club to entertain and bid for the S. P. A. convention to be held this summer. Incidently, the club will take a prominent place in the hearts of Indianapolis collectors.

The following officers of the coming Branch of the S. P. A. were elected: President, T. C. Whallon, 535 Lemcke Bldg.; Sec'y-Treas., E. A. Smith, 410 E. 10th St.; Auction and Sales Mgr., E. T. Wallis, 5802 Oak Ave. Eleven collectors were present at this first meeting, an attendance of which the new club can well be proud. Several have promised to be present at the next meeting. A material increase in membership is a surety.

The S. P. A. was invited to hold its next convention in Indianapolis somewhere between Sept. 8-15. It has been the custom of the S. P. A. to hold its convention in September and it is highly probable that the invitation may be accepted. The Sec'y-Treas. of the new club wrote a very enthusiastic letter to the Sec'y-Treas. of the S. P. A. in which he promised—as had other members also done personally—that Indianapolis would not be found wanting if the convention was held there.

With the marvelous growth of the S. P. A. and its activity in philatelic lines, —its convention at Indianapolis would be no mistake. Indianapolis is centrally located, easily accessible and an ideal location in every sense of the word. The S. P. A. has practically six hundred members at the present time and is the fastest growing stamp society in the world.

The Boston Philatelic Society.

THEO. W. BARRY, Pres.; LOUIS G. BARRETT, Vice-Pres.; C. A. HOWES, Sec., 55 Kilby St., Boston; CHAS. S. HILL, Foreign Sec., 67 Milk St., Boston; G. CARLTON RUSSELL, Treas., 38 Wellesley Park, Dorchester, Mass.; J. H. LYONS, Supt. Auctions; HENRY A. KIDDER, Supt. Sales; A. W. DUNNING, Supt. Rourse.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 7.30 P. M.

BOSTON, MASS., March 17, 1914.

The 310th meeting was held at the Club Room this evening with President Barry in the chair and 41 members and friends present.

The Secretary read a report from the Council which announced that a Society Collection would be started and that anything offered for it, including essays, specimens, proofs, etc., would be included, subject to the general supervision of a Curator, to which position Mr. A. Parker Brown was appointed.

The Council also voted to do more to make the Informal meetings attractive; to drop the subscription to the Vertrauliches Korrespondenz-Blatt; to rescind the Society vote concerning the sale of the so-called proofs of essays and refer the matter to the next meeting; to appoint an Auction Purchasing Agent to act for members free of charge at all Boston auctions, and to appoint agents in other cities if possible. Mr. A. Parker Brown was appointed Agent for Boston.

The Council elected Mr. Charles S. Hill as Foreign Secretary in place of Mr. Philip Wolff, deceased.

The following was presented:—

Library Report for Jan., Feb. and March.

Received by purchase: Report of the Literature Com., A. P. S., August, 1913; Glossary of Philatelic Terms (Philatelic Congress of Great Britain). Received by donation: 26 unpriced auction catalogs, 437 odd numbers of magazines, and 54 price lists from A. W. Dunning; Manual of the Springfield Stamp Club, 1913, from that Club; Standard Local Catalog, 1913, from Scott Stamp & Coin Co.; 2nd Annual Report of the Wellington (N. Z.) Junior Philatelic Society; Heusinger's International Address Book, 1914, from the publisher. Bound—"The Postage Stamp," Vols. 5, 8 & 9.

Received the current numbers of the following magazines generously contributed by the publishers: Gibbons' Monthly, Mekeel's Weekly, Stamp Journal, Postage Stamp, Philatelic Journal of Great Britain, Scott Stamp & Coin Co. Circular, Philatelic Gazette, Collectors' Monthly, British Guiana Philatelic Journal, New Yorker Briefmarken-Zeitung and Mitteilungen des Oberelsassichen Philatelisten-Klubs.

A communication was read concerning the new Childrens' Museum at Pine Bank Park, Jamaica Plains. Resignations were received from Nos. 454 and 523. The application of Mr. Howard S. Wheeler was posted. Mr. A. T. Comstock was elected to membership as No. 590. It was voted to lay the matter of the so-called proofs of essays on the table until the next meeting.

The following obituary resolutions were adopted:—

WHEREAS. it has been the will of Providence that one of our Officers, a young man of great promise, should be suddenly taken from amongst us, almost without our knowing it, and

WHEREAS, our confidence in him had been shown by re-electing him twice to the position of Foreign Secretary, which he, by his linguistic attainments was particularly fitted to fill; therefore be it

RESOLVED, that we hereby place on record our appreciation of the work he did for us and of his interest in the society; and our expression of deep regret, not only at losing an officer and fellow member but at the untimely death of a bright young man; and we hereby extend to his family our sincerest sympathy in their bereavement; and be it further

RESOLVED, that these expressions be recorded in our minutes and a copy forwarded to the family of our late associate.

Mr. Brown gave a brief idea of the scope of the proposed Society Collection and announced the first gifts toward it.

A list of delinquent members was presented for action and it was voted that the Secretary notify each one that their name would be dropped at the April meeting unless heard from previous to that time.

Mr. Frank L. Coes of Worcester then gave a talk on the Russian Rural stamps, which proved very interesting as few of our members know anything about them. He also exhibited a portion of his fine collection of these stamps, which showed that for variety, design, color and general interest of detail they can hardly be surpassed by any other group. The collection was certainly an eye-opener for most of the members.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Coes.

C. A. HOWES, Sec.

THE STAMPS OF OLDENBURG.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

THE FIRST ISSUE (Continued).

The same design served for all three values and this has a strong resemblance to that adopted for the first issue of Hanover. Writing in the Stamp Collector's Magazine in 1874 with regard to these stamps Mr. Overy Taylor said, "The early issues of Oldenburg are remarkable for their neatness and finish. They have the same kind of artistic primness as their Hanoverian contemporaries. There is the same combination, at any rate in the first series, of the useful numeral of value with the decorative coat of arms; and there is the same peculiarity noticeable in them as in many of the other old German stamps—they are rigidly rectangular. Whatever vagaries of ornamentation may be allowed in the centre of the German stamps of the ante-Prussian days, their exterior border is always composed of a neatly ruled double-lined rectangle. Other stamps might take oval, octagonal, hexagonal, or sinuous edged frames, the German engravers stuck fast to their four-sided ideal; and it must be admitted that their productions are not lacking in a certain grave and well-balanced appropriateness. The first Oldenburg type is an example in point. The arms are very carefully and clearly drawn, though on a small scale; the shield, containing the value is fancifully designed; and the scroll, which frames it on three sides, falls in graceful folds; whilst the subordinate foliate ornaments and shading relieve and harmonise with the prominent features."

It should be noted that the arms on the mantle and coronet above are the ducal and not the grand-ducal ones.

The design for each value was engraved separately so that there are many differences apart from those of the facial values. The engravings were made on stone and from these transfers were taken on specially prepared paper and laid down on the printing stone in ten rows of ten. An exact description of the process followed is given in a letter dated January 24th, 1859, which was sent by the Oldenburg postoffice to the Postal Administration of Luxemburg in reply to the latter's enquiry as to the method and cost of manufacturing postage stamps. Mr. Duerst translates the important part of this letter as follows:

One drawing of the stamp is made with a diamond point and a steel needle on a hard, well-polished, blue lithographed stone, and as many copies are taken on prepared Chinese paper as there are to be stamps on the plate (in this case 100). These are then fixed in straight lines on paper, (in this instance in ten rows of ten), and transferred in this form to another stone. After these transfers have been retouched the plate is ready for printing.

There are three generally recognized varieties of type of the 1/30 and 1/15 thaler values and though Scott's catalogue does not differentiate between them it is as well to know how to identify them as some are rarer than others.

The three varieties of the 1/30 thaler may be distinguished as follows:—

Type I.—The ornament in the lower part of the shield joins the left stroke of the H of THALER.

Type II.—The ornament does not touch the H but is 1 mm. distant from that letter.

Type III.—The ornament is rounded and still farther away from the letter H.

The accompanying illustrations should clearly demonstrate the differences. Types I and III are about equal in value while type II is three times as rare as the others.

The distinguishing marks of the three types of the 1/15 thaler are as follows:—

Type I.—The letter H of THALER is well above the indentation of the shield.

Type II.—The letter H almost touches the indentation of the shield.

Type III.—This is similar to type II but the bottom portion of the mantle (below the arms) is fully shaded.

In this value type I is a little commoner than the other two. Of these three varieties of each value the late Mr. W. A. S. Westoby stated that the first two in each case represented different drawings on the matrix stone and that the third "may be only a retouch." Capt. P. Ohrt, whose writings formed the ground for Mr. Duerst's translation,

British North America and British West Indies

I just purchased a magnificent collection of these stamps.

The 20th Century is complete and it is very strong in the 19th Century, as well. All of the stamps are unused and in magnificent condition. The 20th Century is complete in blocks of 4, from ½d to 1s. If interested in the countries write me.

H. F. COLMAN,
Second National Bank Bldg., WASHINGTON, D. C.

states positively that there were only two separate drawings of each, the second one being made owing to a fear that the original one might be worn out with constant use. While he mentions the third type of each his theory of how they were caused is too vague to be of any value. How many stones were made for each value does not appear to be known. In fact, taking it as a whole, the published information regarding this issue is far from satisfactory and these three stamps form a fine field for original research for a collector, with the time, means, and patience to accumulate the necessary material and study it properly. The late Mr. Robert Ehrenbach stated that being lithographed, each stamp on a sheet differed slightly from the others though, owing to superior workmanship, he admitted that the differences in the case of the 1/10 thaler were very minute.

Quite an extensive range of shades can be found in all three values.

Reference List.

1852. Lithographed. Imperforate.
1. 1/30 thaler black on blue, Scott's No. 1.
2. 1/15 thaler black on rose, Scott No. 2.
3. 1/10 thaler black on yellow, Scott's No. 3.

THE SECOND ISSUE.

In February 1855, a new value was added to the set for the prepayment of the rate on newspapers and other printed matter. This is very similar in design to the other denominations but has the value "⅓ SILB. GR." on the shield and "4 SCHW." on the scrolls at each side. Up to this time all printed matter enclosed in wrappers had to be prepaid in money and as the number of these packages had grown to a considerable total the time taken in weighing them and accepting the proper fee in money often proved a serious embarrassment to the postal employes. In December, 1854, therefore, the Administration ordered Stalling to prepare a stamp of the required value and at the same time the following official notice was published:—

It was decreed in the official notification of December 28, 1851, that packets in wrappers could not be prepaid by means of stamps. As it has been found in the meantime that it is desirable that such packets be prepaid by stamps, the Postal Administration has ordered such stamps to be made, presuming that the Government will sanction this order.

The value, 4 schwaren, is contained on a shield below the coat of arms of Oldenburg-Delmenhorst, surmounted by a crown, and on the right and left-hand sides in scrolls, underneath the shield is the word "OLDENBURG."

The stamps are on green, the impression in black color. Concerning the introduction of this stamp, a notice will have to be published in the Official Gazette, which the Government is requested to order.

(Signed) BOEDECKER.

In acceding to this request the Government published the following decree under date, January 30, 1855:

Referring to the official notification of 28 December, 1851, concerning postage stamps, and in alteration of Article 2 of the same, it is hereby notified that packets in wrappers can also be prepaid by stamps, from the 1st of February, in the same manner and under the same conditions as letters. The stamps are of green color, with black impression, and are of the value of 4 schwaren.

The stamps can be bought from the date named at all post offices.

(Signed) MUTZENBECHER,
KROPP.

The value schwaren was abbreviated to "schw" on the stamps. The schwaren was a small copper coin, peculiar to Oldenburg, worth only about ¼c in United States currency.

The stamps were lithographed in the same manner as the others and printed in sheets of 100 in ten rows of ten. There do not appear to be any minor varieties of importance while the color of the paper hardly varies at all. It would appear that the total number issued was not large while, judging from the present catalogue price of used specimens, the use of this value was somewhat restricted.

Reference List.

1855. Lithographed. Imperf.
4. 1/3sgr (4schw) black on green Scott's No. 4.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—C. A. Pitkin supplements his advertising in the WEEKLY with some lists of bargain offers that are all their name implies. Any reader desiring them will no doubt be accommodated gladly.

—If any of our subscribers should happen to come across the current 1c and 2c stamps rouletted they may understand that they are of private manufacture and were so issued for use in vending machines in Eugene, Oregon. We are advised that they were first issued in this form in 1913, when approximately 44,000 of the 1c value and 25,000 of the 2c were rouletted. A larger number of each denomination will be used this year.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from A. C. Roessler, Isaiah Rudy, H. W. Lanz, Arthur Russell (3).

—H. Tasker claims unsatisfactory trade relations with Ben Witkowitz, of 366 Alabama Av., Brooklyn, N. Y. Interested parties will please communicate with Mr. Tasker.

—We have had our attention called to the error in Mr. Wiley's article on Parcel Post stamps in connection with plate number 6245 and the matter will be rectified before the article is reprinted.

—The Chesapeake Stamp Co. would like to know the present address of H. C. White, formerly at 687 Shaw St., Toronto, Canada, and 5047 Madison Ave., Chicago, Ill.

—Mrs. E. W. Oughtred submits for our inspection the results of her correspondence with the New York Post Office, with which she had entered a claim against Louis Loener for using the mails with intent to defraud. Loener resides in Brooklyn and the Department plainly states that it will not undertake to prosecute where approval selections of stamps are involved.

—A. G. Bond, Trossachs P. O., Sask., Can., writes B. L. Voorhees for an approval selection of stamps and gives as reference the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Radville, Sask. Replying to a communication the bank writes, "The party inquired about is not known to us and we are unable to report on his financial responsibility."

THE NEW SONORAS.

By Robert A. Turner.

Denver, Mar. 25, (Special).—Since receiving your memo of 13th inst., I have been endeavoring to get further information relative to the stamps being printed here by the Smith-Brooks Ptg. Co., for the Mexican Constitutionalist Government. Senor Catana is still here; and it is expected that he will within a short time be authorized to issue new values of regular postage stamps, as well as an entire new issue of the "Transitoro" stamps, which were recently counterfeited. At the same time he expects to give the order for printing the new series of Constitutionalist paper money.

The fiscal, or documentary stamps are now being printed, 200 stamps to each sheet. The peso values are larger than the centavo values. The centavo design is conventional, the center being the eagle with the serpent in its bill. The peso values are of a goddess of liberty and justice with blindfolded eyes, a sword in one hand and balance and scales in the other. The list follows:—

1c pink	5p gray
2c light green	1p violet
3c orange	10p brown
5c carmine	50p red
10c dark green	100p prussian blue
25c light blue	500p purple
50c yellow

I will keep you advised as to the regular postage and Transitoro issues, and when possible to send samples, will be glad to do so. Have today received copy of the Weekly containing the information that these stamps were being issued here. They have created great interest.

STUDY TASKER'S METHODS.

Mr. Tasker, a new advertiser in the Weekly, has frequently expressed himself as very much satisfied with the returns that he has received from the use of the Weekly. We have a letter from which we quote the following:—

"I am expecting a large order from London but shall not have the goods in hand before April 7, and I regret that I was unable to take extra space March 28. I will certainly have a quarter page in the April special number, if you will let me know when it is to come along. The last quarter page did me lots of good."

Those quarter pages at $15 are winners.

The Managing Editor.

DEATH OF A. G. BURGOYNE.

The certainty of death is never fully realized until there is bereavement in the home. The realization is almost as painful, almost as startling, when a fellow-worker, after close intimacy for years, passes out of this life; and the sorrow is more poignant, the shock more severe, when such a comrade is called away suddenly. So it was with Arthur G. Burgoyne. Four days ago he was at his desk, wrote editorials and paragraphs, chatted with co-workers and visitors, rounded out his day's labors and went home—never to return to the desk where he had performed his daily tasks so long and so well.

Mr. Burgoyne's accomplishments as an instructor, writer, linguist and musician being set forth on another page, it is not essential to refer to them in this column. With these accomplishments the public of Pittsburgh, and, indeed, of western Pennsylvania, is to a large degree familiar, for his verse and prose have gone into countless homes, and his work as an instructor in public schools and at the Carnegie Institute of Technology made him known to thousands. But with his office life only his fellow-workers are familiar, and, next to his family and relatives, they will most sorely miss him. They will miss the genial companionship for which he was distinguished; they will miss him, whom they often sought for advice, when technicalities connected with journalism arise; they will miss him when translation of some word or phrase of a foreign language is desired, and they will miss his hearty laugh and his flashes of wit and humor. Then he will be missed by many outsiders, known as "down-and-outs," who appealed to him for help, and never appealed in vain.

It will take time to accustom the fellow-workers to the absence of the one they admired and loved. For it will be hard to become reconciled to the fact that he will never come back to them, that he has gone from them forever.—Leading Editorial, Mar. 23, Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

CHANGE S. P. A. NAME DISCUSSED.

A movement is on foot in the S. P. A. to change its name from Southern Philatelic Association to Society of Philatelic Americans, thus making a far more appropriate name for this national society of six hundred members. It will be noted that the original initials—S. P. A.—will still be the same and this change will be a happy thought indeed. The S. P. A. will no doubt be shortly incorporated under the state laws of Pennsylvania due to activities of its President, Mr. C. W. Kissinger.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Looking Forward—We are pleased to hear that President Coolidge of the American Philatelic Society has appointed Mr. Julian Park of Buffalo, chairman, and Mr. Hugh C. Barr, vice-chairman of the committee on arrangements for the annual convention in August of the American Philatelic Society; and we congratulate the members of the society as well as the appointees as we could not conceive of a better choice of men for the place. Mr. Julian Park typifies the best traditions of philately and never wearies of well doing for philately. Mr. Hugh C. Barr, editor of LaHacienda, has followed the fortunes of the American Philatelic Society for many years and his presence at different of the annual conventions is remembered pleasantly. We do not hesitate to assert that under the capable direction of these gentlemen and the others, the arrangements will be made to a nicety; and we shall tell of the plans for the convention in due season. The Niagara Falls convention should be made a memorable one and it is the intention to make it so.

The Way Not To Do—The following letter has been received from Dr. Wilsey: "I have before me an old letter, undated, but handstamped 'Paid 5,' which was mailed at Springfield, Vermont, and addressed to Claremont, New Hampshire, a distance of about nine miles as the crow flies. In the lower left corner is this inscription: 'Postmaster, forward this immediately and oblige your friends.' It would appear that our ancestors had as much trouble as some of our pessimistic friends would make us believe we have but if our P. F.'s would add a little note to their letters instead of begging valuable space from the stamp journals both the readers and editors would be grateful and no doubt their efforts would avail them as much in the long run." Nowadays, when the sender of a letter wants to make the postmaster extend himself, he writes on the envelope: "In Haste," "Rush" or "Important." Then, with a whoop of excitement the clerk who finds the letter so inscribed rushes to the private office of the postmaster of the great city; and when that functionary reads the injunction on the envelope, he frantically pounds all the electric bells within reach and dashes off countless telegrams. Soon the whole post office is in an uproar and when the personally conducted missive takes its departure, the force of the great institution crowds around the door to cheer it on its way.

Death of A. G. Burgoyne—The news of the death of Arthur G. Burgoyne of Pittsburgh has come to us through the columns of the paper on which Mr. Burgoyne was an editorial writer, Mr. Isaiah Rudy having sent us a copy of the Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph of Monday evening, March 23rd, 1914. Pneumonia was the cause of death, an illness of four days having terminated fatally, at Mr. Burgoyne's home early on the morning of March 23rd. Mr. Burgoyne is survived by his widow, a son and three daughters. Mr. Burgoyne was born in Ireland, fifty-three years ago and at the age of twenty was graduated from Rockwell College, Ireland. Subsequently, he completed the course at the University of London. Coming to Pittsburgh soon after, he became principal of a public school there and later joined the staff of a newspaper of the city. In 1906, Mr. Burgoyne took a position on the Chronicle Telegraph, where his column on the editorial page daily, "All to the Point," at once became a feature of the paper. Previously, Mr. Burgoyne had gained lasting renown through a similar column, "All Sorts," in the Pittsburgh Leader. For thirty years a poem by Mr. Burgoyne was included daily in his column. As lecturer, poet, journalist, humorist and, we add, philatelist, his luminous abilities made him a man distinguished among his peers; and his splendid intellectual powers commanded the admiration of all who came to know him. His mental orbit was no circumscribed one as Mr. Burgoyne was a master of music and looked into the soul of art; and as a linguist, twelve languages were at his tongue's end. For recreation, so to say, he compiled a Russian grammar and translated from the Slavic languages; and elucidated the obscurest music, if one may phrase it so.

As A Philatelist—In 1900, Mr. Burgoyne, with his wife, attended the Milwaukee convention of the American Philatelic Society and became acquainted with many members who were not slow to recognize his superior qualities. As the years passed, so manifold were the demands made upon the time of Mr. Burgoyne that it was imperative that he relax the keen interest that he was taking in the society but his philatelic friendships were not neglected; and somewhat recently we had the pleasure of entertaining Mr. Burgoyne when he passed through Chicago as a guest of Mr. Hill's newspaper party to the Yellowstone. Mr. Burgoyne was connected with the Carnegie Institute and sold his superb collection of foreign revenue stamps to the directors. Older readers will remember that Mr. Burgoyne conducted a department on Foreign Revenues in the WEEKLY and his work was instrumental in attracting attention to a class of stamps that was almost unrecognized in this country. Mr. Burgoyne was a collector to whom the sentiment of the stamp appealed truly and he gathered stamps as impulse directed him with no thought of sordid considerations. We can imagine no more brilliant a man than Mr. Burgoyne and with pride now tinged with sorrow, we exult that our hobby could attract a man such as he. All philately while realizing its loss will feel sympathy for Pittsburgh in the removal of one whose like may not soon be looked on again. To the wife and family of our good friend we extend heart-felt sympathy. The funeral was held March 25th; and memorial services in the School of Designs, Carnegie Institute of Technology, were announced for Sunday afternoon, March 29th.

In Old Montserrat—The early stamps of Montserrat, those of Antigua surcharged under a bar ruling out "Antigua," have always made an especial appeal to collectors. In an article in Alfred Smith & Son's Monthly Circular on the postage stamps of Montserrat, the interesting observation is made by Mr. B. T. K. Smith that while the six pence green with CA watermark is not known to cataloguers, he was positively assured many years ago "on credible authority that the '6d CA' does really exist, and I should not be at all surprised if specimens were discovered sooner or later." The one penny comes on CC and CA paper respectively but Mr. Smith says that in all probability the first 6d stamp having been printed in greater number than was found necessary "was never included in the printings on CA paper." The discovery of a six pence on CA paper would afford a rare subject for moralization by the philatelic writers.

No Famine—An attempt was made by the Chicago newspapers to make a "story" out of the alleged shortage of the ordinary two cent stamps because all applicants at the post office for stamps of that denomination were given the parcel post issue. The postmaster corrected any misapprehension by saying that the vaults were full of the ordinary two cent stamps but that the parcel post stamps were being closed out. Finis will soon be written at a stroke for other denominations than the one cent parcel post.

DEATH OF A. G. BURGOYNE.

We are compelled to record the death of Arthur G. Burgoyne, an old-time philatelist and for years connected with the American Philatelic Society. Mr. Burgoyne died March 23, at Pittsburgh, Pa. We are unable in this issue to give the particulars of his activity in stamp collecting lines, but the following sketch of his career from a local Pittsburgh paper will be read with interest:—

Death terminated Arthur G. Burgoyne's career of 30 years in Pittsburgh as journalist, poet, humorist and lecturer, at 2 o'clock this morning (March 23) in his home, 4933 Center avenue, East End. Stricken with pneumonia, Thursday, he laid down his duties on the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph, in which his last poem appeared on that date, and grew rapidly worse, until the end came.

Cultured, brilliant and versatile, Mr. Burgoyne was a prominent figure, not only in Pittsburgh, but in the journalistic field at large. At the time of his death, in addition to his journalistic duties, he was as lecturer on musical history and esthetics in the Carnegie Institute of Technology. He was a close friend of many Pittsburgh musicians, and his efforts for the encouragement of the growth of musical taste in this city were tireless.

Mr. Burgoyne was born in Ireland 53 years ago. He graduated from Rockwell University and finished his studies with honor in University of London.

He remained in London but a short time and coming to Pittsburgh was appointed a principal in the Ralston school, then located in the Ninth ward. He held similar positions in other Pittsburgh schools and during the course of his work had written articles for the Pittsburgh newspapers. A number of years ago he became a writer on the staff of the Pittsburgh Leader and was in charge of the All Sorts column. His versatility and good humor especially in his writings, made a host of friends not only in Pittsburgh, but throughout the United States.

In 1906 when the Gazette and the Times were merged, he became connected with the Gazette-Times and during the past few years had been employed on the Chronicle Telegraph.

Mr. Burgoyne was master of 12 languages. He was considered one of Pittsburgh's best educated men, not only in music and art, but on international matters of state and nation. His writings on music and art were especially interesting and when the Carnegie Institute of Technology was founded Mr. Burgoyne was appointed professor of music.

He leaves his widow, a son, Arthur G. Burgoyne, Jr., three daughters, Mrs. J. E. Schuecker, Misses Florence and Mabel Burgoyne, and a sister, Miss Anna Burgoyne, the latter of Washington, D. C.

"YOUR PAPER IS THE ONLY ONE."

Felix Cohen, the well-known dealer of Port Said, Egypt, pays the WEEKLY this compliment as he sends in his latest advertising copy:—

"Your paper is the only one that gave me a profit in advertising the newly issued Egyptian stamps. I sent advertising to eight different philatelic journals."

Mr. Dealer, we can serve you equally well.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

TRADE NOTES.

Edward Michael has been selected by the executrix, Mrs. Ben G. Green, Chicago, to sell the stock of stamps and coins of Ben G. Green, deceased; and arrangements are being made by Mr. Michael to dispose of these effects in a series of auction sales. Due announcement will be made of the dates of sale of the stock, which, we are authorized to say will include Mr. Green's superb collection of encased postage stamps.

Henry Ades Fowler will engage in the stamp business in the office in the Fort Dearborn Building, Chicago, formerly occupied by P. M. Wolsieffer now the general manager of the Philadelphia Stamp Company. Mr. Fowler is known in many branches of philately through his activities during the past twenty-five years or so, as philatelic publisher, specialist, society worker and dealer; and his present venture should flourish under his experienced philatelic management.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, BOSTON, MASS.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—The Philatelic Gazette says:—"Quite an innovation in the postal issues of the U. S. is an official postal card for use of the postal savings system. The new card made its appearance in December last, but has so far escaped the attention of new issue chroniclers. This card is intended to be used exclusively by postmasters in sending their monthly reports of postal savings transactions to headquarters in Washington. The official stamp is circular, the center is a large unshaded numeral "1" similar in design to the green parcel post due stamps. It is surrounded by a background of engine turned lines with "CENT" below "1". The design is surrounded by a double line circle inscribed in white Roman capitals "U. S. POSTAL SAVINGS-OFFICIAL MAIL." Additional printing on the face of the card is "Post Card" in the customary place, "Third Assistant Postmaster General, Division of Postal Savings, Washington, D. C." and a form number in small type in the lower left corner, "5-5527." The back contains considerable printing, the blanks to be filled in by the postmaster. It is a white card, smaller than the regular size. Stamp and printing are in black, and made in one operation by the present manufacturers of the regular postal cards, the Government Printing Office at Washington.

Chas. M. Breder shows us an albino paid permit which was allowed to pass through the mails. It is Permit No. 224 of Philadelphia, Pa., value 2 cents.

W. F. Slusser shows us the 2c postage due stamp on paper with single lined watermark and a new and brighter shade.

Hiram E. Deats supplements the item in No. 1212 regarding the new Western Union franks by the following: "I have just seen a circular to agents issued Feb. 20 by the Western Union saying that the stamp books this year come in three series as follows:

A stamps to value of $25.20
B stamps to value of $15.00
C stamps to value of $10.20

"I have not been able to examine any of the books yet, so cannot give the number of each value to a book. I wrote you last week, in which I stated that the stamps came in five series as before. It seems that they did not need so many sizes of books with the decreasing number of users."

BELGIUM.—The London Daily Mail says that the new series of stamps, now being prepared, will have portraits of Kings Leopold I and II as well as of King Albert.

BRITISH GUIANA.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us the 4c in the new King George design.

4c brown and violet.

CANAL ZONE.—We are indebted to H. Leonard for the following copy of an article in the Canal Record, a Government publication, in re "Postage Due Stamps:"

In accordance with the "Taft Agreement," the Canal Zone Government purchases all of its stamps for use on mail matter originating in the Canal Zone, from the Panama Government at 40% of their face value. Heretofore, it has been the practice to use these stamps on letters arriving from abroad on which the full amount of postage has not been paid. During the last fiscal year, it is estimated that this class of postage amounted to about $4,000.00 in value. Most of the mail matter from the United States comes fully prepaid, but in the case of mail from the West Indies, and to some extent from Europe, the postage is only partly paid, or in some cases not paid at all, as under the Rome convention, letters for points abroad may be accepted at the home post-offices without prepayment of postage. In view of the fact that this class of postage does not come under the Treaty with Panama, a supply of stamps for this purpose has been ordered from the United States Government, which will be furnished at the cost of the printing. They will be surcharged "Canal Zone" in the same manner as the Panamanian stamps, and, on receipt will be used on all letters received at Canal Zone post-offices on which postage may be due.

DENMARK.—The 2, 3 and 4 ore stamps have been reissued in the old figure design, but on paper watermarked multiple cross, and perforated 14x14½. The 1 ore has not yet been seen on the new paper.

DUTCH INDIES.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 50c value, the design being the same as the gulden values noted some time since.

Adhesive.

50c green.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Offices in the Levant.—We have received the new 10d King George stamp overprinted "4 Piastres" for use in the British offices in the Levant.

Adhesive.

HONDURAS.—Hermann Focke sends us used specimens of the provisional "10 Cent" on 2c rose of the current set.

NETHERLANDS.—Whitfield King & Co. and the New England Stamp Co. have shown us a new printing of the 1½c in a new color.

Adhesive.

1½c deep blue.

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke has shown us another provisional, similar to those chronicled last week, the 1p stamp of the official set having surcharge "Vale—c0.01" in black in two lines. The word official is obliterated by a ruled ornament. It will be noted that the values in these provisionals is expressed in hundredths of a centavo.

SOLOMON ISLANDS.—The Postmaster at Tulagi under date of Jan. 30, writes to Hermann Focke that the Canoe type is still in use for all values excepting the ½d and 1d which together with the 3d and 11d are the only ones issued in the George type, and all of these are of the "Postage—Postage" variety; the changed design "Postage—Revenue" not having reached the Colony as yet.

MORE "RE-ISSUED" DAYTON DIES.

Two weeks ago we printed a list of these dies upon the authority of Louis G. Barrett, who received his information from Marcus White and we are indebted to the same sources for additional information. Mr. Barrett writes us as follows:

"Since writing you about the resurrection of the 'Dayton' dies in the current 2c envelopes, several other varieties have been seen so that the list to date is more pretentious than the one sent at that time: standing as follows,—

2c DIE D, 1914.

Die.	Size.	Paper.	Wmk.	Knife
Var. 1	5	white	18	88
Var. 6	5	white	17	88
Var. 6	5	white	18	88
Var. 9	5	white	18	88
Var. 9	5	creamy white	18	88
Var. 10	5	creamy white	18	88
Var. 10	5	white	18	88
Var. 3	13	white	17	89
Var. 3	Wrapper	manila	17	—

It will be noted that none have been seen on colored papers as yet, and if this is to be but a temporary use of the dies, they will possibly be well worth looking for on colors."

THE NEW DENOMINATIONS.

Considerable progress has been made in the additional values which are soon to supplement the current regular issue. As previously announced five new values are soon to appear in order to facilitate the stamping of parcel post packages. The 12c stamp will be the first to appear and printing was begun about Feb. 18th. The 7c will be second and the 9c next, while the 20c and 30c may not be seen until some time later. The writer was privileged to see die proofs of all values in the adopted colors which are here described. All had been officially approved by Postmaster General Burleson on January 29th and each item bore his signature. It is not likely that the names of the colors as designated by the ink manufacturers, will be accepted by philatelists as several of them would certainly seem to be misnomers from the collector's point of view. Our own views might be expressed as follows:

7c "black." Head of Washington. Not much is to be said except that the color seems to have a slight tendency toward a grayish shade.

9c "pink." Franklin. This is totally different from anything we have ever seen termed "pink," and will surely not be so termed in the catalogues especially if we have in mind the 3c pink of 1861. We would feel inclined to describe it as a rather light shade of dull rose red. It is something new in color and we cannot recall any other stamp similar to it. Anything in the nature of a tint into bluish is certainly totally absent. We were, however, informed that present day ink manufacturers recognize various tints or shades of pink.

12c "maroon". Franklin. This is a very dark shade which we would prefer to term dark purple brown. It is in fact quite similar to a rather light shade we have seen of the $1.00 Washington.

20c "ultramarine." Franklin. This is the same ink used for the 10c registry stamp which was recently discontinued.

30c "vermilion." Franklin. This might be termed an orange brown red which is totally different from the 2c vermilion of 1875. It has a strong orange tint and certainly a little brown. It might in fact almost be called terra-cotta, which would be more expressive than the official designation.

It has not been stated when the new stamps will first be issued but the 12c is likely to be out about the time these notes appear in print.—Philatelic Gazette.

A New Album for the Beginner and Medium Collector!

AN UNEXCELLED HOLIDAY OR BIRTHDAY GIFT TO START YOUNG PEOPLE IN MAKING A STAMP COLLECTION.

This new album solves the problem by providing spaces for some 15,000 varieties of all countries, from the earliest issues up to the time of publication, including both 19th and 20th Centuries. The rare and high-priced stamps have been omitted, but separately described printed spaces are included for over 15,000 different stamps. In addition, there are extra spaces provided for such rare stamps as may be acquired. All included varieties are illustrated with full size cuts. 425 pages.

THE STAMPS OF OLDENBURG.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

THE THIRD ISSUE.

On January 24th, 1857, Oldenburg concluded a monetary convention with other German States according to which only the thaler of 30 groschen was to be legal currency, and the old thaler of 72 grote was abolished. As the stamps then current did not agree with the new coinage so far as some of the inscriptions were concerned it was decided to issue a new series. Matters were, however, taken very leisurely and it was not until eighteen months later that the new stamps were placed on sale. Of such little consequence was the change considered by the Postal Administration, notwithstanding that the design chosen was a very different one from that of 1852, that no official notification of any sort appears to have been published. The new stamps were, apparently, distributed to the postmasters without comment and were placed on sale at each post office just as soon as supplies of the old stamps were exhausted. As no official date of issue was stipulated we have to rely on dated obliterated specimens and from these it would seem that the stamps were probably placed on sale in July or August, 1859.

The design is similar for all four values and consists of the grand-ducal coat of arms, surmounted by a ducal crown, on a plain oval ground, with "OLDENBURG" on a scroll above it, and the value in words on a similar scroll below. On each side of the centerpiece are small ovals containing the numerals of value, while the spaces above and below these are filled with leaf-like ornamentation.

The stamps were designed and lithographed at the works of Gerhard Stalling, and as in the case of the previously current stamps, a separate engraving on stone was made for each value. They were printed in sheets of 100 in ten rows of ten, in black on colored papers. Naturally, as the stamps were produced by lithography minor varieties exist but the only one of prominence occurs on the 3 groschen. On one stamp on the stone the D of OLDENBURG was so malformed as to more nearly resemble a B.

The ⅓ groschen seems to have been but little used and it is by far the rarest of the series. In the 1 and 2 groschen fairly pronounced shades may be found.

Reference List.

1859. Lithographed. Imperf.
5. 1/3gr black on green, Scott's No. 5.
6. 1gr black on blue, Scott's No. 6.
7. 2gr black on rose, Scott's No. 7.
8. 3gr black on yellow, Scott's No. 8.

THE FOURTH ISSUE.

A Post-office circular, dated December 15th, 1860, announced that on January 1st, 1861, coincident with an issue of stamped envelopes, a new issue of adhesive stamps would be made, printed in color on white paper, the values being ¼, ⅓, ½, 1, 2, and 3 groschen. The designs for the ⅓, 1, 2, and 3 groschen were the same as those for the preceding issue and it is evident the same original dies were used. Possibly, too, for the earlier printings the same stones were used. The two new values are a little different in design. The ducal coronet is larger, nearly as large as the coat of arms; and these are on a ground of solid color. The ends of the scrolls containing the inscriptions above and below the centre are prolonged downwards or upwards and these extensions fill the spaces occupied by the arabesques on the other values. How many printings were made is not known but most of the values fall into two divisions which may be described as hazy and clear prints, respectively. The former were evidently the earlier printings, the result of lack of knowledge on the part of the lithographers as to how to deal with colored inks. As they became more expert their work improved resulting in the clear prints. Quite a number of varieties are found in the lettering and in the frames of the ⅓gr and 3gr values from which it would appear that

I just purchased a magnificent collection of these stamps.

The 20th Century is complete and it is very strong in the 19th Century, as well. All of the stamps are unused and in magnificent condition. The 20th Century is complete in blocks of 4, from ½d to 1s. If interested in the countries write me.

H. F. COLMAN,
Second National Bank Bldg., WASHINGTON, D. C.

new stones were laid down and for these a number of defective transfers were used. Of these varieties the most prominent are "OLDEIBURG," which is found on both values, and "Dritto" and "Drittd," found on the ⅓gr. An interesting minor variety of the 1gr is known with a pointed numeral at the right hand side. This seems of considerable rarity.

The ½ groschen value was necessitated by a reduction in the rates for local letters which had previously required a 1gr stamp. The ¼gr was for no particular rate but was used in conjunction with other values when the postal charges, as was frequently the case, resulted in such fractional charges as ¼ or ¾. It is the rarest value of the set in used condition.

All values exist in a number of shades the ⅓gr and 1gr in particular furnishing a number of distinctive tints. Errors of the 1gr and 3gr are known printed on both sides. The former was first discovered in 1894 while the latter was not known until some years later.

Reference List.

1861. Lithographed. Imperf.
9. ¼gr orange, Scott's No. 9.
10. 1/3gr green, Scott's No. 10 or No. 11.
11. ½gr brown, Scott's No. 12 or 12a.
12. 1gr blue, Scott's No. 13.
13. 2gr red, Scott's No. 14.
14. 5gr yellow, Scott's No. 15.

A STAMP SOCIETY IN DENVER.

Maitland Milliken, 404 Foster Bldg., Denver, Colo. in company with several other Denver collectors is actively engaged in organizing a stamp society in Denver and already the names and addresses of thirty-four collectors in and near the city have been secured. Mr. Milliken will be glad to hear from anyone interested in the proposition. The organization meeting was held March 30.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—A correspondent writes us that Dodd, Mead & Co., the well known Boston publishers, are about to publish a book presenting a love story in the form of a series of letters from Shanghai "via P. & O." For the cover decoration the book will have an addressed envelope upon the corner of which will be pasted a Chinese stamp duly cancelled.

—R. G. Montgomery, a Philadelphia subscriber, wishes to know how many subscribers the WEEKLY has in his home city. The number is 140.

—The Geo. W. Linn Co. has issued a finely printed pricelist full of attractive offers, and a copy will be sent to any subscribers on request.

—We have given a line of advertising to Louis Loener, Harry Paley and Ben Witkowitz, all of Brooklyn, N. Y., and another name remains to be added, Mayer Marcus. Is it too much to expect that dealers should show a due measure of precaution in sending approval selections to boy collectors in Brooklyn?

—While many Sonora covers have slipped through the U. S. Mails, Benedict Prieth calls our attention to the fact that he has a registered Sonora cover that came through without the payment of "postage due."

—Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co. have been entrusted by the Commonwealth postal authorities with the preparation of the die for the new King's head penny stamp of Australia. It appears that the order was given early in January so no doubt good progress has been made by this time.—Postage Stamp.

—W. Arthur Laceby, having terminated a long tour with "Officer 666" sailed, recently, for Europe.

—Clipping acknowledged with thanks from L. G. Barrett.

For some time past we have been unable to deal as promptly as we should like with Exchange Parcels received by us. Owing however to the remarkable growth of our business our Mr. Jno. A. THE NEW BELGIANS.

Much has been said recently concerning our new stamps, but very inaccurately. The poor quality of the stamps and the unsatisfactory likeness of the King are often justly complained of. All of this is to be changed, and speedily. We have at present twelve postal values, nine of which bear the King's portrait. Soon we shall have thirteen. The Minister (of Posts) has decided to give effect to the wishes of the Chambers of Commerce by creating a 15 centimes stamp which will be convenient for making up the rate of 40 centimes required for foreign letters of double weight. Of these thirteen values nine already have the portrait of the sovereign, on the values in the greatest demand: from 1 to 40 centimes. The four other values will resemble our Congo stamps.

That of the 5 francs will represent the national dynasty: that is to say the portrait of King Albert in a medallion will be flanked by those of Leopold I. and Leopold II.

The 50 centimes stamp is emblematic of national independence, a wounded volunteer passing the tricolour to a comrade (inspired by the death of Count Frederick de Merode).

The 1 franc value commemorates a great economic event, the affranchisement of Escant. In the foreground is seen the haven of Antwerp, whilst towards the horizon sails a ship bearing the inscription "Schelde Vrij" "Escant Libéré."

Finally the 2 francs typifies the great economic event of the century—the restoration of the Congo: an officer rescuing an Arab slave under the Belgian flag, whilst another strikes off his fetters and a negress holds up a free-born child.

The 1 and 2 centimes stamps will continue to be printed typographically, but from new dies, and it is anticipated that they will be even better than the present stamps. All the other stamps will be recess-printed. The new machine which has been ordered by the postal administration for this purpose is capable of producing 450 millon stamps a year. Our works at Malines actually turn out 750 million stamps annually comprising 250 millions of the 1 centime, 150 millions of the 2 and 5 centimes and 350 millions of the other values. It is said that the one machine will be sufficient for these last. If results are satisfactory a second machine will be ordered, and all the stamps including the 1 and 2 centimes will be printed in taille douce.

The new machine will be brought into use at the beginning of June, and by September, or October at latest, the new stamps will be issued.

An interesting point is that the new system will not cost one centime more—and by the sale of the new stamps alone—of each new issue ten thousand copies are required for collectors—equals 110,000 francs—which will cover the cost of purchasing the machines.—L'Annonce Timbrologique.

MORE NERVE WANTED.

Mr. Melville in the Postage Stamp:—"I think that Mr. Colman's stamp advertisement is a record for any country, and I wonder when some of our British dealers will develop the nerve to take a page in one of our great London dailies at a three figure price? Oftentimes our advertisement manager would be cheered to find some of the members of the trade develop a little of the 'nerve' of the American dealer, and 'go some' on advertising."

$115.20 We spoke a good word of appreciation of Mr. Colman's enterprise in patronizing the Washington daily and the favorable word by Mr. Melville indicates that American dealers are far ahead of our English cousins. What does he think of that two paged advertisement in the WEEKLY March 28 costing $115.20?

TAYLOR'S BOLIVIAS EXHIBITED.

The Southern California Philatelic Society held a meeting at 1232 Marsh-Strong Building, Los Angeles, Calif., March 26, which was a very interesting affair. E. M. Taylor's collection of Bolivia Stamps was exhibited by Bertram W. H. Poole. The collection was awarded a gold medal at New York, and also at Buenos Aires, and is said to be the finest collection of Bolivias in the world. W. Parker Lyon exhibited a superb collection of United States stamps, including revenues and locals. The S. C. P. S. will hold the next meeting at 1017 So. Figueroa St., in the rooms of the Hollman Business College, April 9. At the meeting to be held April 30 in the Art Gallery at Blanchard Hall, the society will hold its first Auction sale of stamps.

A GREAT ADVERTISING OPPORTUNITY.

$15.00 It was a happy thought for us to decide upon the plan of offering a full quarter page for $15.00, and we feel that our patrons are appreciating the opportunity of getting space in our publication at 10c per line.

$15.00 It will cost you over $100 to send a circular to 7500 addresses and here we give you an opportunity to send your message to 7500 addresses for only $15.00. This proposition is a good one and we want to drive it home to every advertiser.

$15.00 Bear in mind that the ranks of stamp collectors are constantly changing. They come and go. Any dealer's list six months old has lost much of its virility, but in our mailing list you have the very bone and sinew of collecting enthusiasm.

$15.00 Any number of the WEEKLY is a good one to use but the issue of April 25 will be unusually good. Try a quarter page and you will be convinced. Have copy reach us not later than April 18. A column space or a six inches double column will give you great publicity.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Everybody Works—These are our busy days. Experienced observers of the course of philately are almost unanimous in the selection of either March or April as the most active month on the philatelic calendar. There is not much choice between the two months in their race for preference but the advantage, if any, lay with April, we should say. Philately really is coming into its own and what is noticeable this year is that the indications are that philately is gaining such a momentum just now that it will run, even though its pace may be slackened, right through the dull months; and that last year's triumph will be repeated.

King Edward VII Land, Shackleton Expedition, 1d cancelled..... .75

EUGENE KLEIN, 142 So. 15th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

"Time"—Through the courtesy of Mr. Chester Myers, we have seen a cancellation that is a novel one in our eyes. The word, "Time," is printed in reverse, evidently from a plate, on the one cent wrapper, blue on manila, Plimpton, 1874-80, die b. Roughly, the impression is 14 by 28 millimeters and is a most curious obliteration. There are many quaint cancellations to be found on past issues of the United States and the one under notice may be included in this category. Perhaps some reader will have an explanation for the use of this unconventional cancellation.

Said Before—A contributor writes: "Among the advantages of stamp collecting is the promotion of peace in the family. A philatelic husband with his eye trained to detect different shades can match the most evasive color of the ribbon sample given him by the wife in the morning, at the department store." True enough and our correspondent means well,—but he is palming off old stuff on us. We remember words to the same effect by a writer in the Florida Philatelist, somewhere around 1890.

A Philatelic Veteran—The Daily Press of Hobart, Tasmania, says in a notice of the death recently of a Captain Rich, at the advanced age of eighty-five years: "The Captain was an enthusiastic stamp collector, and always carried about with him, a little pocketbook containing some of his rarities, which he was on occasions, pleased to show to visitors to Hobart. He was a well-known Hobart identity, and it is said that for a short time, king of one of the South Sea Islands, having been elected to that honourable position by the natives, but the Captain found the role of monarch a little uncongenial and so he migrated." Here was a fine example of the disappearing type of old fashioned collector.

Probably An Impostor—Recently, we told how to make one's own peroxide of hydrogen if one did not like the kind sold at the store. The description has provoked the following letter signed by Count Lapp de Booz but we are inclined to doubt the authenticity of the signature as the postmark of Dorchester Center Station is on the letter and even if the recrudescence of Count Lapp de Booz has been established, there could be no one in that neighborhood with whom he could hobnob: "I append a recipe for the manufacture of one's own stamp hinges. 'Procure some strong fish glue from the chemist (Fish glue by the cwt. is considerably cheaper and collectors should club together when purchasing, when possible). Dilute the glue, 1 of glue to 4 parts of water, and place in a crucible ready for melting. (A coke oven is the ideal place for this important operation. If a coke oven is unavailable, the kitchen range will do). Stir well during the process of melting and allow the mixture to stand for twenty minutes. Drain off the clear liquor and bottle for use, keeping in a safe place. Now, when wishing to hinge a stamp, all one needs to do is to apply a little of the liquid to a small slip of paper the size of an ordinary stamp hinge, with a fine camel's-hair brush and when the glue is quite dry, one has a very serviceable stamp hinge. Note—To some persons the taste of the glue is unpleasant. This can be obviated by flavoring with any extract to suit the taste. Lemon is strongly recommended, although onion is preferred by many."

He Happened On It—Says a ruminating reader: "I could never understand why the philatelic scribes never quoted as introductory to their enlightening essays, after the manner of the truly great: 'For use almost can change the stamp of nature.'" A bit of Shakespeare? Ah! as we suspect, it is in Bartlett's. The stamp sermonizer is too ingenious to depend on Bartlett's Quotations.

Another Version—Mr. Charles R. Morse writes: "I note a remark editorially in the issue of March 7th, about the Chinese revenues in the 1914 catalogue Addenda. I have the one and two cent without surcharge sent to me by a friend in China; and he says that he bought them at the post office and that they were available for postage but were called an issue, supposedly, for Korea."

* * *

Different Papers—A reader informs us that he has "the plate-number 164 of the five cent, 1894 unwatermarked, according to all tests," and that he "was puzzled to find the same plate-number on an undoubted watermarked strip of three of the five cent, 1895 issue, in a sales book." He wants an explanation. Not a few of the plates of nearly or quite all of the denominations of the 1894 issue were used in printing the watermarked stamps. No separation between the watermarked and the unwatermarked stamps was attempted by the department which adopted the precautionary paper in consequence of the counterfeiting of the two cent, 1894 issue. As the stocks of the unwatermarked stamps were depleted the same plates in many instances that were used for the unwatermarked stamps were employed for the stamps on watermarked paper. That no stress was laid upon the differences in paper by the Washington authorities may be gathered from an old plate-number catalogue which would give the numbers of the plates that did a dual service of the kind described.

His Dream—At the annual dinner of the Chicago Philatelic Society recently, one of the speakers said that a voice from Berne decreed that the stamp of the nation for the domestic letter rate be red in color and that the stamp to prepay correspondence to the countries beyond the borders be blue in color. The speaker continued, putting his hand to his ear for all the world in the manner of little Rillie Ranter, the infant elocutionary wonder: "The voice from Berne will speak again and it will command that the stamps be of a certain size and design and shape; and thus," he tremulously added, "stamp collecting will languish and die," whereat some of the diners were dreadfully embarrassed as they had begun to applaud just before that last clause of direful prophecy. Those who thought that a universal stamp would be no menace to philately were in the majority, it seemed.

Let It Come—We remember having read about fifteen years ago, an article in which the writer very plausibly argued that the advent of the universal postage stamp would be a boon instead of a detriment to philately. He argued that enough stamps had been issued to ensure material for countless numbers of collectors and he maintained that if distinctive and national stamps were no longer issued, those that had been would ascend at once in the affections of collectors.

The Series of 1908 are the only stamps printed from plates of both 180 and 360 subjects. The Series of 1908 was current at the time that the single lined watermark was introduced and this creates the issue which collectors term the "Series of 1911". The stamps on the single line watermark paper were printed from plates of 360 subjects only as the smaller plates had been superseded by the larger ones before the single line watermark appeared.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Frederic C. DePuy reports having found the current officially sealed stamp perforated vertically and rouletted horizontally.

ALBANIA.—Out of the mass of provisionals, surcharges, etc., following the war in the Balkans, at least one permanent issue has been evolved. Albania now has a series of stamps and stationery, with portrait of Scanderbeg.

Adhesives.

2 qint yellow brown.
5q green.
10q rose.
25q blue.
50q violet and lilac.
1fr light brown.

Letter Cards.

5q green.
10q red.

The adhesives chronicled above have been surcharged with the letter "T" for use as postage due stamps. This surcharge is in blue on the 2 and 10q in red on the 5 and 25q and in black on the 50q.

Lemaire's Journal states that owing to the confusion caused by the change of the currency to "qint" or centimes and "franc," it has been decided to surcharge the whole issue, adhesives and postage due stamps with new values in "paras" and "piastres."

Provisional Adhesives.

"5 paras" on 2q yellow brown.
"10 paras" on 5q green.
"20 paras" on 10q rose.
"1 piastre" on 25q blue.
"2½ piastres" on 50q violet and lilac.
"5 piastres" on 1fr light brown.

The issue of the permanent set, with portrait of Prince Wied is expected shortly, now that he has arrived at Durazzo.

AUSTRALIA.—Another lot of 1,000,000 stamps is being printed of the new King's Head penny design. The new supply is to be distributed on a population basis throughout the states. The first supply was principally absorbed by philatelists and collectors and few found their way through the mails. It will be interesting to see whether the second printing will be noticeably different from the first printing.

CEYLON.—Lemaire's Journal reports the issue of the 50 rupees stamp. The 2, 3, 5, 6, 10, 15, 25, 30 and 50c and 1, 2, 5, 10 and 50r have now been seen.

Adhesive.

50r dark violet.

CUBA.—The Sterling Stamp Co. shows us the $1 value of the new map issue as chronicled some time since. It will be noted that while the inscriptions read "Un Peso" the value in figures is preceded by the "$" mark of the United States currency.

EGYPT.—Additional stationery to that noted in No. 1206 is noted by the Philatelisten-Zeitung. Mr. Schachne also reports the reply post card.

Envelopes.

5m carmine.
20m blue.

Letter Card.

10m blue

Post Cards.

2x2m green.
4x4m vermilion.

GREECE.—Lemaire's Journal announces the issue of a charity set, including 2 and 5l values. The design includes a wounded soldier upon the battle field with a sister of charity at his side. These stamps have been printed by Aspiotis concern at Corfu, and will be obligatory for use during a fixed period in each year for the benefit of the victims of the war.

HAYTI.—The 1pi of 1906 has appeared in a new color.

Adhesive.

1pi vermilion.

MALTA.—J. A. Galbraith sends two values of the new Malta King George set, the ½d having previously been chronicled.

Adhesives.

1sh black on green.

MOROCCO.—A new series of stamps is in preparation, though whether to be classed under French Offices or Morocco proper is not yet clear. The values will be expressed in "centimos" and "pesetas," and the designs will include a view of Moulay-Edris mosque at Fez. The 3c value will be suppressed and the 4c value re-established.

SIAM.—After supplying the public with surcharged cards for the past 14 years, this country has finally issued a new permanent set of striking beauty. Mr. Schachne reports the cards listed below. All are on white cardboard and have the vertical dividing line on face.

Post Cards.

3s red and green.
5s brown and green.
6s dark rose.
6x6s dark rose.

SWEDEN.—A new 5kr stamp is chronicled by Lemaire's Journal, the design being Scott's A14 and not the General Post Office type of 1903.

Adhesive.

5kr carmine on yellow.

VENEZUELA.—A. N. Frey submits for our examination specimens of the current 25 and 50c values showing changes in design worthy of note. Mr. Frey writes:—"The latest specimens of the 25 and 50c, of which samples are enclosed, show a design almost wholly redrawn, the lines of the netted background being close together and additional detail added. Many of the lines are quite different from those of the earlier printing. The new 50c varies in shade from the former printing."

QUARTER PAGES APRIL 25.

Our quarter pages at $15.00 offer the cheapest stamp publicity in the world. This week Drew of Boston takes his usual position and will you note what a striking advertisement this firm has written. Burger & Co. have a good buying advertisement. The Sonora advt. of the Geo. W. Linn Co. is a very attractive one and cannot fail to secure attention.

Our issue of April 25 gives every indication of being well patronized. We already have three reservations of space by the Co-operative Stamp Exchange, R. S. Green and H. Tasker—each a quarter page.

The Co-operative firm writes, through Mr. Bier:—"I shall use my square to advertise some special wholesale offers and our new wholesale list which will be out by May 1. Shall also advertise our auction sales and offer at retail, blocks of four for collectors. We have been using the WEEKLY regularly since 1905." The 47th sale of the Co-operative Exchange takes place April 25. Young dealers who are looking for wholesale lots by the dozen or hundred should get in touch with this firm.

R. S. Green writes: "I shall be pleased to take a quarter page. Reserve me a good position. Business has been extremely good and I find MEKEEL'S indispensable. I cannot understand how any dealer can do business without using your paper?"

How much space, please?

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

BOSTON, Jan. 20, 1914.

Mr. President and Gentlemen:—

The close of the 23rd year of the existence of the Boston Philatelic Society finds most matters connected with its organization in very good shape. The Secretary's department having to do with the meetings and the membership, principally, presents the following data for your consideration.

We have had the usual ten regular meetings during the calendar year of 1913, with an average attendance of 39, which is about 7 less than the previous year but 6 more than the one preceding that. This average cannot be bettered by many of the philatelic societies of the present day. The informal meetings, of which there were 12, have been attended as usual by an average of perhaps ten persons, but no official record of these meetings is kept.

The Governing Board, now known as the Council, has had five meetings out of nine that were called by the President's order, the remaining four being unable to transact any business because of the lack of a quorum. It would seem that either some arrangement should be made by those accepting office as Councilors to make every effort to be present at meetings, or that the present quorum required (five) should be reduced in order that necessary business may not be held up by lack of a quorum.

Our present membership numbers 181, a gain of six over last year. The list is divided into 5 Honorary, 57 Non-resident and 119 Resident members. We have had 21 admissions during the year, which is an excellent record, but have lost one by death, Mr. A. A. Wayne, who joined March 21, 1899, six by resignation and nine by dropping for non-payment of dues.

Our meeting of October 21st was made memorable by being our second "Melville night." We had the good fortune to entertain once more one of our honorary members, Mr. Fred J. Melville, President of the Junior Philatelic Society of London, who gave us a very interesting talk and whom our members were greatly pleased to have a chance of meeting personally.

The great event of the year has of course been the first Internatoinal Philatelic Exhibition, held in New York, October 27th to November 1st, at which both our Society and our members were well represented. The Society was placed upon the list of Honorary Patrons and quite a number of our members were likewise honored. Our members subscribed a total of $180.00 through our Committee appointed to receive subscriptions for the Exhibition, and some fifty persons from this city were in attendance during the week. The Society entered its two monographs, the Revenue Stamps of the United States and the Postage Stamps of Siam, and received a bronze medal and a diploma on the former. Members of the Society received altogether a total of 35 of the medals awarded. The foregoing facts seem to indicate quite clearly the position held by the Boston Philatelic Society in Philately, surely a not unenviable one.

Our outgrown, worn out, patched, and I might almost add "darned" Statutes, which had come down to us in more or less unrecognizable form since 1891, were finally discarded and a new Constitution and By-laws adopted at the meeting of April 15th. The new instrument seems well adapted to our needs and no doubt will prove its usefulness as time goes on. It is proposed to print it for distribution after this season's trial of its workings, so as to allow for correcting any particular faults that may develop.

It has been deemed wise to incorporate the Society and the vote to take this action was passed at the meeting of December 16th.

Our meetings have been well supplied throughout the year with exhibits of fine collections which have proved drawing cards for the members. A number of interesting talks have also been given.

The Secretary's personal work during the year has involved the writing of 112 letters, 59 postal cards, the mailing of 8 packages and 21 sets of Statutes, membership lists, etc., as well as 1075 notices of meeting, a total of 1275 pieces of mail matter.

Respectfully submitted,
CLIFTON A. HOWES, Sec.

WITH THE BOY PHILATELIST.

Edited by BERTRAM W. H. POOLE, Box 231, Altadena, Calif.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

UNISSUED STAMPS.

A Detroit reader writes as follows:—"In the Scott catalogue the Confederate States stamps No. 213 (type A10) is stated to have never been put into use and yet it is valued at $1.00. How can there be any value to a stamp which was never in issue?" I have no doubt other beginners have been equally puzzled over the value of these sorts of varieties. There are numerous stamps of all sorts of countries which were prepared for use and then never actually sold to the public for postal use for some reason or other. Sometimes the stamps never got farther than the printer's establishment; others were simply stored in the Government Treasury. Perhaps a change in postal rates made these stamps unnecessary, or a change of ruler or of Government made it impolitic to issue them. But whatever the reason for their non-issue the fact that they were prepared for use by proper governmental authority gives them a philatelic interest. But while they have a legitimate philatelic interest they have no legitimate place in a general catalogue for they are purely varieties for the specialist and not for the general collector. Their market value is, of course, based on rarity and the popularity of the countries for which they were prepared.

AN INTERESTING CARD.

Early in the year I mentioned a South Australian stamp which had been cancelled in Melbourne, Victoria. Mr. E. C. Heymann tells me he has a Japanese stamp bearing a Victoria, B. C., cancellation and he also sends particulars of an aeroplane post-card which may interest my readers, viz.: "I have a post-card mailed June 11th, 1912, postmarked Frankfort a/m (Germany) and addressed to Stamford, Conn. From Frankfort it was carried by the airship 'Schwaben' to a small place on the Rhine and from thence by ordinary ways to its destination. The card is a dark tan and in the upper right corner is the ordinary 10pf German stamp. On the upper left corner is a special stamp made for the occasion. It is an orange brown color and is longer than the ordinary postage stamp. An oval takes up about two-thirds of the stamp in the centre of which is a large bird flying with a letter in its beak while a setting sun is shown beneath. Around the oval is an inscription which in English would read 'First German Airpost on the Rhine.' In the upper left corner of this stamp is '10' and in the upper right corner 'pf'. Both stamps are cancelled by a large post-mark on which in addition to the name of the place and date is 'AIRPOST on the RHINE'."

AN ENVELOPE PROBLEM.

A Silver Creek correspondent writes as follows:—

"Where do essays of U. S. stamps come from? I find I can secure quantities from dealers. Where do they get them?

"Where do the stocks of albinos, etc. of U. S. envelopes come from? I handled up to 1900 and for 20 years previously an average of 100,000 stamped envelopes as they came from the post office each year. In all that lot I found but one albino. Still I can buy quantities of them around 10c each.

Does the Washington Post Office now sell the stamps and stamped paper that are returned from country offices? I understand that is where the enormous quantities of unused envelopes of old issues came from, as they formerly sold them, as well as old issues of adhesives, to the 'right' people. I invested heavily some fifteen years ago in unused entire wrappers and envelopes, covering everything from 1853 up, that could be had at any reasonable figure. I can now buy cheaper than I then bought. There's a reason? As I understand it, I bought from a Washington dealer thousands of old envelopes at a fancy price that he simply bought at face from the Washington Post-office."

As regards the albinos it was probably nothing more than a strange coincidence. I have frequently found them in quite small lots of envelopes purchased during the last two years. As regards the return and resale of obsolete envelopes at Washington I know nothing. Perhaps some other reader can furnish information on the subject? Possibly the fact that my correspondent can now buy cheaper than he could fifteen years ago is simply due to the less interest taken in envelopes and consequent little demand for them.

SHORT REPLIES.

G. L. (Worcester, Mass.).—The stamp of which you send such an excellent description is a common revenue stamp of Hungary.

J. D. A. or J. H. (New York).—Letters signed with these initials but in the same handwriting duly received but I do not reply to anonymous letters.

N. P. (Visalia, Cal.).—Your precancelled stamp with part of the lettering omitted is of no interest as a variety as it is simply due to poor centering of the sheet in overprinting it. (2) I have explained on many previous occasions that there is no simple test for distinguishing between the thin, hard and soft porous papers. It is really a matter of experience and is always a stumbling block to the beginner. Your best plan is to get some experienced collector friend to separate the varieties for you.

A. B. C. (Missoula).—The marks you describe on your British stamps are simply cancellations. "F. B." is a cancellation signifying "Foreign Branch"; "N. P. B." is "Newspaper Branch"; "F. S." is "Fleet Street," and so on. The mark on the Greek stamp is probably part of a revenue cancellation. The Indian stamp you cannot place is Scott's No. 48.

OUR STATE REVENUE STAMPS.

By FRANK L. APPLEGATE.

(This article is prefatory to the first paper of the series appearing two weeks ago.—Ed.)

FOREWORD.

A class of stamps deserving of our most serious attention are the revenue stamps issued by our various states.

All of these were called into being by definite acts of the different state legislatures, exactly analoguous to the various acts of the United States Congress which created the Civil War, Spanish-American War and other federal issues of revenue stamps; and are, it seems to me, just as much entitled to recognition, study and collection by patriotic American collectors as are the federal issues which are honored by position in the Standard Catalogue and beloved and appreciated by all of us.

Personally I believe the time must come when they will be catalogued along with other duly authorized government issues, perhaps at the expense of such stamps as telegraphs and locals, which are not government issues at all.

Perhaps the chief cause of the unpopularity of the state revenues in the past has been the popular ignorance regarding them, due largely to their not being included in the Standard catalogue. This is not written with the intention of unduly criticizing the catalogue makers, it is their book and they have their reasons for including what they do, and then of course it is not a revenue catalogue. But it is also the accepted text book of American philatelists and as such naturally inclines us toward the stamps listed between its covers, regardless of whatever merit may be inherent in certain other kinds of stamps which do not therein appear.

The function of the dealer, generally speaking, is to cater to a demand already existing and as we have not demanded state revenues they have not bothered to stock them if, indeed, they would have found it possible.

Then again there is the matter of albums. The album, in the past even more than the catalogue, has held collectors to the beaten path.

The classification of state revenues easily divides all the issues into those of three distinct periods.

First, the Pre-Adhesive period, embracing the non-adhesive stamped paper of Virginia and Maryland. The former issued in 1813, the latter in 1845. The only catalogue listing these varieties is the one issued by Mr. E. B. Sterling years ago, a copy of which is now pretty hard to get. The stamps of both these states were embossed without color on various legal and commercial papers in values from 4c to $6.00. I do not include in this class the similarly embossed stamps of 1797-1800 bearing the names of the first fifteen states, as these are properly federal issues.

The second classification is the Adhesive-Documentary. Of these the stamps of California are the most numerous and the most interesting. First issued in the Pioneer age of 1856 when gold was cheap and the cost of everything else sky high in comparison, to provide funds for the exaggerated expenses of the government of the new state, and laid on the most tangible value that could be taxed, namely shipments of gold out of the state and the insurance of vessels carrying their golden cargoes, the history of these stamps is closely allied with the most romantic history of our most romantic West.

Passage tickets were also a source of taxation as well as licenses admitting attorneys to the practice of law. Coming as they did before the Civil War, they are the pioneer adhesive revenue stamps of the American Continent. The "high cost of living" in California is reflected in the denominational values of these stamps, running as they do up to $400.00. Nearly two thousand distinct varieties of California revenues have been listed but the number actually in existence is probably much less. Many of those known are rarities of the first magnitude.

Nevada, at the height of the great silver boom in 1865, followed California's example, placing a stamp tax on legal and commercial papers. Louisiana, when the popularity of the notorious Louisiana lottery was in its zenith, placed a stamp tax on lottery tickets. Notwithstanding the popularity of the lottery, which was soon afterward suppressed by the government, few of the tickets must have been saved as the stamps

I just purchased a magnificent collection of these stamps.

The 20th Century is complete and it is very strong in the 19th Century, as well. All of the stamps are unused and in magnificent condition. The 20th Century is complete in blocks of 4, from ½d to 1s. If interested in the countries write me.

Second National Bank Bldg., WASHINGTON, D. C.

are all scarce, most of them extremely so. Alabama in 1867 put a stamp tax on the seals of notaries and all other officers, required by law to use a seal. Virginia today does the same. Louisiana again come into the lime light in 1880, when law stamps were issued for use in the parish court of New Orleans, although they bear the name of the state. It is a remarkable fact that this is the only case in which a revenue stamp was ever issued in the United States for use in a single city, municipal stamps being so common in most other countries.

Oregon, in an effort of the legislature to control the state's insurance business in the interest of local companies, put a tax on fire insurance policies in 1870.

All these states repealed their stamp taxes years before New York came forward with a stamp tax on stock transfers in 1905.

Missouri now has a stamp tax of 25c on all sales of stocks or commodities for future delivery. It is called the Option stamp and the revenue accruing from its use goes into the Good Road Fund of the State. Since the nation-wide growth of the good roads movement has made itself so prominent I have looked for other states to follow Missouri's example, but so far have not learned of any of them doing so.

The third classification includes the inspection stamps of the present time.

The Legislature of Florida moved to action by the quantities of inferior fertilizers imposed upon the farmers of the state passed in 1889 an act requiring all dealers in fertilizers to put a tag on each sack certifying the contents to be identical with a sample analyzed by the state chemist, and showing the percentages contained of ammonia, potash and phosphoric acid. To defray the cost of this analysis and state supervision of the fertilizer business, an inspection tax of 25c per ton was levied payable by an adhesive stamp pasted on each tag. In 1905 this system was extended to include commercial feeding stuffs (stock feed). In 1906 Kentucky adopted a similar law, followed the next year by Georgia, Iowa and Texas, and later by Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Tennessee, Indiana and Kansas. Tennessee has extended the inspection tax to grass, clover and cereal seed, Missouri to beer, and North Carolina to gasoline and coal oil.

It will be seen that the purposes of the inspection taxes are entirely different from the documentary taxes. While the latter are comparatively heavy and levied for the express purpose of revenue only; the former is a very light tax levied with the sole purpose of paying the expenses of state supervision of a specific industry.

Personally, I collect only those stamps which show their denomination expressed in United States currency on their face. This division is entirely arbitrary as all inspection stamps and near stamps are issued for the same purpose, are used in the same way and pay the same tax. I feel, though, that one must draw the line somewhere, and I choose to draw it where it will separate those labels which most resemble what we are accustomed to call stamps from those which more nearly resemble something else. Nearly all of them show the denomination in pounds, also most of them are adhesive stamps, while some of them like those of Texas and some of the other states are merely tags and some like the North Carolina oil stamps take the form of certificates, and although they show the denominational value in dollars and cents they are as big as the common bank check and are not adhesives.

While the design of the higher form of inspection stamps consists only of a printed set of instructions for its use and the signature of the Commissioners of Agriculture for their respective states, they are replete in brilliant colors, and all kinds of perforations, roulettes and other varieties delightful to the philatelist.

While the documentary series have been listed in the French revenue catalogues of Moens and Yvert and Tellier and in this country in those of Sterling and Adenaw and latterly by Kenyon and Bartlett, the only catalogue so far to list the inspection stamps is that of Bartlett published by the United States Revenue Society in 1910, and that only contains about half of them as the past three years has seen a steady increase in their use.

In the series of articles to appear in the WEEKLY the various state issues will be taken up one by one according to the classification herein outlined.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—When you renew your subscription add 50c for the Goodwin book. A dollar will be easy to send.

—A correspondent informs us that a 25c value will be added to the current set of U. S. stamps instead of the 30c previously reported. Definite information will no doubt be shortly obtainable.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Hugo Kuenstler (3), Paul Hedrick (4).

—W. S. Aldrich reports H. C. Bouldin, Cleburne, Tex., also Jacob Neist, Gen. Del., Albert Lea, Minn. The latter party referred to the First National Bank, which replies to Mr. Aldrich as follows:—"Know nothing of the party mentioned."

—The stamp collectors of Mobile, Ala., are arranging to organize a stamp club. J. Nelson Polhamus, the Cuban Consul at this city, says that the new map issue of Cuba will soon be withdrawn and a new set supplied with designs showing Cuban heroes and statesmen.

—Our issue of April 4 contained an advertisement of the McGraw Stamp Co. in which there was a descriptive line "Unusual Auction Rules." This is a self-evident mistake and probably none of our subscribers were misled. "Usual Auction Rules" should have appeared.

—John V. Mayer informs us that he has received a Sonora 4c and 10c surcharged in black "Victoria de Torreon, April 2, 1914." The overprint is in three lines. The surcharged stamps were evidently issued to commemorate the victory of the Constitutionalist army at Torreon. We should like to know more about the authenticity of these stamps.

THE IMPROVED NEW SPELLING.

"It is true," says the Philatelic West of "entires," that they are "harder to get and harder to keep than the adhesive or squar-cut stamps." We always thought someone would take up the "cujels" in favour of "psocards," "wroppers," "covrs," etc., just as they are doing for "lcls" and "tlegraphs." The current number of the West is a rather amusing one, chiefly on account of its spelling. We are told for instance that Mr. C. A. Wowes is a noted philatelic writer (a rival perhaps of C. A. Howes), and that the "marekt" is flooded with Liberian trash, and a score or more similar curiosities. But then the West is such a bulky paper, and brings such a conglomeration of news on stamps that we should miss it surely if it did not bring us its monthly budget of typographical eccentricities. But we like the candour of the genial gentleman who conducts the "department of enquiry," and who received a free fountain pen from an advertiser, a gift which receives a suitable recommendation in the paper. The writer goes on to ask "has anybody else anything he wants me to try?" If this is an implied promise to try everything advertisers like to send along, our friend may be deluged with samples of Antipon, Allen's Foot-ease (widely advertised American stuff, not a cocktail!) and other equally serviceable articles.—Postage Stamp.

BRITISH COLONIALS WITH "WHITE BACKS."

The arrival some weeks ago of certain Colonial stamps upon surface tinted papers instead of dyed papers caused no mild excitement or speculation in many quarters.

The demand for the dyed papers became the talk of the moment, and the new tinted papers were left out in the cold.

In the meantime collectors have changed their views as to the desirability of the dyed papers, for all now tends to show that the "white backs" will turn out to the better of the two from a market point of view.

We learn from a new issue service importer that all the stamps now coming into this country are again on the old dyed papers—a state of affairs that the Colonial Office Journal informed us of some time ago.

It is, however, more than probable that the tinted papers will turn up again at odd times for the stamps of certain Colonies, but in this event it is not to be assumed that these are new printings or that resource has again been made to surface coloured papers, but rather that the supplies on tinted papers have been covered by the new stock on dyed papers, and therefore will only come out as the stock of this or that country diminishes.

This has occurred once or twice with the stamps of our own country—a certain control coming out and appearing again later after the new control has been in use some time.—Stamp Collecting.

THE NEW DENVER SOCIETY.

By MAITLAND MILLIKEN, Denver, Colo.

Pursuant to a call, twenty-one collectors met at my offices, March 30, and held a meeting which resulted in the formation of The Mountain States Philatelic Society. As the name implies the new society will take in members not only of Denver but those in Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and perhaps Utah. The meeting adjourned to meet again April 7, when we will have an election of officers and hear reports of three different committees. I will send you full particulars including a list of newly elected officers. The new society will, no doubt, be a much needed pillar of Philately in the Far West.

Latest.—Following are the names of the newly elected officers: Chas. Huscher, President; Paul R. Byrum, Vice President; C. Gordon Adams, Secretary; Robert A. Turner, Corresponding Secretary; and Maitland Milliken, Treasurer. We have five directors. The society will meet every first and third Tuesdays of each month, at 404-405 Foster Building, Denver, and will be incorporated under the laws of Colorado. Membership fee, $1. The Denver Stamp Club was consolidated with the society. As the title implies, it is our desire to have collectors residing in Wyoming, New Mexico, Utah, Western Nebraska and Kansas, become members, as well as those in Colorado. James K. Doughty of Lamar, Colorado, has the pleasure of being in attendance and, of course, joined our society. He brought his fine collections for display.

MR. COLLECTOR PLEASE REMEMBER:

That the best way to shop is to watch very closely the columns of the WEEKLY. You will be well repaid for your vigilance.

That dealers always put the best foot forward and advertised offers will represent the very cream of their offerings.

That it is worth while to look up catalog numbers even though some dealers persist in advertising Ceylon 36 and similar offerings.

That the many mail auctions being held are good sources of supply. Bid high enough to get the stamp if you really want it.

That a good word for the WEEKLY when you order a stamp will "help some" as Brodstone says.

EDITORIAL.

The First Banquet—We have come into possession of a letter-sheet, Grant, two-cent green, the first issue without series number, that indeed has the charm of sentiment, as printed on the reverse of the sheet is the following invitation: "Chicago, August 6, 1887. Mr. ———. Your presence is requested at the Banquet tendered to the American Philatelic Association by the Chicago Philatelic Society, at the Tremont House, on Tuesday, August 9, 1887, at 9 P. M. S. B. Bradt, President. Geo. S. Wilson, C. R. Gadsden, P. M. Wolsieffer, J. H. Huber, Committee on Arrangements." This banquet has gone down in the history of the American Philatelic Society as the most brilliant in the annals of the organization according to the statements made by those who attended it and invariably "sigh retrospectively" when speaking of this banquet. Messrs. Bradt and Gadsden are not interested in Philately at present but Messrs. Wolsieffer and Huber are twenty-seven years after.

Blissful Ignorance—In a recent prize question contest, instigated by Bill Bloss, the following question was submitted, among others: "What territory in Asia is named after a popular form of baseball?" Answer: "Indore, (India (Holkar))." Just two of the giant intellects that grappled with the question answered it correctly, thereby showing that the baseball situation is very much muddled in the minds of philatelists.

Bowled Them Over—Speaking of "what every philatelist ought to know" leads us to mention a modern instance of how a simple question stumped a man who worked on cataloging U. S. stamps for many years; and all the other members in the room kept him company likewise, by failing to answer: "What is pictured on the three-dollar Columbian issue of the United States?" Of course our readers will have the answer at their tongues' tips but assuming that one or two of them may be tongue-tied just for the moment, we say: "Columbus Describing His Third Voyage."

Navy Cancellations—In a list of "United States Naval Vessels in which Navy Mail Service was in Operation, March 31, 1914," we count ninety-seven ships. The cancellations of the different vessels are interesting and judging from the one before us take this form: "U. S. S., Oct. 13, P. M., 1913, New Hampshire. Tampico, Mexico." We can imagine that collecting these cancellations would be a fascinating pursuit, particularly as they would show foreign postmarks on the United States in so many cases.

Misses Fire—Philately is not always fortunate in the attention that it attracts from commentators of some celebrity in the larger or public world. Perhaps it is more truthful to say "stamp collecting" rather than "philately" for it is evident that these writers have only the most rudimentary conception of philately as it is. Because of their loyalty to their hobby, stamp collectors are inclined to complain of belittling or even unappreciative comment in print but looking deeper, there is small cause for resentment as philately latterly has been faring much better than it did a decade ago in treatment by the press. In reality there is so much to philately that one who has never inquired into it cannot but render his remarks ridiculous by off-hand observations although we admit that there is a small class of recalcitrants who do know something of philately but can see nothing in it; and this is a case of temperamental opposition. These thoughts are more or less germane to certain statements made by Frank Crane, a forceful, philosophic writer whose work is syndicated in the newspapers. From our point of view he is not seen to best advantage in the following paragraphs: ". . . . The other day two postage stamps were sold in Paris for $1,000. Thy had been issued by some island country. Immediately afterward an earthquake swallowed up the place, and only these two of the whole issue of stamps happened to escape in the mail." These quoted words followed the announcement that a London de Rothschild is said to have paid $5,000 for an excessively rare specimen of flea. Thus are fleas and philately placed in unhappy juxtaposition.

Off The Same Bolt—Continuing with Mr. Crane, whom we introduced in the foregoing paragraph: He says that when his ship comes in, he will have "a bigger and fiercer flea than Rothschild's, —preferably a hippopotamus flea;" and here he tilts at philately: "Then I shall get me a couple of stamps. I shall visit the Ahkoond of Swat or Mr. Villa of Mexico and have printed a special edition of two heathen stamps, just for me, for which I shall pay $20,000 apiece, and turn all philatelists greener and purpler with envy than my stamps. . . . When I get lonesome I will go and play with my flea." This reminds us of Ward Thirteen in the Asylum for the Addled.

Then Again—There is another side to the picture. Clare Briggs, cartoonist for the Chicago Tribune who is a master analyst of human nature of the homely type has made a deep impression with his pictorial series, "The Days of Real Sport," which depicts phases of boy and girl life as suggested by the heading. He has very patly and understandingly brought stamp collecting into his pictures on several occasions in the past; and in his latest picture, "Spring," he shows an urchin in wide-mouthed ecstasy, yelling, "Oh Skin-Nay! C'mon over. I got sum new stamps!" and in one hand the boy flourishes a beloved packet. One can remember those bygone days many Aprils ago, when pleasant thrills accompanied the examination of the wonderful stamp packet, "unexcelled for value," in the words of the dealer at least.

* * *

Special Stamp—The Christian Science Monitor showed recently an enlarged "reproduction of stamp designed for Norwegian exhibition." The central figure is that of the coat-of-arms of Norway; and above are the dates, 1814 and 1914. We quote the following historical details from the text accompanying the illustration: "For 400 years up to 1814 the Danish kings were also hereditary kings of Norway, but when the Kiel treaty was concluded, the Danish King had to renounce the throne of Norway in favor of the King of Sweden in consequence of the support he had given to Napoleon. This occurred in January, 1814." The Norwegian people opposed the terms of this treaty and her emissaries to Eidsvold "formulated and adopted the present democratic constitution on May 17, 1814." Later in the year the King of Sweden recognized this constitution and was made king by the national assembly of Norway. The centenary of this event is to be celebrated by an exhibition at Christiania; and a special stamp has been issued to commemorate the enterprise. From the description, we cannot tell just what philatelic status the issue will have, if any.

MAKE YOUR ADVERTISEMENT PLAIN.

By L. S. KEELER.

I have always noticed one thing in the "ads" as put out by different stamp dealers. As a rule they are vague and of no interest, requiring time, annoyance, etc., to study out from cumbersome catalogue just what stamp they desire to sell and it all causes a tremendous concentration of mind to match up details. I do not believe one out of fifty collectors carry in their minds the catalogue number of stamps but they do have a concise idea of the year, and are so guided by this simple way in buying from "Ads".

I have in this issue of your paper come across what I term an ideal stamp "ad" and it comes from abroad. Just examine the "ad" of Theo. Champion and it reads like history and for conciseness, and the whole thing in a nutshell, I take my hat off to the "Champion" ad writer. Pardon my criticism but you will find this "grouch" is near to the heart of all collectors who have something else to do, besides their favorite "hobby" of stamps and want things plain, readable and quick to grasp, without a search warrant and an interpreter.

THE STAMPS OF OLDENBURG.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

THE FIFTH ISSUE.

On March 9th, 1861, the Prussian Postal Administration addressed the following circular to the various signatories to the German-Austrian Postal Union:—

Experience has shown that the differences in the colors of the stamps and stamped envelopes used by the various states in the postal convention make the ascertaining whether the correct postage has been paid very difficult. It is, therefore, desirable that the stamps and stamped envelopes of 1, 2 and 3sgr and their equivalents should have the same colors. In order to attain this the General Post Office has the honor to recommend the following propositions:—

I.—The said stamps to be printed in the colors shown by the enclosed envelopes:

1 silbergroschen=3 kreuzer (Rhine States)=5 new kreuzer=1½ schilling (Mecklenburg)=2 schilling (Hamburg and Lubeck)=3 grote (Bremen)=12½ centimes (Luxemburg), in red.

2sgr=6kr (Rhine States)=10 n. kr. =3sch (Mckl.)=3sch (Hbg. and Lbk.)=5grt (Brem.)=25c (Lux.) in blue.

3sgr=9kr (Rhine States)=15 n. kr. =5sch (Mckl.)=4sch (Hbg. and Lbk.)=7grt (Brem.)=37½c in dark brown.

II.—The same colors, according to the values, should be applied to the stamped envelopes.

III.—To facilitate the operation of obliteration all stamps should be affixed in the upper right-hand corner.

IV.—Proposed alterations, to come into force as soon as a new issue is required.

The General Post Office requests an answer to these propositions.

BERLIN, March 9, 1861.
General Post Office of the Kingdom of Prussia.
(Signed) WEDDIGS.

Nearly all the administrations assented to these proposals and in conformity to these suggestions Oldenburg issued a new series in 1862. As the issue of 1861 had hardly given satisfaction, Stalling was asked if he could not print the new stamps by some other process than lithography. It was suggested that the stamps be engraved but Stalling refused to undertake the work, owing to lack of the necessary facilities.

A requisition was, therefore, sent to the Prussian State Printing Works, asking if they would undertake to supply the new stamps. The printing works replied that they were prepared to execute the order at a cost of about $37.50 for the necessary dies and plates for each denomination in addition to the cost of printing.

The Postal Administration of Oldenburg agreed to the price and it was decided the same design should be used for all five values (the ¼gr was dropped from this series as being no longer necessary). The design shows the arms of the Grand-duchy surmounted by a ducal coronet, embossed on an oval ground of solid color. This is enclosed within an oval band on which, on an engine turned ground, is the name "OLDENBURG" at top, and the value in words at the base, while on small discs at the sides the numerals of value are displayed. There was no exterior rectangular frame. The arms were engraved on steel by Herr Schilling; from this die Weitmann, a mechanician, made a punch with the aid of which he sunk five dies of the Arms, around which oval bands were engine-turned and engraved by Schilling. From these completed dies, Mr. Westoby tells us, "fifty lead moulds were taken, and these were clamped together in five rows of ten. From this block of fifty-two electrotypes were taken, making, when combined, the printing plates of 100 stamps. The rows were numbered at the top, bottom and sides, as was the practice with almost all the stamps embossed at Berlin." The stamps were printed on plain white paper and were rouletted in line. At first the roulettes gauged 11½ but in 1867 a new machine gauging 10 was used. Five printings were made in all, the dates of delivery of these being June 26th, 1862, October 31st, 1863, September 30th, 1864, December 21st, 1865, and January 11th, 1867. The total quantities printed were:

⅓ groschen,	490,000
½ groschen,	240,000
1 groschen,	2,100,000
2 groschen,	380,000
3 groschen,	380,000

The 1 groschen of this series is occasionally found bisected and the halves used as ½ groschen but such use was never officially authorized.

Shades of all values may be found. These stamps were withdrawn from use on January 1st, 1868, when Oldenburg joined the North German Confederation.

Reference List.

1862. Embossed. Rouletted 10 or 11½.
15. 1/3gr green, Scott's Nos. 16, 21 or 21a.
16. ½gr orange, Scott's Nos. 17, 22 or 22a.
17. 1gr rose, Scott's No. 18 or 23.
18. 2gr blue, Scott's Nos. 19, 24 or 24a.
19. 3gr bistre, Scott's No. 20 or 25.

REMAINDERS.

There have been no reprints of any of the Oldenburg stamps. The stones for the lithographed issues were always kept carefully under lock and key when not in use, and were defaced when new issues were made. The plates for the embossed issue were defaced at Berlin on February 18th, 1868, and the original dies were handed over to the Imperial Museum.

The ¼ groschen, as we have stated already, was discontinued, as there was very little use for it. The post-offices were ordered to return their stocks to headquarters and of the 35,000 or thereabouts so returned small lots were sold to various dealers from time to time at face value and on December 21st, 1863, the balance, amounting to 4790, were burnt.

When the Oldenburg stamps were superseded there remained on hand about 46,000 of the ⅓gr, 45,000 of the ½gr, 59,000 of the 1gr, 63,000 of the 2gr, and 36,000 of the 3gr. These were purchased from the Government in 1868 by Mr. Carl Dinklage of Oldenburg for $300. Mr. Dinklage sold comparatively few of these until 1875 when Mr. Berrig, of Hanover, paid him $750 for the stock.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Donald H. Graham says he has made "another new discovery" in the new envelope line, of Dayton or Die D, var. 10, white paper, size 5, new knife, wmkd. "U S C E 1911."

ARGENTINE.—According to Lemaire's Journal the 4c and 30c values have appeared on watermarked paper. The values now current on this paper are the ½, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 12 and 30c, and 1, 5, 10 and 20p.

BAVARIA.—The following regarding the new postage stamps of Bavaria is an extract from a circular letter of the Minister of Commerce; the translation being furnished us by Hermann Focke:

Beginning with March 30, a new issue of postage stamps will be put into circulation. The new stamps will show two different portraits of the King from designs by Professor Walter Firle. All the stamps of the pfennig denomination are 21x25 mm. with a bust of the King in a circular frame, underneath in an oblong frame the word "Bayern" in the upper two corners the value. The mark values bear the picture of the King of recent date without spectacles; those of 1, 2 and 3 marks are 24x28 mm. with the portrait in a simple oval frame; those of 5, 10 and 20 marks are 34x40 mm. with the portrait framed by a laurel wreath; the word Bayern and the values are printed in a similar manner as on the pfennig values.

All the stamps are printed by so-called mezzotinto process, copper engraving. The watermark consists of wavy lines, running horizontally on the pfennig and the 5, 10 and 20 marks values and vertically on the 1, 2 and 3 marks.

The stamps are printed in sheets of 100 for the pfennig values, 50 for the 1, 2 and 3 marks and 40 for the 5, 10 and 20 marks, in the following colours; all on buff paper: 3pf brown; 5pf green; 10pf red; 20pf blue; 25pf grey; 30pf orange; 40pf olive; 50pf red-brown; 60pf blue-green; 80pf violet; 1mk brown; 2mk violet; 3mk red; 5mk dark blue; 10mk dark green; 20 marks dark brown.

All the pfennig values can be obtained in rolls of 500 and 1000 stamps at an additional cost of 11pf and 22pf per roll, respectively.

The stamp books will contain two leaves at 5 stamps at 10pf and four leaves at five stamps at 5pf and will cost two marks; the blank spaces will no longer be available for advertisements. The present issue of postage stamps will continue to be available until it is disposed of and the new stamps are to be furnished, only on special request, to the public. An exchange of the old for the new stamps will, for the present, not be permitted.

THE STAMP COLLECTOR'S AUNT.

No. I.

Three thousand years ago today,
The postmen went with great ease
Across the desert all the way
From Memphis to Euphrates.

So there were proud men in Amu
Who could not well refuse a
Correctly stamp'd epistle to A citizen of Susa.

And there were clerks in Babylon,
Postmasters too, in Lagash;
And post-boys riding hard for On,
Who did the king's highway gash.

Now in this town of On abode,
Beside the Nile's bisection,
A boy who all his heart bestow'd
Upon a stamp collection.

The King of Egypt you would know?
I find the point a teaser.
It might be Ka, or Sma, or Ro,
Or Nar, or Zar, or Zeser.

But though locate the King I can't,
One thing as clear as day is:
This little boy lived with his aunt,
Beside the road to Sais.

O he had stamps from Hipponon,
And stamps from Par-rehehu;
And stamps with holy hippos on,
And holy cats that me-hew.

And he had piles and piles and piles
Of Semenkhet and Khufu,
And dogs and hawks and crocodiles;
And yet he thought them too few,

Now hear the tragic end, ye aunts,
And mind your nephews' playthings!
She ground them up while potting plants;
You see these stamps were clay things.

No. II.

Nathaniel Beveridge was a man
Who, ever since his youth began
In 2, The Avenue, Tufnell Park,
Was a Philatelist of mark.
Those were Philately's great days,
When Uncle Harry fed the blaze
With old Colonial correspondence
Containing "Errors" in abundance.
When fourpence surcharged on a penny
Roused little interest, if any,
And when the future Stanley Gibbons
Wore caps of lace entwined with ribbons.
But Beveridge was a clever lad
And the prophetic instinct had.
He had an Aunt—his Aunty Sue,
Who lived at Hackney (Pleasant View),
And there he used to go to tea
Every two Sundays out of three.
A pet of him she rather made
Because he liked her marmalade.
This Aunt had in her girlhood's leisure
Stuck stamps within a book for pleasure.
She did not know, what Nat had seen,
The book contained a tuppence green!
But Nat did, and he eyed his plate,
And asked his Aunty for it straight.
But such are people! Though you can't Prevent them giving what they want,
Ask them for something which they don't
Merely because you ask, they won't.
His Aunt was cross. She grew depressed.
She said she liked his sister best,
On whose small wrist she then and there
Clasped a large bracelet of her hair.
And—such, my friends, old ladies are—
She sent the stamps to a bazaar.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Maitland Milliken has been appointed purchasing agent for the society by the executive committee, and Edward W. Heusinger, superintendent of the sales department. These gentlemen may now be addressed by our fellow members for anything in their lines, and the secretary hopes that all will now go into the subject with renewed vigor and with as much enthusiasm as they have gone into their respective offices.

Dues received since last report from Nos. 9, 209, 134, 34, 182, 222, 188, 152, and 178. Total, $7.50. A few members are still delinquent. The secretary wishes to hear from them before getting the new membership list printed. He wants to retain all present members and add greatly to the present number.

In reference to president Schachne's circular a direct answer, "yes" or "no" is requested from every member to three questions: "Do you favor the issue of a Monthly Bulletin?" "Do you favor publishing a yearly catalogue of postals?" "Do you favor the purchase of Mr. Schachne's stock and collection?" Otherwise the secretary cannot tabulate the opinion of the society.

S. M. EDWARDS, Sec.

ARGUSVILLE, March 31, 1914.

PURCHASING AGENT'S REPORT.

I have been appointed to take charge of this department.

The object of this department is to secure unused new issue postal and letter cards direct from foreign countries at the lowest possible cost to members.

A letter explaining the above system will be sent out to members in a few days and I trust that the members will respond heartily at once so we may get the department machinery in working order.

Non-members desiring to participate in the distribution of new issue cards and increase the value of their collection, should join our society now. Membership fee very low. Write for application blanks which are very simple.

It is my intention to make this a live department.

Sincerely,
MAITLAND MILLIKEN,
Purchasing Agent.

POOLE'S "STAMP COLLECTOR'S GUIDE."

CHAPTER XXI.—Postage Due Stamps.

(This is a sample chapter from Poole's splendid book of which there are no less than thirty-two chapters dealing with all the intricacies of stamp collecting. Remit 25c to this office and have a book sent you.)

In addition to ordinary postage stamps—that is stamps issued for the use of the general public for the franking of postal packages—certain countries also issue stamps for special purposes and as these are included in the catalogues it will be as well to make brief mention of them and the uses for which they are intended.

Postage due or "unpaid letter" stamps are labels issued for the collection of deficient postage. When a letter has been mailed without stamps or with insufficient stamps to cover the proper postal rate the amount due is collected from the addressee and the sum to be collected is in many countries indicated by these special postage due labels. In most English speaking countries these labels bear the words "POSTAGE DUE," either as part of the special design or in the shape of an overprint, so that they are easily recognizable. Below I give a list of inscriptions found upon the postage due stamps of other countries so that the beginner should have no difficulty in recognizing them.

A payer—(To pay). Appears upon the stamps of Belgium and Luxemberg.

A percevoir—(To pay). Found upon the stamps of Belgium, Egypt, France and its Colonies, Hayti, and Monaco.

A receber—(To be received). Occurs upon the stamps of Portugal and its Colonies.

At betale—(To pay). Appears only upon the stamps of Norway.

Chiffre Taxe—(Total amount of tax). Found upon the stamps of France and its Colonies and also on those of Hayti.

Deficiente—(Deficient). Found upon the stamps of Nicaragua.

Deficit—(Deficit or deficiency). Appears upon the stamps of Peru.

Franqueo Deficiente—(Deficient Postage). Found upon the stamps of Ecuador, Nicaragua, Paraguay and Salvador.

Lösen—(To pay). Appears only upon the stamps of Sweden.

Milit. Post. Portomarke. Appears upon the stamps of Bosnia-Herzegovina. This means literally "Military Post penalty stamp," the first two words referring to the fact that though under the nominal suzerainty of Turkey, the provinces were occupied by Austrian troops and Austria had entire charge of the posts.

Multa—(Fine). Appears on the stamps of Chili and Costa Rica.

Multada—(Fined). Found only upon the stamps of Chili.

Porteado a Receber—(Postage to be received). Appears upon the stamps of Portugal and its Colonies.

Portomarke—(Penalty Stamp). Appears upon the stamps of Austria and Norway.

Segnatasse—(Postage Due). Found upon the stamps of Italy and San Marino.

Sobreporte—(Over-postage). Found upon the stamps of Colombia.

Surcharge Postage. This inscription is shown upon the postage due stamps of Grenada and Trinidad.

T.—A large "T" overprinted on some of the stamps of Bulgaria and Abyssinia shows they were converted into postage due labels. The postage due stamps of the Dominican Republic merely have a letter "T" engraved in each corner.

Takca—(Tax). Found upon the stamps of Bulgaria.

Tasa—(Tax). Appears upon the stamps of Uruguay.

Taxa Divida—(Tax due). Found upon the stamps of Brazil.

Taxe a Perçevoir—(Tax to pay). Is overprinted upon some of the ordinary stamps of Abyssinia to convert them into postage due labels.

Tebetalen—(To Pay). Appears upon the stamps of Belgium, Holland and Colonies.

THE KING'S COLLECTION.

By FRED J. MELVILLE.

The subject of errors in stamps has been much to the fore of late, and the Fellows of the Royal Philatelic Society have recently held a display of remarkable examples selected from their collections for the occasion. The London Philatelist gives a list of some of the most interesting examples sent for display by his Majesty the King. Among these were several copies of the Mauritius 2d "Post Paid" stamp, with the error "Penoe" for "Pence." These included an unused and a used example showing the first state of the plate, and the well-known unique block of five unused stamps (including the error) of the second state of the plate.

Among the New South Wales errors exhibited by his Majesty was a used pair of the 1d Sydney View, plate 2, one of the stamps being the variety without clouds. The 2d, plate 2, was shown with the word "crevit" omitted from the motto, "Sic fortis Etruria crevit" (thus brave Etruria grew). Another of this Colony's rare errors shown was the 6d "laureated" issue, plate 1, with the name "Walls" for "Wales."

Other scarce stamps included in the display were the 1s Barbados, 1866, printed in blue instead of black; the Gibraltar Queen's head stamp, from which the value (usually inserted at a second printing) was omitted; the 8 annas Jhind, with the name spelt "Jeind" and the Grenada 1s, with the value spelt "Shiilling." There was an imperforate pair of the 4d Queen's head Malta, and the rare 32 cents carmine-rose stamp (without surcharge) of the Straits Settlements.

Another error of special interest in the King's collection is of a class very rarely met with. It will be remembered that during the siege of Mafeking provisional postage stamps were manufactured in the besieged town, and those bearing a portrait of Baden-Powell were produced by photography on blue ferro-prussiate paper. Of the small size variety of the 3d stamp, with the head of Baden-Powell, there was one small sheet printed in reverse, due to the negative being wrongly placed in the photographic printing frame. Only seven or eight copies of this error are known.

Yet another error submitted from the Royal collection for the meeting was a penny St. Helena stamp of King Edward's reign, printed as recently as 1911. There were two different penny stamps current in the colony at the time, one being of the ordinary small "King's head" type, printed in red, and the other a large pictorial stamp, printed in red and black. The pictorial stamp was not in much favour locally, and there was a large stock on hand. In July, 1911, when it became known that there would be a delay in receiving the King George stamps, the Postmaster ordered a further supply of the Edwardian stamps of the values 1d, 2½d, 4d, and 6d. The order called for the "1d red," but did not specify the type, and the printers used the large pictorial type, printing it all in red. To the chagrin of the postmaster, who had plenty of the large penny red and black stamps, he received a further consignment of these large stamps in red instead of the smaller and more convenient 1d red stamp. The errors were not put into circulation; his Majesty's copy is overprinted "Specimen," no copy without that overprint being known to collectors. Two other very rare St. Helena errors are the double surcharges 4d and 1s, which his Majesty showed as follows:

1s Queen's head, two vertical strips of ten stamps each, the fifth horizontal row of which has the double surcharge, while the two stamps of the bottom row are entirely without surcharge.

4d Queen's head, double surcharge, one measuring 18 mm., the other 19 mm.

From the fine collection which the King has formed of the stamps of British Guiana he selected a good example of an error in a lithographed stamp. This was a valuable used pair of the 1 cent. stamp, lithographed in London, and issued in the Colony in 1852. The design consists of a shield with the familiar ship, and the inscription includes the motto of the Colony, "Damus petimusque vicissim," but throughout this issue this is misspelt "Patimus," an error which laid the colonists open to the charge of selecting that which was beyond their ability to spell, but which was actually the error of the lithographic artist in London.—Telegraph.

"WHY I SPECIALISE."

The United States.

By LIONEL SARGEANT.

The fact that many philatelists all over the world are specialising in the early issues of the United States of America is well known and can hardly be a matter of surprise.

The attractions of these stamps are many, but the main ones can be briefly summarised:—

1. The absence of watermarks and simplicity of perforations, thus obviating the display of an apparently large number of duplicates.
2. The variety and historical interest of the design.
3. The beautiful execution, colours and range of shades.
4. The amount of useful and exceedingly interesting information, which can be readily obtained from the various valuable handbooks published, available for the purpose of "writing up," and lastly
5. The great appreciation in value which is taking place almost daily, both in this country and in America.

These attractions could be extended and enlarged upon, but in brief they are sufficient to justify the popularity of these beautiful stamps among collectors.

It is a matter of common knowledge that it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain well centred and lightly cancelled specimens; while the demand is stimulated by the existence of a large number of curious and interesting postmarks, which are well worth searching for.

Argentine.

By J. P. MACKENZIE.

In these days of specialism the claims of the great Argentine Republic, including the stamps of Buenos Ayres, Cordoba and Corrientes, should not be overlooked for, probably nowhere on the great South American Continent does such a fine field exist.

To a great extent it is free from much that has besmirched the names of other South American Republics, and in spite of all that has been written there remain many difficulties to surmount; but these after all form one of the chief joys of specialism, while its philatelic soundness is above reproach.

Argentine, as a whole, may seem too large a country to be handled satisfactorily, and for those who think so the following division is suggested:—

I. Buenos Ayres.
Cordoba.
Corrientes.
The general issues of 1858 to 1873.
II. General issues from 1877 to date.
Official stamps.

The first division includes many rarities which can well take their place amongst the classics of philately.

These include the Ship type Buenos Ayres and the interesting imperforate Rivadavias of 1864-67.

Most of the early issues are very difficult to obtain in good condition used, and forgeries abound, but this section will yet prove a very sound investment to those who strive to master it.

The old stamps are yearly more difficult to obtain and are gradually rising in value.

In Division II. we have 22 issues (not including the officials) and these form a most interesting group, containing as they do some fine examples of the work of the American and National Bank Note Companies, together with a veritable portrait gallery of Argentine celebrities.

This division may well be taken up by some as a beginning to the study of Argentine as a whole, but by this it must not be inferred that rarities do not occur. To mention but a few let us cite for instance the minor varieties of the 1882 and 1884 provisionals; the 20 paras of 1891; to say nothing of the error of 1892, viz:—the 5c in the colour of the 2c green.

Of the latter stamp only one sheet was issued, and some years ago a single copy brought £30 at Auction in the City of Buenos Ayres.

Then we have the inverted centre errors of 1899 issue (seated figure); while the 20 peso of 1910 is a stamp that will soon rank as one of the most desirable of modern issues.

Of the Officials none are common bar the 1901 issue, while the inverted surcharges, both horizontal and diagonal, are difficult to capture.

Taking the stamps of the Republic only we have 28 issues to deal with, not counting Officials, and of these five are lithographed, 19 engraved, one typographed, three surface-printed; while is a small town in Angola, and Angola is a small Portuguese Colony in Africa. At Loanda were issued, in 1912, a few provisional stamps, of one of them we believe 112 copies were issued. Scott lists them as Nos. 113 to 117 in their catalogue but without price. A very few can be obtained unused as follows:—

2½ on 15 green Republica (Cat. No. 113)
5 on 15 " " (" 114)
10 on 15 " " (" 115)
25 on 75 red violet " (" 117)
The Set $3.50

Of the great rarity the 25 on 75 rose (Cat. No. 116) we have a copy for sale at $27.50.

APPROVAL
The most satisfactory manner in which to purchase stamps is from approval books when the collector has the opportunity of inspecting the specimens at his leisure. My stamps are all arranged in books by countries, mounted and arranged according to the latest edition of Scott's catalogue. Above each stamp the catalogue number and price is plainly shown and below my net selling price is marked.
Prices are most reasonable and average about half catalogue. As most of these books are of considerable value they can only be sent to collectors well known to me or to those supplying first class references.

British North America and British West Indies

I just purchased a magnificent collection of these stamps.
The 20th Century is complete and it is very strong in the 19th Century, as well. All of the stamps are unused and in magnificent condition. The 20th Century is complete in blocks of 4, from ½d to 1s. If interested in the countries write me.

they embrace four Provisional and four Commemorative issues.

Among the noteworthy collections of the world rank the Argentine collections of Dr. J. Marcó del Pont; J. D. Simons; W. H. Sussdorf, of New York City; Senor Miguel Gambin, who, by the way, had 286 of the ship type Buenos Ayres; E. Marcó del Pont; G. F. Rodriguez and Agustin Moltene.

It is worthy of note that Dr. J. Marcó del Pont has just been awarded the Lindenberg medal for his reasarch in this quarter of the globe.

Mexico.

By S. CHAPMAN.

The making of a specialised collection of Mexico offers attractions beyond those which appeal to specialists in the stamps of most other countries, and I am of opinion that there is no one country which can combine so great a variety of inducements to study.

If we look at the matter from the standpoint of geography we find from the first issue the country was divided into districts, and it is desirable, if not indeed necessary, to have a good general knowledge as to the position of these districts, in order to deal with many points which arise in the course of arranging a collection.

History is linked up with the changes during the Maximilian regime, when for a short time while the stamps of the Empire were being generally used the so-called "Saltillo" issue was, to a limited extent, being employed in the north. In much the same way to-day the rebels in the Northern States have a temporary series of stamps for local use, while the regular series is used throughout the rest of the Republic.

The cancellations of the older stamps are intensely attractive, and such names as TEXCOCO, CHOLULA, UXMAL, etc., must surely be interesting to those who have read what little is known about the early history of the country, while the archaic surrounds of many of these locally made cancellation stamps (which to the uninitiated may appear to be only combinations of floral and geometrical designs) have a deep significance to the ethnologist. Further the names themselves suggest reminiscences of some of the hundred and fifty or so spoken tongues once current in the country, and after a little practice in arranging one's stamps one may feel sure that ERONGARICUARO is situated in Michoacan (and consequently is a branch office under MORELIA), and COSAMALOAPAN in Veracruz.

For the ordinary man of business accustomed to having his papers filed on the numerical system, there is ample scope in the Eagle and Maximilian period in endeavouring to secure a specimen of each consignment number and when that operation is tolerably complete, doing similarly with the subconsignments under each district.

The process never becomes monotonous for those with the true instinct of the collector, as some of the numbers are very elusive and, after possessing say, numbers 138 and 141 of 1864 and waiting for two or three years for the missing ones, there is much satisfaction in unearthing in some small village curiosity shop perhaps a No. 139 for "half catalogue"!

There are curiosities such as stamps printed on both sides, misplaced transfers, wrong district or consignment numbers, certain values printed in colour of others, rare papers, scarce perforations, etc., for those who like items of this nature, and there is a great field for "plating."

The collection of all the issues of Mexico on a scientific basis is a great undertaking, and for those who are only starting to specialise in this country, I recommend the taking of only one or two issues, and gradually adding others as the work proceeds.

Where money is a consideration a start might be made with the 1874-1883 issues, as many things of interest are not recorded in the catalogues so far, and consequently can be picked up cheaply.

I have also found that the postcards, envelopes and wrappers of this country are exceedingly interesting. Many of the issues of postcards could have been "plated," had it been practicable to collect cards in pairs. As it is, however, the different types can be got together, and the cards and envelopes prior to 1884 can be collected by "districts," the same as the adhesive stamps.

Mexican entires have been well taken up in Germany, and I strongly recommend them to collectors here, while they are still obtainable cheaply.—Philatelic Circular.

NEW BAVARIA.

A number of the German papers bring more or less elaborate accounts of the new Bavarian stamps which are to appear about the first of April; we condense the accounts of the Illustriertas Briefmarken-Journal and the Germania-Berichte. It had been intended to issue the stamps on January 7th, the birthday of King Ludwig III, but the preparatory work consumed so much time that this did not prove feasible. The design of the adhesive stamps is by Professor Walter Firle, the celebrated Bavarian painter, while the design for the impressed stamps to be used on the entires is by Professor Otto Hupp, a noted authority on heraldic matters. The new adhesive stamps will bear two different portraits of the king. The pfennig values will be of the same size as the present 3 to 25 pfennig values, and will show an older portrait of the king in a circular frame, below the name BAYERN, in the upper corners the value. The portrait faces slightly to the right; the king is in the uniform of a field marshal and wears glasses. The mark values all bear a recent portrait of the king, also in a field marshal's uniform, but without glasses. On the 1, 2 and 3 mark values the portrait is in an oval frame; on the 5, 10 and 20 mark values it is framed by a laurel wreath; the inscriptions are the same as on the pfennig values.—P. J. of A.

THE CHARITY STAMPS.

The Swiss charity stamp pictured above was issued in December upon request of the "Pour la Jeunesse" Institution of the Swiss Public Utility Society. The postal value of the stamp is five centimes but its sale price was ten centimes, the difference in price being used in aid of the campaign against tuberculosis among the young. The validity of the stamps ceased February 28. While not usable in the foreign mails, the stamp was accepted by Bavaria, Denmark, Italy and Portugal.

The Hungary charity stamp was sold at two filler above the face value. The extra amount received was placed in a fund for the relief of the sufferers from the floods in Hungary. There was a large demand for the issue.

POSTAL SAVINGS STAMPS.

If the officials of the P. O. D. had their own way in the matter we believe that the postal savings stamps would soon meet the fate of the parcel post issue and be discontinued. In the latter case it was found that the postmaster general had authority to make improvements in the service and act independently of Congress, and one of his first moves was to abolish the special stamps. This same authority it seems does not apply to the Postal Savings System, and an Act of Congress would be necessary to abolish the special stamps.

In the beginning, postmasters were strictly instructed to dispose of postal savings stamps and envelopes "as waste." The customary method of doing this is to sell by contract all accumulations of waste paper, etc. In a conversation with Chief Thompson of the Postal Savings System the fact was brought out that the contractor who purchases the waste is entirely beyond the jurisdiction of the Department when it comes to utilizing such "waste" to the best advantage and he has a right to do what he pleases with any stamps and stamped envelopes that may come his way. Attention was also called to the fact that occasionally such stamps escaped cancellation and might thus find their way into collections in unused condition. At any rate the division chief did not even pretend to assert that such stamps could be subject to seizure by post office inspectors when found in private hands.—Philatelic Gazette.

As there were so many calls for revenues from my last ad, I offer a few more at corresponding prices. These are all from good to fine copies and first cash order gets first choice.

IN QUEST OF BUSINESS.

The enterprise of American dealers has carried them east and west in quest of business and we admire their energy and keen acumen. So far as the WEEKLY is concerned we, too, have not been slow in going after business to the corners of the earth.

The Managing Editor will journey abroad this summer and present the merits of the WEEKLY as the great philatelic publicity medium of the present day. We are desirous that dealers shall give us an invitation to call upon them but failing to receive the invitation we shall charge it up to the strenuous life and forgive them for the oversight.

We shall leave New York, July 1, on the new Frederick VIII, a fine boat of the Scandinavian-American line and our dealer friends should note our approximate schedule:—

July 11-13, Christiania.
July 14-16, Trondjhem.
July 22-24, Stockholm.
July 27, Gothenburg.
July 28-31, Christiania.
Aug. 3, Copenhagen.
Aug. 5, The Hague.
Aug. 8, Brussels.
Aug. 10-15, London, Salisbury, Ipswich, Birmingham, Manchester, Liverpool.

We shall leave Liverpool, Aug. 15, on the new Aquitania of the Cunard Line.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Thing of Beauty—At a recent meeting of the Chicago Philatelic Society, Mr. F. E. Farnham exhibited a complete sheet, or strictly speaking, the right-hand pane of 150 stamps of the three-cent blue 1869 issue, United States. The sheets of this stamp were printed in 300 stamps, divided into two panes of 150 stamps each, side by side, as sold to the public. The stamps in each pane of 150 are in fifteen rows of ten stamps each. The margin between the two panes is indicated by an arrow at top and one at bottom; and the sheets as sold to the public were divided down the blank margin by knife or scissors. Mr. Farnham's sheet is in immaculate condition with firm grill and gum undisturbed in the slightest; and it is truly a mint sheet. The color is clear and the stamps are beautifully centered; and we cannot conceive of a more brilliant piece. The sheet bears plate-number 26 and the imprint, National Bank Note Co., covering a marginal space of two stamps at top and bottom is in each case, about halfway across the sheet. Between the fifth and sixth rows and tenth and eleventh rows, respectively, there is an arrow in blue, the color of the stamp, at the right-hand perforated margin for the accommodation of the postmaster in dividing the sheet into divisions of fifty stamps. If we possessed this grand sheet, it certainly would be "unique."

Nothing Extra—We are reminded that a question that is asked almost constantly is: What is the value of the three-cent, 1869, used without grill? There is "no such thing" as a used three-cent, 1869, without grill. If the used ungrilled stamp is not a re-issue, it only seems to be ungrilled. If the grill is not to be seen, it is yet there in theory; and if a sheet escaped ungrilled and was used, nothing of moment is proved. The catalogue note is a fair statement of the standing of the ungrilled 1869.

A Near Baltimore—From H. S. Beebe, we have received the inquiry: "I have on a rectangle of paper cut from an envelope, size 1¼ by 4½, the autograph of James Buchanan franking same. The word, Free, is written above it in the same hand, while below it is the same word in print, evidently stamped. I enclose a more or less accurate tracing of it." This "James Buchanan" autograph is much the same as the "James M. Buchanan" autograph on the Baltimore provisional envelopes; and is of philatelic interest anyway as a frank of the postmaster, even though it has no dollars and cents value.

Willing Worker—We notice that a contemporary is behaving snappishly towards Everybody's Philatelist, a monthly that deserves well of all collectors. The comment more or less splenitic at th expense of Everybody's seems to be based on the fact that Dr. Holt's paper is an endowed one, as if this circumstance was discreditable when the contrary is the case. We know Dr. Holt of old and our expectations of a meritorious publication by him of some permanence at least have not been disappointed. The editor of Everybody's is a forehanded person who knows of the mutations and the fitfulness of publishing life; and consequently, he sought to minimize the dangers of the future by creating an endowment fund which would certify the perpetuation of his journal. At first, we thought the plan rather nebulous and that Dr. Holt's efforts were not destined to meet with their just reward; but the impelling force of sincere conviction has been demonstrated thus far by the fact that the endowment fund now amounts to $4,177, according to the pledges made to date. The purpose of the fixed fund is to provide for the future and not the present as upon the death of Dr. Holt the magazine will be turned over to the trustees of the fund, the interest on which will do much to sustain the paper. We say that when a man so loves his stamps that he will spare neither his time nor his purse in publishing a thanks offering to philately, he should be commended; and when he is so enterprising as to invent ways and means for the continuance of his paper after his death, one may become enthusiastic over the unselfish motives of the publisher. We hope that Dr. Holt will continue to publish his worthy journal and ignore the jeers of the jaundiced; but if he should be compelled to stop his work by inexorable conditions, philately would be the loser.

Death of Frederick A. Nast—The death of Frederick A. Nast on March 8th, 1914, at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, where Mr. Nast had gone to regain his health removed a collector whose example reflected lustre on philately. Mr. Nast was a prominent New York collector and as an early advocate of the pleasures of philately, Mr. Nast wielded a favoring influence on his pursuit. He was an officer in the past in New York philatelic societies and at one time was a governor of the Collectors' Club. Mr. Nast sold his collection to Mr. Thorne many years ago and this collection was the nucleus of the celebrated Thorne collection which was sold for a record price to a large firm, ten years ago or more. Mr. Nast wrote scholarly articles occasionally for the philatelic press; and his catalogue of United States envelopes compiled for J. W. Scott was one of the first and best lists of the kind. At the time of his death, Mr. Nast was sixty-eight years of age; and for forty-eight years, he had been connected with Harper & Brothers, where he served actively in both the commercial and literary departments of the business. A "Resolution prepared by Mr. Phayre and adopted by Harper & Brothers, March 10, 1914" is a touching memorial printed by Harper & Brothers, wherein Mr. Nast's attributes of mind are praised and his "endearing qualities of fidelity, generosity and unfailing sympathy of heart" are extolled. His associates share the bereavement of the family; Mr. Nast was unmarried and Mr. Charles A. Nast of Denver, whose philatelic work is so well known, is one of three surviving brothers. Another of the illustrious men of early philately has gone from us.

Letters Attached To Parcels—Amended orders governing the carriage of "communications prepaid at the first-class rate attached to parcels mailed at the fourth-class rate of postage" have been issued recently. Of course, stamps sufficient to pay the first-class postage and also, the fourth-class postage must be affixed to communication and parcel, respectively; and the interesting information is added: "The stamps affixed to the envelope should be canceled in the same manner as the stamps on the parcel are canceled. As the regulation provides that the parcel and communication attached thereto shall in all cases be treated as fourth-class mail, persons authorized to use precanceled stamps may affix such stamps to the envelope in prepayment of postage on the communication when such stamps are used on the parcel. The regulations applicable to postmarking first-class matter do not apply to communication attached to parcels of fourth-class matter," etc.

Watch Him Grow—The calloused compositor on a comtemporary that is in the blushing pride of its first number has it: "Our subscriber will not fail to notice the great improvement in each succeeding number." Great musicians have played to an audience of one; and why should not a stamp paper have one subscriber, who the publisher tenderly considers in the possessive case. For a while it will be so easy to double the ciruclation of each number over that of the preceding issue.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—One of the sub stations of the Cleveland post office under date of April 14 used the ordinary 2c stamps for postage due purposes. The cancellation takes the form of a rubber stamped DUE 2 applied to the face of the stamp. This has been done by other postoffices when a shortage of the regular due stamps has taken place.

—E. S. Allen of Newark, N. J., has changed his address and wishes us to call attention to the fact. Mr. Allen's advertisement in the trade column will give the desired information.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from David Horwitz, J. V. Doyle.

—In accordance with his usual custom H. Wesley Legg has removed for the summer to Pepperell, Mass., where correspondents will kindly address him.

—M. D. Olmstead, the Concord, N. H., dealer, who has used quite a little advertising space during the past two years, has met with an accident which will incapacitate him from labor for several months. He is a member of the Concord post office bowling team and, while in the act of delivering the ball on one of the local alleys, slipped and fell in such a way as to break the thigh bone.

—Rutherford Wysong, The Seville, 2129 18th St., N. W., Washington, D. C., has a large number of back issues of the WEEKLY that he is willing to dispose of, preferably to some stamp society. Interested parties will please communicate with Mr. Wysong.

—We are deeply pained to record the death of Jesse W. Sargent, an oldtime collector of Malden, Mass. Mr. Sargent was attending the Easter Sunday services at the First Universalist Church, Malden, with his Masonic Commandery, when he suddenly fell dead, stricken with heart disease. Mr. Sargent was well-known among Boston collectors and dealers and was a member of the Boston Philatelic Society.

—A specimen of provisional paper money issued by the state of Sonora has been shown the WEEKLY by Benedict Prieth. It is quite crude and could be counterfeited with ease were there any profit in counterfeiting the same. The face is printed in red and black and the reverse side in green. The familiar seal design of the stamps is printed on the currency in red with the serial number.

—Bright & Son offer for our perusal a letter received from a satisfied customer who extends congratulations upon the 10% new issues service which has been inaugurated by this firm.

—Walter Palmer, Jamestown, Ind., requested a selection of stamps from H. Glover Bennett, giving as reference Bates Loan-Real Estate Co. A letter addressed to this company was returned marked "Unclaimed."

—The eighteenth annual meeting of the Texas Philatelic Association was held in San Antonio, April 9, with a large attendance of members and visitors. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Edward W. Heusinger, President; Chas. Roemer, Vice-President; Geo. W. Coryell, Sales Supt.; E. A. Bailey, Sec.-Treas.; H. S. Parsons, Librarian.

MARKET NOTES.

By W. BUCKLAND EDWARDS.

British stamps used by the Royal Niger Company, and cancelled by an oblong rubber stamp, were at one time quite common, but have now become scarce, though it may be the old tale that as soon as one looks for a special thing it disappears. Their existence is of course well known, but it is not generally known that the same stamps were used in the Niger Coast Protectorate for a few months preceding the arrival of the overprinted issue "Oil Rivers," and are therefore capable of being classed as "British Used Abroad." They bear the usual official postmarks, Old Calabar, Bonny, &c., but are much rarer than the Niger Co.'s stamps.

The large quantities of "Oil Rivers" in mint blocks still on the market have always puzzled me, for though they were only in use about 15 months, considerable numbers were used in that time, and many sheets of the remainders were sent out to the Protectorate for cancellation. The total numbers issued do not seem to have been excessive; 50,000 each of the ½d and 1d, 10,000 only of the 1sh are not figures for popular countries which suggest over supply. Yet these stamps do not appear to sell readily even at one-third catalogue. The 1sh value may perhaps be excepted, but the 2½d is very common, 72,000 of these were issued. To complete the list 42,000 of the 2d, and 36,000 of the 5d are figures given. Those who dislike postmarked-to-order stamps may expect a small round cancellation, much smaller than the usual official postmark, and traces of pink blotting paper on the back, no doubt originally used as a guard against the sheet sticking together, but possibly also an attempt to remove the gum.

The stamps of the West Indies are in considerable demand in the States, those of Jamaica, being especially favoured, so I am told. Gibbons' Monthly Journal foreshadows a rise in price for the Pine issue in the next catalogue, but no rise is justifiable unless condition is taken into account. There are lots of these stamps about for which a third of the present cat. prices would be dear, but one sees very few really fine copies, except of the 3d and 1sh values. I still find the 4d to be the most difficult to get, on account of its pale fugitive ink, and enquiry of cheap sellers invariably brings out copies which could not be put into a good collection. Even the 1d is scarce fine, and a perfectly centred copy wants a lot of finding. I see that a contemporary considers that there is still room for research in Jamaican stamps, and it is perhaps rather bold of me to say that I don't know where it is to be sought.

The differences of paper in the Pine issue might be looked into, but are probably only the usual variations of handmade paper. There might be other flaws than the now well-known "dollar" mark in the 1sh, or the Ser-et error in the Arms type, but I recently examined a whole sheet of the ½d single CA without any discovery of value. The bicolored "tablet" type might yield something to diligent study, and the first type Officials ditto, in fact it is only in these last that I see at present any possibility of further useful discoveries.—Philatelic Circular.
